1. There no financial loss by closing early, because, as the movement becomes general, the same amount of business will be done in shorter hours.
2. You will get brighter and more energetic clerks ; the long hours are the means of driving the bright boys away from the grocery trade. A clerk or master can be bright, courteous and obliging for 10 hours in the day, but not for 15.
3. The public appreciate healthy, intelligent and quick service. Can you give it to them if you do not get your proper hours for rest and study ?
4. The Creator, in His wisdom, proportioned the day into three equal parts, viz.: Sleep, work, recreation. Without these, you cannot have perfect health, which is more to be desired than riches.
5. You owe a duty to your family and to society ; you can spend many profitable hours in their company, which will fit you for the duties of your occupation. In almost every other line of business, the persons engaging in it have the evening for themselves, and there are no good reasons why the grocer should not enjoy the privileges of domestic and social life in the same manner.

There are hundreds of other reasons why you should close early, and you will hear from us again. Give it a fair trial ; don't wait for neighbor to start, because he is waiting for you.

Drop a post card to our secretary, Mr. E. Hawes, 163 St. Clarence avenue, and he will bring you an early-closing card to hang up in your store.

We also wish to impress upon the minds of the grocers the advisability of joining the Grocers' Association. We would like to double our membership by May 1, and, as the more members attend the meetings, the more profitable they will be to each other, and we would have very much pleasure in receiving your application through any member of the association. We are doing a good work, and would like to have your cooperation.

BEET SUGAR CENTENARY.

The statement that beet sugar has been an article of commerce for 100 years will be news to most people. It is a fact, however, for in January, 1799, Franz Karl Achard, director of the Royal Prussian Academy of Science, laid a memorandum before his sovereign, Frederick William III., showing how sugar might be made from beetroot, hitherto used only for fodder, and also submitting samples of the new article. Four days later, the king replied, by ordering experiments to be made in all the Provinces on a large scale, and awarding Achard a grant of money for the continuation of his studies on the subject. Sugar at that time, and for a short time afterwards, cost 200 to 300 thalers per cwt. retail, and the consumption of sugar in all Europe at the end of the last century was between 200,000 and 250,000 tons. To-day 4,500,000 tons of beetroot sugar are produced in Europe alone, besides 3,000,000 tons of cane sugar. Achard, who refused a bribe of 200,000 thalers offered him by the cane sugar interest if he would publish a statement that he had made a mistake and that beetroot was not adapted for the purposes he proposed, died a poor man, although he was the first practical beet sugar producer in the world.

JAPAN TEAS

owe their undeniable superiority and distinguishing popularity to three strong features :

can be made more "springy" and you can put more vim, vigor, life into it with my cigars. I know that this is so because every year at this time, the most successful grocers in Canada double the size of their orders to me.

I refer more particularly to two of my best known brands, namely, the "Pharaoh" which retails at 10c. and the "Pebble" at 5c. Through my constant advertising of these two cigars their sales have reached very large figures. I select the tobacco that I use, personally—I employ only the highest class of skilled labor—I do not believe it is possible to produce a better cigar for the money than the two brands I speak of. VOL. XIII. TORONTO AND MONTREAL, MARCH 24, 1899. NO. 12

COFFEE CULTURE.

SOME interesting facts about coffee are printed in the second number of a little magazine called The Brazilian Bulletin, the organ of Mackenzie College in Brazil. The writer of the article was able to learn little of the early history of coffee, although it has been in use at least 1,000 years. The very origin of the name by which the little berry is known is obscure. It has been said that the word came from the Arabic kahwah, but this is a doubtful conclusion, as coffee did not originate in Arabia. A somewhat better explanation is that it took its name from Kaffa, in Abyssinia, where it is found growing in a wild state.

The coffee plant belongs to the genus Coffea, and is an evergreen. It usually grows from a single shaft, although sometimes six or eight slender trunks form the plant. Its leaves are smooth and dark green and the flowers of the plant are fragrant and white. The berries themselves, the essential part of the plant, are formed in clusters of from three to twelve in number, and have very short stems or none at all. In size the berries are, when ripe, about as large as the ordinary cranberry, and they resemble that fruit rather closely also in shape and color. In each berry are two little seeds, each a little irregular half-sphere, surrounded by a yellowish, sweet pulp that must be removed by one process or another. The berries must be polished to put them in shape for the market.

Those familiar with the produce market may remember seeing the expression male berry, or pea berry. Sometimes the berry contains only one seed, which is almost round, and this seed has taken the name "male." Much of the Mocha coffee is of that sort, and it is found in several places to some extent.

In the several varieties of coffee there is no very great difference, and what there is may be the result of differences in climate and other conditions that affect fruits in general. The Coffea Arabica, as it is known in science, is a shrub from four to eight feet high with leaves a little broader than those of the common Brazilian native plant. The Coffea Liberica is a tree in size and appearance and often reaches the height of thirty feet. The plant can be grown anywhere beyond the reach of frost, and where there is not excessive dryness or moisture. It It thrives best on the steep slopes of mountains, about 1,000 above the sea-level. It has thrived, on the other hand, on the Brazilian plains and other lands that are properly drained for the purpose.

The planter has to wait from three to five years before his young trees begin to bear to any extent. The richness of the ground in which the plant is placed is an important factor as to this. The trees if properly cared for, will bear good crops for twenty or thirty years, and even longer in many places. In many of the coffee-producing countries the average tree yields only a little more than a pound to a crop. In Brazil the average yield of a tree is anywhere from three to six lb. The advantage of the Brazilian growers, if this statement is accepted, is evident. The comparison made by the writer is given here :

"The rapid decline of coffee planting in the West Indies," says the article, "and its total failure in Ceylon and many other parts of the east, leave Brazil with but few strong competitors. Brazil now produces two-thirds of all the coffee in the world."

When one reads of coffee and its market, one finds many confusing names used to designate the different kinds of the berry. These names refer to the place from which the berry is shipped. Practically, all the coffee in the market belongs either to the Liberian or the Arabian class. The Brazilian Government has spent much time and money in the effort to introduce into that country the best plants, and there are now large plantations in Brazil where nothing is grown but pure Java coffee, from imported seeds, and others where nothing but the pure Bourbon or the pure Mocha is produced.

Adulteration of coffee is a common practice among merchants. An almost endless variety of ingredients, none of a harmful nature, are used to cheat the buyer. Among the ingredients used are chicory (which is the best known), carrots, dandelion root, barley, buckwheat and corn. These ingredients do not contain the caffeine, or theine, the particular chemical part of the berry that is pleasing and beneficial ; they are found, too, only in the ground coffee, although some disciple of the wooden nutmeg way of doing business did actually counterfeit the green berry, during the recent reign of high prices, by molding a mass of some unknown ingredients into the shape of the coffee berry and then flavoring it with extract of the real article. Low prices, however, do away with adulteration.

The writer gives high praise to the healthful qualities of coffee. This is what he says : "As a beverage, coffee is valuable for its stimulating influence upon the system ; it produces a buoyancy of feeling with no unpleasant reaction, lessens the sense of fatigue and sustains the body under prolonged muscular strain. Coffee contains less tannic acid than tea, and does not disturb digestion ; it refreshes and stimulates, while it retards tissue. If the seed is roasted to a reddish brown it loses 16 per cent. in weight and gains in bulk 30 per cent. If the roasting is carried on until the berry is a dark brown it loses about 20 per cent. in weight and gains 50 per cent. in bulk. In roasting the percentage of caffeine is lessened and the aroma increases. This aroma is a fleeting quality of the coffee, for it fades away quickly if the berry is kept long after being roasted, and to preserve this quality the roasted coffee of trade is covered with some substance, such as the white of eggs."

In Brazil, the host tenders to a visitor the cup of coffee, as in Japan and the East the cup of tea is offered. This coffee is ground and roasted on the spot every time it is served. The Brazilians know how to prepare the drink, too. Instead of steeping it or boiling it, they pack the finely ground berries in a conical bag, and pour two draughts of boiling hot water through the mass. That makes a real cup of coffee.

The writer observes that the Brazilian coffee-growers, in many instances, have been addicted to furnishing quantity rather than quality to the consumers, and also, that the expense of production has been against them as compared with planters in other countries. This, it is hoped, will change in time, for coffee is a crop that the small farmer, who has not appeared to any great extent in Brazil, can more easily raise. One farmer can easily take care of from 2,000 to 10,000 coffee trees while he is cultivating his corn, rice, beans, and other products, and caring for his cattle. While the price of coffee was high, the Brazilian planters almost invariably raised that crop exclusively, and thus lessened their income; when the price of coffee went down, the Brazilian planters were left in the lurch, and could not get their coffee to market without a loss.

When the coffee area in Brazil was somewhat limited, the crop was open to the dangers of excessive and sudden changes of the climatic conditions. Now, the area devoted to coffee is so large that no purely local accident or mishap can ruin the crop entirely, and the range of latitude in the area is so great that, when the coffee plants are blossoming in one part of Brazil, the ripe fruit is gathered in another. Thus, the market is supplied throughout the year.

"It is a singular fact," the author says, "that while English and German capital has been attracted to the coffee industry of Brazil, and large sums have been invested, American capital and enterprise have not seen this fine opening, which is particularly attractive to the small farmer, but have been looking up the same thing in the Sandwich Islands and Mexico, where the conditions are less favorable."

The inducements offered to the small farmer of coffee are attractive. The process of laying out a coffee orchard is described as very simple. The farmer first cleans the virgin forest by cutting down the trees in his way. When the trees are dry they are burned and the land is divided off into squares. This can be done, it is said, at an expense of from $37 to $54 an acre. The holes for the plants are dug from eight to twelve feet apart, and from six to eight inches deep. The process of planting is varied by the planters, some preferring to plant young trees that have been started in nurseries, others to plant the seeds in the orchard. Two or three seeds are put into each hole, which is covered with a roof of bark or chips, and this is kept on until the plant can bear the hot sun. Corn and beans can be planted between these holes for the first two years. The coffee tree at bearing age has cost the small farmer from about 27 to 54c. The small farmer can give to his coffee a degree of attention not possible in a large estate.

B. C. GROCERS ORGANIZE.

The first meeting of the Vancouver members of the Wholesale Grocers' Exchange, which was organized last Saturday, was held in the offices of W. H. Malkin & Co. There was a good attendance of representative business men and a question of vital importance to the trade, that of freight rates to the Kootenay, was vigorously discussed.

The meeting arrived at the conclusion very speedily that the C. P. R. should not discriminate in favor of Winnipeg in the matter of freight rates, and the views expressed were put in shape and forwarded to the exchange there. A joint meeting of Vancouver and Victoria representatives of the organization will probably be held shortly to further discuss the matter, and press strongly for an immediate change in the existing freight rates to Kootenay.—Vancouver Province, March 14.

A BICYCLE FOR CLERKS.

The National Association of Grocers' Assistants, founded in Great Britain last year, seems to be meeting with favor and success. The objects of the association are to promote the welfare and protect the interests of those employed in the grocery and allied trades; to reduce the daily hours of labor, and to bring about the establishment of a national weekly half holiday. Through its employment bureau it assists its members in securing employment, and by other means seeks to further the social and political advancement of grocery employes.

The president of the association is Joseph Edge; the secretary, J. Aubrey Rees.

In order to encourage the members of the association to seek new members, the president, Mr. Edge, has offered a bicycle to the assistant who "introduces the largest number of new members during the present year."

FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD.

A reward of $50 is offered for the capture and conviction of the person using the name of J. L. Prescott & Co., and signing same to drafts, without authority.

J. L. Prescott & Co., manufacturers of "Enameline" stove polish, have been annoyed by a certain person, who represents himself as their salesman, and pretends to take orders for "Enameline," and then makes a small purchase, offering a draft for a larger amount, receiving the balance in cash.

When remitting to their salesmen, J. L. Prescott & Co. send their lithographed cheque, as they never allow their representatives to make drafts on them.

A Few More Facts.

Not including the United Kingdom, 62,000,000 lbs. of Indian and Ceylon Tea were absorbed last year, an increase of 11,000,000 lbs. over '97. The total consumption was 33,000,000 lbs. more than in '96, 20,000,000 lbs. being taken by new markets. The average importing cost of these teas to-day, say under 17c., is fully 4c. higher than last season, and consumption increasing. Ceylon '99 crop is estimated at 125,000,000 lbs. against 120,000,000 lbs. last year, but only about 93,000,000 lbs. are available for United Kingdom, against 96,000,000 lbs. in '98. These figures are startling when one considers consumption is steadily increasing in Great Britain. These figures show no prospect of decline in prices. For reasons given last week we are in a position to sell you below market value.

The aggregate trade of the current fiscal year is $215,070,642, as against, $203,431,201 for 1897-98. The increase is made up entirely from imports, there being a decrease in the exports of $4,951,564, and an increase in the imports of $16,592,005. The duty increased $2,277,013, or from $14,150,115 in 1897 98 to $16,427,128 in 1898-99.

ULTIMATE SUCCESS.

MUCH theorizing has been indulged in upon the subject of success in life, and lessons, as varied as the intellects which have wrestled with the question, have been drawn and served, remarks Mercantile Review. That the successful, in point of worldly prosperity, are few, compared with the vast majority of those who do not get on, no one denies. A Philadelphia judge has stated that, out of 23,000 persons who died in that city last year, 19,166 did not leave any property for their heirs, while many of the estates bequeathed ranged from $50 to $1,000. This, of course, proves little, as it is not stated how many of the 23,000 were infants, and others who would naturally leave no estates, at least, of their own producing.

Success in accumulating property is not given to every one. Some can make, but cannot save. Some make and save, but are overtaken by untoward misfortune, causing loss. Some have no ability to get ahead at all. But there are others who are finally defeated simply from lack of staying power. One reverse means total annihilation for them ; whereas it is a proven fact that victory is most often born of failure. The lessons learned from bitter experience sink deepest and produce most lasting benefit. An exchange, commenting upon this subject, says :

Bradstreet's, in summing up the business of the year, pointed out that to the 1,168,343 concerns having an established place of business in 1897, there were admitted 241,542 new names during the year, and that 223,332 names were erased. What could be more striking testimony as to the proportion of new blood injected into the business world annually and as to the number which fall by the way ? Over and beyond these there were 86,991 changes in firm, style, or nature of business. Deducting 15,008 who failed, unable to pay what they owed, and there is still left 208,324 who merely failed to succeed. Of these 200,000 unfortunates most will, no doubt, again engage in business, and it is a fortunate fact that such a large percentage of those who take up the battle anew make a success of it the second time. All there is needed is firm determination and to utilize the experience gained from the former errors. There are few successes which are not built upon former failures. Only those who lose hope and give up the battle are vanquished. Victory is just beyond for all the rest.

A NOVEL EGG CASE.

Mr. George Doering, the local produce dealer, the other day received a box containing five dozen eggs from Mr. Jos. Matz, of Letowitz, Austria. The eggs were packed in a newly patented "Elerbehalten." It consists of an ordinary wooden case in which are five perforated wooden decks, holding a dozen eggs each. The decks are kept separated by little pegs on the bottom of each, allowing a free circulation of the air. The inventor claims his case will preserve ordinary fresh eggs in good condition for more than a year. The eggs Mr. Doering received were beauties, being of good size and color, and when tested on the table, he says, proved of extra good quality. The inventor is only asking $200,000 for the right of patent in America. — Waterloo Chronicle.

WHERE QUALITY TELLS.

It is unfair to fix the rate of a newspaper solely by its circulation. There are a great many more important things to be considered than mere numbers. If a paper is the only one in its community, certainly one copy of it is worth more than it would be if it had half a dozen competitors. An advertisement in the only paper that a man reads is worth more than an ad. in one of half a dozen papers which he reads. Newspaper publishers generally find that their space is worth all they can get for it, and that this is about the only way to find out what it is worth. I should think that probably 5c. an inch per issue would be about all that a paper of 800 circulation could get unless the advertisement was changed frequently, thereby making it necessary to charge more in order to get payment for composition. I should think that a local advertiser who changed his ad. every week ought to pay at least 10c. an inch. The rate of 5c. an inch figures out half a cent per agate line per 1,000 circulation. This is more than the large weeklies and dailies can get for their space, but it is probably about what the average small weekly gets. I should say that a small weekly paper ought to be worth more to the local advertiser than to the general advertiser—perhaps twice as much.—Charles Austin Bates.

CHEAP BEEF AT DAWSON.

The prices of beef have gone down until they are very little above those in Coast cities. The great beef trust which sold beef for $1.50 per lb. during the winter and spring of 1898 is almost forgotten. The market has been smashed and all the dealers in beef are selling at a loss.

"The prices have fallen to 15 and 25c.," said J. D. Trenholm, manager of The Dawson Electric Light Co. Mr. Trenholm is one of the last persons to come out of the Klondike country. "The poorest beef sells at 15c. and the best at 25c. per lb. by the quarter. Of course this means loss to the butchers, but they must sell and thus prices are low.

"One thing which has forced down the prices is the order that all beef which is not kept in refrigerators by May 1, will be condemned and must be thrown away. As there are no refrigerators in Dawson and none in course of construction, it will be destroyed. I don't know how much beef there is on the Yukon, but there is certainly enough to last beyond the summer. Prices may go down even lower."

It is said that the cost of getting beef into Dawson last summer and fall was 35c. per lb.; much of it was sold to dealers for 50 and 60c. per lb. Then there is the cost of keeping it for months which made the total cost much higher. So it may be seen that the butchers are losing considerable money at 15 and 25c. per lb.—Province, Vancouver.

PORK-PACKING IN ST. JOHN., N.B.

A meeting of those interested in the establishment of a pork-packing factory in St. John, N.B., was held in the board of trade rooms in that city last week.

Among those present were Premier Emmerson and other members of the Provincial Government. Hon. Mr. Emmerson stated that the Government was in sympathy with the movement, and might aid it by importing into the Province some good breeds of stock.

The general opinion was that a well-managed factory could be made to pay in New Brunswick, and Hon. Wm. Pugsley and Messrs. George Robertson, M.P.P., James Pender, P. L. Hay and F. L. Potts were appointed a committee to confer with the Government as to the establishment of a pork-packing factory at some convenient point within the Province.

SALMON REGULATIONS MODIFIED.

As a result of the conference between British Columbia members and Sir Louis Davies, it has been decided to modify the salmon fishing regulations in such a way as will remove the obstacles in the way of the Indians obtaining licenses. The necessity of producing a tax receipt before receiving a license will be done away with, and the time for registration will be extended until June 30.

ADVANCE IN ACADIA YELLOWS.

The Halifax Herald of March 18 says: "The Acadia sugar refinery, a couple of days ago, advanced the price of their second line of yellows 5c. per 100 lb. The demand is good, yet, some merchants look for a renewed weakness, and are holding off in the meantime. Quotations per 100 lb. are $4.35 for granulated; $3.75 to $4.15 for yellows, according to quality, at the factory."

A TONIC FOR SPRING BUSINESS.

EVEN the most fertile ground claims the farmer's attention in spring time. Nature alone won't produce big crops. And so the farmer turns the sod, and plants his seed and cultivates it. Even Nature herself requires a "tonic" after the long, dark days of winter. The little help that the farmer gives she couldn't do without.

Perhaps the grocer who builds up his business from year to year realizes more fully the necessity of stimulating it a little in the spring, and, like the farmer, he plants fresh seed and cultivates it carefully. He breaks away from the old chains of habit—he adopts the modern method of adding new lines to attract buyers. He increases the interest of the public in him and his store at just the time when the public are in a mood to buy, namely, in the spring, when everybody feels hopeful, and right at this time he lays in a stock of cigars to gain the good-will of the man of the house.

We believe that cigars are an invaluable tonic to help a grocer to do more business—especially in the spring when men smoke cigars out of doors so much. We are not theorizing when we say that now is the time of all times when a grocer can receive the most direct benefit from the sale of cigars as a side line, because if one will take the trouble to glance through the daily newspapers he cannot fail to be impressed with the greater extension of the advertising of the various Canadian brands that have become so firmly ensconced in the hearts of all lovers of good cigars. When a smoker takes an electric car or "a day off" he is lost without his cigars, as the increased consumption of them during the spring and summer months proves conclusively.

Here's a "tonic" then for "spring business" that, in the quickness with which it yields results, cannot be outclassed by any side line which a grocer can carry in stock. But, aside from the profit part of it, there is that vital point to be considered of the establishing of closer relations between the family and the store. The husband who buys his cigars of the grocer who has the family's trade pays his bills more promptly than does the man who never goes inside the grocer's store. A man who pays his bills keeps on trading at that store—this is a link in the chain of the successful grocer's business, and a strong link too.

It will not pay a grocer to experiment with untried brands, but rather had he better confine his first purchase to a line of cigars which has become tolerably well known, and which have skill, experience and money back of them. There are so many "mushroom" cigar manufacturers who trade entirely upon the credulity of the public that it will pay a grocer to investigate carefully the standing and the reputation of the manufacturer from whom he thinks of buying, and he had better do this before he buys than afterwards, because "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush." As a rule, a manufacturer who is not afraid to advertise his cigars over his own name is a pretty safe man to trade with.

As an excellent tonic for spring business, we advise grocers to carry a good assortment of 5 and 10c. cigars.

If you do not get the pendulum swinging in the right direction when you begin business, the sheriff is likely to do the final winding up, not to make the concern go, but to officially make it stop.

CLERKS AS PARTNERS.

A GREAT many men become competitors of their employers because the latter do not hold out any inducement for capable and ambitious young men in their employ to be anything else.

Every young man who embarks upon a business career should aim to be a merchant some day.

All clerks will not become merchants, but all clerks who aim to be such, and who year in and year out keep their eye on the goal and patiently plod toward it will ultimately attain their object.

There are in most stores, among the clerks, material from which successful merchants are made. There are others, who, while they may aim to go into business for themselves some day, are too effete to ever work hard for it, and, even if they did by some strange change eventually possess a store of their own, would not be aggressive enough to prove dangerous competitors.

It seems to us that the policy every wise merchant should pursue is to hold out the possibility of a partnership to the young man in his employ whose qualifications warrant such a consummation.

Once you have decided to do this, take him into your confidence. Counsel him to save money and to master the details of the business. Give him a practical evidence of your sincerity by allowing him, as a start, a small percentage on the sales he makes.

If he is the right kind of a young man, and the proposition should be made to no other, it will stimulate his energy to the obvious advantage of the business.

The promotion of a capable clerk to a partnership is not only a good thing for the business, but it is also a just reward for faithful services.

ORANGES ARE DEARER.

In the past three weeks there have been advances in the price of every variety of oranges on the Toronto market.

The cause is not local, either, for the crop of Californian navels is short, and supplies of these goods are said to be becoming exhausted.

The crop of Valencias was a good one, but a great many of them are "wasty." An advice received by a Toronto house this week stated that in a shipment of 7,000 cases received in Liverpool recently, only 200 were fit to export.

UNITED STATES SUGAR COMPETITION IN CANADA.

THE competition of United States refined sugar has assumed large proportions lately, and, as intimated in these columns two weeks ago, the matter is engaging the serious attention of the Canadian refiners.

The Canadian market is small enough as it stands, for the two refineries in Montreal and those in Halifax, without having to meet the competition of bounty-aided sugar from the enormous establishments across the line.

The latter, of late, have manifested a tendency to extend, rather than restrict, their campaign in Canadian territory, and are offering refined sugar entirely regardless of the ratio of cost between the raw and the refined article.

On this account, the market for Canadian refined sugar is in an unenviable position, and it is asserted, by those close to the management of the Canadian refineries, that they are contemplating the advisability of shutting down their works, if the authorities at Ottawa refuse to give the matter consideration.

In the event of such a refusal, they consider that the present conditions would be prolonged, making it very difficult for them to do business on a legitimate basis.

As long as the fight in sugar was restricted to United States territory, it was no business of ours, but, now that the reckless battle between the conflicting sugar interests has been extended to Canada, it is clearly the duty of our Government to take some steps in the matter. They are either bound to afford the Canadian refiners protection from what is practically a bounty-fed sugar, or to abolish the existing Canadian duty on raw sugar, so as to place the domestic refiners on the same basis as their competitors in the United States.

The latter alternative is, no doubt, hardly practical, as it entails a loss of revenue, but, in the event of this illegitimate American competition causing our refiners to shut down, the revenue now derived from raw sugar would be wanting anyway.

IT LIBELLED CANADIAN PRODUCE.

A couple of months ago, a London, England, firm made some extraordinary charges in the columns of The Canadian Gazette, published in that city, in regard to Canadian butter and eggs.

For instance, it said that "in Canada the butter is made at a number of different farms, collected, mixed, and then exported." "Canadian eggs," it declared, "are a distinct failure in the British market."

Of course, the firm was badly informed, but the trouble is that untruth, as well as truth, sometimes passes currency. Consequently, a great deal of injury is sometimes done.

Prof. James W. Robertson, Commissioner of Agriculture for the Dominion, took the matter up, and in The Canadian Gazette of March 9 there is a letter from that gentleman.

He shows that the butter exported from Canada, instead of being collected from a number of different farms, is the product of the creameries, who collect, not butter, but milk, from the farmers.

"Healthy cows kept on fine feed, the pure air, and the cleanly habits and skill of the people in Canada, are all factors in the production of a quality of butter which is unsurpassed by that made anywhere else," he declares. "The cold storage accommodation at the various creameries, together with the refrigerator cars on the railways and the cold storage chambers on the steamships, make it quite possible to deliver that butter in Great Britain in a first-class condition. The trade is growing and bound to grow, as Canada can produce butter not only of the very best quality, but at a less cost for production than European countries, whose farmers have now to import a large proportion of the feed consumed by their dairy herds."

As to Canadian eggs, Prof. Robertson points out that they are distinctly gaining in favor in nearly all the markets in Great Britain. "The eggs, he says, "are of uniformly large size, are carefully selected, and are reported to be landed in good condition as to freshness, cleanness, fulness and central position of the yolk. The Canadian egg case, with its cardboard compartments, is also preferred to the egg cases from other countries. Nearly all the eggs exported from Canada go to Great Britain. In 1896 the quantity of eggs exported from Canada to Great Britain was over five millions of dozens (5,585,725), and in 1898 that had risen to over ten millions of dozens (10,280,466)."

When next the spirit moves it to write letters in regard to Canadian farm and dairy produce, the firm in question will probably wait until it has the facts as well.

NEW MAPLE SYRUP.

THE first week of March did not promise well for a good production of maple sugar and syrup, but, lately, the climatic conditions have shown material improvement, and reports from leading sections of the Eastern Townships, show that it is now bearing fruit in a better flow of sap.

Cold, raw weather with no snow is highly unfavorable to maple sugar making, and it looked very much, until last week, as though we were going to have no snow this spring, and, consequently, a smaller output of maple product than usual. The recent heavy snowfall, however, has changed this.

It may have caused some inconvenience, but it is just what the sugar groves wanted. Besides, the days have been clear and bright and the nights cold and frosty for the past eight days, and this is exactly the kind of weather that promises a good run of sap untainted by any flavor.

Dark, gloomy weather is apt to impart an undesirable taste to the sugar or syrup, besides curtailing the flow of sap. On the whole, therefore, the expectations this week appear confident of a good flow of sap and an average output of sugar and syrup, if the weather conditions continue as they are at present.

New syrup has already commenced to arrive in Montreal, and has sold in small tins at 60 to 65c., while larger tins have realized 85c. to 90c., as to quality. Old syrup flavored with a proportion of new is also offering in considerable quantities at 50 to 55c., in small tins, and is easily known from its darker color, and less delicate flavor.

No undeniably new sugar has yet been offered here, what has been sold as such being old sugar reboiled with a proportion of new sap to give it a fresh flavor.

Of course, as the receipts increase with the advance of the season, the above prices on syrup will be shaded.

COMBATING DEPARTMENTAL STORES.

THE clause in the Montreal charter bill, which the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Quebec eliminated by such a large majority, read as follows:

An additional special tax, not exceeding 10 per cent. of the annual assessed value of the entire premises in which departmental stores are maintained and carried on, may also be imposed upon such persons, companies or corporations, for each separate and distinct branch of trade and business maintained and carried on in such departmental stores.

When this clause was drafted, HARDWARE AND METAL expressed the opinion that it would not become law. No matter how righteous it might have been, experience teaches that legislation of this kind is seldom obtainable, the opposition from the rural members of the Legislatures usually being strong enough to defeat it.

But, is legislation of this kind righteous? There is no law—divine, moral or commercial—which denies a merchant the right to carry in stock as many lines as he chooses, as long, of course, as none of them are of an immoral nature or are dangerous in character. This particular clause did not limit the number of branches of business a departmental store should conduct. But its purpose was obvious. If the departmental store, why not the dry goods, the grocery, the hardware and other stores? The clause, therefore, was an invidious one.

The departmental stores have wrought much evil to the legitimate dealer. There is no question about that. And, furthermore, they, undoubtedly, like nearly all large concerns, do not contribute their proper share of taxes towards the support of the municipalities in which they are situated.

There are legitimate ways in which these evils can be corrected, and it is to the procurement of these, business men should apply themselves.

As far as taxation is concerned, get laws that will secure equitable, and not invidious taxation as is now the case, and as would have been the case in Montreal had the special tax on departmental stores sought been secured.

In Chicago, only last week, one of the judges of the Supreme Court declared that a departmental storekeeper in that city was not guilty of violating any law in selling meats, fruits, vegetables, etc., under the same roof with dry goods, jewelry, etc.

It seems to us that the proper basis for taxation is the turnover.

A bill which has been introduced in the Pennsylvania Legislature appears to be a step in the right direction. It proposes to tax each merchant according to the business he does. The rate to be one mill on the dollar. Each merchant to furnish sworn returns.

Under this, of course, a merchant that only does $1,000 worth of business only pays $1 in taxes, while he who does $1,000,000 worth contributes $1,000. Compared with the law now existing in the State of Pennsylvania this proposed law would lighten the taxes on all businesses up to $10,000 and increase it on those in excess thereof. The tax on a $10,000 business would, of course, be $10. Under the present law it is $12.50.

A law punishing merchants for issuing lying advertisements would also be in order, for we have departmental stores which continually advertise what they have not got, and misrepresent that which they have.

But, while exerting their influence for securing the enactment of better laws, merchants should not neglect to devise schemes for the improvement of their own business, for the most perfect and salutary laws are not able to do for the business what the merchant can do himself.

There must be judicious advertising, careful buying and careful selling, quick turnover of goods and short terms of credit, if any credit at all, bright stores, well-dressed windows, etc.

Against stores of this character departmental stores make little or no headway.

Well-directed energy is the ammunition with which life's battles are won.

BEET SUGAR IN ESSEX COUNTY.

A movement is on foot to start a beet sugar factory in Essex county, Ont. William McGregor, M.P., is interesting himself in the matter and will bring it before the Dominion Government with a view to securing a bonus.

It is to be hoped this particular movement to start a beet sugar industry in Canada will meet with better success than those which have preceded it.

Canada can, beyond all question, grow sugar beets of good quality.

The analysis made by Prof. Shuttleworth, of the Ontario Agricultural College, of beets grown in the neighborhood of Owen Sound showed that the average of the forty samples tested was 14.40 per cent. of sugar. One sample showed the unusual percentage of 17.

The beet sugar industry in the United States is well upon its feet. Probably we shall some day be able to say the same thing about the industry in Canada, for our neighbors, like us, were a long time starting.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, March 23, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE feature of the wholesale grocery trade is still in the strong position of the tea market, prices being even stronger than they were a week ago. The demand for tea continues active. Some business has been done in canned goods, but the demand is not yet active. Prices in this line are, on the whole, firm and unchanged. Some sales of canned goods are reported to have been made this week for shipment west. The spice market is quiet and steady as to price. A fairly good business is being done in molasses, but in syrups there is very little doing. Rice is in fairly good demand, and the market rules firm. Currants were cabled slightly higher and Californian and Oregon prunes are one half-cent per lb. dearer. In Valencia raisins very little is being done.

CANNED GOODS.

Several sales of canned goods for shipment to the Northwest are reported to have been made during the past week. One wholesale house alone states that it has sold 800 cases. The purchases consist chiefly of tomatoes and corn. Beans have been receiving more attention, and stocks of them are reported to be getting light; 75c is reported to have been paid in one instance for shipment to the Coast, and some of the local jobbers have marked their prices up to 80c. per dozen, although for larger quantities they would still accept 75c. Corn is decidedly strong and from 90c. to $1. Tomatoes are steady at 85 to 90c. We understand that round lots of tomatoes and corn could be obtained at 87½c. from holders. It appears that there are some holders who will not sell corn unless tomatoes are taken as well, and this, as far as can be learned, is the price they ask for the two jointly. There is a little better demand for canned fruits, particularly peaches and plums, for shipment to points in the country. Although quotations are still being made for canned lobster for future delivery, we do not hear of any transactions. Canned salmon is meeting with a moderate demand only.

COFFEES.

Local wholesalers report a continuance of a fairly steady demand for Rio green coffees. There is a little doing in Maracaibo and Santos. Advices from Rio report a reaction in the rate for sterling exchange of ⅛ to 6⅞c. The movement of the crop showed a slight falling off. Cables are fairly steady. The outside markets generally appear to be quiet.

SUGARS.

Wholesalers report that they have experienced during the past week an improvement in the demand for sugars, some reporting that trade in this particular line has, during the past week, been the best they have experienced since the opening of the new year. Cable advices show a better undertone to the market, and, although the raw market is strong, the refiners in the United States are still cutting prices, and early this week a reduction was made in the price of certain grades of refined soft sugars of 1-16 to ⅛c. per lb. There was some talk a few days ago of an understanding between the Trust and the independent refineries, but it appears to be nothing more than a rumor, for the reductions that have been made in prices took place after this report was circulated. Wholesalers in Toronto still quote $4.53 for Montreal refined and $4.48 for Acadia. Yellows range from $3 93 upwards.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is not much doing in sugar syrups, and there are nothing but high-grade descriptions to be obtained. There is, however, a large quantity of corn syrup going out, as there has been, in fact, during the past six months. Bright medium sugar syrups are quoted from 30 to 32c. and bright from 35 to 37c. Corn syrup is quoted: Bbls., 2½c.; half-bbls, 2⅝c.; kegs, 2¾c. per lb.; 3-gal. pails, $1.20 each; 2-gal. pails, 90c. each. In molasses a pretty good trade is being done in the low-grade New Orleans description at about 25 to 28c. per lb. in barrels and half-barrels respectively.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The demand for rice is fair, and the first shipment of new season's Japan rice is on the market this week. Further shipments of last season's crop are also arriving. The rice market is firm, and a cable received in Toronto this week quotes Patna rice ¼ to ½c. per lb. dearer. As most of the wholesalers have already placed their orders, there is not much business being done for importation. Tapioca continues firm.

SPICES.

Pepper for April and May shipment is cabled a little easier this week. Cloves were a little easier, but now appear to be steady again. Ginger is fairly firm on the outside markets at slightly advanced prices.

TEAS.

The strength of the Indian and Ceylon market is still the feature of the grocery trade. Some consignments have been stopped in transit and ordered to be forwarded to London, Eng., where they have been sold to much better advantage than they could have been here. This has, of course, added strength to the local market. It is understood that shipments consigned to the United States have also been stopped in transit and forwarded to London. Local brokers report an active demand for Indian and Ceylon teas on spot at about 14c. There are very few of these to be had, and, although quite a lot of these teas were sold during the past week at this figure, those who now have any are holding them over at less than ½c. per lb. more. Some pekoe souchongs on spot, which sold here a month ago at from 12½ to 13c., are now held at about 15c. The advices received here from Calcutta and Colombo indicate a very strong condition of affairs there also. A private letter received in Toronto, this week, stated that the writer was afraid that they would not for some time be able to get good teas to sell at less than 20c.

Japan teas are for the time being neglected, and prices are nominally firm.

On account of the high price of Indian and Ceylon teas there is quite a demand for China black teas. The teas wanted are chiefly from 10 to 11c. per lb., but, as there are not many of these teas offering, there have not been many transactions.

China green teas appear to be as firm as ever, and holders fully expect that the market will rule even higher than it is now. In consequence of this belief they are not offering. A few sales were made during the past week, but business would not be repeated unless higher figures could be obtained.

NUTS.

Advices from the primary market are of an easier nature in regard to shelled almonds. Grenoble walnuts, on the other hand, are firm and advancing.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Advices received in Toronto this week announce a slight advance in the price of currants in Greece. There is not much business being done for importation, but wholesalers report a fair business at unchanged prices. Advices from New York state that currants are firmer there on reduced stocks, and that there is an increased inquiry from cleaners, while the consumptive demand has improved.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Prices, according to the latest advices received here, are firm. There is nothing being done for importation, and the wholesale trade report that business with them in this line is dull.

PRUNES—There has been an advance this week in the primary market in both Californian and Oregon prunes of ½c. per lb. Advices state that there are now only about 300 cars left in first and second hands. Bosnia prunes appear to be firm at the recent advance. Wholesalers report a fairly good demand for prunes.

GREEN FRUITS.

The stormy weather this week has affected the fruit business considerably, yet there is an excellent demand for oranges, lemons and bananas. The feeling regarding oranges is decidedly firm. Californian navels are said to be becoming scarce. Valencias are held firm with an advance of 50c. for ordinary 420's. Californian Mediterranean sweets are offering for the first time this season. They are worth $3 to $3.25. The feeling regarding lemons is easier, a decline of 25c. being noted. A limited quantity of sweet potatoes is offered at $4 to $4.50 per bbl. Though the price of bananas is unchanged, there will be a decline as soon as the weather becomes warmer. Some cars are now waiting on tracks here, the dealers fearing to open them because of the unfavorable weather.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The unfavorable weather and the bad roads have materially reduced receipts. Consequently the feeling is somewhat firmer, and an advance of ½c. makes 12 to 13c. the prices now ruling.

POTATOES—The firm tone and the high prices, 70 to 75c. for cars on track, Toronto, is well maintained. The street market has gone up with a bound, and now 90c. to $1 per bag is the current quotation.

BEANS—A strong feeling still prevails, with prices unchanged. Medium grades are steady at 90c. to $1, and hand-picked at $1.10 to $1.15.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The market in Europe is dull. The local demand is fairly active, and the stocks are light. Prices are unchanged at about 5c. outside. There is a good jobbing trade in evaporated apples at 9½ to 10c.

VEGETABLES—Rhubarb is 25c. cheaper. There is no other change. We quote as follows: Rhubarb, $1 to $1.25; greenhouse radishes, 40 to 50c. per dozen bunches; spinach, $1 to $1.50 per bush.; green onions, 10 to 15c. per doz.; celery, 75c. to $1 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 30c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 25 to 30c. per bag; beets, 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips, $1 to $1.20 per bag; carrots, 50 to 80c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.25 to $1.50 per bag; butter squash, $2 to $2.50; Hubbard squash, $2 to $2.50; red cabbage, 50 to 75c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The receipts of dairy pound prints have been so large lately as to cause accumulations. There is a fairly steady movement of large rolls. Prices are unchanged. Few second grade and hardly any best grade dairy tubs are offering. An advance of 1c. is noted for the best grade, but the common stuff is not wanted, although the price is 1c. below last week's figures. Receipts of creamery prints are increasing, and though prices are maintained, a decline is likely, as neither the export nor the shipping demand is active. A quantity of inferior creamery is offering at 20c., which is 1 to 2c. below the ruling price.

CHEESE — The feeling continues firm. Though 10½c. is the ruling price, the SEEDS.

The market is dull. Red clover is still quoted at $3 to $3.25 outside, and alsike is worth $2.50 to $3.50. About 25c. more than this is paid for exceptionally choice samples.

MARKET NOTES.

Currants are cabled slightly dearer.

All grades of flour are 10c. cheaper.

Potatoes have advanced 15c. on the local street market.

Californian and Oregon prunes are ½c. per lb. dearer.

Cream of tartar is practically easier in the primary market.

Salmon trout, whitefish, and steak cod are 1 to 1½c. dearer.

The market for Indian and Ceylon tea continues to advance.

Lemons are 25c. cheaper. Ordinary 420 Valencians are 50c. dearer. The first California Mediterraneann sweets of the season are now offered at $3 to $3.25.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, March 23, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE week has been a fairly satisfactory one in general grocery staples, and, as a rule, prices are steady. In sugar, the competition of American refined is causing some dissatisfaction among sellers, but it has not affected the price of the domestic refined article beyond preventing any response to the movement in the raw market. Syrups rule quiet, and offers of new crop molasses for spring importation do not lead to business, because buyers think that prices will be modified later. Canned goods present no noteworthy change, though prices in some cases have been shaded for round lots of vegetables. Rice, spices and coffee are steady, and the tea market is very firm in tone, with a good movement.

SUGAR.

The refined sugar market has not exhibited any further change since that noted last week, nor is it expected to while the competition of American refined continues, even should the position of the raw sugar market warrant a change in values. Demand is fairly active for all grades of sugar, but local refiners complain that the volume of their sales is seriously curtailed by large importations of American refined sugar. In raw, beet sugar has been offered for spring importation to the local refiners at 10s. 6d. cost and freight Montreal, but no trading of importance has resulted. The cane market was steady in London, although little business was doing. Java, on Monday, was quoted at 12s., and fair refining at 10s. 9d. Beet has ruled steady lately, with an upward tendency, March, 9s. 10½d., and April, 9s. 11¼d.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in syrups, demand being slow and business light. Values rule steady at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb., as to quality, at the factory.

MOLASSES.

There has been no new feature in the molasses market since last report. Demand is slow on spot and little business of importance can be noted. In a jobbing way Barbadoes is selling at 30c., and for round lots 29c. would be accepted. Cables from the Island report the market steady at 12c., first cost. The figure is considered high, and importers here are holding off. Mail advices state: "Showery weather continues, and the canes are not yet fully ripe. Some estates have commenced grinding, but molasses in any quantity is not yet obtainable—we expect reaping will be general the middle of next month. Small sales of molasses have been made at 12c. per gallon and $4 for pun."

CANNED GOODS.

There is a firm undertone to this market, especially for vegetables, and quite a fair lot of business has been done in staple lines between houses. There is very little corn held in first hands here, outside of one round lot, for which the holder is firm at $1 per dozen, but sales of small lots between houses have been made at 90 to 95c. Round lots of tomatoes have changed hands at 87½c., while small lots are moving at 90c. Peas are quiet at 80 to 85c. per dozen, as to quality. There is nothing new to report in canned salmon.

DRIED FRUITS.

No new developments are reported in this market, and what trading there is passing is of a small, pedling character.

RICE.

With continued strength abroad this market retains all its firmness, but there is no change in prices to report. Demand continues active.

SPICES.

With a good demand prices are strongly held, especially as advices are all stiff as regards values. Black and white pepper are stiff and the same can be said of Jamaica ginger and Zanzibar cloves.

COFFEE.

There has been a good demand for coffee and prices are inclined to be firmer with an upward tendency.

TEAS.

As a result of the news from the States, that standards on low-grade teas are to be lowered, a much firmer disposition is manifested in regard to such stock, and holders look for a material advance in prices. Black teas have met a fair inquiry, demand being brisk for Congous from 12½ to 13c., but this kind of tea is very scarce here. Medium Japans have been quite active at 15½ to 16c., and Pingsuey gunpowders and Young Hysons have been pretty well cleared off this market by American buyers. Ceylons and Indian teas are extremely firm, with nothing offering under 14½c., while latest advices from London indicate a further advance, the lowest price for leaf teas now being 7½d.

GREEN FRUITS.

Business continues fair for this season of the year. There has been a good demand for all varieties of oranges. As predicted Valencia oranges have sold higher at $4 to $4.50 per box. Californian navels are also firm at last week's advance. Liberal receipts of lemons have not affected values in the best grades, though some cheap varieties are offering at $2.25 to $3.25 per box

S. H. Ewing & Sons - Montreal.

Cranberries are in limited demand at $8 to $9 per bbl. Almeria grapes are in light supply at $8 to $9 per keg. Pineapples range from 20 to 30c. each.

APPLES.

Apples are firm at $3 to $4.50 per bbl.

FISH.

There has been nothing striking to report in the fish market. Nearly all kinds are exhausted except one or two lots of pickled herrings. Fresh cod is now arriving daily in small quantities and selling at fair prices. Fresh haddock sell at 4½c., while halibut bring 11c., and salmon 10c. per lb.; herring, $1.65 per 100; fresh caught salmon are steady at 14c. In pickled fish No. 1 B.C. salmon range from $12.50 to $13 per bbl., and No. 1 herring, $4.25 to $4.50 per bbl., which is 25c. per bbl. decline.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand was good for small lots, and, as the supply was not excessive, the tone of the market ruled firm at the recent advance in prices. The prospects are, if the present weather continues for a few days longer, prices will likely go higher. Sales to-day were made at 12½ to 13½c. per dozen.

MAPLE PRODUCT—A fair trade was done in maple product, and, as supplies are not large, prices are steady. Receipts of new syrup have been small up to the present, owing to the cold weather, and prices rule firm at 55 to 60c. per small tin, and old at 45 to 50c. Sugar is quiet, at 6 to 6½c. per lb.

HONEY — There was nothing new in honey, the demand being slow. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 8½c.; dark, 6½ to 7c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 5 to 5½c.

BEANS—In beans, trade is chiefly of a jobbing character, at steady prices. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

ONIONS—Onions are firm, at $2.75 to $3 per bbl., and demand from the west is still active.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

There was no improvement in the provision market. The demand for all lines is limited, and the volume of business doing is small, at about steady prices. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, in barrels, $15 to $15.50; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¾ to 7c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

Dressed hogs quiet, and prices somewhat irregular. Carload lots of frozen stock are quoted at $4.75 to $5, as to quality, and car lots of fresh killed light weights at $5.25 per 100 lb.

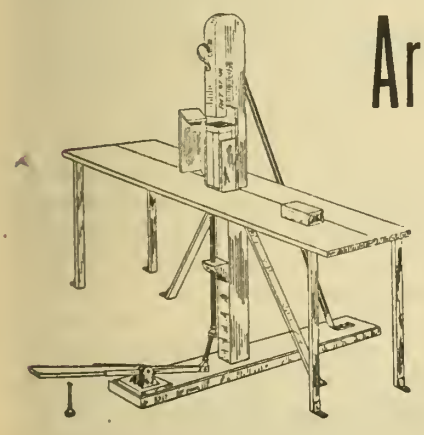
FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN.—The grain market was dull and without any new feature whatever to note. Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat was quoted at 68c. afloat Fort William, with buyers bidding 67½c. At points west of Toronto No. 2 white oats were held at 29½c., with buyers at 29c. On spot they were nominally quoted at 32½c. ex store, and peas at 72c.

FLOUR.—In flour, trade was chiefly of a jobbing character, and the market was quiet with no change in values to note. We quote: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $4 to $4.25; strong bakers', $3.70 to $3.90.

MEAL—There was no change in meal, business being very quiet at $3.70 to $3.75 per bbl. for rolled oats.

FEED—A fair trade continues to be done



Armeda Tea Packer and Simplex Mixer

Mr. Halford, proprietor of the "Social" Ceylon Tea, uses the Armeda Packer and Simplex Mixer and says they are complete in every particular.

HAY—The market for baled hay was dull and featureless. We quote: No. 1, $5.50 to $6; No. 2 extra, $4.25 to $4.75; No. 2, clover mixture, $4; clover, $3.50 to $3.75.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—Cheese was quiet, but firm, and, if the attitude of the few holders here is any fair criterion, no purchases can now be made under 10⅞ to 11c., and few at the inside figure. The other day, it is understood, 10½c. was accepted for a fair quantity, but now nothing under 10⅞c. will be listened to. Advices from England are firm, and the cable has advanced to 52s.; but it may be remarked that cheese has been selling above that for the past eight days.

BUTTER—The butter market maintains its firm position, but trading now passing is of a small jobbing nature, for there is not a sufficient quantity offering to allow of any heavy transactions. Accordingly, with light receipts, it is a seller market, and the goods are quickly taken by local grocers in small jobbing parcels at full figures. Creamery is firm, at 20½ to 21c.; western dairy, 15¾ to 16¼c., as to quantity and quality, and tub dairy, 14¾ to 15c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

As predicted, there has been an advance in Valencia oranges.

Sugar continues unchanged, but local refiners complain of American competition.

American buyers have practically cleared the market of Pingsuey and Young Hyson teas.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., March 21, 1899.

THE weeek has been a quiet one. The weather has turned cold again, and there has been considerable snow. Roads are bad through the country. Prices are quite firmly held, except in flour and provisions. The flour market has been somewhat of a disappointment. Brooms are held firm at the advance, and higher prices are expected. In tobaccos, there are an increased number of grades offered; the fact that the manufacturerer of these grades best known in this market in the past years holds to such odd terms, particularly not increasing the number of his customers, has gone far towards aiding the other manufacturers in getting a foothold. In cream of tartar, prices are higher. Baking soda never was as low.

OIL—In this line there is no change. The season of best demand for burning oil is over, and the fact that there is but one company to sell tends to even prices. Lubricating finds active demand. Buyers would do well not to force prices down, as it means an inferior quality, which will prove in the end a loss. Paint oils sell freely. Prices are high. Cod oil is scarce.

SALT—There is quite a steady sale, chiefly English coarse. The fact that fish are scarce somewhat affects demand. Parties in need will find this the best time to buy. In English factory filled there is a better sale, it costing lower than the Canadian. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 38 to 40c.; English factory-filled, 80c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—There is little change in local prices. Corn is getting scarce and higher figures will soon rule. Peas are plentiful and show no change. Tomatoes hardly show the strength expected owing to western holdings offering. Salmon, while very firm, was bought in a round lot by a wholesale dealer at quite a low figure, still it was a special grade. Alaska salmon have been offered at quite low figures, but the quality does not suit our trade. Oysters are quoted higher by American packers. Peaches tend higher and stock not large. In kippered herring and finnan haddies, stock is light and prices for the coming season will rule higher than last year.

GREEN FRUITS—Oranges move freely. Valencias are quoted higher. Other grades show no change. Some very fine Javas are offered, but prices are too high for large business. Californians show no change in prices, and have the demand where best stock is required. Lemons are quoted as last week, but the demand has somewhat fallen off. Apples are very high and move but slowly. The stock held here is small. A few Cape Cod cranberries are being received in bushel boxes. A few sweet potatoes are offered from the West Indies. It is still early for bananas, but a few are offered, and with warmer weather will soon come to the front.

DRIED FRUITS—Californian prunes still have first place in the interests of dealers. The trade in the last few years has become a large one. Prices are moving up. There is but a fair stock held. Some splendid fruit has been received. There is some inquiry for Californian raisins, but, on the whole, raisins are inclined to be dull. Currants are firm. Demand is largely confined to package goods. Evaporated apricots and peaches, owing to price, have little sale, and package goods, which last season were quite popular, are about out of the market. Evaporated apples are scarce, and higher prices are asked. Two cars arrived this week. There is little demand for dried. Onions are firm at the advance.

SUGAR—The market is a firm one. There is quite a little foreign granulated offered. It arrived in a good time as prices are rather higher. It was a long time getting here, and buyers would likely have refused it had the market gone against them. It was bought through a New York house. It is sold rather under standard prices. Foreign yellows are also lower than Canadian.

MOLASSES—New goods continue to arrive. The last steamer brought a small quantity of Barbadoes. The steamer now on the way here has quite a quantity on board. Prices are high. In Porto Rico the new crop so far to hand has come via Halifax in small quantities at high figures. At least two cargoes are due, but the price will show little change. As stock of old goods was very light, new goods move freely, and the outlook at present points to a firm market; but it is a little early. In New Orleans there is light business, the arrival of West Indian goods effecting the demand.

PRODUCE—Eggs are again lower, but, with the cold weather, and Easter near to hand, little change is expected. There have been fair arrivals. In butter, price is as last week. Best stock finds a fair sale, but will not bring big figures. Prices remain too low for much creamery to move. Cheese is still quiet, with nothing in this market to cause a change.

FISH—No stock is the word. There is an active demand, particularly for fresh fish, but arrivals are light. A few halibut are to hand, and prices are high. No gaspereaux are being caught, owing to the weather. Dry fish are in limited supply, and price is firm, being about as high as this line will stand. Pickled herring have small sale, and it is as well, as there are very few here. The fact is, the herring are being destroyed, and the catch is lighter each year. Finnan haddie are scarce and high. Haddock are being brought from Boston to be smoked. Hake are scarce. The demand is better than for some time. Very few lobsters are coming to hand. We quote · Large cod, $3.75 to $3.80; medium, $3.70 to $3.75; pollock, $1.85 to $2.00; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.95 to $2 ½-bbl.; Canso, pickled, $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 5½ to 6c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $3.75 to $4 ½-bbl.; fall shad, $4.75 to $5 ½-bbl.; Shelburne, $3.75 per bbl.; Grand Manan herring, $3.70 to $3.80 per bbl.; quoddy, $3.50 per ½-bbl.; frozen pollock, 1¼ to 1½c.; frozen cod, 2¾ to 3c.; frozen haddock, 2¾ to 3c.; lobsters, small, 3½ to 4c.; do., large, 10 to 12c.; halibut, 10 to 12c.

PROVISIONS—Prices are rather lower, particularly in barreled beef, which, from Boston, is being offered very low. Pork is also lower, but does not show as much change. Local packers are receiving western pigs In lard, prices are very low. Fair sale.

FLOUR, FEED, AND MEAL.—Flour is weaker, and dealers are somewhat surprised. Some brands of Ontario flour were offered low, and, while the larger Manitoba millers hold quite firm, others have cut their prices. Oatmeal is high and firmly held; sales are light. Feed is almost impossible to get. Cornmeal shows no change. It has a large sale, and is all local ground. Beans are quiet at easy figures. There is a demand for yellow eyes, but only for limited quantity. Barley, and split peas and blue peas are high and firm. Seeds move more freely and at firm figures. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.65 to $4.75; best Ontario, $3.85 to $4; medium, $3.65 to $3.75; oatmeal, $3.90 to $4.00; cornmeal, $2.15; middlings, $19 to $21; bran, $17 to $18; oats, 38 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1.05 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $4 to $4.10; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $4.10 to $4.25; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The Bank of Montreal will open a branch in Fredericton early in April.

J. M. Archibald, Beachville, whose oatmeal is so well known through the west, is now represented here by Robt. Jardine.

J. Hunter White received this week a shipment of "Corona" golden figs. These are choice goods in 1-lb. cakes, wrapped, and 4 doz. in package.

C. & E. MacMichael are now offering "Thistle" brand tomatoes packed by The Brighton Canning Co. This is the first time these goods have been offered here.

Mr. A. C. Jardine, late of Jardine & Co., was in the city during the week. Mr. Jardine, while only in the west a short time, has been most successful, due to a sharp advance in the stock of a gold mine in which he is interested. His many friends congratulate him.

THE GROCER had a very pleasant chat with our local broom and brush manufacturer, F. S. Simms, who has just returned from British Columbia where he has been looking after the business of his company. He has a growing trade in that far Province as well as all along the line. In Chicago and other points Mr. Simms secured a choice stock of broom corn.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, March 20, 1899.

BUSINESS continues to improve slowly and a few changes are to be recorded in the price list of the week. Wholesale men complain that payments are a little slow, but that, on the whole, business is larger and more satisfactory than at the same date last year. Some apprehension is felt in regard to damp wheat still held in store, but so far the weather has not been warm enough to do any damage. Indeed, the weather continues cold with sharp, biting winds.

Owing to the shortage in broom corn, and in sympathy with eastern and southern markets, brooms have advanced very sharply, the difference being from 50 to 75c. per dozen. Quotations are now $2 to $3.50, according to quality.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS—Dried apples have dropped slightly during the week. This is, no doubt, the result of holders finding the former figures prohibitive. All lines of evaporated fruit are in good demand, as is usual at this time of year. Apricots have experienced another advance, and are quoted at 17 to 17½c. Prunes and figs and the cheaper grades of dried fruits generally are in greater demand than usual owing to the high price of dried apples.

Jams and jellies are also in greater demand for the same reason.

CANNED GOODS—No changes are quoted for the week. There is the usually increased demand for canned fruits at this season. Standard prices are: Cherries, red, pitted, $1.85 to $2 per doz.; Pears, 2's, $1.75 per doz.; pears, Cal., 2½'s, $2.40 per doz.; pears, Bartletts', 3's, $2.50 per doz.; pineapples, 2's, $2.50 per doz.; pineapples, 2's, imported, $3 per doz.; peaches, 2's, $1.90 per doz.; peaches, Cal., 2½'s, $2.50 per doz.; peaches, Canadian, 3's, $3 per doz; plums, 2's, $1.50 to $1.75 per doz.; plums, Cal., 2½'s, $2 to $2.25; raspberries, 2's, $1.65 per doz.; strawberries, 2's, $1.55 to $1.65.

FISH—There is the usual Lenten demand for both frozen and smoked fish. All lines of smoked are now more plentiful. Quotations are unchanged: Haddies, 8 to 9c. for first-class stock; bloaters, $1.50 per box; boneless hake, 5 to 5½c. per lb.; codfish, whole cases of 100 lb., $6; codfish, pure, 7 to 7½c.; herring, half-bbl., $3.65.

BUTTER—Dairy is more plentiful in supply, but slower in movement. Dealers are paying 12½c. for round lots of good fresh dairy, at country points. Creamery is unchanged, and nominal quotations are 22 to 23c. per lb., jobbers to retailers.

CHEESE — Is very quiet. Practically nothing is being done. Price, 10 to 10½c for small, and 9½ to 10c. for large.

EGGS—Are a little more plentiful and slightly cheaper. Fresh-laid eggs, guaranteed, 30c. per dozen, retail; freshly-candled 20c.

GREEN FRUITS—Oranges are advancing and prospect is that they will be very high There is already an advance of 50 to 75c. in the Minneapolis market. Navels, fancy stock, $4 to $4.50; seedlings, $3.25 to $3.50 Mexicans, $2.50; bitter oranges, $5.50 to $6. These prices will advance early in the week. Lemons, Messina, $4; Californian $4. Two carloads of inferior Spies have been placed on this market and tend to lower the prices. First-class Spies are

RETURNED CAVALRYMEN REFRESHED WITH

SEAL BRAND COFFEE.

CHASE & SANBORN, the well known coffee importers and jobbers, were simply worshipped by 1,200 soldiers and 500 women last Saturday when the 1st Cavalry, Illinois Volunteers, the crack cavalry regiment of Illinois, returned from the pest-hole camp at Chickamauga.

It was at Fort Sheridan that the Chicago branch of Chase & Sanborn served 330 gallons of Seal Brand Coffee, from three o'clock, a. m., to four o'clock, p. m., with "real cream and sugar," as the boys expressed it. It was a great treat after the villainous stuff which was served at the front by the Government.

Eight expert coffee-makers were kept busy preparing the delicious beverage.

As the company passed by the soldiers halted and with hats off gave three cheers for Chase & Sanborn.—N. E. Grocer, Sept. 2, 1898.

INCREASING THE TEA-PACKING PLANT.

T. B. Escott & Co., London, Ont., write: "The increased sales for 'Grand Mogul' tea during 1898 were equal to the total sales for 1897. The sales for this year (1899), so far, are equal to the total sales for 1898. We are doubling our facilities, and wish to state to the trade that we shall be able to make prompt shipments of all orders in about two weeks. The demand has been so much greater than we anticipated that we have been unable to fill orders promptly. Therefore, we ask the indulgence of our friends, and can assure all purchasers that, after the completion of our additional packing plant, we will be able to fill all orders the day they are received. During April, we shall send with each case of tea a very handsome hanger (copy from a valuable old painting)."

A MARMALADE FIRM.

Thos. Upton & Co., manufacturers of jams, jellies, marmalade, etc., Hamilton, have found it necessary, during the past year, to build large new premises to meet the increased demand for these goods.

Thos. Upton & Co. have, during the last few months, established a well-merited reputation, particularly for their marmalade. In the manufacture of marmalade, they use only Seville oranges and standard granulated sugar. The firm's advertisement appears in another column. Henry Wright & Co. are the firm's selling agents.

TRAVELERS TO BE TAXED NO MORE.

Mr. H. W. Wadsworth, secretary-treasurer of The Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association, Montreal, received an interesting letter from Woodstock, N.B., on Tuesday. It was from Mr. John A. Robertson, traveler for a Montreal firm, and pointed out that the town council of Woodstock had, by general consent, allowed the tax on commercial travelers visiting that place to become a dead letter.

Travelers hope now to complete the measure of abolition of the tax by an Act which will be brought to the notice of the Legislature of New Brunswick at its next session. Woodstock was said to be the only town in Canada that had held out against the travelers, and the latter seem to think this a great victory.

The tax amounted to from $3 to $5 gauged by the amount of business done in the place, and a number of Toronto and Montreal houses will be glad to hear of the change.

THE FRUIT STEAMERS.

The early spring fruit steamers for Montreal interest many merchants all over the continent. R. Reford & Co., agents for the Thomson line in Montreal, have issued an interesting circular, incident of this fruit trade. It reads that a cable has been received from William Thomson & Sons, that they will have three steamers loading in the Mediterranean this spring. The probable ports of call will be Marseilles, France; Messina, Catania, Marsala, Palermo, Sorrento and Leghorn, Italy; Patras, Greece; Taragona, Valencia, Cadiz, Spain; and at other ports where sufficient cargo is offered.

The circular points out that the ss. Fremona commenced loading at Messina on March 10. She will complete cargo at Sorrento, and it is the intention to have her arrive in Montreal, as soon as possible after the opening of navigation. The ss. St. Marnock, commenced to load at Marseilles on March 8, and will complete loading at Messina, about March 15.

The ss. Bellona, will commence loading at Patras about March 15, provided there is enough cargo offering there; if not she will load at Sicilian ports.

In connection with this company's Charente and Bourdeaux trade the ss. Escalona, is scheduled to load at Bordeaux, for Montreal, about April 10.

THEN AND NOW.

"Do you see that old man out there? Thirty-two years ago that old man came to Columbus with one suspender and a sore toe. He also had a basket of apples, which a farmer outside of the city had given him. He peddled the apples on High street, and netted 18 cents the first day. How much do you suppose he's worth now?"

"Oh, $1,500,000!" said one.

"Two millions!" cried another.

"Six millions three hundred thousand!" was the estimate of a third.

"I give it up," remarked the fourth listener.

"Not a single cent, and he still owes for the basket."—Ohio State Journal.

WITHDRAWALS OF TEA.

A Washington despatch says: "The withdrawals of tea from the Customs House have increased materially since it has become generally understood that the present duty is not likely to be modified for a long time to come. The general imports of February last were 6,606,516 lb., valued at $782,076, as compared with imports of 4,862,715 lb., valued at $656,928, in February of last year. The withdrawals for consumption during February last were 4,686,088 lb., valued at $632,897, and the duties collected were $468,608. The largest withdrawals for consumption were at New York and Chicago. The amount in the former city was 3,062,409 lb., and in the latter 1,100,659 lb. The next ranking port was San Francisco, where the withdrawals were 283,368 lb., and the next was the district of Minnesota, where a tea examiner was recently appointed, and where the withdrawals were 137,238 lb."

Brooms that Pay.

There are two ways of looking at it when you sell a broom—a big profit and a dissatisfied customer, or a fair profit and a customer that will keep on buying brooms at your store. We believe that it pays to keep on the right side of every customer that buys our brooms.

Our business grows constantly—we believe that we satisfy ninety-nine people out of one hundred who buy our brooms. The percentage of 1 per cent. loss of customers can be directly traced to those who retire from business. We are constantly after new customers—we like to be progressive. And, too, we believe that we shall get it with "brooms that pay."

THE CARTON.

"Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers" —too true. Yet we are learning some things at a fair rate of speed, the result of which cannot but add to our stock of wisdom. The grocers, for example, are learning that the carton, or small package, is not only labor-saving and ornamental, as well as economical, but is a preserver of goods, preventing the destruction of color, flavor, etc., which is liable to ensue when bulk goods are uncovered in the somewhat frowsy atmosphere of the smaller class of grocery stores, which outnumber the big stores two to one.

"God bless the man who invented sleep," cried honest Sancho Panza, and the grocers might well echo the invocation with a blessing on the inventor of the carton —Merchants' Review, New York.

W. A. Lawson, formerly of Toronto, who bought out W. A. Clark, Vancouver, has won considerable praise from the Vancouver local press for his energetic method of advertising.

CAUTION.

Similar goods to those manufactured by J. & J. Colman, Limited, of 108 Cannon Street, London (England), occasionally make their appearance on the Market, displaying a Trade Mark liable to be confounded by the Public with their well-known Trade Mark of a Bull's Head and also closely resembling J. & J. Colman's goods in get up, presumably with the intention to deceive the buyer and consumer. Such goods are generally of an inferior quality. J. & J. Advertising Schemes.

I had a talk the other day with a grocer who had recently moved from Spadina avenue to College street. The question of advertising was brought up, and the merchant told me that he had tried two methods of reaching the public. Advertisements were inserted for a month in a well-known advertising sheet which is distributed by its publisher free to the houses in the neighborhood that was sought to reach, and circulars were distributed from door to door. The results from both of these systems were found to be satisfactory at first, but after the old friends and patrons had been made aware of the change of stand the results were moderate. The distribution of circulars has been discontinued, and as soon as the advertising contract, which was made for one month, expires this will also be stopped.

It was a natural thing that the results from the first advertisements and the first distributions of circulars were apparent. The chief characteristic of a good "ad." is that it has a message ; another essential is that it reaches the people the message is to be sent to. These mediums both reached the housekeeper, the person the grocer should always try to talk to ; and the message borne, that of the change of stand, would be "news" to many of them.

After this news had been been learned by the readers of the circulars and the advertising medium, the results would depend on what the merchant had to offer and how it was said.

The fact remains, whatever were these results, that the combination of mediums used by the grocer in question was a good one—they reached the buying public.

In a country town, where a grocers' patronage extends over many miles, the cost of distribution of circulars would be so high compared with the cost of a quarter-column advertisement in the local papers, that the latter is much the best medium through which to make known one's business to the housekeepers of the neighborhood.

In the country, as well as in the city, the buying public are the residents, not the visitors, of the neighborhood.

Notwithstanding this fact, there are constantly cropping up "schemes" which promise great things in the way of results, though they do not reach the homes at all.

A sample scheme is reported by an exchange thus :

"A number of Kingston merchants subscribed to a scheme for advertisements upon a music box to be placed in a hotel for a year. The box and printing cost $25. About $80 was subscribed by merchants. The box was placed in a hotel, the canvasser left the town forthwith, and the box and advertisements did not remain on view for public use longer than a fortnight. Any kind of outside scheme, The Whig says, catches merchants. All that is required is a blank stranger and a new idea."

Though the "blank stranger" that worked this "scheme" undoubtedly was able to show how a merchant's money would be doubled if spent in advertisements upon this music box, one who has made any kind of a study of advertising would be hard to convince.

An advertisement that does not reach the home is rarely worth the trouble of writing.

THE BUSINESS MAN.

The business man's life is full of crosses and temptations, says an exchange. He comes into the world without his consent, goes out against his will, and the trip between the two extremities is exceedingly rocky. The rule of contraries is one of the important features of the trip. When he is little the big girls kiss him and when he is big the little girls kiss him. If he raises a large family he is a chump, but if he raises a small check he is a thief and a fraud, and he is shunned like a Chinaman with the seven-year itch. If he is poor, he is a bad manager ; if he is rich, he's dishonest ; if he's in politics, its for pie ; if he's out of politics, you can't tell where to place him ; and he's no good to his country ; if he don't give for charity, he's a stingy cuss and lives for himself ; if he dies young, there was a a great future in front of him ; if he lives to an old age, he has missed his calling. He is introduced to this world by a doctor, and to the next world by the same process. The road is rocky but man likes to follow it.

FISH STOCKS IN HALIFAX LIGHT.

It was estimated that the stocks of dry fish in Halifax were last week between 40,000 and 50,000 quintals, nearly half of which is said to be in the hands of one firm. An ordinary total stock at this time of the year would not be very heavy at 100,000 quintals. A cargo of bank fish is now discharging and another will be here next week, which will about complete the receipts for the season. Ex-vessel a fair price now is $4.25 per quintal. There are practically no mackerel in stock in Nova Scotia. The catch was very light and what little there was is gone.

COTTON CLOTHES LINES

COTTON TWINE

Cotton Lines are as cheap as Sisal or Manila and much better.

For sale by all Wholesale Dealers
See that you get them.

WE have often heard retailers and wholesalers remark that a man was foolish to sell package goods, and point to so-and-so that never did, and got rich.

But the man who got rich had not the meritorious articles to contend for his trade that confront the retailer of to-day, and, then, he was a man who knew a little more about his business than his neighbor.

Conditions have changed wonderfully in the past ten or twenty years, and it is the man who handles package goods of all kinds who makes money to-day—not necessarily to take in all package stuff that is offered him, but keep that in stock for which there is a reasonable demand, and have a special line of the different goods put up in packages which he knows is safe to recommend, being sure to please. The foundation of all business rests upon the satisfying of your customers, as this is the only source from which permanent profit can result.

Do you please your customers better by giving them package goods? Why certainly you must, as package goods are prepared by specialists, and surely a specialist is in a position to better satisfy the people whom he caters to than the man who has only a superficial knowledge.

For Over 40 Years

we have been manufacturing culinary and laundry starches. What we didn't know about starches when we started we've since learned. In fact, we've been learning every day, until now we have the very latest and best ideas in every department of our factory.

Our goods have stood the test all these years and never once been found wanting They hold the same position in trade now as they did in the first year of our existence, namely, first place. Always on top—and we intend to stay there too.

Everyone acknowledges our Starch to be the BEST.

Cigar Profits.

From the way new orders are coming in this Spring, I am more than ever convinced that the successful grocer is the one who takes advantage of his opportunities. The increase in the amount of the individual orders I am getting over a year ago this time, and the character of the business done by the grocers who are ordering NOW, proves to me that I am right in my convictions.

Payne's "Pharaoh"

cigar is successfully retailed for 10c., because it is the best 10c. cigar that ten cents will buy. It is advertised entirely on its merits. Critical smokers are the largest consumers of the "Pharaoh." There is nothing in the filler but the choicest Havana tobacco—the wrapper is carefully selected Sumatra leaf—the binder is the pick of the Connecticut crop. I should be glad to send samples and my price list.

CLERKS AS COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

AN INTERVIEW BY OMAR.

DURING a conversation I had the other day with a traveler, who, although yet comparatively young, has had several years' experience, I ventured to ask him what, in his opinion, constituted a good commercial traveler.

"You might put it this way," he said, "What inducement is there for a young man to go on the road?"

"Just as you say," I meekly observed, "I'm not particular how the question is put, as long as you give me an answer."

"Well," he continued, "I would say that the greatest inducement for a young man to go on the road is the financial one. More money is made in traveling than in any other department of business. The next, I would say, is the round of experience he gets. The different business methods with which he comes in contact, the different kinds of people he has to handle are of great value to a man who purposes following a mercantile career.

"A man to be adapted to the road, must be capable and able to fully appreciate the position in which he will from time to time be necessarily placed. He must have such a grasp of prices that he will be able to take advantage of them on the smallest notice.

"He must have a thorough knowledge of human nature, in order that he may be in a position at all times to cope with the peculiarities of his various customers.

"He must be a man of tireless energy, and honest and straightforward, in order that he may gain and retain the confidence of the people upon whom he calls. It is of great advantage to a traveler, I can tell you, when his customers place implicit confidence in his opinions and suggestions in regard to the goods he carries."

"What advice would you tender to a young man who desires to become a commercial traveler?" I ventured.

"Before starting out I would advise him to become thoroughly posted in the business in which he is engaged. In other words, let him acquire a knowledge of the goods, their character and their mode of manufacture. When the young traveler starts out, I would advise him, when showing his wares, to keep his eyes and ears open and his mouth shut as tight as possible, for the average retailer coming into closer contact with the consumer, as a rule, knows best what will take on the market. Then, by listening to the opinions of the various customers, he will be in a better position to arrive at an intelligent conclusion himself, particularly in regard to improvements in this or that article in his samples whereby it may be made more saleable."

"Would you advise clerks in retail stores to aim to become travelers?"

"Certainly. Clerks in retail stores make better travelers than clerks in wholesale houses, because clerks in retail stores come into contact with consumers, and, consequently, acquire a knowledge of their wants, as well as those of the retailer. The traveler who has a knowledge of the retail business can, it stands to reason, be of more assistance to a retail merchant in making selections of goods than he whose experience has been wholly in the wholesale house.

"Again, he who has been a clerk in a retail store, and subsequently puts in some years as a successful traveler, is better qualified ultimately to become a successful business man than he who has had no experience as a traveler. Furthermore, the most valuable man, and the man most difficult to replace around a wholesale warehouse, is, as a rule, a good traveler."

"You have been talking about the advantages which accrue to the traveler. What about the disadvantages?"

"Well, a man who goes upon the road is compelled to sacrifice home comforts. Then he has to break all social ties outside of the passing acquaintances which he forms on the road and the friendships he creates through business engagements. He has no other friends. He suffers all kinds of hardships, experiences the greatest changes in climate, travels in freight cars as well as in palace cars, drives in rain as well as in sunshine. Then the variety of food which he partakes of ranges from the sublime to the ridiculous. Between the wholesaler and the retailer he is the go-between, and has to take abuse from both."

"How do you think a traveler should be paid?" I queried. "Should he have a salary or commission or both?"

"That is a vexed question," he replied, as he meditatively scratched his head. "Bear this in mind, travelers are paid according to the amount of their sales. If they were paid for the work they do their salaries would require to be double what they are now. What they do in missionary work, in looking for business and keeping it takes up a great deal more of their time than the actual selling of goods. To pay them all by commission on both personally solicited sales and letter orders is generally the most profitable to the traveler. But sometimes salary and commission are paid. Either all salary or all commission is the method of remuneration most desirable."

"What should the attitude of the retailer toward the traveler be?"

"Well, I know this: It pays the retailer to court the friendship of the traveler at all times. Let him treat him as a friend, and accord him as good treatment as he would the most profitable customer. A traveler appreciates kindness as quickly, if not more quickly, than any man in business, for the simple reason that he gets only a very moderate share of it."

"There is no one who learns to read a merchant or becomes acquainted with his peculiarities more quickly than a traveler, and where once it is known that a merchant's 'No' is final very little difficulty is experienced in disposing of travelers, for travelers are no more willing to waste time than anybody else. Of course, the novice, in his eagerness to do business, sometimes makes himself obnoxious, but he either soon learns his lesson or his place is filled by another.

"Merchants, as a general rule, are to blame for the time lost in interviewing travelers. Were they, for instance, to adopt some system whereby they could tell in a moment what goods they require, they would not only effect a great saving in their own time, but in that of the traveler as well. I have a few customers who have got their system so complete that my business with them is, as a rule, done in a minute or two. And they are not, by any means, small customers, either. It is a pleasure to do business with such men.

"There are some dealers who, on seeing a traveler come in at the front, will dodge out of the back door, or, by pleading they are too busy, will endeavor to sidetrack the traveler. This is a silly practice, and wastes the time of the merchant as well as that of the traveler.

"It is to the advantage of the merchant to treat the traveler properly, as he who does so is the first to hear of any snaps that may be going, and he is likewise the first to whom any new ideas are suggested. Furthermore, in the event of financial difficulty, the manner in which the traveler has been treated often determines the proportion of leniency that may be meted out to the merchant seeking it."

It evidently dawned upon the traveler that he was giving me too much of his time, for he suddenly stopped talking, looked at his watch, and, with a "good-bye," hurriedly took his departure.

TEA FOR WIDOWS.

PARTICULARS of an interesting pension scheme for widows, started by an enterprising Lincolnshire firm of tea merchants, has been sent to a daily contemporary, from which it would appear that every married woman who purchases half-a-pound of their tea weekly for five consecutive weeks is entitled to a pension of 10s. a week in the event of her husband dying, provided he was in good health when she commenced buying the tea; such pension to continue so long as she remains a widow. A reserve fund of a penny on every pound of tea sold has been formed, and is held in trust for the benefit of the widows by a solicitor. The circular sent does not, it would seem, give the present amount of this fund, but on it is printed an "estimated yearly balance sheet of 1,000 branches," and here provision is made for 10,000 widows! The tea, it should be added, costs 2s. a pound. On the circular the names and addresses of over one hundred widows are given, who are said to be in receipt of pensions provided by this firm. This is certainly a very pretty idea, quite catching indeed, and we should like very much to receive copies of the circular referred to. One or two queries suggest themselves. Ladies must of course go on buying their half-pounds of tea weekly, not for five consecutive weeks only, but until their husbands die. Will the pension fail if they omit to buy their half-pound regularly?—Grocers' Journal.

THE STORY OF A LETTER.

The National Advertiser tells a story of an old bachelor who bought a pair of socks, and found attached to one of them a slip of paper, with these words: "I am a young lady of 20, and would like to correspond with a bachelor with a view to matrimony." Name and address were given.

The bachelor wrote, and in a few days got this letter: "Mamma was married 20 years ago. The merchant you bought those socks from evidently did not advertise, or he would have sold them long ago. Mamma handed me your letter, and said possibly I might suit you. I am 18 years old."

STRONG MARKET FOR SALMON.

Although it is rather early yet to look for much business in canned salmon, according to reports from the different commission holders, there has been a decided increase in the demand from jobbers during the past week. The inquiry seems to run chiefly to the cheaper grades, and in these it is understood that a considerable business has been done of late at full prices. Stocks of these are reported to be small. Recently, prices have been advanced, owing partly to the increased demand and partly to the stronger reports from the primary markets.

Late advices from San Francisco indicate that preparations are being made for a much larger pack than usual of all kinds of salmon, based upon the expected increase in consumption this year. Whether the output will be larger or not depends upon the run of fish. Reports are current to the effect that a number of contracts in Columbia river, Puget Sound, and Fraser river salmon have been made subject to prices to be made later. Some advices are to the effect that Puget Sound fish of the coming season's pack have been made at $1 to $1.25 but this has not been confirmed.

Letters just received from San Francisco state that market is cleaned up of everything except Alaska red and pink, and at the rate the latter was going out at 67½c. f.o.b. it would not be long before the supply would be exhausted. The movement in Alaska red was also reported to be free at $1 f.o.b and doubts were expressed that there would be enough to carry the trade over the spring season. The general impression seemed to be that the opening price of red Alaska would not be above $1. Further sales of Columbia river and Sacramento for future were reported by the last mail from San Francisco at prices to be made later.

TO PAY CASH FOR BANANAS.

It has long been the custom of the large fruit houses to receive their oranges, lemons, bananas, etc., on commission, and to sell them either by auction or private sale.

During the past winter, however, all the wholesale fruit dealers who wanted the "Arlington Heights" navels were compelled to pay cash down for the goods.

Now, the same conditions are being introduced into the banana trade. This trade has come under the control of large companies or trusts in the United States, which have decreed that the dealer who orders a car of bananas must pay cash for them, for they will not be sent on commission.

REJECTED TEAS.

AN interesting report, dealing with the teas inspected, passed and rejected at the chief entry ports of the United States during 1898, has just been issued by the Treasury Department at Washington.

Of the teas inspected at New York, 40,036,751 lb. were passed and 1,476,200 rejected. No less than 550,000 lb., or nearly one-third, of the rejected teas were of the Pingsuey description. And it is worthy of note that not one pound of either Indian or Ceylon tea was, according to the published report, rejected, although 3,000,651 lb., compared with 2,810,750 lb. of Pingsuey teas, were passed. The largest quantity of any description of tea rejected, next to that already named, was Foochow Oolong, the figures being 250,000 lb.

At Chicago, 7,202,782 lb. of Japan tea were passed and 9,080 lb. rejected. In green teas the figures were 1,349,984 and 7,275 lb. respectively. All the Oolongs, Congous and Indian teas inspected were passed. At Chicago, there were also inspected teas which had been entered at other ports. Of these, 3,953,110 lb. were passed and 33,906 rejected. The latter consisted of green tea 29,996 lb., and Japan tea 3,910. Oolongs, Congous and Indian teas again passed without rejection.

San Francisco passed 9,555,387 lb. of tea and rejected 173,384 lb. The largest quantity of tea rejected was of Canton Oolong description, there being 74,611 lb. against 41,348 lb. of scented Canton, 38,630 lb. of Japan, 18,298 lb. of Amoy Oolong. There were no Indian or Ceylon teas rejected and even the Pingsueys passed.

Taking the less important ports we find that 27,992 lb. of China tea were rejected at St. Paul. At both Boston and Baltimore, the only rejections by each were 200 lb. of China tea. At Philadelphia, the only rejections were 200 lb. of Oolongs and 400 lb. of unclassified tea. At Port Townsend, 3,160 lb. of China and 118,567 lb. of Japan tea were rejected. Portland, Oregon, rejected 2,800 lb. of China tea and 5,009 lb. of Japan tea.

The total quantity of tea rejected, according to the report, was 1,857,973 lb., and it is significant that in this quantity was not one pound of either Indian or Ceylon growth.

EXTENSION OF ELECTRIC ROADS.

Electric railway systems running into the country out of Toronto are likely in the near future to be materially extended if the efforts of the Toronto Railway Co. do not prove abortive.

At present an electric road runs from the western part of the city to Long Branch, a summer residential resort, seven or eight miles distant. This road it is proposed to extend to Oakville, making the total length of the line over 22 miles.

Running from the eastern part of the city there is an electric road of only four or five miles in length. This it is proposed to extend to Oshawa, 34 miles distant.

If these schemes are carried out it will mean the building of between 40 and 50 additional miles of electric railway.

Next to building the roads, the chief thing now to be done is the securing of right-of-way through the different municipalities in the line of the proposed routes. No difficulty, however, may be anticipated in that respect.

A POINT IN COMMERCIAL PROCEDURE.

A TORONTO broker recently had an interesting experience in commercial procedure.

A firm in another city wrote him quoting a certain price for a certain article, the offer to be good till a certain hour two days later. Certain weights were also prescribed.

The broker sold the goods at the price named, but the purchaser desiring weights other than those named in the offer, the former telegraphed the holders saying he had sold the goods, but asked if they would not accept the weights named by the purchaser. An answer was received by wire not only rejecting the offer but withdrawing the original one as well, notwithstanding that it did not expire by time limit for nearly 24 hours.

Having sold the goods the broker felt somewhat annoyed, but, on seeking legal advice, he was informed that having made a counter offer, differing so little as it did from that made by the holders of the goods, that the original offer no longer had effect.

It was pointed out to him by his legal adviser that if A offers B, say, 200 lb. of a certain article at a certain price, that the offer would no longer hold good if B advised that he would take at the price named even 1 lb. less than the total quantity described in the original offer.

MIXED MAPLE SYRUP.

LAST week, in a reference to the question of maple product, it was stated that offers of alleged new syrup and sugar had been made.

Each spring, at the opening of the season, complaints of this mixed material are numerous. Luckily, however, the difference between pure new syrup and sugar and stock that has been mixed with reboiled old stock is easily detected by anyone accustomed to handle this delicacy.

So far, a lot of the offerings that have been made this year for new are really syrup made from last year's held over stock of sugar, mixed with a certain small portion of new sap to give it flavor. The trade need, therefore, to be on the lookout for this mixed article, for they have only themselves to blame if they get any of it unloaded upon them.

The returns are particularly interesting in view of the fact that they are for the first fiscal year under the tariff of 1897.

The first striking increase in the above table is in rice, and particularly in the cleaned description, the gain being about 70 per cent. Ontario and Quebec between them took over 2,000,000 lb. more than they did in 1897. But a still more striking fact is that, while British Columbia imported nearly 1,800,000 lb. more of paddy or uncleaned rice, the quantity entered in the Province of Quebec was nearly 5,000,000 lb. less.

It will be remembered that last year, on account of the shortage in the oat crop of Manitoba, and the consequent high price ruling, that the millers of that Province were unable to compete with the oatmeal turned out by mills in the United States. This explains the increase of over $32,000 in the importation of oatmeal into Canada last year, the quantity entered in Manitoba alone showing a gain of nearly $29,000.

All dutiable coffees imported show an increase, but, when it comes to reckoning with the free importations, which are the direct and consequently the most important, the conditions are the very opposite, there being a decrease of over $212,000 in the value of the quantity imported. Purchases were, however, pretty free the previous year, and the irregularly of the market during the past one was not conducive to liberal buying. But, anyhow, Canada is a tea-drinking and not a coffee-drinking country.

The increase in the importation of dried apples may fairly be traceable to the demand for the Klondyke trade, 277,037 lb. having entered British Columbia, compared with 44,704 lb. in 1897.

As might be expected, in view of the active campaign carried on by the manufacturers in the United States, there was quite an increase in the importation of pickles from that country. In 1897, the value of the pickles imported from the United States in bottles and jars was $18,229; last year it was $29,565. Importations from Great Britian also increased, the figures for the two years being $53,350 and $58,860, respectively.

The effect of the Klondyke trade upon the importation of provisions is made quite obvious by the returns. The total increase in the importation of bacon, hams, shoulders and sides, was over $500,000, and more than 50 per cent. of this was contributed by the receipts in British Columbia, and Manitoba also took $90,629, compared with $10,133 the year before, and Ontario $155,767, compared with $7,263. In addition to the Klondyke trade, however, another cause of the increased importation was the shortage of the heavy hogs in Canada, which necessitated the importation by packers themselves of both sides or long clear bacon and of barrelled pork.

The increase of about $400,000 in the value of refined sugars reflects the competition of the European bounty-fed article, and, although this particular kind is not now coming in—at least, to any extent—the competition of the United States rebate-fed product is in evidence to trouble the Canadian refiners.

The importations of raw sugar during the fiscal year 1897 were abnormally large, owing to the anticipation of a duty being placed thereon, the quantity imported in that year being nearly 1,000,000 lb. more than in 1896. At the same time, however, the importation during the last fiscal year is nearly 19,000,000 lb. less than in 1896, while the importation of the refined article was more in 1898 than in 1896 by 19,500,000 lb. In 1896, it will be remembered, the duty on refined sugar was 64c. per 100 lb., with raw free, while, in 1897, the duty on the former was $1 per 100 lb., and on the latter 50c. per 100 lb. At present, the duty is $1.08 per 100 lb. on refined testing not more than 88 deg., with 1½c. per 100 lb for each additional degree. On raw sugar not testing more than 75 deg., the duty is 40c. per 100 lb., with 1½c. per 100 lb for each additional degree.

NEW PACK LOBSTERS HIGHER.

Buyers in Hamilton, London and Brantford, according to commission agents in Montreal, have been active operators in the market for canned lobsters for future delivery, and quite a lot of trade has been put through on account of firms at all three places at an advance of fully 75c. on last year's figures, and, at this writing, the market looks as though it was going higher.

At present, talls are quoted at $10 to $10.50; halves, $12.25 to $12.50, and 1-lb flats, $10.75 to $11.30.

A BLOW AT TRADING STAMPS.

LEGISLATION having for its object the regulation of trading stamp and coupon companies is advancing nicely in the Ontario Legislature, a bill with this object in view having been almost unanimously adopted by the Municipal Committee of the Legislature on Tuesday last.

The bill is described as a bill "for regulating and licensing persons exercising the calling or engaged in the business of selling or otherwise disposing of trading stamps, or coupons, or dealing in gift schemes," and empowers municipalities to fix certain maximum sums which these shall pay for a license in order to carry on business therein.

In cities having a population over 50,000, a tax of $1,000 may be imposed; in cities having a population of 50,000 or under, $500, and towns having a population of 5,000 or over, $250.

Before the bill was finally adopted by the committee, this clause was added: "This is not to apply to or prevent merchants or others from making gifts to their customers or others purchasing from them as a condition of their purchasing goods up to a certain value."

Before the bill becomes law it will, of course, have to pass the Legislature.

THE ACTIVITY IN TEA.

As noted in our market reports, there has been considerable excitement in the tea market since last Wednesday, and quite a large volume of trade has been put through. All kinds, blacks, greens and Ceylons, are very scarce, and values have an advancing tendency.

This is particularly the case in regard to the last-named description of goods, of which the Canadian consumption is undoubtedly increasing each year. In fact, it is difficult for buyers to procure Ceylons at present, and the inside price on them is about 15c.

Prices on them have advanced 2d. during the month, owing to a large increase in the English demand and limited stocks out of which to supply it.

But, in addition to Canadian and British demand, the importation of Ceylon and Indian tea into the United States is on the increase, thousands of packages being taken where only hundreds were taken in years gone by. Indeed, the competition on this continent between Japan teas and these teas from the British possessions is becoming keener each year, and, though the former are expected to retain their advantage, tea dealers state that they will be harder put to it to retain it each year.

When a man falls heir to a competence, he is foolish if he falls into indolence.

THE EARLY CLOSING MOVEMENT.

THE early closing movement inaugurated by the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association is meeting with gratifying success, a number of merchants in different parts of the "Queen City" having consented to close their places of business at 8 o'clock, except on Saturday night.

Certain ones are withholding their consent to fall into line on the plea that their neighbors have not yet done so; but the testimony of those who have for some years been closing early is that they have lost nothing thereby, in spite of the action of their neighbors.

But whatever may be the financial aspect of the matter, he who loses a few cents through closing an hour or two earlier, gains 60 to 120 minutes thereby. And life is made up of minutes, not of dollars.

One of the largest retail grocers, who has decided to join the early closing army, informed THE CANADIAN GROCER that the best year he ever had in business was the year that he closed at 7 o'clock instead of 10 o'clock, as he has been doing for some years.

The more a merchant develops his energy the more his business expands.

THE SUGAR WAR.

A comparison of the present price of refined sugars and of raw sugars with that ruling a year ago, shows how keenly the war between the Trust and the independent refineries in the United States is being waged.

Compared with a year ago, the price of raw sugar is now about ⅜c. per lb. dearer, while the refined article is being sold at about the same figure it was then, obviously leaving little or no margin for profit.

The situation in Canada has been further aggravated by the presence in Toronto of travelers for Buffalo wholesale houses soliciting orders for sugar.

THE COUNTERVAILING SUGAR BOUNTIES.

THE cables announced a few days ago that the Legislative Council of India had adopted countervailing duties against bounty-fed sugars.

The system adopted appears to be based upon that in vogue in the United States, the countervailing duty to be equal to the amount of the bounty given by the country of production.

India is styled the native home of the sugar cane, but, during the year 1896 97, the acreage fell off 8½ per cent., the total number of acres under cultivation being 2,789,000. The year before that the importation of foreign sugar aggregated 14,400 tons, but so keen has become the competition of German bounty-fed sugar, that during the season 1897-98 the importation reached over 107,000 tons.

This has naturally caused the sugar producers in that country some uneasiness, particularly in view of the experience of the British West Indies, whose deplorable condition was last year dealt with in the report of the Royal Commissioner appointed by the British Government.

India now produces about 3,000,000 tons of sugar per year, but a great deal of it is of very poor quality, and is said by some to be more like mud than sugar. The refineries there, while still in a very crude condition when compared with modern refineries, are still, however, making some progress in the way of better machinery. It is still, however, contended by some that there is not yet a single modern factory where good crystals are made direct from the cane.

Now that the Government has placed the countervailing duty against bounty-fed sugars, owners of the sugar factories in the country ought to devote their energies to equipping their factories with more modern machinery. The price of labor is very cheap in India, and, with the countervailing duties in force and better machinery in the factories, the country ought to be well fortified to compete with the sugar produced in Germany or any other country where bounties obtain.

In order to obtain the freedom of office, one must be the willing slave of party.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, March 30, 1899.

GROCERIES.

NO striking features have developed on the local market during the past week. Being the last week in the month, the volume of business is naturally light. The tea market is still the most interesting feature of the wholesale grocery trade, the strength which was noted heretofore still obtaining. The volume of business is not so heavy as it was, but it is largely due to the fact that neither brokers nor wholesalers will do business at the prices which ruled a few weeks ago. Coffees are fairly steady both in regard to demand and price. While one or two houses are doing a fairly good business in canned goods, the demand, generally speaking, is light. A little more business is, if anything, being experienced in regard to foreign dried fruits. Sugars are quiet and unchanged locally, although in the European beet market prices are fractionally lower.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been some talk of an easier feeling on the market in regard to canned tomatoes, but it has not resulted in any actual change in price. It appears to have had its origin in the fact that an odd speculative holder or so of a few hundred cases became less confident as to the future, and, in consequence, became sellers. This feeling is not, however, shared in by the great majority of those in the trade, and THE CANADIAN GROCER shares with them the belief that, when the demand sets in, a stronger market will be the result. The ruling price is 90c. per dozen, although the range is from 85 to 90c. Corn appears to be as strong as ever. Some of the wholesale houses are cleaned out, and they have, during the week, purchased from other wholesalers who are better off in this respect, paying 92½c. per dozen, but it is doubtful if they could buy any more at that figure. The price to retailers is from 95c. to $1 per dozen. Some of the wholesalers have secured fairly good orders for peas. Beans are meeting with a fair demand at 80c. Canned fish of all kinds is only in moderate demand.

COFFEES.

Wholesalers report a steady trade in Rio coffees at from 7½c. up. Rio coffees at 7½c. per lb. are rather scarce on spot. The outside coffee markets rule steady.

SUGARS.

The condition of the local sugar market has become rather more aggravated on account of the presence here of travelers representing Buffalo wholesale houses. These travelers are selling to the retailers. Representatives of the refineries report the demand light, but they look for a better inquiry with the advent of April. The backward nature of the weather is, doubtless, interfering with the sugar trade.

Since our last review the European beet sugar market has declined ¾d. per cwt. Cane, however, is unchanged. Receipts of raw sugar in New York, while rather heavy, are nearly all coming to the refineries direct, and the refineries are quite willing to purchase at current quotations. Holders of raws are quite independent. The Trust and the independent refineries are still at war, the Arbuckles having again reduced their prices on package sugars.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Sugar syrups are quiet, with few if any offering. Corn syrups are in fair demand. Corn syrup is quoted: Bbls., 2½c.; half-bbls., 2⅝c.; kegs, 2¾c. per lb.; 3-gal. pails, $1.20 each; 2-gal. pails, 90c. each. The molasses market continues firm in New Orleans, and cable advices from Barbadoes note a firm market there.

SPICES.

This week's cables indicate a still firmer market for Singapore pepper. Cloves, on the other hand, appear to be dull and are easy.

TEAS.

The market continues in a very strong position in regard to Indian and Ceylon teas. Business being done between jobbers and wholesalers is confined to spot teas, values in London still being above the parity of this market. This, of course, applies to Indian and Ceylon teas. Shipments of Indian and Ceylon teas for this continent are still being ordered back to London on arrival in New York on account of the better prices which can be obtained there. On spot, almost any tea of Ceylon growth could be sold at 14c. But there is little, if any, to be obtained at as low a figure as that. Advices from London, Eng., under date of March 17, state that Indian teas under 8d. were again keenly competed for, although for this figure the tendency was rather easier. The average price at which teas were sold during the week, according to these same advices, was 9.27d., compared with 8.20d. last year. In Ceylon teas, those under about 8d. were again a trifle dearer, but other grades were irregular, and frequently ½d. per lb. lower. Fine liquoring orange and broken Pekoes were reported to be comparatively cheap, having fallen considerably from the highest point. The average price for the week ending March 17 was 8.60d., against 7.05d. the same week last year.

There is still an inquiry from the United States for Japan teas at from 16 to 17c, but, as these are teas which are scarce, and are wanted here, there does not appear to be any business being done on this account.

China green teas for shipment to the United States are still wanted, but only a very few appear to be obtainable, as the teas wanted are scarce here.

China black teas of low grade are still being wanted to take the place of Indian and Ceylon teas, owing to the high price of the latter, but there is very little business being done, on account of the scarcity of the teas wanted.

Wholesalers, while still doing a good business, report that the demand is not as brisk as it was, retailers not being disposed to pay the higher prices which are being asked.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Cable advices early this week note an advance of 6d. in currants in Patras. Locally there is no change in values, although a good business is being done. Some of the houses have received fresh shipments during the week.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Although there is not much being done, business, however, seems to be a little better than it was a week ago.

SULTANA RAISINS—Mail advices received this week from Smyrna state that there are very few Sultana raisins left in that market, and those that are still there are held at steady prices.

PRUNES—Business in this line appears to be steadily increasing, and prices are firm and unchanged.

FIGS—Tapnet figs are getting scarce on spot. They are, as a rule, selling at from 3¾ to 4c. per lb., although that figure is being shaded by some houses. Eleme figs are also pretty well cleaned out.

GREEN FRUITS.

There has been a healthy and steadily improving demand for lemons, bananas and native onions. The supply is abundant. Prices are unchanged, though the top figure quoted for bananas should only be paid for choice large bunches. The demand for navel oranges is moderate, but there is a brisk movement of Valencias. Mediterranean sweets are selling quietly at an advance of 25c. There are very few marmalade left, which are held at unchanged figures. Sweet potatoes are offering in moderate quantities at $4 per bbl., a decline of 50c. There are also a few barrels of new potatoes from Bermuda at $6.50; also some Catawba grapes at $4 per case, and some grape fruit at $4.50 to $5 per case. Very few pineapples are arriving. Cranberries are about done, but there are still left sufficient for anticipated requirements.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—A firm feeling is noted. Receipts are moderate, but it is the general opinion that there are lots of eggs in the country. An advance of ½c. makes the present price 12½ to 13c.

POTATOES — The feeling continues to stiffen, an advance of 5 to 7c. brings the price to 80 to 82c. for cars, on track, Toronto. The street mnrket is steady at last week's price, 90c. to $1 per bag.

BEANS—A strong feeling continues, without change in prices. Medium grades are steady at 90c. to $1, and hand-picked at $1.10 to $1.15.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The export demand is dead, but there is a demand from the Northwest which is expected to absorb all holdings. Prices are now firm at 5c. at outside points. There is a good jobbing demand at 5½ to 6c. Evaporated apples are steady at 9½ to 10c. for jobbing.

VEGETABLES—There is no change. We quote: Rhubarb, $1 to $1.25; greenhouse radishes, 40 to 50c. per dozen bunches; spinach, $1 to $1.50 per bush.; green onions, 10 to 15c. per doz.; celery, 75c. to $1 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 30c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 25 to 30c. per bag; beets, 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips, $1 to $1.20 per bag; carrots, 50 to 80c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.25 to $1.50 per bag; butter squash, $2 to $2.50; Hubbard squash, $2 to $2.50; red cabbage, 50 to 75c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is a tendency towards an accumulation of dairy large rolls and some houses are quoting a decline of ½c. Prints are easy in sympathy. There is not much doing in tubs. Creamery tubs and boxes are easy at 19 to 20c., a decline of 1c. Prints and squares are unchanged, though some dealers hold that they should be ½c. lower.

CHEESE—The feeling has so strengthened that 11c. is now the ruling price. Some dealers predict a shortage before the new make is marketable.

FISH.

There is a decided scarcity of all fresh fish. Black bass are on the market at 8 to 9c. Haddies are 1 to 1½c., and haddock 1c. dearer. We quote: Frozen salmon trout, 8½ to 9c.; Manitoba whitefish, 8½c.; Manitoba perch, 5c.; Manitoba fresh whitefish, 9c.; trout, 8½c. lb.; black bass, 8 to 9c.; steak cod, 7½c.; flounders, 4c.; fresh herring, 4c. per lb.; St. John herring, $1.35 to $1.40 per 100; Labrador herring, $5.75 per bbl. and $3.25 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 10 to 11c. per box; Halifax herring, $1.50 to $1.65 per 100; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; boneless fish, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; boneless fish in 1-lb. blocks, 5½ to 6c.; fresh-water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, 60c. to $1.25; haddies, 8 to 9c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 7c. per lb.; oysters, $1.15 to $1.25 per gallon, or $6.75 to $7 per large pail.

These factors have resulted in a firm feeling regarding all provisions, especially breakfast bacon, which has advanced ¼c. this week, and which, it is feared, may be short before long. Short cut barrel pork is also stiff, with an advance of 50c. anticipated.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, March 30, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE general grocery market has been a fairly brisk one during the past week, and a good seasonable trade is doing. In the more staple lines the greatest activity has been displayed by the tea market, in which some large transactions are noted. Sugar has shown little change, ruling steady, while no new development is noted this week in the molasses market. Canned goods have been active, and some good business for forward delivery has been noted for vegetables and lobsters, while salmon are reported steady from the Coast. Spices are firm with a continued upward tendency, and a firmer tendency is also noted in the coffee market.

SUGAR.

There has been little change in the sugar situation during the past week. The foreign market for the raw article continues fairly active and steady, and cables from London quoted cane steady: Java, 12s.; fair refining 10s. 9d. Beet rather weak and lower; March, 9s. 10½d., and April, 9s. 11¼d. The local market is fairly active and firm, with a good demand, and prices unchanged, despite the competition of the American refined article.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups is still quiet, and the market is without new feature. Prices are unchanged at the refinery at a range of 1¾ to 2¼c., as to grade.

MOLASSES.

There have been no further cables from Barbadoes in regard to molasses, and, as a consequence, there is still nothing about the import situation to report. On spot, business is quiet, sales in a wholesale way being made at 28c., and in smaller lots at 29 to 30c.

CANNED GOODS.

A fairly active trade has been done in canned goods, a good demand being noted for small lots. In corn, 200 case lots have changed hands at 90c., and we quote 90 to 95c. Tomatoes have ruled quiet and firm at 90c., and peas at 85c. On the whole, the sentiment in regard to these vegetables is steady, and, if anything, prices are expected to rule firmer before the next crop is marketed. Canned salmon are quiet and prices are firm. Advices from the Coast state that preparations have been made for a large pack. In canned lobsters, quite a lot of business for forward delivery in new pack has been done at 75c. advance on last year's level. Buyers in Hamilton, London and Brantford have been the chief purchasers of these goods. For talls, $10 to $10.50 are quoted; halves, $12.25 to $12.50, and 1-lb. flats, $10.75 to $11.30.

DRIED FRUITS.

There has been nothing special to report on the spot market for dried fruit as business is of the smallest character, and there is little or nothing doing in any line. Values all round are nominally unchanged.

RICE.

There has been no change in the rice market. Demand is fair and prices are firmly held as last quoted.

SPICES.

Business in spices has been quieter of late, but the firm tone is retained. Cable advices from Singapore offer black pepper for April or June shipment at 11c., and cloves are quoted higher for March and April shipment. Pimento and nutmegs are also very firmly held.

COFFEE.

A stronger tone prevails in this market. Demand has been fair, and good-sized sales of Santos in 50-bag lots at 8½ to 9c., and Maracaibo at 11½ to 12c. have been noted, while Jamaica and Rio coffees are quoted at 7½ to 9c., as to grade, all the above figures being for straight lots in bags, unroasted.

TEAS.

The improvement in tea noted last week has been maintained, and a considerable business has been accomplished. Advices from abroad continue strong, and advances in price recently noted are maintained. In this market, Ceylon leaf teas are becoming scarce, and none are now obtainable under 15 to 15½c. Recent sales comprise 200 packages Japan at 15c., 400 Young Hyson and Congo at 13c., 100 Panyung at 11c., 100 pakling Congo at 13c., 125 chests Ceylons at 16c., 35 Ceylons at 14c., 35 Ceylons at 13½c., 110 Moning Congo at 12½c., 50 Young Hyson at 15c., 35 Ceylons at 14c., 100 Japans at 15c. and 225 Ceylons at prices ranging from 15c. up.

GREEN FRUITS.

An active business has been transacted in all kinds of green fruits during the week. Oranges of all sorts have been in good demand. Valencias show another advance of 25c., and are now selling at $4.75 to $5 per box. Jamaicas are about finished; a few barrels are moving at $5.50 to $6. Floridas are steady at $4.75 to $5, and Californian navels in good demand at $3.50 to $4 per box. Fancy bloods fetch $4 to $4.50, while bitter oranges realize $2.50 to $3 per box. Lemons are in good supply at $2.75 to $3.25, and bananas are moving at $1.20 to $1.75, with receipts much heavier than they were. Pineapples are in small supply, and steady, at 20 to 30c. each, and cranberries, owing to the great difference in quality, have a wide range at $5 to $7 per bbl. There is only a small supply of Almeria grapes here, and prices range from $8 to $9 per keg.

APPLES.

Apples are firm at $3 to $4.50 per bbl., and there is very little doing.

FISH.

There is nothing particularly new to note in the fish trade, owing to the fact that the market is pretty bare of all lines; in consequence, prices are firmly held, with the exception of pickled herrings, which have declined 25c. per bbl., and are now offering at $4.25 to $4.50 per bbl. B.C. salmon are unchanged at $12.50 to $13 per bbl.

There continues to be a good demand for fresh fish, and all lots coming forward meet with a ready sale at full prices. There is considerable fresh cod arriving daily, which are selling at fair prices. Fresh haddock move freely at 4½c. per lb., fresh salmon at 14c., frozen at 10c.; fresh white halibut at 11c., and frozen herrings at $1.65 per 100.

The demand for haddies is good, and prices are firm at 7½c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Steady. The demand continues for small lots to fill actual wants, and prices are unchanged at 12½ to 13c. per dozen.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Receipts of maple product are ample to fill all requirements, and prices rule steady. Syrup in small tins sold at 55c. and sugar at 7c.

HONEY—The market for honey was quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 8½c.; dark, 6½ to 7c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 5 to 5½c.

BEANS—The demand for beans was slow. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

ONIONS—Continue firm at $2.75 to $3 per barrel.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Business in provisions was again very light, and the market was featureless, prices being steady in all lines. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, in barrels, $15 to $15.50; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¾ to 7c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN—There was a better feeling in the grain market this morning and buyers showed more disposition to operate, but the volume of business transacted was not large, owing to the limited quantities of grain offering at present prices. The market for oats was strong and prices advanced ½ to 1c. per bushel, No. 2 white in store being quoted at 33½ to 34c., and a sale of 20,000 bushels was made at 35c. per bushel afloat May delivery, and this figure was bid for other round lots, but refused. Buyers late last night were bidding 69⅝c. for No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat, prompt delivery afloat Fort William, and holders to-day asked 70c. and 71½c. for May. Millers are paying 67½c. for Ontario red at points west of Toronto, but exporters here state that they could not pay more than 67c. In peas and buckwheat, business was dull and prices nominal.

FLOUR — The flour market was without any new feature. Trade was quiet and prices unchanged. We quote as follows: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.05; strong bakers', $3.70 to $3.80.

MEAL—The meal market was quiet and steady, rolled oats being quoted at $3.70 to $3.75 per bbl.

FEED—A fairly active trade was done in feed, and prices rule firm. Ontario white wheat bran, in bulk, sold at $16 to $17, and shorts $17 to $19 per ton; Manitoba bran, $16; shorts, $18, and mouille, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

HAY—There was no change in baled hay. The demand is still slow and trade quiet. We quote: No. 1, $6 to $6.50; No. 2 extra, $5 to $5.50; clover and clover mixture, $4 to $4.75 per ton.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—Is gradually stiffening in price, for, in addition to the business at 10⅞c., another lot of 500 changed hands at the same price. Bids of 11c. were also refused to-day, and holders of the remaining 10,000 boxes or so, are evidently determined to hold out for more money.

BUTTER — Continues firm. Late-made creamery is steady at 20½ to 21c.; western dairy rolls, 15½ to 16¼c., and tub dairy, 14½ to 15¼c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Bids of 11c. have been refused here for cheese for export.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., March 28, 1899.

MARCH has proved a quiet month, and the last week has been no exception. One reason has, perhaps, been the very backward and stormy weather. Up bay schooners have found it impossible to get anywhere owing to the ice, there being more in the bay than for any spring during the last fifteen years. In markets there has been little change during the week. Molasses has had particular attention, chiefly Porto Rico, a number of schooners being on the way and Halifax offering freely. Fresh fish continue scarce. A number of wholesale grocers went to Yarmouth to attend the auction sale of goods saved from the steamer Castilian. These goods will affect prices somewhat for a time. The remarks in a late number of THE GROCER, referring to trading stamps were much appreciated by many here. They were republished by one of the local dailies.

OIL—There is no change in values. The chief business is the booking of orders for later shipment in lubricating oils. Paint oils are high in price and firm. While burning oil has been brought to Halifax in a tank steamer, it is doubtful if this style of shipping is likely to be used in reference to this port, as rail freight is so low and is preferred by receivers.

SALT—There is a steady demand, a large number of cars being shipped to outside points. The demand from fishermen, which is supplied through schooners which load direct from steamer's side, has been nearly filled. Prices incline to be firmer. In factory-filled, there is but limited sale. In table salt, the demand is filled with Canadian, and arrivals have been quite large. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 38 to 40c.; English factory-filled, 80c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—Lobsters have considerable attention, and buyers for English and American houses are actively looking for supplies. The latter are somewhat outbidding the former, particularly on 1-lb. tall tins, the demand for which, in England, has fallen off owing to the price, dealers preferring the smaller tin, either the ½-lb. tall or flat, of which the shipments to England chiefly consist, the pound talls going to the American buyers. In vegetables, figures are very firm, but particularly in corn, which is still below outside market values. It is thought higher figures must rule. In gallon apples, there is but fair sale. Peaches are firm with slight demand. Blueberries are scarce. The high price of salmon tends to the selling of second-grade goods. There is an improved business in meats, but season is still early. Prices are firmly held. In oysters, there has been quite a sharp advance, owing both to short pack and to the large advance in tin. Sale here is not large.

GREEN FRUITS--Business continues active. Oranges have the big sale, chiefly Valencias, in which values are higher. Californians have fair demand at even figures, but the sale has been affected by receipts of extra fine Jaffa fruit. In lemons, prices are rather easier. There have been quite free arrivals, and but fair sale. Bananas show rather more movement. In apples, there is but a light stock, and prices are high. A few Cape Cod cranberries, in bushel boxes, are offered.

DRIED FRUITS—The sharp advance and the prospect of higher prices has resulted in quite free buying of Californian prunes, some

New York shippers having advanced prices fully a half cent. The chief demand is for 90 to 100's. Smaller goods have very little, in fact, no sale. Raisins are quiet, and but little is doing in currants. In our market it is difficult to place other than first-class goods, the more at this season, when there is but little sale. In evaporated apples, a fair stock is held, and prices are held firm at the full figures. Little is doing in dried. Figs have but light sale, even at reduced figures. The sale of cooking figs is never large. Dates are firm, with light business. Onions are very light stock, and for best full figures are asked.

SUGARS—There is no change in prices, and but fair sales. The local refinery is doing the big end of the business, with some little stock of foreign offered. Dealers have still American granulated, bought some time ago.

MOLASSES—The effect of the Americans owning Porto Rico and not allowing English vessels to carry freight between there and other American ports is resulting in increased arrivals at St John and Halifax and but light arrivals at American points. There have been direct cargoes received at both the above Canadian ports, and there is quite a quantity due. Goods are costing quite high, but have met a ready sale. At the Island, prices are firmly held. It is not, however, an impossible thing that rather lower values might rule in the local market, owing to free arrivals. In Barbadoes, the steamer shortly due will have quite a full cargo, but at quite full figures, though well under Porto Rico. Barbadoes is expected to rule quite firm.

RRODUCE—Eggs still tend easy, owing to free receipts, though, compared with past years, good prices have been maintained. Easter being so early has tended to this result. In butter, best stock is quite scarce, and rather better figures are being received, but the price is kept down by the poor stock offered. Cheese, in the local market, is quiet and price shows no change.

FISH—There is really no change, and will not be until there are freer receipts. There is a good demand for dried at full figures. In pickled fish, except shad, there is no stock. Fresh fish has a good sale, but there is very little offered. Haddies, smoked, are scarce, and price is high. The season of big demand is about over. Halibut is in fair supply; price stiff, quite high. Smoked herring show no change. No lobsters are being received. With warmer weather, gaspereaux would begin to come in freely.

PROVISIONS—In barreled goods prices are easy, with but a fair sale. In beef, Boston is getting the bulk of the trade, while some is being received from Ontario and Quebec. Lard is low, and buyers have fair stocks.

FLOUR, FEED, AND MEAL—In flour, the feeling is still easy, and, particularly in Manitoba, buyers look for lower figures. Demand has been light. There is a demand for feed, but it is impossible to get it at a price that will lead to business. Oatmeal shows no further advance. Sale is light. Cornmeal moves freely at the old figures. Beans are but a light sale. Barley, split peas and blue peas are high. In seeds, there are quite free arrivals, and business is beginning to look up. Prices show no change. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.65 to $4.75; best Ontario, $3.85 to $4; medium, $3.65 to $3.75; oatmeal, $3.90 to $4.00; cornmeal, $2.15; middlings, $19 to $21; bran, $17 to $18; oats, 38 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1.05 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $4 to $4.10; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $4.10 to $4.25; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.65 to $2.00; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Potatoes are very low and very good here this spring.

Digby, N.S., will tax Jewish traders $20 per week.

Geo. L. Barbour is expecting a cargo of choice Porto Rico molasses.

James Paterson, wholesale fish merchant, is now receiving fresh halibut almost daily.

I. C. Bowman, who represents The Laing Packing Company here, reports business good.

J. Sutton Clark, who has a large sardine factory at St. George, has gone to England on business.

The first cargo of Porto Rico molasses for the season arrived here during the past week for Merritt Bros. & Co.

Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. has just placed a yeast cake on the market here in a particularly handsome package.

New Brunswick is to have a Klondyke. In one day, 600 claims were taken out, owing to the reported find of gold at Cross Creek, near Fredericton.

Last year, 1,540,418 lb. of cheese were made in New Brunswick, one county, Kings, manufacturing 834,405 lb. A much larger output is expected this year.

The wholesale millinery openings were held during the past week, and were very largely attended by buyers from New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Smith & Tilton have been pushing during the week for tea orders, and, together with Thos. Fairhurst, of Fairhurst & Co., of Foochow, have called upon the trade. The Maritime business of this house, which is in their hands, has shown a most satisfactory increase during the last few years.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, March 27, 1899.

THE weather still continues very cold for the time of year, but there are plenty of signs of preparation for Easter in the store windows, in the shape of chocolate eggs, dyes for Easter eggs, and the like. The city retail trade in groceries is increasing, and wholesale men report the demand steady in almost all lines. No changes in the price of staple groceries are reported for the week. There are some changes in produce, however, that are worthy of note. Flour has fallen in price. This cut is said to be due to the fact that some milling concerns are anxious to get rid of the flour made from machine-dried wheat. It is not lowered on account of want of demand, as the market is very brisk, and has been for the past 10 days. Quotations are: Patent, $1.80; strong bakers', $1.60; Algoma, $1.25; XXXX, $1. The demand for feed is also large. Bran is selling at $11 and shorts at $13 per ton. Oats are very scarce, and are worth from 35 to 40c. per bushel.

BUTTER—The supply of dairy is increasing quite rapidly and prices are easier. 12½ to 13c. point of shipment, is quoted for round lots of good fresh dairy. Prints bring 16 to 17c. according to quality. Creamery is without change and is quoted at the nominal figure of 23 to 24c. per lb. The Government creamery school will close on the 31st. The classes have been held for three months and all butter manufactured has found a ready sale at 30c. per lb. The Commissioner states that they could readily have sold 100 lb. per day at that figure.

EGGS—The continued cold weather has retarded the usual influx of eggs at this season, and dealers are sending out urgent requests to country points for large shipments during the coming week to meet the Easter demand. Prices are easier just now, but, unless the supply is rapidly increased, will be likely to take a jump before the end of the week. Fifteen cents is being paid at country points, and the price from jobbers to retailers in Winnipeg is 16c.

FISH—The season for dried and smoked fish is about over, there being always a noticeable falling off in purchases immediately after Lent.

GREEN FRUITS—Several of our wholesale fruitmen are visiting St. Paul this week to pick up novelties for the Easter trade. In all staple lines the market is well supplied and trade is brisk. Bananas are arriving plentifully now, but are slightly higher than last week, being quoted at $2.75 to $3. Oranges have not gone any higher, though a further advance was anticipated. It would now seem that the Californian crop is not so short as first anticipated. We quote: Navels, $4 to $4.50; seedlings, $3.25 to $3.50; lemons, Messina, $4; Californian, $4. Apples are a doubtful possession, and most of the first-class stock is now in the hands of the retailers. Box apples from Washington are arriving in limited quantities and are worth $2. Californian pie plant is also arriving quite freely. The quotations are 10c. per lb. for 50-lb. boxes.

THE PLANT AND ITS CULTIVATION.

Having in our last article traced the history of coffee from the year 1500 up to the present time, we shall now endeavor to describe the nature of the plant and the method of cultivation.

The coffee plant is more the nature of a shrub, growing to the height of twelve to fifteen feet in its wild state, but under cultivation is kept down to six or eight feet by careful pruning and cutting, which increases the quality and quantity of its product, and lessens the labor of picking the berries.

The tree grows erect, with a single stem opening out at the upper part in long drooping branches, which seldom grow to any great thickness. Its leaves, in general appearance, resemble those of the common laurel, although not so hard or dry, being oval and sharp-pointed. The engraving at the top gives a perfect idea of the leaves, flowers and fruit of a coffee plant.

The flowering of the plant frequently occurs in a single night and lasts but a few days, although in some countries the plant flowers and bears fruit the entire year.

The berries which succeed the blossom resemble a cherry in size, are at first dark green, but soon change their hue, first to yellow, then to red, until finally they become a dark crimson. When this stage is reached they are ripe and ready to be gathered.

THE RAISIN TRUST.

Mail advices from Fresno, Cal., state that at a meeting of the raisin growers on March 15, at which 900 growers were present, the report of the bankers' committee appointed to adjust the differences between the directors of the California Raisin Growers' Association and packers was read, showing that it had been eminently successful in its mission. After a lengthy discussion the committee was discharged and the consummation of the contract was left with the directors. A committee on reorganization of the association was appointed. All packers will be required to give bonds, whether they are commercial or cooperative packers. In a lengthy address President Kearney set forth the details of the arrangement with the packers and also gave reasons why the organization should be reincorporated in another State. He remarked that the danger to the organization lay in the efforts of certain individuals to acomplish their personal ends and ambitions for their own profit. That had to be guarded against. The raisin growers' organization, he said, afforded an opportunity to some people to get at the salary list. They might make efforts to secure those positions that might not be to the interest of the growers. Under the incorporation laws of California cumulative voting was permitted. He considered it an unjust principle and dangerous to the association. He thought all raisin growers who signed the contract should have one vote each for each director.

BISCUITS INSTEAD OF BREAD.

Instead of bread to accompany soup at dinner, Peek, Frean & Co.'s dinner biscuits are now being largely used. They are small, crisp, and of such convenient size that they scarcely require to be broken when used. In taste, they closely resemble well toasted bread, and, though intended for use with dinner's first course, they adapt themselves to a variety of uses.

ALLEGED BANKRUPT SALES.

A form of unfair competition which runs riot in almost every branch of trade is the illicit and illegitimate advertising and exploiting of so-called bankrupt sales, says Stoves and Hardware Reporter. This has been done so frequently that gradually it is defeating its own ends by arousing suspicion in all clear-headed persons' minds of the authenticity of the statements made in the newspapers. People are rather inclined to become suspicious of such frequent repetition of the same assertions and naturally begin to marvel how so many bankruptcies occur or how an average sized stock of such goods could be universally disseminated over the community in such immense quantities as the advertiser always represents them to be. In nine cases out of ten there is no truth whatever in the statements thus made. A well-known instance of this was cited recently where a store claimed to have purchased the stocks of two stores that had failed. The advertiser asserted that he was selling the goods at 33 cents on the dollar. The advertisement went so far as to give names of bankrupt companies and illustrations of their stores. However, it soon transpired that, though the stores mentioned had failed, this store had not, in reality, purchased anything from them. Such a shameless disregard of truth and honesty cannot be too openly condemned. So severe a case needs a radical cure in the form of thorough punishment.

JAMAICA FRUIT TRADE.

A press despatch from Kingston, Ja., says: "The plan to divert the main stream of the Jamaica fruit trade from the United States to Great Britain has now reached a definite development. In a short time a direct line of specially equipped 16-knot steamers will commence plying between this colony and the Mother Country, and arrangements are being made locally to secure the monopoly of the fruit product of the island outside of that immediately and directly already controlled by The Boston Fruit Company. Strangely enough, and contrary to all precedent, the enterprise, although principally financed in England, is of local origin."

A BROKER'S RETURN.

Mr. H. M. Childs has just returned from a business trip to Europe, visiting in turn London, Glasgow, Edinburgh and Bordeaux, France. Mr. Childs says he found an active interest in Canadian affairs by everyone with whom he came in contact. Englishmen especially are awakening to the fact that Canada is a country worth looking after. The preferential tariff is popular and has done a lot towards bringing Canada to the notice of English manufacturers.

Mr. Childs has been appointed Canadian agent for the following houses: Thos. Woods, "Kentish Farm House" pickles, jams, etc.; Jamieson & Co., Glasgow, Loch Fyne herring; Alexis Godillot Jenne, Bordeaux, packers of French vegetables, olives, sardines, etc.

A full range of samples of all these goods now on view at his office, No. 22 St. Francois Xavier street, Montreal.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU . . . .

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

JAPAN TEAS

For centuries they have been the standard by which others have been judged. So popular are they among those who desire the best that other brands are cracked up to be "just as good as Japan," but beware, for they are not and never will be.

The absorbing qualities are—their wholesomeness, their delightful flavor, their purity, their nutritive properties, the entire absence of artificial coloring or flavoring matter, their delicious aroma, and their general all-round goodness.

Over two-thirds of Canada's Tea comes from Japan.

Payne's "Pharaoh" Cigars

are probably the most widely advertised cigars on the Canadian market to-day. That is one reason why the demand for them has increased so rapidly this spring. A better reason though than this is because the quality and workmanship of these cigars never fail to back up every statement that is made about them in the advertising. It pays to advertise—if you tell the truth.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of success"—I select the Havana tobacco I use in these cigars personally. I oversee every point in the manufacture of my cigars, from start to finish. The "Pharaoh" retails for 10c. I honestly believe that my 5c. cigar (the "Pebble") is the best cigar that a grocer can sell for this price and still hold his cigar trade. Samples (free to any grocer) of both Payne's "Pharaoh" and

VOL. XIII. TORONTO AND MONTREAL, APRIL 7, 1899. NO. 14

ACCOUNT KEEPING IN A SMALL BUSINESS.

THE bookkeeping even in small business enterprises is an important feature, and one which should be looked after with care and minuteness. Nothing excites the suspicion of customers or is more annoying than inaccurate accounts and mistakes, especially if they are against the customer, and, while mistakes will now and then be made, even by the best accountants, the number may be greatly minimized by care and watchfulness and painstaking on the part of those who have this part of a business to look after. The work of bookkeepers, like that of civil engineers, is of little value if it is not accurate.

It is taken for granted that the proprietor of a business, say a retail store, has some knowledge of keeping accounts. Nearly everyone that can write, no matter how small or simple the business in which he is engaged, has to keep accounts in some form or other, so that those who have not studied the art at school or gained a knowledge of it by experience and practice should try to master at least the primary principles of account keeping as an essential to success in business.

As to the particular system of bookkeeping best adapted to a retail business, there are differences of opinion. Accounts may be kept, even in an extensive business, by the single entry system, but I think the double entry system much the better, not only for larger business concerns, but also for smaller ones. Practically, there is as much double entering and writing in single entry as there is in double entry.

In a small retail business, the double entry system can be modified and simplified so that it is easier to understand and to practice than single entry. About the only books needed in a small business are the day book, journal and ledger. The invoice book, sales book and cash book may be dispensed with, and all necessary accounts can be kept in the ledger. If necessary or desired, a small book can be used, in which to record cash sales, and the aggregate amount for each day can be entered in the day book thus :

Cash Acct. Cash sales this day——

The original bills of goods bought should be filed, and need not be entered in detail in any book, but are as available in this form as a record as if entered in an invoice book. The cash account can be kept as well in the ledger as in a separate book. In this way we practically dispense with at least three books and avoid a great deal of unnecessary writing. Not only so, but we have on the day book a sufficiently complete record of the day's business to furnish all necessary data for the ledger. It is true we might dispense with the journal, and post directly from the day book to the ledger as per single entry, and thus still further simplify our method, but there would be greater likelihood of errors and omissions in posting in this way. Consequently, it is better to post everything from the day book to the journal, in which the items are entered in orderly arrangement, rendering posting to the ledger less difficult, and also guarding against errors which are readily detected by a failure of the debits and credits to exactly balance, both as regards individual groups of items and the total footings.

Journalizing to those who have not studied double entry may be a little difficult at first, but it will pay anyone not familiar with the process to learn it. It is hardly possible in an article like this to give the necessary information in detail, but with a view of giving those whose knowledge of bookkeeping is limited, and who may not have a work on the subject at hand, a general idea of this particular feature of the double entry system, I will mention a few points that should be observed. First, there must be a credit for every debit and vice versa. The thing received is debtor to the thing delivered. You sell or deliver goods to John Day. If he pays cash for them, the cash account must be debited and the merchandise account credited for the amount. If the goods are sold to him on account (on credit, as we say) then John Day's account is debited and merchandise is credited with the amount. If several persons on the same day buy goods from you on credit, you charge each of them with what they bought, on the day book. At the close of business for the day, you also enter on the day book the amount sold for cash that day. The aggregate of the credit and cash sales must be credited to the merchandise account, and the form of entering them on the journal will be thus :

Sundries to Mdse		$28.00
John Day	$10.00
Sam'l Wray	5.00
Peter Cart	3.00
Cash acct. Sales	10.00

The amount opposite the entry, Sunds. to Mdse., is found by adding together the amounts charged to John Day and the others and the cash sales. This puts the several accounts in convenient shape for posting to the ledger.

In the same way, suppose several customers have paid money on account, which you have entered on the daybook thus :

John Day, by cash on acct	$5.00
Jamnel Wray, by cash	3.00

In the journal it will be entered thus :

Cash acct. Dr. to Sunds	$8.00
John Day		$5.00
Sam'l Wray		3.00

The above examples give a general idea of simple journalizing and the principles involved may be applied to almost any class of entries.—Trade Magazine.

DEATH OF MR. CADBURY.

ONE of the great unostentations philanthropists of the present period, Mr. Richard Cadbury, senior partner in the firm of Cadbury Brothers, the well-known cocoa manufacturers, died at Jerusalem a couple of weeks ago.

Mr. Cadbury left England last month to travel in the east, accompanied by his wife and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Butler, and the three grandchildren. According to a telegram received at Birmingham by his brother, Mr. Richard Cadbury was taken ill soon after arrival at Jerusalem, and suddenly expired.

It is a curious fact that nearly all the great cocoa firms have been established by members of the Society of Friends—the Rowntrees, the Frys, the Cadburys, and the Thorns. They allied their ardent zeal for the principles of temperance with the highest forms of industrialism, and instead of merely preaching the gospel of total abstinence, they contended with intoxicating liquors by providing as a substitute a beverage of the best quality, and have developed their commercial enterprises to a magnitude which extorts admiration from the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The firm of Cadbury was founded on a very modest scale by the late Mr. John Cadbury. He had two sons, Richard (whose death is just announced, at the age of sixty-three), and George, who still survives. George served his apprenticeship at Messrs. Rowntree's; Richard started life in his father's establishment, which, even then—less than half a century ago—was a small place with about seventeen hands.

Now, the employes number close upon 2,000. This great development has been due to the initiative, energy, and philanthropy of the two brothers, after their father retired and committed the fortunes of the firm to them. They have solved many social problems for their workpeople, like several other munificent and high-minded employers in Great Britain and Ireland, who are little heard of in the world of politics.

The two brothers began by purchasing a few acres of land at Bournville, outside Birmingham, and there the model factory stands in the midst of a flourishing model village, where the Messrs. Cadbury have provided everything for the health, and comfort and happiness of their workpeople which broad-mindedness and munificence could bestow.

The most recent act of generosity by the deceased was the erection of a hall for meetings at a cost of £30,000. Mr. Cadbury often mentioned with pride that such a disaster as a strike had never been known at the factory; and he also derived satisfaction from the fact that a larger proportion of the girls married later and more advantageously than in most other factories. Nearly the whole of the work done in the establishment is on the piecework system; consequently the maximum output has always been secured.

In addition to cooking, dining, and recreation-rooms, there are pretty retiring arbors in the gardens connected with the works, and apartments to which the girls may retire for reading or pleasant gossip.

On the arrival in the morning at 9 o'clock, the workpeople assemble in the women's dining-room and unite with their employers in listening to a chapter of the Bible, followed by a few words of practical Christian counsel.

Mr. Cadbury was a great advocate of sport, and was president of several gymnastic associations; the athletic and cricket ground he constructed at Bournville cost £10,000.

A CURIOUS TEA STORY.

A correspondent writes to a contemporary: "I read a strange story some little time ago, which ran somewhat as follows: 'Many years ago, a case of butterflies was sent from Assam to England. A professor on entomology on examining them pronounced some to have come from China but was told that such was not the case, a all had come from Assam in India. On r receiving this reply, he remarked, "If tha be so, there must be tea in Assam, as suc and such butterflies feed only on the te plant.' This extraordinary statement bein reported to the Court of Directors, the ordered inquiries, with the result that th wild tea forests of Assam were discovere Can any of your readers inform me how th yarn could ever have arisen? I can find trace of it in any book on tea." It wou be interesting to know where the story fi appeared.

THE INDIAN RICE CROP.

The final official memorandum on the c rent rice crop shows an extraordinarily go yield. The total outturn for India is e mated at 26,000,000 tons, being 5½ cent. more than last year which was ag 20 per cent. above the average. The c in Burma threshed out somewhat ligh than anticipated, but this is more than m up elsewhere. The increase in Beng where the outturn of winter rice is largest on record since 1891, is explained partly due to the substitution of paddy jute.—M. Mail, Calcutta, February 24.

THE COLOMBO TEA MARKET.

This has been a remarkable week in history of the local tea market. On W nesday, all the teas offered were in g demand, as already stated, and we assu that it was largely due to the Australian mand consequent on the recent big fir Melbourne; but, to-day, we hear brokers are seeking out the buyers at W nesday's sale, and offering an advanc from 3 to 5c. per lb. on the tea purch then, they having orders to meet for Ru and desiring to forward the same by Russian steamer leaving to-night or o morrow. The class of teas in request a common teas — pekoes and pekoe chongs.—The Times of Ceylon, February 4

Maple Syrup Displays.

In a few weeks the maple syrup season will be at its height, and general interest can be excited and attention called in a most emphatic way, to the maple products for sale, by a window display representing a scene in a sugar bush. I made mention last spring of the unique window scene by which J. W. Sanderson, Dundas street, attracted great attention to his maple syrup and sugar. This year, small crowds were constantly gathering about Michie & Co.'s branch store on Spadina avenue, to see the sugar-making display in their windows. The background of the window was of slabs, put up so as to look much like the side of a shanty. The floor was covered with dried leaves, with here and there a sprinkling of coarse salt to represent snow. At the back right-hand corner a young maple was yielding a nice little run of sap, which ran through a spout into a wooden bucket. In the front, and towards the left of the window, a tripod, made of stout sticks, held a big pot over a fire. The fire was composed of an incandescent lamp shining through layers of red gelatine. Around this were burnt sticks, knots and ashes. A coat hanging up on the shanty wall, an axe sticking in a thick knot, an old clay pipe stuck in the fork of a tree gave to the scene a sense of reality that was pleasing and attractive.

Easter Displays.

Many of the grocers of Toronto make good use of the Easter season. Some of those who have what might be termed a fancy trade make a specialty of fine candy and chocolate Easter eggs. The majority, however, confine their efforts to the natural product of the hen, and make a good display out of them too.

H. J. Burtch & Co., Queen street west, had the floor of one of his windows filled three or four layers deep with eggs, all the space being covered except about 24 x 16 inches which was made into a nest of straw. In this nest a hen of large proportions sat in contentment. The inside of the hen was wadding, the outside cotton, pencilled with black crayon, with a wattle and comb of red cloth. As it closely resembled the "real thing" in shape, its large size attracted a good deal of attention.

In another store, the window was filled with eggs, backed by a big pile of cases. A large sign stated that the proprietor had purchased 1,000 dozen eggs at the lowest market price, so they were being sold at the lowest figure.

In a Spadina avenue window was a display of eggs, hams, bacon and cheese. A space about two feet square in the centre of the floor near the front was piled up with eggs. On the top of the pile was a small chocolate hen. Back of the eggs three or four hams were set in straw. On both sides of the window were three Canadian cheese, the first on the floor, the second raised about three inches, the third about six inches. On the top of the first and second cheese samples of breakfast bacon and backs were shown with the cut edge to the front. On the back cheese, the different package cheese kept were shown.

House-Cleaning Time.

Though the weather still retains a touch of winter, the almanac is authority for the statement that it is house-cleaning time. This season may present, to the average man, visions of domestic turmoil and discomfort, but to the energetic grocer it means sales of woodenware, scouring soap, brooms, brushes, etc.

It is a common practice in Toronto to have this class of goods displayed on the street in front of the store. Some show them on benches or tables, others merely pile them on the ground, making display-stands of the tubs and pails. There are many, however, who have strong objections to putting a display of any kind outside their doors.

Two of the large grocery stores near St. Lawrence market are devoting one of their windows to house-cleaning supplies. In one of these, a comparatively small window, tubs were piled about six feet high at the back corner next the wall, each alternate tub being turned upside down, thus showing all of them to advantage. Along the back and the wall side of the window, brooms were stood, handles down. Around the tubs, washboards were piled two feet high. On the centre of the floor, a small tub was canted so as to show the contents—washing compounds, soaps, etc., at either the front or side window. On either side of this tub, a couple of pails were shown, and the remaining floor space was devoted to brushes, etc.

The window in the other store I noticed was a large one. Brooms were piled the full width of the back. Leaning against them was a row of washboards. In the centre of the space in front of these was a wash tub, on either side of which was a pail. Two mops were shown in the pails. Beside the pails were clothes pins. The floor space in the front was devoted to stove brushes, boot brushes, scrubbing brushes, kalsomine brushes, soaps, washing powders, etc. Either of these windows should prove trade-winners.

THE FLORIDA ORANGE CROP A FAILURE.

"The outlook is exceedingly dark just now in the fruit-growing districts of Florida, the frost having completely destroyed the orange groves." This statement was made on Saturday by Mr. James Gordon, of the firm of cattle dealers, Gordon & Ironsides. Mr. Gordon, whose headquarters are in Winnipeg, has lately spent a few weeks in Florida, and, being met on 'Change Saturday morning, he made the statement quoted above. Where a few weeks before everything seemed so promising, the entire fruit districts appear to have succumbed to the baneful influence of Jack Frost. Of course, added Mr. Gordon, districts as far south as Tampa, have still orange groves, where the fruit will mature, but in the northern portions of the State everything in the fruit line has been destroyed.

"This," he added, "means that it will be three or four years before these stricken groves will again be sufficiently developed to grow oranges, consequently there will be a great deal of depression throughout the State."

Mr. Gordon gave an instance of the extent of the loss in the fact that in the district he visited orders had been received for 500 cars of tomatoes alone, all of which had to be cancelled on account of the ravages of frost.

RAISINS CLEANED UP.

A telegram received in New York on Monday from Fresno, Cal., states that the stocks of loose raisins on the Coast have been closely cleaned up by recent purchases. Two crowns were said to be almost unobtainable, and there were few three or four crowns left. The same telegram advises sellers to stand firm. This telegram, says the N. Y. Journal of Commerce, is said to come from one of the members of the committee of growers, and is taken to mean that the packers have finally agreed with the growers to organize the business for the coming year on the plans previously proposed.

PRODUCE PRODUCED BY INDIANS.

CANADA'S Indian population is gradually conforming itself to the industrial habits of the white man. The report of the Department of Indian Affairs, just issued, shows this.

For example, last year, the 100,093 Indians within the Dominion produced 1,120,900 bushels of cereals, roots, and vegetables, 74,658 tons of hay and other fodder, being an increase of 101,500 bushels and 2,164 tons respectively. Besides these, there were poultry and live stock.

The quantity of wheat alone produced was 173,087 bushels. The Indians of British Columbia headed the list in the quantity of wheat produced. British Columbia also possesses the band, the Nkamplex, which raised the largest quantity. The number of bushels produced by this band was 44,963.

Ontario comes next, with 59,376 bushels of wheat, and the Six Nation Indians, probably the most advanced in civilization in the Dominion, produced the largest quantity of any one band in the Province, namely, 25,401 bushels.

The Indians of the Northwest Territories produced 21,271 bushels of wheat, and "Carry the Kettle" carried off the honor of harvesting the largest quantity, namely, 2,750 bushels.

Next in order come the Indians of Manitoba, with 16,086 bushels of wheat; Quebec, with 1,472 bushels; New Brunswick, 495 bushels; Prince Edward Island, 245 bushels, and Nova Scotia, 47 bushels.

The amount of money earned by the Indians in the Dominion, from agriculture, rent, wages, fishing, hunting and other avocations, was in the neighborhood of $2,800,000, an increase of $200,000 compared with 1897.

The more independent of the Government the Indians become, the more valuable will they become to the storekeepers of the country.

A TAX FOR LARGE STORES.

The new system of taxation which is being considered in Germany, whereby large stores will be made to contribute a larger proportion of revenue than the smaller ones, has three factors which are to determine the taxation.

The first is the number of branches of business—drapery, grocery, etc.—conducted in a certain establishment. Secondly, the number of employes; and, thirdly, the rent and taxes paid for the premises.

The law will recognize five groups of branches as follows:

1. Articles of food, drugs and perfumery.
2. Clothing, weapons, hunting gear.
3. Furniture and household utensils.
4. Glass and porcelain.
5. Jewellery and bijouteries.

Establishments trading in two or more than two of these groups, and employing more than 25 persons, will come under the new law. Establishments engaged in two branches will pay 10 per cent. of their profits in taxation, those engaged in three branches 15 per cent., in four 20 per cent., in five 25 per cent. Shops trading in three branches or less, and which employ more than 25 persons, will pay an annual tax of 20 marks for each employe, and for each additional branch an additional 10 marks per employe. Business houses with branch establishments will be treated as though all the establishments were under one roof. Cooperative stores will not be taxed under the new law.

POTATOES BOOMING.

THERE has been a most pronounced boom in potatoes in Montreal and the east, as a result of demand from buyers in Ontario and across the line.

The consequence has been a material decrease in the receipts at Montreal during the past ten days, the better prices bid in the country by buyers from the two sections above mentioned diverting supplies from Montreal in other directions.

The ordinary weekly receipts at Montreal run from five to eight carloads, but during the past ten days only two carloads arrived, and they were also sold ahead.

Under these circumstances prices have advanced quite sharply at the eastern metropolis, for, whereas 65c. was easily an extreme price last week, to-day holders are asking 70c. on stock to arrive, and western men, who shipped stock east during the past month, were in the Montreal market as buyers this week.

At points on the south shore, all along the line of the Grand Trunk from Richmond down to St. Flavie, Que., on the Intercolonial, 300 miles below Quebec, buyers have been picking up all the car lots they can lay their hands on for shipment to the United States and Ontario.

Reports state that car lots shipped to Toronto have sold at 70 to 74c. per bag of 90 lb., while in New York potatoes are realizing $2.25 to $2.50 per 180 lb., or $1.12 to $1.25 per bag.

UNRELIABLE REPORTS.

Advices in the daily press lately have been of rather a sensational character respecting the failure of the maple product crop in the Province of Quebec.

All reports so far are purely conjectural, and the outlook is not nearly as blue as some of the bulls would have buyers believe.

Of course, the climatic conditions this season have been rather disappointing, but the heavy snowfall throughout the entire Province of Quebec during March will be certain to have a beneficial effect. In fact, reports from reliable producers in some of the leading sections of the Eastern Townships state that the run of sap, though it may not be a big one, will not be much under the average.

This is in line with the prediction made by THE CANADIAN GROCER some weeks ago.

THE CANNED TOMATO SITUATION.

CANNED tomatoes are the subject of a good deal of consideration at the moment. The pack was an unusually large one, the largest, in fact, in the history of the country, and this, together with the fact that at least some holders of corn were not disposed to sell unless the purchaser took tomatoes, has induced uncertainty in the minds of some as to the future of the market. It is possible that this may lead to a slight reduction in price. But, should this reduction take place, it is likely to be only temporary, and to take place at all it must be before the usual spring demand sets in.

As far as THE CANADIAN GROCER can gather, there is not much need for alarm at the prices now ruling for tomatoes.

The pack undoubtedly was large ; but it must be remembered that it came upon a market unusually bare. Then, there was the price at which it was marketed. The wholesalers bought the bulk of their supply at 65c., and the retailers obtained most of their requirements at an advance of from 2½ to 5c. per dozen on that figure.

These low prices, aided by the scarcity of green vegetables, greatly stimulated consumption, every retailer who THE CANADIAN GROCER has come into contact with having sold a great deal more than last year up to the same time.

Then, as to stocks of tomatoes in the hands of packers and wholesalers, they are undoubtedly, as a rule, moderate, while the sorting-up orders which are steadily coming in from retailers, indicate the condition of stocks in the hands of a good many of them.

The price of tomatoes in first and second hands appears to be from 82½ to 85c. per dozen, and there have been transactions during the past week or two in a few hundred case lots at the minimum figure. Wholesalers are, as a rule, asking 90c., although 85c. is also being quoted.

As to the future, it must be remembered that there is still a consumptive period of five months, and a by no means unimportant period to be taken into consideration.

Prices may not go any higher than they are now. But we believe that a month or two hence, they will be higher rather than lower than they are now, for, between this and then, there will be the opening of navigation and a movement of canned goods generally to the Northwest.

Although the first of the new pack will not be on the market for five or six months, a couple of the factories have been offering tomatoes during the past week for future delivery. There is a wide range in the prices reported to be asked, namely, 65, 67½ and 75c. per dozen. As, owing to the increased cost of tins and tomatoes, it will cost about 7c. per dozen more to put tomatoes up than in 1898, the minimum figure, at any rate, seems incredible.

Last year the first offers were, it will be remembered, 65c., and we would think that, after the experience of the past six or seven months, there would be no one with courage enough to offer tomatoes this early in the campaign at any such figure.

CANADA'S IMPORTATION OF BACON

There was an increase of nearly 269 per cent. last year in the importation of meats under the classification of "bacon, hams, shoulders, and sides."

The influx of people to the Klondyke was, no doubt, a contributory cause, but it was not the chief one. The chief cause was the scarcity of fat hogs in Canada which caused such a dearth of hog meat for sides and barrel pork that the packers themselves were compelled to import from the United States.

This state of affairs is not likely to obtain this season, however, for there is a large increase in the number of fat hogs which are being marketed. In fact, the complaint of the drovers is that there are too many.

CHINA GREEN TEA IMPORTS.

Quite a few orders for China green teas of next season's crop have been placed during the past week. A good many of these orders have been given by the makers of package teas, and it is asserted that there is in Canada an increase in the use of China green teas for use in package teas as well as for blending purposes.

Until last year, the imports of China green teas were classified with those of Japan teas in the Dominion trade returns. In consequence of this, it is not possible to make a comparison of the imports of China green teas with those of other years. Last year the imports were 1,343,328 lb., valued at $150,004.

DAMAGE TO CURRANTS.

ADVICES from Greece report damage to the crop of currants, but just what the damage is the reports do not state, although it is doubtless the want of rain.

This, together with purchases on English and German account, has had a hardening tendency upon the market.

It appears that the quantity going forward to these countries is about 5,000 tons, while the stock available in Greece for shipment is placed at 28,000 tons.

The Produce Markets' Review, of March 25, in referring to the condition of the currant market said : "The wisdom of keeping the reserve stock of Provincial fruit in Greece, where it is more readily available for general requirements, and where it can be kept at a minimum of expense, has this year been more than ever realized by holders or else this course has been forced upon them by circumstances. In any case, the result to the English market is the same, and for the immediate future it will probably be necessary for English buyers to provide for their requirements of Provincial fruit by contracting for it before arrival, rather than by relying on landed supplies. In this connection it must be mentioned that prices in Greece, after having been forced down by "bear" sellers, have now recovered to the full parity of the English market. Since the stock still remaining in Greece is probably sufficient for all requirements during the present season, this change must be attributed to a great extent to the view, which is rapidly gaining ground, that the crop of 1899 is likely to be a small one. The reason for this anticipation is the great deficiency of rainfall which has been experienced during the winter months, when the supply for the year generally falls. Actual statistics this respect are, unfortunately, not forthcoming, but the general testimony strongly supports the view that the deficiency is considerable all through the country."

HOW THE TRADING STAMP CLAUSE WAS KILLED.

THE fate of the trading stamp and coupon clause in the municipal amendment bill, which was before the Ontario Legislature, is another illustration of the old saying that "there is many a slip between the cup and the lip."

The clause came before the municipal committee, which comprises some seventy members of the House, and was adopted with only one dissentient, but, in the closing hours of the closing session, one of the members arose and moved the expunction of the clause, and the motion was agreed to without a voice being raised in protest.

This took place during the famous all-night session, which ended on Friday morning last at 7 o'clock.

But an interesting fact has come to light as to the modus operandi whereby the mover of the resolution was induced to take the steps he did.

It appears that sometime during the day, one of the lawyers acting for those opposed to the legislation regarding trading stamps approached a member of the House, who also happened to be a lawyer, and asked him his views in regard thereto. The latter remarked that he was not much interested, but did not know that he favored the proposed tax on trading stamps and coupons. The lawyer acting for those opposed to the proposition then asked him to move the expunction of the clause when it came before the House. He promised to do so. The result has been already stated.

The members of the House were no doubt in a hurry to get through business in order that the Legislature might be prorogued, but this did not warrant their allowing a clause, which had received the almost unanimous support of the Municipal Committee two days before, to be smothered in such an unceremonious manner.

If only one member had protested, it is possible enough energy would have been stirred up in the indifferent or sleepy members to have prevented the mover succeeding in his object ; but it appears there was not even one with energy enough to do this.

When business men want legislation in their interest, it is evident they must keep their eyes on the legislators.

The lawyers are, in this respect, wiser in their generation than the business men. They know the legislators require watching, and, consequently, they are always on hand to do so when matters in which they are interested are before the House.

THE COST OF TELEPHONES.

NEW YORK is wrestling with the telephone question. Legislation has been attempted to regulate the telephone charge, but the influences against this have been so great that the two bills which were recently introduced were defeated. The rate in New York at present is $240 a year, and one of the bills purposed making the maximum amount $125.

New York must be pretty deeply in the grasp of the telephone companies when the people are compelled to pay such a fabulous rate. In Chicago, the rate for business houses is $85, and for private residences $50, so it is evident that even Chicago is better able to regulate the telephone companies than even her sister city.

Judged by the rates obtaining even in Chicago, the business men of Toronto and Montreal and other Canadian cities are getting a moderately cheap service. But that is no guarantee, however, that the telephone companies are not reaping a good profit. At any rate, there are cities in the United States which are getting their services a great deal cheaper than we are in this country.

In Kansas, for instance, business houses pay $24 and private residences $12, and there is no limit to the number of times which the telephone may be used. In spite of what seems so low a rate, the investment pays 25 per cent. to the owners. At one time, the Government at Washington had to pay $75 per year for the telephone system used between the different Departments, the system being equal to that necessary for a population of 15,000 people. This being considered so high, a private system was put in, with the result that the annual expense of each telephone is $10.25, and this includes all charges, such as interest, depreciation and labor. This would corroborate the experience already referred to in Kansas City, where a good profit is obtained by the owners of the system there. In certain parts of Europe, the telephone rates run from $8.25 to $15.50 per year.

It is possible that under some of the systems in vogue it is impossible for the companies to furnish a cheaper rate than they are now doing, but there are systems whereby the desired low rates can be secured, and the companies which are sticking to what may be out-of-date systems should be compelled to lower their rates, which, of course, would mean the compelling of them to put in more modern systems.

In Great Britain, the telephone system is to become the property of the Government, and a credit of $10,000,000 has been given the Post Office Department for its development.

SALMON SALES IN ENGLAND.

The demand for canned salmon in England has been below the average, but, in spite of this fact, prices have been fairly well maintained, for, while there have been slight reductions in some sizes in others there has been a slight appreciation, particularly in half-pound tins.

The cold weather experienced a couple of weeks ago stimulated the demand a little.

A couple of vessels belonging to the salmon fleet arrived in Liverpool a few weeks ago and the remainder of the fleet is near at hand, so that the market in England may be expected to soon settle down to a more definite basis.

INDIAN TEA CROPS IN FIVE YEARS

The figures issued by the Indian Tea Association show that the total out-turn of the Indian crop for the season of 1898 was 152,900,233 lb., an increase of 4,647,825 lb., as compared with 1897, when the out-turn was 148,252,408.

The out-turn in 1896 was 148,217,416 lb.; in 1895, 135,479,062 lb.; in 1894, 127,127,215 lb. Thus the increase in the five years was 25,873,018 lb., an average increase of 5,174,603 lb.

SCARCITY OF ROQUEFORT CHEESE

For some time there has been a pronounced scarcity in Roquefort cheese, and the cost of importation so high that importers have been selling at a very slight margin indeed, above the laid-down price.

During the last week or two the new make of Roquefort has been arriving, but it is merely curd and is not desirable for this market.

Importers are quoting both old and new Roquefort at 34 to 35c. per lb.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, April 6, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade, during the past week, has been more than usually lacking in features that might be called interesting. The volume of business is by no means small, but there is not what might be termed activity. With the opening of navigation, however, an active business may be confidently looked for. The trade, therefore, may be stated to be in a waiting condition. As far as can be learned there have been no changes whatever in quotations. In canned goods, corn continues to be the strong feature of the market, and this article cannot be obtained from some houses at less than $1, while 95c. is the lowest quotation heard anywhere. In regard to tomatoes, there is yet some uncertainty as to the future, but at the same time conditions favor a firm, rather than an easier market. There has been quite a good demand during the past week for canned fruits, particularly strawberries and plums. Canned salmon is also in a little better demand. In coffees, the market is steady, and Rio descriptions are getting scarce on spot. Sugars are in a little better demand, and the conditions of the outside raw markets are favorable for an advance in price. In syrups and molasses, there is not much doing. The tea market is as strong as ever, and, while there is a good deal being done, business is not as active as it was a short time ago, which is to be expected, in view of the large purchases made. The foreign dried fruit market is without feature.

CANNED GOODS.

Although there are at least five months before the new pack of tomatoes will be on the market, there are two or three factories who are this week offering futures. The prices which they are asking seem to have a wide range, according to talk on the street. From what THE CANADIAN GROCER considers to be one of the most reliable sources, the figure asked was 75c., but other figures heard were 65 and 67½c. In view of the fact that both the tins and the tomatoes are costing brokers more than last year, the lowest figure named, at any rate, can scarcely be credited. One factory is reported to be offering corn for future delivery, but at what price this paper has been unable to ascertain. For present pack, the market remains in much the same position as a week ago, although, if anything, corn may be counted rather firmer, some wholesalers being strong at $1, although as low as 95c. is quoted here and there. In tomatoes, there is a little uncertainty as to the future, but there does not appear to be anything in the situation to warrant believing there will be at least any permanent reduction in prices. In fact, the conditions are, on the whole, for a firm market. Stocks in the hands of either brokers or jobbers are not large, and the retail trade throughout the country have undoubtedly had a large trade, while the fact that a good many of them are sending in sorting up orders is an evidence that their stocks are in a satisfactory condition.

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

There has been a little more activity during the week in canned fruits, particularly in strawberries and plums, and the brokers, as well as the wholesalers, have been doing more business than for some time. Strawberries in good thick syrup are selling at $1.50, but where the quality is not so good, $1.25 is quoted. For plums, $1 to $1.10 are the ruling figures. Raspberries are quoted at $1.65 for red and $1.45 for black. There has been a little more movement in canned salmon during the week. Prices remain as before.

COFFEES.

The market has been a little steadier during the past week, and advices received in Toronto state that it is estimated that, owing to the increased consumption of Rio coffee, the stock this season will be rather short. On the Toronto market at the moment, green Rio coffees are scarce and wholesale houses are experiencing a good demand. At the same time, however, brokers report very few operations for importation.

SUGARS.

Both refiners and wholesalers this week report increased business in sugar. As the outside raw markets have ruled strong and the tendency of prices is upwards, this increased demand is quite natural. One of the features of the local sugar market is the relatively large demand for dark yellow sugar, which, as one wholesaler facetiously remarked, is possibly wanted for aiding in the manufacture of maple syrup. The American refineries have, within the past week, purchased 40,000 tons of raw sugar at full quotations, at 1-16c. advance, and are still prepared to purchase all valuable lots at the advance. Their purchases were principally Java sugars. It appears that stocks of sugars in the United States unsold are so light that holders retain their supplies with considerable confidence. The outlook for the sugar market at the moment is, no doubt, steady.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Sugar syrups are still quiet, and there are few, if any, offering. In corn syrups there is still a fair demand at quotations, namely: Barrels, 2½c. per lb.; half-barrels, 2⅝c.; kegs, 2¾c.; three-gallon pails, $1.20 each; two-gallon pails, 90c. each. There is a steady trade being done in molasses, and advices from New Orleans indicate a continuance of steady prices.

TEAS.

The market for Indian and Ceylon descriptions continues to gather strength rather than lose it. In consequence of the gradual reduction in stocks held by brokers, the local market is stronger, and teas that only a short time ago were offered at 13 to 13½c. could not now be obtained under 16c., and there is nothing in London that could be laid down on this market at less than 8½d. per lb. The demand for teas, the brokers report, is not as brisk as it was, but there is still, however, quite a little business being done in spot teas, and a little in London teas at from 18 to 25c. The chief demand, however, is for teas which can be obtained at about 15c., but teas at this price are practically unobtainable. There are some teas in second hands which can be obtained at 16 to 17½c., according to quality.

Brokers have been experiencing a few sorting-up orders, chiefly in teas at about 16½ to 17c., but there is not much business being done, although some nice teas are being shown.

In Young Hyson teas, orders are being booked for next season's crop, and some of the brokers appear to have done a fairly good business. The prices, of course, are open. Some good values are being shown

NUTS.

Advices from France state that the almond crop has been seriously damaged by frost. Similar news is reported in regard to the Tarragona crop.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Advices from Greece are of a stronger nature, and in New York there is a firmer market in sympathy. Locally, however, there is very little business being done, and no interest is being taken in the outside market, because no business for importation is being done.

RAISINS—The market is quiet and featureless with all kinds of raisins.

PRUNES—The business in prunes continues to improve, and wholesalers anticipate that the volume of business during the next six weeks will be larger than that of the past three months.

GREEN FRUITS.

There has been a moderate movement in oranges, lemons and bananas, but it is expected that a few days of warm weather will bring a rush of orders for these fruits. Californian navels are about done, and stocks of Mediterranean sweets and marmalade oranges are small. There are lots of Valencias, however. These have advanced 50c. this week. Cocoanuts are plentiful, and are 50c. cheaper. Liberal quantities of pineapples are expected to arrive shortly. They will sell at about 20c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The cold weather and the bad roads in the first few days after Easter have so reduced receipts that an advance of 2 to 2½c. has been noted, eggs now being worth 15c. here.

POTATOES—There has been no advance this week, prices keeping steady at 80 to 82c. for cars, on track, Toronto. The street market is firm at 90c. to $1 per bag.

BEANS—A strong feeling continues, without change in price. Medium grades are steady at 90c. to $1, and hand-picked at $1.10 to $1.15.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The export demand is dead; the local trade in dried apples is dull on account of arrival of rhubarb on market, so the only movement is on Northwest account. Prices are steady at 5c. at outside points. The jobbing price is nominally 5½ to 6c. There is a moderate jobbing trade doing in evaporated apples at 9½ to 10c.

VEGETABLES — Rhubarb has declined 25c.; onions are 5c. dearer. Otherwise there is no change. We quote as follows: Rhubarb, $1 to $1.25; greenhouse radishes, 40 to 50c. per dozen bunches; spinach, $1 to $1.50 per bush.; green onions, 15c. per doz.; celery, 75c. to $1 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 30c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 25 to 30c. per bag; beets, 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips, $1 to $1.20 per bag; carrots, 50 to 80c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.25 to $1.50 per bag; butter squash, $2 to $2.50; Hubbard squash, $2 to $2.50; red cabbage, 50 to 75c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER — Dairy large rolls and pound prints continue to accumulate, resulting in an easy feeling. Tubs are quiet and unchanged. Creamery is moving well locally, but the export and shipping demand is limited. Prices are unaltered; the feeling is steady.

CHEESE — Local stocks are light, and, as the demand keeps good, prices are steady at 11 to 11½c., an advance of ½c. A shipment of new cheese is expected in a few days. It will be sold at 11c.

FISH.

The supplies of frozen fish are practically exhausted, and, as the lakes and rivers have not opened, the usual supply of fresh fish is not yet to hand, so there is a general scarcity of fresh-water fish. There are sufficient salt-water fish to meet the demand for them. Digby herring are 1c. cheaper, and split herring have declined 50c. per half-bbl. We quote as follows: Frozen salmon trout, 8½ to 9c.; Manitoba whitefish, 8½c.; Manitoba perch, 5c.; Manitoba fresh whitefish, 9c.; trout, 8½c. lb.; black bass, 8 to 9c.; steak cod, 7½c.; flounders, 4c.; fresh herring, 4c. per lb.; St. John herring, $1.35 to $1.40 per 100; Labrador herring, $5.75 per bbl. and $3.25 per half-

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN.—Wheat has advanced 1c., both red and white being quoted at 67 to 68c. at middle freight stations. The street market is moderately active, red and goose wheat and oats coming in. Red and white wheat is 1c. and goose wheat ½c. dearer. Rye has declined 4 to 5c. and barley 1 to 2c. We quote: Wheat, white, 70 to 71c.; red, 70 to 71c.; goose, 66½c.; peas, 60c.; oats, 35c.; barley, 43 to 44c.; rye, 50 to 51c. FLOUR.—Manitoba grades have advanced 10c. Ontario straight roller is 5c. dearer. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.70; Ontario patents, $3.60 to $3.70; straight roller, $3.10 to $3.20, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS.—The demand is quieting down. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.80 in bags and $3.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $4; pot barley, $4.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 6, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has not contributed any striking features during the past week unless it be that dissatisfaction is increasing in regard to the unsettled position of the refined sugar market. It is almost impossible to market domestic refined in certain sections owing to low offers of bounty-fed American which is being sold at slaughter prices. Molasses and syrups are steady, and there have been no developments of importance in the canned goods market. Spices are firmly held all round and the same can be said of rice, while coffee has exhibited a seasonable degree of activity. Teas, of all sorts, have been quite lively and the market here has been swept almost bare of low-grade Japans and green teas, very few cheap goods now being obtainable. The weather has been highly unsatisfactory to the green fruit trade, who have done the poorest Easter business in years.

SUGAR.

The trade in Canadian refined sugar is very dull, for the reason that free importations of United States bounty-fed stock, sold at slaughter prices, has made it almost impossible to do any business at certain points in Ontario. As a consequence, what business there is moving has been confined to the local city trade and adjacent territory, which have not been so materially affected by the competition of the American refined article. Prices, accordingly, are largely nominal on the home refined article, being quotably unchanged. There have been few cables lately from London in regard to raw, owing to the Easter holidays, but the most recent quoted cane steady, with demand quiet, at 12s. for Java and 10s. 9d. for fair refining. Beet was reported firm and rather dearer, with present month unchanged at 9s. 11¼d., and next month 10s. The visible supply of beet is estimated at 2,550,000 tons. In New York, raw was strong and tending upward also.

SYRUPS.

There is only a small business doing in syrups, while prices are nominally unchanged at 1¾ to 2½c. as to grade.

MOLASSES.

Advices with regard to new crop molasses from the Islands are quite firm in tone, sellers there being stiff on the basis of 12c. first cost. Here, the market remains quiet at 29 to 30c. in small lots and 28 to 28½c. in larger quantities.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been little to report here in canned goods during the past week. No further business is spoken of in lobsters, but prices are firmly held. There has been no business of importance put through in vegetables, and the same can be said of canned salmon. Prices all round continue as last quoted.

DRIED FRUITS.

There has been little life in dried fruits here. Advices on currants have been firmer, but the fact attracts little or no attention here, as jobbers have all the goods they want on hand. Trading is almost nil in Valencia raisins, and the same can be said of Californian and Sultana, the stocks of the latter being exhausted. Prunes are steady, with a moderate inquiry both for European and Pacific Coast goods, while figs, dates and evaporated fruits present nothing of a striking nature.

RICE.

There has been a fair amount of business transacted in rice for the season, and the firm disposition of values is fully maintained.

SPICES.

The local spice market has been fairly active. Demand from grinders for the general list is steady, but speculative trading has been limited. No cable information of particular interest is forthcoming. The prediction is confidently made that values on pepper, cloves and nutmegs will be held around their present level during 1899.

COFFEE.

The market has ruled quiet, the only business of any importance being in Maracaibo at a range of 9½ to 14c., as to quality. A few Santos and Rios have also changed hands at 7 to 10c., as to grade. The transactions here referred to were, of course, for the green bean in the original bags.

TEAS.

The firmness generally noted in the tea market last week is quiet marked this week. Japan stocks have been moving quite freely at a wide range of prices, owing to the difference in quality. Business in these teas has been transacted all the way from 6 up to 18c., and now cheap grades are difficult to obtain in any quantity. The same can be said of low grade Pingsueys, and, according to all accounts, Pingsueys of all sorts promise to be even scarcer during the coming season, as many exporters are absolutely disgusted with their experience of the season of 1898. Congous have been moving at 15c., while the advancing tendency of Ceylon and Indian teas continues, further gains of ½ to ¾d. being reported lately from Great Britain, or a total advance of nearly 3d within the past month, 8d. being now the inside asking price.

GREEN FRUITS.

The weather lately has not been favorable to trade in green fruit as it has been the reverse of springlike, so that the Easter demand, as a whole, was a decided disappointment. Oranges have met a fair inquiry and Valencias under decreased supplies show another advance of 25c. per box, sales this week ranging from $5 to $5.50. Florida oranges are very firm at $4.75 to $5 for russets and $5 to $5.25 for brights. Californian navels are stronger at $4 to $4.25. Supplies of lemons are heavy and values in consequence are lower a

$2 to $3 per box. Receipts of bananas are steadily increasing and prices are declining each day, the fruit being quoted at the present writing at $1.25 to $2 per bunch. Pineapples are scarce and firm at 25 to 40c. each, and cranberries are selling at $7 to $8 per bbl. Almeria grapes have made another advance, being quoted $9 to $10 per keg.

APPLES.

The apple market is firm at $3 to $4.50 per bbl.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market was quiet to-day, owing to the fact that buyers, in most cases, had ample supplies on hand; in consequence, the feeling was weaker, and prices opened 2c. per dozen lower, with sales at 18c., but during the day they scored a further decline of 2c., and sales were made at 16c. per dozen. The market closed weak, and still lower figures are anticipated later in the week.

MAPLE PRODUCT—The first receipts of genuine maple sugar and syrup came to hand this week, and, of course, are selling at fancy prices that are sure to be modified as receipts increase. New syrup in small tins sold at 70 to 75c., and new sugar at 10c.

HONEY—The demand for honey was slow, and the market ruled quiet, with no change in prices. We quote as follows: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 8½c.; dark, 6½ to 7c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 5 to 5½c.

BEANS—Business in beans was slow and of a small jobbing character. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

POTATOES—There has been a good demand for potatoes of late at country points from Ontario and American buyers, and, in consequence, receipts have been small here and a stronger feeling has prevailed, with sales of car lots at 65 to 75c. per bag.

ONIONS—Canadian onions continue firm at $2.75 to $3 per barrel.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Provisions continue quiet, with demand for all lines slow, and likely to continue so until buyers work off present stocks. We quote: Canadian pork, in barrels, $15 to $15.50; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¾ to 7c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

Dressed hogs are slow, and the market is quiet and easy at $5 to $5.25 for frozen stock, and at $5.75 to $6 for fresh-killed per 100 lb., in a jobbing way.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN—The grain market was fairly active. Buckwheat continues strong and prices show a further advance of 1c. per bush., with sales in store at 57½ to 58c. Oats were also stronger, with sales on spot at 34½c., and at 36c. afloat May delivery. Peas were dull, and held at 75c. afloat May. There was a good demand for No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat, and sales were made at 71½c. spot afloat Fort William, which is an advance of 1c. per bush.

FLOUR—Owing to the fact that Ontario millers are now paying 70c. for wheat, they are asking an advance of 10c. per bbl. for flour, but this has had no effect in this market, as dealers state business is quiet and chiefly of a jobbing character at the old range of prices. We quote as follows: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.05; strong bakers', $3.70 to $3.80.

MEAL—The demand for meal continues slow, and the market is quiet at $3.70 to $3.75 per bbl. for rolled oats.

FEED—A fairly active trade was done in feed, and, as supplies are not excessive, prices rule firm. Ontario white wheat bran, in bulk, sold at $16 to $17, and shorts $17 to $19 per ton; Manitoba bran, $16; shorts, $18, and mouille, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

HAY—There was no change in baled hay. The demand is still limited and trade quiet. We quote: No. 1, $6 to $6.50; No. 2 extra, $5 to $5.50; clover and clover mixture, $4 to $4.75 per ton.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—The cheese market is firm, but spot prices are nominal as holders refuse to consider bids at 11c., and there have been refusals even of 11¼ in some cases. In the country, the speculator has already begun his injurious work, if reports are to be believed, for it is stated that offers have been made in the Brockville district of 10c. for all the cheese that are made between now and the first of May. Whether this action is in the nature of a bluff or not is hard to say.

BUTTER — Continues firm with a good demand and light receipts. Choice, fresh-made creamery easily commands 21c., and western roll dairy ranges from 15½ to 16¼c., with tub dairy 14½ to 15¼c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Heavy receipts of bananas have led to a sharp decline in this fruit.

The unseasonable weather has resulted in a bad Easter fruit trade with large stocks unsold.

Valencia oranges have scored another advance of 25c. per box under decreasing stocks.

It is confidently predicted that no material variation from the present level of values on pepper, cloves and nutmegs need be expected during 1899.

First receipts of genuine maple syrup and sugar came to hand this week, and, of course, netted fancy prices.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., April 6, 1899.

THERE is an improvement noticed in business and dealers are very hopeful. In the flour market, which is an index to trade, the stronger feeling has tended to a better demand. The pulp industry is about to become quite a factor in New Brunswick, and particularly in and near St. John. We have one large mill about completed near the city, and another large one just about to be built, besides others through the Province. English papermen are interested in them, not only in regard to the capital invested, but, in some cases, undertaking to use a large part of the output. It is said the failure of the older sources of supply is the cause of their seeking new sources. Prices are, in general, firmly held, and markets rather favor the wholesale trade. Teas continue active.

SALT—The season of the largest receipts is about over as regards English coarse salt; and to get best prices buyers should not delay in placing orders. English factory-filled is low. In Canadian salt there is a large sale. Owing to its being the salt chiefly used in the manufacture of cheese and butter this is the time when receipts are the largest. There is no change in price, though there is increased competition. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 38 to 40c.; English factory-filled, 80c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—There is a good steady sale, and prices tend higher. Salmon is firm in our market, and the stock is a small one. Owing to the low prices which have ruled, and the fact that the demand is chiefly in the spring, together with the fact that for some seasons this line has been offered as low as during the fall before, our buyers failed to appreciate the stronger tendency in time. There has also been, during the last few years, a somewhat lighter demand from consumers. The situation has not been helped by the wholesalemen buying second grades of fish rather than pay full figures, so that the goods have not given the satisfaction they should. Oysters are quoted higher. Pineapple is quite scarce and tending upward. In condensed milk, the demand in this market tends to fall off.

GREEN FRUITS—Oranges continue to have first place. In Valencias, the sale is large, and rather higher prices rule. Californians show no change in value, but are dull in demand. A few Javas sold where something very nice is required. Lemons are lower, and show but a fair sale. The smaller fruit is preferred. Prices are quoted lower this week. Apples are a little more plentiful, owing to some coming here from the wrecked steamer at Yarmouth, but there is little change in price. Bananas show a better sale, and will continue to push to the front. Prices remain even. A few cranberries are offered.

DRIED FRUITS—In evaporated apples, the stock is very light and higher prices rule. There is a fair demand. The supply seems to have been very short. Dried will not take their place, though they are higher in price than for some time. Californian prunes are rather higher, and a very firm market is expected. The best selling sizes are getting scarce. In raisins, our market is a dull one. There are quite large supplies for the season, and limited sale. Reports from outside point to higher figures. Seeded have a fair demand, but stock is not large. Currants move slowly at even figures. Figs are dull. Dates have a fair sale, and are firmly held. Onions are easy. Held stock is giving out in quality. Spanish ouions are to hand. They are some three weeks earlier than usual. They find a good sale.

SUGAR—This seems to be a matter of increased interest in the United States, as many houses, who have not before handled it, are now active dealers. The drawback received for export is enabling them to offer in Canada, and they are making increased efforts to get a hold on our market. So far, sales have not been large, and they are almost entirely granulated. Though some foreign yellows have been received through American shippers, prices show very little change. Our refineries are not inclined to lose any business.

MOLASSES—There has been quite a quantity of Porto Rico already received, and, owing to a bare market, has gone freely into consumption at full figures. There is quite a quantity afloat here, and the success of the importations depends, of course, on the firmness of the market at the Island. Considering the high price that has ruled there, naturally, there is some risk. In Barbadoes, there is now a fair supply of new owing to the arrival of the West India steamer. Prices are firmly held, but well under the figures asked for Porto Rico. There is still some demand for New Orleans. Syrup is very quiet.

PRODUCE—Eggs did not drop as low as usual this season before Easter, owing, no doubt, to it being so early. They gained in strength just before the day, but reacted right after. Butter is rather firmer, particularly for best stock. Off grades are low and dull. Both in cheese and creamery butter, some arrived on our market from the west, but affected prices little. Cheese has been low here and dull.

FISH—With the close of Lent there is a quieter market. In pickled fish rather easier figures are noted, but stock is very small. In dry fish, particularly cod, if there is any change, values are higher. Receipts are light. Fresh fish are scarce. Haddock continue to be imported from Boston to supply the demand for finnan haddie. Hake holds firm. Smoked herring continue to be the dull feature. Halibut have had a good sale at full figures. We quote: Large cod, $3.85 to $4; medium, $3.75 to $3.85; pollock, $1.90 to $2; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.80 to $1.90 ½-bbl.; Canso, pickled, $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 5½ to 6c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $3.75 to $4 ½-bbl.; fall shad, $4.75 to $5 ½-bbl.; Shelburne, $3.75 per bbl.; Grand Manan herring, $3.70 to $3.80 per bbl.; quoddy, $3.50 per ½-bbl.; lobsters, small, 3½ to 4c.; do., large, 10 to 12c.; halibut, 10 to 12c.

PROVISIONS—In barreled meats but a fair business is being done. Packers show a large range in prices. Beef, which has been offered very low, is higher. The very low prices of lard have led to free buying on the part of our trade.

FLOUR, FEED, AND MEAL—In flour, there has been more movement during the week. Stocks had become very low, and the strength being in the market, led to quite free buying. As compared with last year, values have been low. The outlook is towards higher prices. In feed, our dealers find it hard to get supplies, and figures are high. Oats and oatmeal are firm, with but fair sale. Cornmeal sells freely at the prices quoted last week. Beans are dull at easy prices. Barley, etc., keeps high. Hay is still dull and very low. Seeds are having a freer sale. In clovers and Canadian timothy, values are rather firmer. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.65 to $4.75; best Ontario, $3.80 to $4; medium, $3.65 to $3.75; oatmeal, $3.90 to $4.00; cornmeal, $2.15; middlings, $20 to $21; bran, $17 to $18; oats, 38 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1.05 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $4 to $4.10; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $4.10 to $4.25; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.65 to $2.00; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Parrsboro, N.S., is to have a board of trade.

Some cars of potatoes for Toronto passed through St. John during the past week.

A. F. Randolph & Sons recived another car of New Orleans molasses this week. This is their third within a short time.

J. F. Estabrooks & Son received a shipment of Spanish onions this week. They are much earlier than usual this season.

THE GROCER is pleased to report that Mr. J. C. Stewart, of The Maritime Merchant, who has been very ill, is much better.

Mr. A. S. Bowman, who manages the brokerage business for his father, I. C. Bowman, made a flying visit to Montreal and Ottawa this week.

Geo. Ellis, formerly of St. John, is continuing the milling business of the late A. L. Calhoun, at Wolfville. The principal output is cornmeal.

Hall & Fairweather, tea importers, shipped, this past week by steamer Halifax City, to London, some China teas to fill an order received from there. This is a new departure caused by the scarcity of low grades in that market.

Said Mr. Joseph Tilton, of Smith & Tilton, the Maritime agents for the Windsor salt people: "We are finding, in spite of increased competition, a larger demand than ever for our salt."

Smoked herring continue so dull that the fishermen of Grand Manan and other points are looking for a more profitable way of curing these herring, and this spring will see a number of new factories for preparing sardines and kippers.

The late decision of the Treasury Department at Washington that the destination of all goods in bond must be stipulated in the bond, has called out a protest from the Boston Chamber of Commerce. Large quantities of Canadian goods pass through Boston for export, and it is the fear that this trade would go to St. John and other Canadian ports, that has lead to the protest, as shippers find it necessary to often change the name of the point of destination.

CAUTION.

Similar goods to those manufactured by J. & J. Colman, Limited, of 108 Cannon Street, London (England), occasionally make their appearance on the Market, displaying a Trade Mark liable to be confounded by the Public with their well-known Trade Mark of a Bull's Head and also closely resembling J. & J. Colman's goods in get up, presumably with the intention to deceive the buyer and consumer. Such goods are generally of an inferior quality. J. & J. The Plant and its Cultivation

IN selecting a spot to locate a coffee plantation, the same general rules are observed throughout the coffee-growing districts of the world, viz.:—equable climate and a rich virgin soil where the forest has been growing thick and heavy.

The Planter selects moderately gentle slopes or hill sides, protected from the wind, which is sure death to the plants, with running streams for irrigation purposes, as a constant even moisture is necessary for the full development of the plant. Land being selected, his next move is to secure his plants. These are sometimes obtained by taking root shoots from the old fields. But, in the cultivation of coffee, the same relative improvements have been made that exist in other industries, and the modern method is to select young and thriving plants from the nurseries. These are set out in holes in order to secure a constant supply of water, and are arranged in rows from eight to ten feet apart.

By pursuing this more recent method, the planter secures not only a healthier lot of trees, but obtains a crop about a year in advance.

At the end of three years the plants commence bearing a small crop, but do not fully mature in less than six years, when the crops are usually very large, a single tree frequently bearing from three to four pounds of berries. The limit of productiveness for a coffee plant is about thirty years, after that age, if any fruit forms it is almost worthless.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, April 3, 1899.

EASTER has brought warmer weather, and consequently a more active movement in business of all kinds. The wheat market is in a very excited condition, owing to the alarming reports as to the damage to the winter wheat crop of the United States. The reports from Nebraska and the Missouri districts are very bad indeed. The market varies with each fresh report received, so that it is impossible to quote prices. The opinion of experienced grain men is that the damage is heavy, though the extent of it cannot be known for a week or ten days yet. They think, however, that it is sufficient in any case to considerably increase the price of wheat in this market. The deliveries at elevators are very small and will not increase until after seeding. The roads in the country are breaking up, and in many districts sleighing has disappeared.

The Manitoba Health Food Co. have established themselves in new quarters in the very centre of the city. They handle the health foods from Battle Creek, Mich., and also manufacture meatosse and nut butter.

E. B. Nixon, of The Hudson's Bay Company, arrived home last week. He reports the tone of business more active and healthy in Eastern Canada than in the various cities of the United States which he visited.

Tea sellers are all visiting our city just now. So far as ascertained, no actual orders have been given, but limits will likely go forward in a few days. The China market looks as if it would be very strong.

CANNED GOODS—Corn and tomatoes are particularly firm and there is no likelihood of decline until new packs are in. Tomatoes are quoted at $2.20 to $2.25 per case. Peas are in fair demand and the stocks on the market are sufficient for requirements, this week's quotations are $1.90 to $2.20, according to grade. Beans (string and wax) are not plentiful and prices are firmer than for several months. $2 is the present quotation. Fruits are scarce with the exception of strawberries, of which there was some surplus stock from last year. There is no change of prices in these lines.

Coffee market is dull and unchanged, except in the case of fancy old Government Javas, which are high and not likely to decline. No. 5 Rios are quoted at 9½c., fancy old Government Java 33c., and fancy Aden Mocha at 30c.

Cereal market is unchanged. Rolled oats are being principally purchased from the Ogilvies' new mills aud the quotations are $1.90 to $1.95 for 80's. Beans are very firm and rather scarce, fancy hand-picked are worth to-day $1.35.

New maple syrup has not arrived as soon as expected, and, in fact, will not reach here for another couple of weeks, owing to the late season in the Province of Quebec.

Tapioca and sago have experienced quite a sharp advance within the last two months, and, as stocks are low and direct shipments will not arrive for at least three months, there is likely to be something of a dearth in this article. Price, 5¼ to 5½c. per lb.

DRIED FRUITS — Show little change; raisins none, though currants are very cheap. Whether they will prove good property at present prices remains to be seen. Latest quotation is 5⅜c.

EVAPORATED FRUITS — Apricots still remain at 16 to 17c., and the price is so high that sales are very small. Peaches are also dear and slow. Pitted cherries are out of the market altogether. Evaporated and dried apples are both high and scarce. Dried are hard to obtain from the east, and are worth 7 to 7½c. per lb. Fancy table figs are cleaned out, and dealers have not renewed their stocks, as prices were too high. Cooking figs are plenty and cheap, but very slow sellers. Prices range from 4½ to 6½c. per lb.

PRODUCE—Shows no changes for the week.

GREEN FRUITS—A further sharp advance in oranges is still looked for.

THE MAN AT THE SCALES.

Unless an exact man, the user of the store scales can inflict immeasurable and untraceable losses that do not show until the semi-annual or annual inventory is taken, says The American Grocer. Down-weight, or overweight, is the ruthless foe of profits. It strikes at the vitals of the business, and, as, drop by drop, water wears away a stone, so the steady, careless weighing of helpers eats into capital.

A pound of butter reweighed by a customer turned the scale at 18 instead of 16 ounces, and demonstrated that the careless salesman had given away 3c. besides the cost of the service. If, in the store where that happened, two tubs of butter are cut up every day in like fashion, not less than $1.50 to $2.00 goes to waste, or over $600 per annum. If coffee is carelessly weighed and each buyer gets from one-half to one ounce overweight, another big loss is sustained. And if general carelessness in weighing is the rule, then the entire business becomes unprofitable, and the proprietor is ready to affirm that "there is no money in the grocery business."

The man at the scales must be exact, or else he is a menace to the business. Exact weighing demands accurate scales.

NO REJECTED BRITISH TEAS.

During the month of March, 105,668 packages, comprising 4,937,789 lb. of tea, were passed by the examiner at New York, and 2,644 packages, comprising 174,948 lb., were rejected.

Of the tea rejected, 4,500 lb. were Foochow Oolong, 4,782 lb. country green, 24,300 lb. Pingsuey, 121,986 lb. Japan, 18,180 lb. Japan dust and 1,200 lb. Canton tea.

In Indian and Ceylon teas, 185,753 lb. were passed and not one pound rejected. This, it will be remembered, was the experience of the imports of these teas during the whole of 1898.

THE RETAIL MERCHANT OF 1900.

What changes may we look for within the next few years? This is the query on which all retailers with small capital may well ponder. Already the thoughtful merchant has recognized the necessity for the adoption of safeguards to prevent the loss of capital. It may be said that hard times have made people the more careful of their dimes, or that the great department stores in the cities, with their peculiar methods, have made a hole in the small merchant's profit, or that it is the ever-extending trolley line or the frequent cheap excursions to the large centres. It may be said that it is the mail-order houses supplying the consumer. But, say what you will, there is no denying the fact that changes have come and that changes are still going on. Let every merchant, therefore, fortify his business by adopting the soundest rules. Let him collect his accounts promptly; let him sell more nearly for cash; let him meet competition rationally; let him push profitable goods energetically and restrict his buying to what he can sell, and sell quickly. The necessity of the hour is to make the business pay, whatever it is, or else the retailer must prepare to join the wage-workers of the world with whatever grace he can command.—John T. Plummer.

The Why of it.

There has been very little change in the value of genuine high-grade Java and Ceylon Coffees, notwithstanding the fact that there is such a large surplus of cheap, medium and low-grade South Americans offering under different names.

Well posted dealers know this, and that is why so many pay a premium for EXCELSIOR BLEND over other so-called best Brands. They know they are getting value for each cent in EXCELSIOR.

It is a perfect Blend of highest grades. There is only one Excelsior.

BUY CONCENTRATED GRAPE WINE VINEGAR and make your own vinegar.

You get a better article than the ordinary so-called "White Wine" Vinegars, which do not contain one drop of "WINE," but are made from spirits, second grade alcohol, beer (slops), cider, and IMPURE dilute ACETIC ACID.

(See Revenue Act relating to production of Vinegars.)

GROCERS

Have you ever looked into your vinegar business closely? If you have, you must have noticed several things. Have you not noticed how murky and scummy your vinegar gets if kept a long time; the objectionable vinegar eels "or mother" that are created? Have you never thought of saving yourself FREIGHT ON WATER, FREIGHT ON HEAVY BARRELS, bother of taking down, reshipping and getting returns for barrels, etc.? THINK A MINUTE, and you will see the advantage in buying Concentrated Grape WINE VINEGAR. UNSCRUPULOUS travellers, no doubt induced by their principals, are decrying Concentrated Grape Wine Vinegar. Do you know why? Our vinegar is getting in with all live, wide-awake, progressive grocers and pickle manufacturers, and the loss of trade is hurting the VINEGAR COMBINATION. If our vinegar wasn't a GOOD article, and wasn't pinching them, do you think they would bother about it? NOT A BIT.

You don't like COMBINES, do you?

You want pure, healthful goods for your customers. If you want the purest Vinegar that can be made—that has received the highest awards for purity at all the Health Exhibitions (where shown)—that has the endorsation of the highest medical authorities of the world—BUY CONCENTRATED GRAPE WINE VINEGAR—imported direct from the celebrated Rhine Wine District of Germany.

Don't let COMBINE VINEGAR TRAVELLERS run your business—investigate for yourself.

A COSTLY BARGAIN.

By Tom Swalwell.

"YES," said Mrs. Jacqueth, a lawyer's wife, of the town of Rochdale, "I got that rocking-chair you are sitting on from a departmental store for $3 98. Don't you think it is a bargain?"

"No, I really don't," said her friend, Mrs. Stapleton, the doctor's wife. "If you only knew how much it really did cost, you wouldn't think so either."

"Why, whatever do you mean? That was all I really paid for it, except 40c. express charges."

"But that was not all it cost you, my dear Mrs. Jacqueth."

"Why, I can show you the bill, Mrs. Stapleton, if you doubt it."

"Let me explain, my dear. You know Mr. Douglass, the furniture and carpet man, on Main street? Well, he happened to be in the express office and saw this chair with your name attached, along with the name of the people you got it from. You are probably not aware that Mr. Douglass bought the Chisholm property? Up to the day he saw this chair in the express office, your husband had always done his legal business. He at once went off to Mr. Marshall, the other lawyer, and engaged him to search the titles and draw out the papers in connection with the transfer of the property The doctor told me that Douglass gave Marshall a cheque for $35 for his work. You know that Mr. Marshall's motto is 'that it is only just, right and proper to spend his money among the people where he makes his living,' so you see, my dear, this chair cost you really about $25, allowing for Mr. Marshall's time doing the work."

When Jacqueth came home that evening to dinner, his wife told him about the mean way he had been treated by Douglass.

Mr. Jacqueth was a level-headed fellow, and saw through the whole thing at once. Said he: "Why a lot of people want to rush off and spend their money away from home, I cannot tell. Do you know, that blessed chair of yours has cost over $25 already, and how much more it will cost when it gets abroad that I am sending away money to buy a lot of trumpery we don't want, I cannot tell. From this out, spend your money where I have to make my living."

The $3.98 rocker was the last importation into the Jacqueth household.

A PROTEST AGAINST THE SUGAR DUTY.

EDITOR CANADIAN GROCER,—I see by a report in the daily papers that the Canadian sugar refiners purpose asking increased protection from the Government against foreign sugars. I should like to know if it is possible for the retailer and the general public to get any protection against the abominable stinking stuff that these same refiners are sending out to the trade as fit for human food!

If the Canadian public are to be duped with glucose or some other rank substitute for pure sugar, the sooner the bars are taken down the better, and let us have the best sugar the world produces, free of duty, until our refiners have learned to protect themselves by making such a class of sugars as will preclude the importation of foreign goods. The sugar magnates, like the pickle lords, have been so babied with protection that they appear to think that any kind of goods will do for Canadians, if only the price is low enough. I believe, sir, that there are enough British blood and principle in us to cheerfully pay the best price for the best article.

As a probable cure for the evil practice of foisting inferior manufactures upon our citizens, I humbly suggest that we retailers and wholesalers petition the Minister of Finance to insert a clause in the tariff bill this session, empowering the Governor-General-in-Council to suspend the operation of the Customs tariff upon any article enumerated in the tariff list, when it is shown that the quality of such article, as manufactured in Canada, has deteriorated from a fair and reasonable standard, until such standard has been reestablished. This would be double protection, protecting the public from the imposition of inferior goods, and compelling the manufacturers to protect themselves from outside competition by keeping up the standard of quality. I believe, sir, that your agitation of the pickle question has tended to improve and sweeten that branch of trade, and if the sugar magnates do not take a hint and give us better soft sugars, I trust that you will assist us in putting them in a pickle.

CEYLON TEA SHIPMENTS.

The shipments of Ceylon tea to the United Kingdom for the month just ended will approximate 7,000,000 lb. Compared with the same period last year they stand thus:

	Feb. 1898. lb.	Feb. 1899. lb.
To United Kingdom.....	6,726,001	7,000,000

The estimated shipments to the United Kingdom for March are 8 to 8½ million lb., that is to say, this amount will be available, but whether it will go forward is another matter, as tonnage is likely to be scarce, owing to the plague in Calcutta, as we have already explained. — Times of Ceylon, February 28.

and ours are identical, and because we appreciate this fact we strive to retain your good-will. Corn has more than doubled in price of late, but we have advanced our prices on Brooms only 10% so far. This is one of the advantages that we can offer you because of the strong position we occupy in our ability to carry at all times a very large stock of the raw materials in our warehouses.

The advance in the price did not find us unprepared—we did not have to go into the open market and buy our raw materials at high prices. NOW, we share our good fortune with YOU, but upon strict business principles we cannot accept orders for future delivery. By buying NOW you will save money—our present stock will not last long. We shall have to advance prices further as soon as it is gone.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU . . . .

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

No argument is needed to sell Lazenby's Goods, Codou's Macaroni and Stephens' Pickles---their names are silent arguments themselves. That is what a name will do.

a second time must of necessity please the grocer and his customers too—that is exactly what my "Pharaoh" 10c. cigar and my "Pebble" 5c. cigar are doing. There is a steady increase in my sales to grocers right along on these two brands. I believe that one reason why this is so is because I give my own personal attention to the selection of the tobacco I use in both of these brands.

No tobacco leaf of a second rate grade can possibly get into the hands of my workmen—I have one high standard of quality, and I live up to it conscientiously. It is for my interest to do so. My steadily increasing business proves that I am right in the stand that I take, namely, of maintaining quality first, last, and always. Let me send you samples of the "Pharaoh" and the "Pebble."

Good tea is the vital spark of a grocer's business. If your tea isn't good you are wasting time and labor.

The best trade in the world can be spoiled by a poor tea, or a poor trade can be greatly bettered by an extremely fine tea such as comes from Ceylon and India.

These teas, grown under the British flag, and manufactured and packed entirely by machinery, are the purest, cleanest and healthiest in existence.

It takes a long time to convince some merchants of the superiority of them, but once convinced always convinced.

VOL. XIII. TORONTO AND MONTREAL, APRIL 14, 1899. NO. 15

CAN RETAILERS DO A CASH TRADE?

THE VIEWS OF THREE RETAILERS.

A FEW weeks ago, a communication regarding the possibility of doing a cash trade, together with an editorial dealing with the same, appeared in the columns of THE CANADIAN GROCER. The writer of the communication questioned whether a strictly cash trade was possible. A few letters have been received at this office in reply to this communication. Three of these are herewith reproduced :

THE CASH SYSTEM FAILED.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—Your article in last week's issue, "Who Does a Strictly Cash Business?" was noted with much interest, a response to which I look forward to with even greater. It is a matter which I believe has kept me thinking fully as much as the inquirer of this question, considering the time I am in business ; and I have also finally come to the same conclusion, that it is an impossibility in the grocery business.

I started in groceries and crockery in 1886, and, during said time, I have also attempted repeatedly to do a strictly cash business, but failed to succeed. As far as the crockery department is concerned, I find it would be an easy matter for me to carry it out to the letter, but, as the grocery business is so different, owing to most peculiar circumstances popping up from time to time, that it very often appeared to me to be poor policy to refuse to grant credit.

One of the worst obstacles in the way of a successful cash grocery business is the telephone, notwithstanding that the delivery man was furnished every morning with a certain amount of change to meet all emergencies, yet what was policy to do when goods were delivered, when it happened that the lady of the house was entertaining company, upstairs with the family, this or that. You certainly should not refuse leaving the goods there and disappoint a good customer of one thing or another in said order which perhaps they most particularly needed for the coming meal. In fact, there were scores of objections to telephone orders, so much so that, in course of another year, when another attempt at cash was made, I had my telephone taken out, but only to have it put in again in course of about six months, customers complaining of the inconvenience. Yet, I had thought what I might lose in the sale of goods which would be furnished by my brother grocer (who had telephone connection) when an order was needed in a hurry, convenience or otherwise, I would fully be able to make up by selling them more goods at any time when said customers would come to the store, by being able to show them specialties, new lines, etc., which one finds impossible to do by telephone. But there, again, it proved to me that I was giving a steadfast customer an opportunity of going where the telephone proved such a convenience, that, in calling to pay for the goods received, the customer could hardly be expected to avoid showing appreciation by making more or less further purchases.

Then there is the fruit season when you have daily shipments coming forward. I have no doubt all merchants have seen themselves overstocked, who handle the same extensively ; most particularly grocers in smaller towns. The smaller the town the worse it is owing to the traffic being limited ; while in the city you generally have an opportunity of clearing out the old stock at some price or other for cash, while in the country it is impossible at times, no matter how cheap you offer. It is then policy to sell whether on cash or credit, even if the latter is far from gilt-edge, in order to have a chance to realize something. Then you find many customers who are quite willing to pay monthly or weekly as their pay may be forthcoming, who could not be induced to adopt the strictly cash business, owing to inability or otherwise, which seemed poor policy to see their accounts go elsewhere.

After failing to succeed in the cash I made another attempt, by giving credit in cases of emergency or convenience only until the following fourteenth, as our factories, who pay only once a month, pay on said date. Every bill that went out was stamped thus: Immediately after the fourteenth statements were rendered to parties not having complied with our terms thus : This is positively the nearest I have suggested to coming to a cash business, notwithstanding that many statements require to be rendered many times, and perhaps finally fail even at that in bringing them too ; yet, on the whole, I find it answers my business better than strictly cash, or pay up by New Years, as most of our general stores in our vicinity are doing.

> This bill is due on the following 14th, when kindly remit for same, and oblige,
> Respectfully yours,
> GEO. HASENFLUG.

> This small amount no doubt has escaped your notice, as it was due on the 14th inst. Kindly remit.
> GEO. HASENFLUG.

G. HASENFLUG.

Waterloo, Ont.

NOT PRACTICABLE IN HIS TOWN.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—The question, "Can a merchant do a strictly cash business?" interests me intensely. I am afraid not here. Our people are conservative. It is an exclusively agricultural section. They depend on their, say August to October, sale of butter and cattle to pay their bills. We usually get the former at 2 to 3c. a lb. above what we can net out of it, to pay store accounts that have been running a year, often longer. If a customer can't pay any or all of his account, he would feel hurt if asked to sign a note for the balance. Some have told me they never gave a note in their life.

The cattle sold usually go to pay taxes, and some of it, it is true, to the departmental stores—it would be interesting to know how much.

We cannot buy their butter for cash, sell it and live. It is dairy.

What are we to do? If we do not buy their produce someone else will get the trade. Our credit—if we must give it—is for too long. I am afraid the volume of business for cash is not sufficient, but then there are no losses.

S. STEVENSON, JR.

Kinnear's Mills, Que.

In answer to "Subscriber," who asks, "Who does a strictly cash business?" I, as a subscriber to THE CANADIAN GROCER, take the opportunity to throw some light on the subject of the cash basis of business in a general store in a country village. I have been doing business on the cash basis for two and a half years. The first two years I did fairly well, but there was always someone who had forgotten his pocketbook and six miles from home. Are we as business men going to let him go home without his goods, he being a responsible farmer, perhaps worth $6,000 or $7,000? No. I say give him the goods by all means, for if you don't your competitor will sell to him ever after. "Well," says one, "that is a very rare case." But it is not so rare as you would imagine.

For instance, a customer wants a pair of boots for his little boy and does not know the size. Wants to take two pairs and return one. What are you going to do, as possibly the price of the two pairs of boots differs 50c. per pair? Why, you must enter them on your book, providing he or she does pay for one pair and also enter price paid for other pair.

Then a good farmer wants some goods, and he has not the money to advance till, probably, the cheese factory starts. Again, you cannot afford to let him go across the street and get credit, and then buy ever after.

I am doing a cash business, but have to put some names on my book every day. Some pay every day. If they don't pay in one month I ask them, and this is the way I have to deal. I sold $14,000 in two years and only had $40 on my book when the end of the year came. Possibly I will lose it. I had about $1,000 on my books in the whole two years, but claim that the $40, if lost, is not really lost, for, if I had not sold the goods, that is $1,000 worth, I would have been minus of profits on same, and besides holding my customer, so that when he has the cash he would leave it with me.

In some places I believe a purely cash business would be all right, but not here. I think a merchant should study his customers, and he, only, knows whether a cash business would flourish or not.

I would advise to keep it before the peoples' minds that you are doing a cash business and work away till you are rich, then drop out and live a retired life and give some one else a chance.

Lansdowne, Ont. A SUBSCRIBER,

[It is to be hoped other retailers will express their views.—THE EDITOR.]

A SPECIAL OFFER.

W. P. Downey, the Canadian agent for Hires & Co., manufacturers of rootbeer, etc., has just returned from a business trip to New York, in the interest of his several firms. Mr. Downey says they were well satisfied with their business last year, but think the market for this summer beverage could be considerably extended, and. to thoroughly introduce their goods among the retailers, are now prepared to make the following offer: They will give one case of Hires' carbonated rootbeer containing twenty-four bottles, to anyone ordering one gross of Hires' rootbeer. These goods are kept by all wholesalers, and anyone sendin an order as above will be supplied by then with the extra case.

HE PAYS THE RENT.

We hear of one of the greatest retai grocery concerns in this city as doin exactly what their less extensive brethen are sometimes criticized for doing, viz. keeping out of a conspicuous place such goods as give no profit, owing to th negligence of the makers thereof.

Well, why not? The grocer's store, bi or little, is his place, and, as he pays the rent wherefore should he not use its best place for such displays as will best help him pa that rent?

It is reasonable and just that he shoul strive for his own well-being, and that o those dependent on him. He knows, also that goods always bear good margins fo those who make them, and as he has t bear the results of injudicious selling t those whose sole ability to get business lie in cutting prices, whom should he look t but to the man who does this injudiciou selling?

And he pays the rent, helps the poor, an besides stands all the losses which ignorance or vice bring upon families.—Grocers Advocate.

TRAVELED 40 YEARS WITH BISCUITS.

FORTY-ONE years is a large part of one's life to be spent as a commercial traveler, but to spend all that time in the interests of one firm is perhaps a record-breaker and speaks volumes for both house and traveler.

To Mr. Edward Petter, the general agent for Peek, Frean & Co., biscuit manufacturers, who is now in Montreal on his annual visit, belongs the credit of traveling for this long time in the interests of one firm, and in that time he has covered the whole world with the exception of the continent of Europe.

Asia, Africa, Australia, America, and "The Isles of the Sea," have all been visited by him, and needless to say, in all these places he has done business, so that no matter where you go to-day, if you find Europeans there, you will find Peek, Frean's biscuits also.

In speaking of the world-wide trade and the many markets they now have, he thought Africa was perhaps the best. "South Africa has always been a large buyer of our goods," he said, "but the opening up of the Soudan has thrown open a large market, and we are getting our full share. In fact, so great is our trade there, particularly in one line, 'Metropolitan Mixed,' that we are experiencing great difficulty in getting casks in which to pack them. Australia and India are, and have always been good markets, as well as China and Japan.

"The United States, too, is a good market, much better than you would imagine. Our trade is growing very rapidly there, especially in high-grade goods, so great, indeed, that a few years ago we were compelled to open a depot in New York, through which to supply our American customers.

"Our Canadian trade is very satisfactory, but if your Government would grant us free entry we would do an enormous business here. As it is, the demand for our higher quality of goods is constantly increasing. Especially is this the case with such fine goods as 'Zeller' wafers. These goods are made from the very best materials and are the highest standard it is possible to attain, and we are pleased to see you Canadians appreciate the pains we are taking in this matter. We are also doing a good trade in the cheaper lines, in fact, much more than we expected, all of which goes to show that good goods, rightly put up and properly put before customers, are bound to sell."

Mr. Petter will spend a day or two in Montreal, when he goes to Toronto, London, and Hamilton. He then crosses over to United States territory, and visits some of the larger centres between here and San Francisco. He there takes steamer for New Zealand and Australia, visiting by the way Honolulu and Samoa. After leaving Australia, he visits Tasmania and other islands. Thence he goes to South Africa and other African centres, and from there on home. The round trip will occupy about twelve months.

Mr. Petter says the secret of his success has been that in all his life he has been an enthusiast in his work, and always put the welfare of his employers before everything else. "Another thing," he said, "is, I never allow anything to discourage me. No matter how hard a blow I receive, I always come up smiling. I am on the road to do business. I like my work and have always been used like a prince by my firm. This is the reason why, at my age, I am leaving home and friends to take this long journey. My ambition is to serve my firm to the last—to die in harness."

DOWN BY THE SEA.

The Annapolis valley has grown famous for its apples and their splendid qualities, which obtain better figures after all other crops have been disposed of, especially on the English market. The Western apple dealers recognize this fact and send their representatives on a buying expedition.

The stores are handsomely fitted-up in this district, and one of special mention is that of G. E. Corbett, Annapolis town, who has all the latest improvements in store fittings and fixtures. A number of "Boeckh's" adjustable show tables are used for displaying goods on, and add greatly to the general appearance of this handsome store, which would be a credit to any street in Toronto or Montreal.

Leading brands of Valencia raisins, f.o.s., selected and layer, are quoted at low prices by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

THE PUSH that carried IMPERIAL CHEESE to the front has not slackened. It is still pushing forward with increasing energy, and the merchant who seeks to reach the best trade and best results, must include Imperial in his stock, as every housewife knows it to be the best that science can produce; and every epicure, as the most palatable that the world possesses.

THE LATE JOHN MAGOR.

Following upon the death of his son, which took place within the last month, THE CANADIAN GROCER is now called upon to record the death of Mr. John Magor, which took place at his residence, Lachine, on Sunday last. Mr. Magor had an attack of pneumonia in February, but recovered sufficiently to move about the house, though he was not well enough to go down to business. On Sunday he was suddenly attacked with heart failure, and died about midnight after only an hour's suffering. Mr. Magor was born in 1835, at Newton Abbot, Devonshire, England, and emigrated to Newfoundland when about 15 years of age. He came to Quebec in 1862 in connection with the firm of James Ross & Co., and to Montreal in 1865, as a member of the firm of James Lord & Co., doing business almost entirely with Newfoundland and in Newfoundland products. In 1880 the firm of Magor Bros. & Co. was formed, and in 1891 the same business was continued under the style of John Magor & Son. Mr. Magor was married in Newfoundland, and leaves a widow and nine children, four sons and five daughters. The family will have the sympathy of a large circle of friends, whose respect and admiration were secured by Mr. Magor's high character and affable disposition.

AN EXAMPLE OF UNSELFISHNESS.

IN practically every dispute between capital and labor, selfishness is at the root of it. If it is not the employer who is selfish it is the employe, and vice versa.

Through the death of Mr. Richard Cadbury, the senior member of the well-known English cocoa manufacturing firm of Cadbury Bros., the world has learned that there is at least one firm in whom there is no appearance of the quality in question.

For the convenience of its nearly two thousand employes, Cadbury Bros. erected buildings for use as cooking, recreation and dining-rooms, while in the gardens which surrounded the works were placed pretty little arbors where the girls connected with the works could retire in their spare moments to read or gossip.

Not only, however, does the firm take an interest in the present welfare of its employes, but it proposes to look after their future when old age and incapacity for work are upon them, having, with that end in view, in the course of erection 38 dwellings or almshouses, which, exclusive of the site, will cost about $350,000.

The practice of assembling the employes every morning after their arrival at the works at 9 o'clock and reading to them a portion of Scripture may be accounted sentimental nonsense by certain people, but, whether we look at it in that way or not, the motive is obviously the welfare of the working people, while, what is equally obvious, the firm does not begrudge the time which its factory is kept idle in the meantime.

As might be expected harmony prevails among employer and employe, and it is the proud boast of the firm that a labor dispute of any kind has never developed in its works. This, in a land where strikes and labor disputes abound, is significant.

Manufacturers in Canada and the United States often boast of the superior equipment of their factories compared with those of their confreres in Great Britain, but in treatment of their employes they have, as a rule, much to learn from such British firms as that of Cadbury Bros. and others, for there are others.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS LOST.

When ships go out to sea they not only risk the lives of those on board but the dollars as well of the marine insurance companies.

So far this year the losses have been heavy. Inside of two months the wrecks of the Labrador, the Castilian, the Moravia, and the Scottish King alone have entailed a loss to the insurance people of at least $3,000,000.

Then, there sailed from this side of the Atlantic between January 25 and 29, such vessels as the Arona, Croft, and Port Melbourne, besides others, which must have met with and foundered in the storms which swept the Atlantic after they sailed, for they have not been heard of since.

The loss of the Arona, Croft, and Port Melbourne, meant the loss of another $3,000,000, besides about 300 lives. Taking the several vessels named it is estimated there was a total loss of about $6,000,000 to the marine insurance companies, and there are many many vessels besides these that either foundered or went to pieces upon the rocks.

JAPAN TEA FOR A YEAR.

THE Japan tea market during the past year has been an interesting one on account of its peculiarities.

It was a year ago, all but two weeks, since it opened. The actual date of the opening was April 28. Until May 8, a steady business was done, although at gradually declining prices. On that date, however, heavy buying commenced, with the result that all grades below "finest" advanced.

A month later, cable advices to the effect that the United States intended putting a duty of 10c. per lb. on tea caused a falling off in business and a depreciation in values. And when it was known that the duty was an accomplished fact, the prices suddenly dropped 4 to 5 yen per picul. A yen, it may be noted, is equal to 49 8-10c. in gold, and a picul is equal to 133.3 lb. With the drop in prices, however, came a good demand, especially for the low grades, but this continued only for a few days, as buyers were eager to secure the early second crop leaf, and prices advanced to what they were before the duty excitement developed. For some days the prices paid were higher than those paid for first leaf.

The end of July saw the market again taking a "bearish" turn, and it continued to decline until the third crop began to arrive, and this being particularly good quality, both in leaf and liquor, prices again appreciated. In October, the market became slightly easier, sellers being more willing to meet the views of buyers, but, since then, the market there has ruled steady, and, it is worthy of note, most of the purchases since then have been on Canadian account. The total amount of settlements in Japan up to March 24 last was 214,000 piculs, against 218,000 the same time last year.

Up to December 15 last, according to a statement published in THE CANADIAN GROCER some weeks ago, the quantity of tea shipped from Japan to Canada was 11,283,948 lb., against 8,334,693 lb. to the same date in 1897.

In spite of the ups and downs of the market the range of values in Japan the past season has been considerably higher than it was the previous season. The quality of the leaf and crop has also been better, particularly the third crop, which is said to be the finest ever known in Japan.

IMPORT BUSINESS IN MOLASSES.

IMPORT business in new crop molasses this spring has been exceedingly light so far, and the tenor of recent advices from primary sources is calculated to confuse rather than induce buyers to hurry.

As is customary every year, the early advices, which were rather bullish in their character, have been considerably modified. The earlier reports stated that the quantity of stock being marketed in Barbadoes was very small, that all that was offered was being taken to fill up Newfoundland vessels that were waiting for cargo at the Islands, and that if the price was 15c. no more could come forward. It was also said that the production would fall far short of what was anticipated, that the first canes ground up yielded only about half what was expected, and that rains had retarded the grinding.

All this was three weeks or a month ago, during which period the asking price, first cost at the Islands, was firmly held at 12c.

Apparently, however, the gentlemen who circulated these views did so without careful investigation. This, at least, is the inference to be drawn from the fact that prices have suddenly declined 1c. at primary points, and that, lately, there have been firm offers to importers, both in the Maritime Provinces and in Montreal, at 11c.

It is understood that business has been placed at this figure, but not for any large quantity of stock as yet.

Based on this price, the early importations this spring will cost a good deal more laid down in Montreal than the first purchases last year. These latter were made at 8c., so that prices this year are fully 3c. higher than last season, and this difference in cost will naturally mean considerable to the consumer if the same ratio of increase in cost is maintained between the two years throughout the current season.

CURRANTS VERY BULLISH.

D. Pasqua's letter from Patras in regard to currants states: "Market has been exceedingly active for the last 8 to 10 days, and prices have advanced 1 to 2s., according to quality. Fine grades for the English markets have been in great demand, and fully 2s. more have been obtained. The lower grades of provincials have advanced 1s.

"The reason for this advance is the extraordinary consumption of fruit this year in the United Kingdom and colonies. Although our shipments this season to England to the end of February have attained the quantity shipped last season until the end of August, the stocks in England, on March 1, were lighter than ever, over 10,000 tons will be required for the supply to the new season. On the other hand, the continued drought in Greece puts the condition of the new crop in a most unsafe position, and should this dry weather continue for another fortnight, one-third the crop may be safely considered as lost.

"Besides, actual prices are so low that speculation is certain to be tempted, and those who can hold do not even think of bringing their fruit on the market."

A GRATUITOUS INSULT.

THE member for North Ontario in the Ontario Legislature, Mr. W. H. Hoyle, is a business man, and as such he has seen enough to convince him that the division courts of the Province are not conducted, as a rule, in a business-like way. In his own county, for example, he held that one judge was sufficient, and accordingly brought in a bill providing for such.

Among those opposed to the bill was the Premier, and, during a speech thereon, he suggested that Mr. Hoyle in future devote himself to funeral reform instead of to law reform. Mr. Hoyle, it may be stated, is a furniture dealer and an undertaker.

This was a gratuitous insult, not only to Mr. Hoyle, but, indirectly, to every business man in the House.

It is the business men of the country who are the greatest sufferers from the effects of defective laws, and particularly those relating to the division courts. Such being the case, who then has a greater right than a business man to try and bring about the desired reforms? No one.

Mr. Hoyle's bill may not have been the best panacea for the particular evil it was designed to remedy, but, whether it was or was not, it was decidedly improper for Mr. Hardy to speak as he did.

As an intelligent man, as a man thoroughly conversant with the defects in the law system of the Province, he should encourage, rather than discourage, business men in the House to lend their aid in remedying these defects.

CHAT WITH A SCOTCH DISTILLER.

A TALL, broad-shouldered gentleman, with a dark, pointed beard and a mellow, pleasant voice, is Mr. Thomas R. Dewar, one of the partners in the celebrated Scotch whiskey firm of John Dewar & Sons, Limited, of Perth.

Mr. Dewar arrived in Montreal last week on his way home to London from a trip around this troubled little sphere of ours. He left London last November, and, during his tour, has visited Ceylon, India, the Straits Settlement, China, Japan, arriving in America via San Francisco, and coming across the continent by way of Vancouver and the Canadian Pacific railway, regarding the accommodations of which road he cannot speak too highly.

Mr. Dewar spoke entertainingly of his tour around the globe, remarking, among other things, that our Yankee cousins were making great strides in the Oriental trade, "but," he added, "old England is still to the fore, as she controls full 50 per cent. of the Chinese foreign trade. The Americans, however, are determined to give her a close run for the money, and British manufacturers cannot afford to ignore the fact."

Discussing the enticing liquid which he and other Scotch distillers tempt the palate with, Mr. Dewar explained that the consumption per capita among Europeans in the Orient, was in his opinion greater than in the more temperate climate. The enervating effects of the climate almost made stimulants of some sort an essential in the tropics, and good pure Scotch whiskey in moderation, of course, answered the purpose far better than other decoctions that were on the market.

The introduction of the firm's famous blend of whiskey had been uphill work at first, but once its merits were recognized, the export business of the firm increased by leaps and bounds. Twelve years ago Mr. Dewar decided to make his headquarters at London; leaving the scientific and technical direction of the distillery to his brother, Mr. John A. Dewar, at Perth.

The Dewar whiskey was comparatively unknown in England when Mr. Dewar first arrived in London, but now, in addition to a large home trade, the firm export to South Africa alone, their best market, no fewer than 50,000 dozen bottles a year, and now they are doing the largest trade of any whiskey merchant or distiller in the United Kingdom.

This success Mr. Dewar attributes to the attention that his brother in Perth has given to the art and science of blending, so that he has produced one that is second to none in the world. "People frequently ask," said Mr. Dewar, "how it is that, with our increasing business, we can keep up the quality and age. It is very simple. There are now something like 300 distilleries in Scotland; most of them cannot get out their make except through the hands of blenders, so we buy large stocks, keep them for 10 or 12 years, and so are always in a position to supply the public with a high-class article. Although the prominent names known to the public are all large distillers, these are even more interested as blenders, and as such they have the production of 158 distilleries to select from, and will soon have many more, which, indeed, are in course of erection. I may also point out that the reserve stock in Scotland last year was over 89,000,000 gallons, whereas ten years ago it was only 43,000,000 gallons. There are being made in the same country every year 12,500,000 gallons more than are consumed, or 50 per cent. overproduction, equal to 18 months' supply. You will see, therefore, that we can always have our stocks mellow and well matured before we offer them to the public with this large reserve to draw upon."

In addition to being a keen, wide-awake business man, Mr. Dewar takes great interest in all kinds of sport. He has a shooting box in Kent, has about a dozen racers in training at Newmarket, one of them, Fifeshire, being a competitor in this year's Derby, and is an ardent whip, running the "Rocket" coach to Box Hill.

Mr. Dewar is a bachelor, and makes his home at the Hotel Cecil in London, has been a member of the London County Council, High Sheriff of London, and has recently been placed upon the Commission of Lieutenancy of the City of London.

THE FRUIT STEAMERS.

Advices in regard to the direct fruit cargoes for Montreal have been received.

Individual particulars are not given, but it is stated that there are 108,000 boxes of lemons and 29,000 boxes of oranges on the three steamers.

There is another steamer, but it is not expected she will carry much fruit.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE regular meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, which was held in St. George's hall, Elm street, on Monday evening, was a record-breaker, both in point of numbers and in the interest taken in the proceedings. F. W. Johnson, the president, was in the chair.

Two new members, R. H. Stewart, corner Gerrard and Sackville streets, and W. J. Beam, 602 Queen street west, were admitted.

A deputation from the Fruit Commission House Association, consisting of Matthew Clemes, of Clemes Bros.; Harry Dawson, of The Dawson Commission Co., Limited; H. W. Thorpe, of McWilliam & Everist; Cameron Husband, of Husband Bros.; W. H. Smith, Thos. Cleghorn, Chas. Kimpton, S. K. Moyer, and Thos. Vance, were received. All of the members of the deputation addressed the meeting, asking the co-operation of the association in their endeavors to have fruit brought to the city on the early morning trains and boats during the coming season.

In past seasons fruit has been brought in by boat and train at all hours of the day. The result has been that the retailers often spent the most of the morning or afternoon on the fruit market in order to buy at the lowest figure. This so delayed sales that the fruitmen did not get their books straightened out until late at night--compelling them to frequently spend 14 to 16 hours out of the 24 on the market or in their warehouses. They state that by having the fruit all brought in on the early morning trains the market price for the day would be readily fixed, and the retailers would be able to make their purchases quickly, and give the commission men an opportunity to straighten up their accounts by six o'clock.

The railroad and steamboat companies are willing to bring the fruit in early if the growers and commission men agree. The magnitude of the fruit trade has for some time made it necessary to generally run two fruit trains a day. This has frequently compelled the growers to send their fruit to the station in the heat of the day, with the result that time is lost from picking, and the heat and hurry of shipping depreciates the value of the fruit.

The fruitmen desire a system by which cars shall wait at the various points of shipment, so that in the evening the growers may take to them the picking of the day, and that these cars shall be collected during the night, and be in Toronto before the market opens at 7 o'clock. The advantages of this are claimed to extend to all parties concerned. The grower need not interrupt his picking to take the fruit to the station and his fruit will arrive in Toronto in better condition. The railway companies will be enabled to do all the carrying by one train instead of two. The retailer will have a steadier market, of better-looking fruit, and will save time in buying, and the working hours of the commission men will be reduced to a reasonable limit.

Many of the retailers expressed their opinion regarding the matter, all being in favor of the system suggested by the fruitmen. Messrs. Johnson, Kelly, White, Clark and Sykes were appointed a committee to confer with the Fruit Commission House Association and to draft a resolution to be forwarded to the growers.

The report of the early-closing committee was received, showing that the movement is meeting with much success. Fully 100 grocers have commenced closing at 8 o'clock since the association started the agitation in real earnest.

As an invitation had been extended to the grocers of the city to attend this meeting, a number other than the association members took part in the discussion of the report. Among them were Emanuel Cork, Dovercourt road; Alfred Snuggs, Gerrard street east; W. L. Brown, Church street; W. J. McBryen, Parliament street, and John Coutts, Parliament and Gerrard streets, who expressed themselves in sympathy with the work of the association, and promised their support to the work.

It was decided to instruct the committee to continue the agitation and to devise new schemes to persuade all the grocers to adopt early closing. One scheme was suggested by Mr. Benj. Panter, Davenport road, who advised that, where there were a group of competing grocers in one section, an agreement be printed to hang on the door, which would show that the movement was a strong one, and would help each grocer in the section to live up to the agreement.

The report of the trading stamp committee was given. The committee spent considerable time in seeing various members of the Legislature regarding the Trading Stamp Bill, and, from the promises of many of the members and from the fact that the bill had almost unanimously passed its third reading in committee of the whole House, the committee had become confident that the bill would become law. The way in which the bill was killed in the all-night session of the House was thought by the committee to be astonishing, to say the least.

Mr. D. W. Clark gave notice of motion that he would move that the secretary's salary be increased $100 per annum, because of the faithful and valuable services he has rendered the association. Several members expressed themselves in accord with the motion. It was after eleven when adjournment was reached.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, April 13, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE most important feature on the local market during the past week was the advance of 10c. per 100 lb. in the price of all refined sugars, making the price of Montreal and Lower Provinces granulated $4.63 and $4.58, respectively. The demand for sugar is good. No new features have developed during the past week in regard to canned goods, the volume of business in which is fair. The improved demand noted for canned fruits is still in evidence. Coffees are meeting with a fair demand locally, but the outside markets are, as a rule, quiet, although firm as far as prices are concerned. Syrups and molasses both rule quiet. The tea market has lost none of its strength; on the contrary, it is stronger than it was a week ago. Wholesalers are still doing a good business, but, as their stocks are in a good condition, they are somewhat slow in placing orders at present prices, hoping that the high range of values on low-grade teas now ruling will not be maintained. Cables received here this week show that at the sale in London on Monday last the lowest prices obtained for low-grade Indian and Ceylon teas were 8¼ to 8½d. In foreign dried fruits, business is quiet and without special feature.

CANNED GOODS.

There appears to have been no material change in the situation since last week. Wholesalers are doing a fairly good business in canned vegetables at quotations, namely, 85 to 90c. for tomatoes; 95c. to $1 for corn, and 75c. up for peas. In sympathy with corn and tomatoes there is a disposition to try and get a little better price for peas, and some houses have advanced their minimum figures to 80c. There are still some tomatoes for future delivery being offered, and we hear of a transaction of a good-sized round lot at 70c. As noted last week, there are still some who are asking 75c. Tomatoes and corn of the last season's pack have been offered during the week at 85 and 95c. respectively, but we hear of no transactions at these prices.

The demand noted last week for canned fruits shows a further increase, particularly the cheaper kinds, to retail at 10c. per tin. Plums seem to be the kind most in demand, and there is quite a range in the quotations given by the different houses, even for the same brands. For instance, one house quotes as low as 95c., while others quote all the way up to $1.15, and even higher; $1.25 to $1.35 may be taken as a ruling quotation for the best packs of greengages.

For canned salmon and other kinds of canned fish the demand is just moderate and without any special feature.

COFFEES.

The local wholesalers are meeting with a good demand for Rio coffee at from 7½c. upwards. The outside markets are quiet and steady as to price. European advices, as we go to press, are of an encouraging nature, there being slight advances at the European coffee centres, while the Brazil market is reported to be on a higher basis.

SUGARS.

The price of refined sugar has been advanced 10c. per 100 lb. by the Canadian refineries, and for Montreal granulated the quotation to retailers is now $4.63 per 100 lb., and for Acadia, $4.58 per 100 lb. Yellow sugars are from $4.03 per 100 lb. upwards. This advance is in sympathy with the outside market. On Friday last, beet sugar, to the surprise of everyone, advanced 3d. in Europe, and the refiners in New York on the same day advanced their quotations 1-16 to ⅛c. per lb., and on Monday of this week there was another advance of 1-16c. there in refined sugars. The refineries over there have been quite willing during the past week to pay 4½c. for 96 test centrifugals, but sellers would not accept less than 4 9-16c., And while the Trust has not yet come up to this latter figure, some of the independent refineries on Monday paid the price asked.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

While sugar syrups continue quiet, a fair business is still being done in corn syrups at 2½c. per lb. in bbls., 2⅝c. in ½-bbls., 2¾c. in kegs, $1.20 each for 3-gallon pails, and 90c. each for 2-gallon pails. Molasses is meeting with a moderate demand. Advices from New Orleans state that the offerings of low-grade molasses are liberal, but that buyers are not willing to pay the price asked. Cable advices from Barbadoes state that the offerings are light and prices unchanged.

TEAS.

Mail advices from London, under date of March 30, state that there was a further rise in the price of Indian teas, anything up to 9d. showing an appreciation of fully ½d. per lb. upon the previous week's rates. These same advice state, in regard to Ceylon teas, that hardly anything was obtainable in whole leaf under 8d., the market having advanced fully ½d. on all teas at nearly 10d. per lb. Medium brokens were also participating in the improved demand. The average price obtained for the week's sales were 9.66d. for Indian teas, against 7.50d. last year, and for Ceylon tea 9.30d., against 7.15d. same week in 1898. A cable received in Toronto this week states that the lowest price at which low-grade Indian and Ceylon teas were sold on the London market on Monday was 8¼d. to 8½d. These cable advices immediately imparted a stronger tone to the stocks held on spot. During the past week there has not, however, been as many transactions between brokers and wholesalers as there was from the fact that stocks held by the latter are now fairly large, and in view of this, together with the hope they have that the present high range of values on low-grade teas will not exist for a great while longer, has caused them to be less eager buyers. A letter, however, received from Colombo, states that there are no prospects of a fall in prices for some months to come. "With the prevailing drought," states this letter, "planters find difficulty in making up estimates, and, unless we get some rain, some experts predict another shortage this year." On the local market, there have been, during the past week, transactions in low-grade Indian and Ceylon teas at 16c. which cost 12½c. within the last month. At the prices prevailing in London it would cost something like 19 to 20c. to lay down the lowest-priced teas which are now selling on that market.

There is very little being done in Japan teas, either from spot stocks or for future delivery. Orders to duplicate business at 16½c. could not be entertained by shippers in Japan, on account of the latter being un-

There has been a little business done in China green teas on spot during the past week, but it does not amount to much. Seconds sold at from 14½ to 15c. and thirds at 11½ to 12c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS — Advices from the primary market show a continuance of an upward tendency in values. Locally, business is fair and prices unchanged. The New York market is advancing in sympathy with the advices from Greece.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The market is quiet and prices are nominally unchanged.

PRUNES—There is a good demand for this time of the year. Advices from the outside market report a continuance of the firmness which has been noted from time to time during the last few weeks.

GREEN FRUITS.

A general improvement in business is noted. The supply of Californian navels and Valencia oranges is being rapidly diminished, and these varieties are likely to continue scarce, as the navel crop is about exhausted and Valencias are arriving in Liverpool in a very wasty condition. An advance of 50c. is noted in large 420 Valencias. Navels are 25c. dearer. The orange now selling is the Californian Mediterranean sweet, which is arriving freely at moderate prices. Lemons are firm, and are moving excellently at unchanged prices. Danvers and red Weathersfield onions are practically done. New Egyptians are arriving in liberal quantities at $3 to $3.50 per sack. Pineapples are now offering in sufficient quantity to meet the demand at 15 to 20c. each ; the quality is very good. Cocoanuts are easy at $4 to $4.50. Bananas are coming in abundantly, with prices 25c. lower than last quotation. Stocks of winter apples are being steadily reduced at firm prices. Sweet potatoes are offered liberally. Cranberries are about done, and are in poor demand.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The bad roads caused a remarkable jump in the price of eggs on Friday and Saturday. Receipts were so light that on Saturday as high as 21c. was received. News of this caused a rush of supplies early this week, and stocks so accumulated that the price fell to 13c., which is the present value.

POTATOES—A firm feeling is still manifested. We quote : 80 to 82c. for cars on track, Toronto. The street market is firm at 90c. to $1 per bag.

BEANS — Medium grades are steady at 90c. to $1, and hand-picked are firm at $1.10 to $1.15.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES — There is little doing. Stocks are well cleaned up. Prices for dried are steady at 5c. at outside points. The jobbing price is nominally 5½ to 6c. A quiet jobbing trade in evaporated apples is noted at 9½ to 10c.

VEGETABLES—Spinach is 25c. cheaper. Winter radishes are done. Turnips have advanced 10 to 20c. Stocks of all small vegetables are coming in abundantly. We quote : Rhubarb, $1 to $1.25 ; greenhouse radishes, 40 to 50c. per dozen bunches; spinach, $1 to $1.25 per bush.; green onions, 15c. per doz. ; celery, 75c. to $1 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 30c. doz. bunches ; cabbage, per doz; $1 to $1.25 ; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz. bunches ; turnips, 35 to 50c. per bag ; beets, 50 to 60c. per bag ; parsnips, $1 to $1.20 per bag; carrots, 50 to 80c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.25 to $1.40 per bag; butter squash, $2 to $2.25 ; Hubbard squash, $2 to $2.25 ; red cabbage, 50 to 60c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of both dairy and creamery are increasing so materially that a decidedly easy feeling is manifested, and the price of all grades has fallen 1 to 2c. Creamery seems to be the most affected.

CHEESE—The market keeps firm at 11 to 11½c. The new cheese which arrived on the market last week was rapidly cleared off at 11c., and further shipments are expected this week. Several factories are already beginning to manufacture, so, receipts of new cheese may be expected to increase steadily from this out.

FISH.

All Manitoba fish, but a few whitefish, are done, as are also flounders, Trout is ½c. dearer. What whitefish come in are selling at 10c., an advance of 1c. We quote as follows : Manitoba fresh whitefish, 10c.; trout,

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 13, 1899.

THERE is a continued improvement in business. The finer weather was just what was wanted to start things. Markets continue favorable to business, though there are few changes to report. In tea there is an active demand, with cheaper grades scarce. The demand for Oolong is on the increase, and some direct business with Formosa has been done. In general business, blends hold the trade, each retailer having a private brand, which, with the many general brands, make a great and puzzling variety. Coffees show little change. This is but a fair market, though the imports of green coffees are on the increase. All grades of spice are firmly held. Ginger is, perhaps, a fraction easier. Tapioca is high. The lumber business, which is a most important feature of St. John trade, will soon be in full swing, and a good season is expected.

OIL—With the lumber mills soon to start on their season's work, there is increased activity in lubricating oils. The large bulk of the orders have already been booked, and shipping has begun, but will not be general till after the opening of navigation. Paint oils continue firm with active demand, this being the season of sale. Burning oils show but a quiet business with no change in price.

SALT—There is a steady business doing. Imports of coarse continue behind those of last season up to this time, that is in Liverpool coarse. This leaves stocks in importers' hands quite light. As a rule, shipments have arrived in good condition, but there is a risk, and it, in most cases, is such that insurance will not cover it, and one or two shipments have shown a loss in this way. Receipts of Canadian salt are good. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 38 to 40c.; English factory-filled, 80c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—While one or two packers are prepared to quote for fall delivery, the larger number are holding off. They look for a firm market. The stock will be well cleaned up and the far western demand will be large, the buyers being already in the field, so that packers feel they will lose nothing by waiting. In fruits, there is a better demand, as that put up by the housekeepers is getting exhausted. Prices are firm, particulary in peaches. There is an improved sale for meats. Tongues are high, and all lines tend upwards. The best retail trade sell largely American goods. In oysters, the outlook is for high prices, and the advance has tended to create a demand for the 8-oz. tin. In shredded codfish, the tins had begun to take the place of cartons, but the Customs have increased the duty and in other ways interfered with that style of package, so that the trade has gone back to the carton.

GREEN FRUITS—The sale is active. Oranges are firm, and in increased variety, bloods being added to the list. Valencias still have the big end of the demand. Lemons, owing to large arrivals at receiving points and a rather quiet demand, are somewhat lower. Apples are getting out of season, and while best stock will bring big figures, there is lower-priced fruit to be had. Bananas arrive more freely, but the increased demand keeps the price about even. A few cranberries are still offered. The West India boat brings a few pines and tomatoes.

DRIED FRUITS—The demand for Californian prunes is fair and prices are higher. At western points, figures continue to advance. The popular size, 90-100, are reported scarce. Some nice evaporated apricots and peaches are offered, but at high figures. Evaporated apples are a light stock with fair sale. Stocks in the west are very light and are quoted higher. In raisins, the sale is very dull. There are fair stocks held. Prices are lower than quotations received from holders of Californian raisins in the American cities warrant. Seeded have a fair sale with the demand for best grades. Currants show no change in price, and have but light sale. Figs are dull. Dates are firmly held. New Brazil nuts are quoted, and for first quotations are offered low. In onions, market is now supplied with Egyptian and there have been some arrivals

The Why of it.

There has been very little change in the value of genuine high-grade Java and Ceylon Coffees, notwithstanding the fact that there is such a large surplus of cheap, medium and low-grade South Americans offering under different names.

Well posted dealers know this, and that is why so many pay a premium for EXCELSIOR BLEND over other so-called best Brands. They know they are getting value for each cent in EXCELSIOR.

It is a perfect Blend of highest grades. There is of Bermudas. The latter have a ready sale.

SUGARS—The sale is large, but only in a general way, as market has not favored any big business other than regular trading. While there are both European and American sugars offered, and often at prices under standard grades as offered by local refinery, the latter continue to hold the business. Increased efforts are being made to place imported sugars. But it is uphill work, as everything favors the local product.

MOLASSES—There is a good steady business; market is well supplied with new goods in both Barbadoes and Porto Rico, though prices are still quite high. It is early to tell much about the ruling for the season, but in Porto Rico there is a feeling that values may be low, as the tendency is to increase the receipts in Canada, as Canadian vessels which take fish, etc., to the Island, and which used to take return cargoes to American ports, are not now allowed to do so. This causes them to bring return cargoes to Canadian ports, as they cannot afford to come back light, and the vessel owners, rather than lose the freight, would be satisfied with no other profit. In Barbadoes, prices are expected to hold quite firm. There have been further arrivals of New Orleans during the week. The quality was such that a ready sale was found. There is no sale for syrup.

PRODUCE—Dealers notice that buyers are demanding better butter, and shippers would do well to take note of this. Price is firm, with a little new beginning to be received. For off grades there is no sale. There is continued loss, owing to receipts of poor butter. In eggs, receipts have been light, and prices have held better than was expected. There is a steady sale. In cheese, the market shows no change. Factories are thinking now of the coming season. We are considerably later than those in Ontario.

FISH—This continues a very strong line. It is seldom prices rule as high for so long a time, and now that the season for the largest sale is over, lower values might be expected, but receipts have been so light prices are maintained. The only weak point is smoked herring. Pickled shad do not more than hold their own. It is difficult to push the sale. Fresh fish are scarce. A few halibut are still received. Next to salmon, they are considered the best fish we get. Haddies are high, but, with the warmer weather, there is less sale. But very few lobsters are received. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.85 to $4; medium, $3.75 to $3.85; pollock, $1.90 to $2; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.80 to $1.90 ½-bbl.; Canso, pickled, $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 5½ to 6c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $3.75 to $4 ½-bbl.; fall shad, $4.75 to $5 ½-bbl.; Shelburne, $3.75 per bbl.; Grand Manan herring, $3.70 to $3.80 per bbl.; quoddy, $3.50 per ½-bbl.; gaspereaux, $2 to $3 per 100; lobsters, small, 3½ to 4c.; do., large, 10 to 12c.; halibut, 10 to 12c.

PROVISIONS — There is but a fair sale for barrelled meats, and with the warmer weather smoked meats find less sale. Prices show little change. Beef tends higher. Lard keeps low.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — In flour, though there is a stronger feeling, prices as yet show no change; there is but a fair business doing. Feed is high, and but very few millers are offering. In oats and oatmeal, firm prices are held. Local prices have not advanced in proportion to millers' figures. Cornmeal is active sale at even figures. Barley is small stock, dealers being slow to pay the high prices asked by western holders. Split peas and blue peas have a light sale at full figures. Seeds are a fair sale, but as yet demand is less active than last season. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.65 to $4.75; best Ontario, $3.80 to $4; medium, $3.65 to $3.75; oatmeal, $3.90 to $4.00; cornmeal, $2.15; middlings, $20 to $21; bran, $17 to $18; oats, 38 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1.05 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $4 to $4.10; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, April 10, 1899.

TRADE, both retail and wholesale, continues to improve with continued fine weather. The week shows no startling developments in trade. Produce houses are generally getting their places in shape for the early summer rush of business.

The sudden rise in the price of meat has been a surprise to most householders. Last week, 5, 5½ and even 6c. per lb. was paid for good beef, live weight. This week, the retail price of all dressed meat has gone up from 2 to 3c. per lb. Porterhouse steak is now retailed at 18c. It has not been so high for years. Farmers who have fat stock for sale are in capital spirits. The sudden rise is due to a shortage of supply.

A new starch is now being offered on this market, which, after the manner of new things, claims to be better than all that went before. It is manufactured at Stanstead, Que. Some buyers here pronounce it of fine quality and a satisfactory article.

Sugar has risen about 10c. per hundred during the week, and is now quoted at 5¼c. for granulated.

SYRUP AND MOLASSES—Market steady and firm. No. 1 bright, 2¾c. per lb. Molasses is high and likely to remain so until new shipments are received. No. 1 Barbadoes is quoted at 41 and 48c. per gallon, according to package.

CANNED GOODS—Prices are without change. Market steady and very firm in all lines, and there is little likelihood of any ease in prices, and, in fact, they may go even a shade higher.

DRIED FRUITS—Currants are very cheap and are being offered freely, but there are few buyers. Raisins, on the other hand, are higher with a steady demand. Prunes are very firm and prices range from 4⅝c. upwards, according to size.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Market is quite bare, and the stocks of apricots are light. Buyers do not seem at all disposed to speculate, owing to high prices at the Coast. Cooking figs are very cheap, and the market is dull. Fancy table figs are out of the market almost entirely owing to high prices. Evaporated Pennsylvania red raspberries are a little higher. The demand is not large. Price, 18½c. per lb.

NUTS—Tarragona almonds have advanced, and are now quoted at 14c. This is the highest price reached for some time. Valencias and Jordans are about the same. Valencias, 30c.; Jordans, 40c. Peanuts (green), 8c.; large Brazil nuts, 11½c.; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Sicily filberts, 10c.

ROLLED OATS—A few cars of American goods have been offered, but I do not know of any being purchased. The price was slightly lower than that quoted by the Ogilvies. Ogilvies, $1.90 to $1.95. Pearl and pot barley and beans are held at last week's figures. Split peas are firm at $2.45. Potatoes are very scarce. They are worth 45 to 50c. per bushel in carlots on track and unsacked, and the indications are they will go as high as 75c.

BROOMS—The advance quoted on brooms two weeks ago is maintained, and present indications point to a still further advance. This advance is attributed to combination as well as to shortage in the raw material.

RICE—Japan rice is ⅛c. higher. Crystal Japan is quoted at 5c.. Rangoon, 4½c.; No. 1 China, 5½ to 5⅝c.; ground rice, 8c.

CANDIED PEELS—Citron, 17½c.; lemon, 12½c.; orange, 13½c.

CURED MEATS—Hams are plentiful, but sides and breakfast bacon are short. Hams, medium, 10¾c.; breakfast bellies, 11c.; backs, 10½c.; California hams, 8½c.; short clear, 7½ to 8c.

LARD—Pure lard, $1.50; compound, $1.35.

HONEY—Market is almost bare of comb haney, and the anticipations are higher prices than last year.

TOBACCO—There is considerable speculation as to the future price of tobacco, and the budget is being anxiously looked for those interested.

BUTTER—Practically all stocks of creamery butter are cleared up. There is a good demand for separator-made dairy butter which is quoted, jobbers to retailers, at 2[illegible] For choice fresh dairy, in rolls, tubs and crocks, jobbers get from 15 to 17c., but there is no demand for medium qualities. The British Columbia market is glutted and shipments are going east to Montreal and are netting very low figures indeed. The demand for dairy butter decreases while the demand for creamery constantly increases. The outlook is that dairy butter will run as low as 6 and 7c. this season.

CHEESE—Market very quiet, stocks are small, prices are 9½c. for large, 10c. for small. The outlook would indicate an increased production of cheese in the Province this season.

GREEN FRUITS—This market is quite active. Navel oranges are now $4.[illegible] Lemons remain unchanged at $4. Apples with the exception of Washingtons in boxes are almost out of the market. Very small lots of picked-over stock sell for $5.50 a $6 per barrel. Boxes are quoted at [illegible] Strawberries are in and are quoted at $7 per case of 2 doz. boxes; the consumption is limited. Fresh radishes, onions, lettuce and cress are in constant supply and the demand is good.

A small stock of new maple sugar has arrived from Ohio and is quoted at 12c.

PILOT MOUND OATMEAL MILLS

THE Manitoba correspondent of THE GROCER had the pleasure of visiting the Pilot Mound oatmeal mills last week. They have a capacity of 100 barrels in 24 hours, and turn out a remarkably fine quality of meal. The strictest attention is paid to every detail. In order to insure a full supply of choice oats the owners of the mills, Dow & Curry, have lately brought from Edmonton, Alberta, three carloads of a very fine "White Banner" oats which they are supplying to the farmers of the neighborhood for seed, at the retail price of 45c. per bushel. The mill is operated by a 40 horse-power engine, the firing being done entirely with oat hulls. The kiln is also run in the same way, and the hulls prove very satisfactory fuel.

In addition to rolled oats, standard and granulated oatmeal, this firm manufacture pearl and pot barley, and are now trying to induce the farmers about Pilot Mound to pay more attention to the growing of pure barley for this purpose.

The miller, Mr. Russell, told your correspondent that there was a greatly increased demand for standard oatmeal during the past year. This meal is being used for biscuits and gems, not for porridge.

A FORTUNE IN GOOD MANNERS.

A POOR curate saw a crowd of rough boys and men laughing and making fun of two aged spinsters dressed in antiquated costume. The ladies were embarrassed and did not dare enter the church. The curate pushed through the crowd, conducted them up the central aisle, and gave them choice seats, amid the titter of the congregation. These old ladies at their death left the gentle curate a large fortune, although strangers to him.

"Why did our friend never succeed in business?" asked a man returning to New York after years of absence. "He had sufficient capital, a thorough knowledge of his business, and exceptional shrewdness and sagacity." "He was sour and morose," was the reply. "He always suspected his employes of cheating him, and was discourteous to his customers. Hence, no man ever put good will or energy into work done for him, and his patrons went to shops where they were sure of civility."

Bad manners often neutralize even honesty, industry, and the greatest energy; while agreeable manners win in spite of other defects. Take two men, possessing equal advantages in every other respect; but let one be gentlemanly, kind, obliging, and conciliating, the other disobliging, rude, harsh, and insolent, and the one will become rich while the other will starve.

"Thank you, my dear; please call again," spoken to a little beggar-girl, who bought a pennyworth of snuff, proved a profitable advertisement and made Lundy Foote a millionaire.

Practice on the stage or lecture platform does not always eradicate shyness. David Garrick, the great actor, was once summoned to testify in court; and, though he had acted for thirty years with marked self-possession, he was so confused and embarrassed that the judge dismissed him. John B. Gough said that he could not rid himself of his early diffidence and shrinking from public notice. He said that he never went on the platform without fear and trembling, and would often be covered with cold perspiration.

There are many worthy people who are brave on the street, and would walk up to a cannon's mouth in battle, but who are cowards in the drawing-room, and dare not express an opinion in the social circle,—Pushing to the Front.

THINKS SUGAR CAN BE IMPROVED

Though the meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association on Monday evening did not adjourn till after eleven, the members remained for ten minutes or so after adjournment to shake hands and have a friendly talk. Among other topics of interest discussed was the letter which appeared in the last issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER, regarding the quality of low-grade soft sugar. The general censensus of opinion was aptly expressed by one member, an ex-president of the association: "That letter, and a few more like it would do a lot of good. It would have the same effect on the refiners of the sugar that those pickle articles had on some of the pickle men." And that low-grade sugar we are asked to sell can stand a great deal of improving.

Where Seal Brand Coffee is Roasted.

WE take it for granted that there is not a retail grocer in Canada but will acknowledge that the present system of roasting coffee by machinery, controlled by skillful workmen, offers superior advantages over the old methods, whether it be the primitive family skillet, or the small portable machines turned by hand, which some retailers use.

Bear in mind this fact, and it is a settled fact, that the most important condition necessary to the securing of a cup of good coffee, is the roasting of the bean properly, as the slightest variation from what is established as the correct roast will completely change the character of the drink.

The latest improved machine consists of a large revolving cylinder (encased in brick work) revolving regularly, and moved by steam power, underneath the cylinder being a coal fire. The entire surface of the cylinder being perforated with small holes allows the smoke and vapor to escape readily. Through the centre runs a right and left sheet-iron screw, which passes the coffee from end to end at same time of revolving.

This is a great improvement over the old-style plain cylinder, as the last improvement renders it impossible to turn out an uneven roast. Affixed to the cylinder is a flue which carries away the smoke and vapor during the roasting process. When sufficiently browned the coffee is immediately run off into a large square sheet-iron box with a wire screen bottom, termed a cooler. At an opening in the end of the cooler is fitted a powerful blower forcing cold air through the heated beans until they assume a condition which allows of their being handled.

The ordinary size of machines used have a holding capacity of 300 lbs., although 200 lbs. is the amount usually roasted at one time in each machine. The entire process of roasting, cooling, and emptying occupies a little less than one hour.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 13, 1899.

GROCERIES

THE wholesale grocery trade has furnished more interesting features this week, and, on the whole, a seasonable trade is doing, though, of course, the break-up in the country roads is interfering with the movement of trade, especially in this Province, in eastern Ontario and the Ottawa Valley. The most interesting fact of the week is the stronger feeling in sugar, refiners having advanced prices 10c. last week, after THE GROCER went to press. Demand has been fair since the rise. Syrups are unchanged, but cable offers of new Barbadoes molasses for import are 1c. lower than they were last week. Canned goods are much the same, the only sales of any magnitude being a few lots of lobsters. Dried fruit generally is featureless, while rice and spices are firmly held. Coffees and teas are steady.

SUGAR.

More activity is noted in sugar, and, since the advance of 10c. in prices by the local refiners on Friday last, the sugar market has exhibited more life, and a good business has been done, as the competition of United States refined sugar is felt less than it was a fortnight ago. In New York, the refiners marked up prices ⅛c. per lb., with the exception of one grade of yellow, while granulated is quoted in that market at $4.96 per 100 lb. net, and the demand is good. On spot, the inside price at the refineries for granulated is now $4.45 to $4.52, and yellows $3.85 to $4.25 per 100 lb. as to quality at factory. The raw markets continue firm all round. In London the market is cabled firmer with an increased demand for cane, Java being 1½d. higher, the quoted price being 12s. 3d., and fair refining ½d. higher at 11s. Beet is active and still advancing, present and next month delivery being quoted at 10s. 7½d. Raw is strong at New York, fair refining, 4 1-16c.; centrifugal 96 test, 4 9-16c., and molasses sugar, 3 5-16c.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change to note in syrups. Business is dull and prices are unaltered at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb. at the refinery.

MOLASSES.

The chief item of news in the molasses market has been the receipt of offers from the Islands at a decline of 1c., firm offers having been made of 11c. first cost at Barbadoes, and at this figure it is understood that some business was put through for import. In this market there seems to be ample stock to fill all requirements, and values range from 28 to 28½c. in round lots and 29 to 30c. in small quantities.

CANNED GOODS.

This market rules quiet, and no special feature is to report. Corn is quoted at 90 to 95c.; tomatoes, 90c., and peas, 85c, per dozen in good-sized lots. In canned lobsters, some further business is reported at firm prices, talls, $10 to $10.50; halves, $12.25 to $12.50, and flats, $10.75 to $11.35 per case. Salmon is dull and neglected. The only sockeye available here in any quantity are talls, and jobbers still offer them at $1.30 the dozen, while cohoes range from $1 to $1.10.

DRIED FRUITS.

Business is quiet in raisins, and values, as a rule, are unchanged. Supplies of off-stalk in some cases are not well assorted with jobbers, and they are in the market for some.

Advices from Patras in regard to currants are quite firm, and recently values have advanced from 1 to 2s., as to quality. Fine grades for the English market have been in great demand, and fully 2s. more have been obtained, while the lower grades of provincials have advanced 1s.

RICE.

Inquiry for rice is fair for the season, and the market maintains the firm tone already quoted. Prices are steady.

SPICES.

The pepper market continues very firm and most of the staple lines of spices are the same way. Values are firmly held.

COFFEE.

The coffee market continues quiet and without material change in values. Rio and Santos have changed hands, unroasted in round lots at 7 to 10c. as to grade, and inquiry for Maracaibo in 50 bag lots has been noted at 9½ to 10c.

TEAS.

All kinds of low-grade teas, especially Ceylons, Pingsueys and Congous are very firm in tone. Shipments of the latter have been made to New York, at prices ranging from 13 to 15c. In Japans trade has been put through at 12½ to 15½c. as to grade, while Ceylons have changed hands at 16 to 20c. A recent English report says: "Biddings on Tuesday were very excited, and there was very little in leaf to be bought even at 8d. per lb.; in fact, the advance from the previous week was even more pronounced than in the case of Indians, as lowest leaf was a further good ¼d. per lb. up. Just above common, prices ruled reasonable, and with quality better than usual at this time of the year, some of the 9d. per lb. Pekoes did not look any too dear. Broken Pekoes, too, were fairly reasonable, although often too thin for general requirements."

GREEN FRUITS.

The green fruit market has ruled quie lately. Oranges are about the best selling fruit on the market at present, and Valencias have again advanced 50c. per package. The lemon market is a good dea lower, prices having declined over 50c. pe box. Bananas are quiet and unchanged while pineapples are in more liberal suppl and rather easier at 15 to 30c. each.

APPLES.

In this market the local trade is quiet, bu prices are steady at $3.50 to $5 per bbl., a to grade.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—With extremely light receipts th egg market is very firm, and from 4 to 6c per dozen higher than it was last week, and unless the supply increases, still higher pric are expected. We quote values firm to-da at 20 to 22c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—With larger receipt of new syrup and sugar values have bee modified, as they are expected to increas still more, as the weather has been simpl perfect lately for a good flow of sap. A present we quote new syrup 60 to 65c., a to grade, and old stock 50 to 55c. Suga ranges from 7 to 7½c.

HONEY—In honey, business was quie and the market featureless. We quote White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 t 8½c.; dark, 6½ to 7c.; white extracted, 6 6½c., and dark, 5 to 5½c.

BEANS—The tone of the market for bea was steady and trade quiet. We quot Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel primes, 85 to 90c.

DRIED APPLES—There is little busine doing and prices are unchanged.

HOPS—Trade has been quiet in these, few lots of Ontario hops selling at 19c.

POTATOES—The firm feeling is retain in these, car lots selling at 72 to 75c. p bag, and smaller quantities at an advan of 2 to 5c. per bag on this range.

TALLOW—There has been some deman for tallow at 5 to 5½c. for refined in a sm way.

ONIONS—There is no change in thes good Canadian onions moving at $2.75 $3. New Egyption onions have been r ceived this week via New York, and th are selling at 2½ to 3c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS—Receipts of these a shrinking. Demand for small lots of froz stock is fair at $5 to $5.25, and fresh-kille $5.75 to $6 per 100 lb.

PROVISIONS.

There was no improvement in the dema for any line of provisions, in consequen the market is quiet and featureless. V

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN — The local grain market was featureless, on account of the continued slow demand, but the undertone was steady and prices show no change. Oats, ex store, were quoted at 34 to 34½c., and for May, afloat, at 35½ to 36c.; peas, ex store, at 72c., and May, afloat, 75c.; buckwheat, ex store, 57½ to 58c.

FLOUR—There was no change in the flour market. The demand for small lots was fair to fill actual wants. We quote as follows: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.05; strong bakers', $3.70 to $3.80.

MEAL—In meal, business was quiet and of a small jobbing character. Rolled oats sold at $3 60 to $3.65 per bbl.

FEED—The demand for feed continues fair and prices show no change. Ontario white wheat bran, in bulk, sold at $16 to $17, and shorts $17 to $19 per ton; Manitoba bran, $16; shorts, $18, and mouille, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

HAY—In baled hay, the feeling is steadier and rather more business is doing. We quote: No. 1, $6 to $6.50; No. 2 extra, $5 to $5.50; clover and clover mixture, $4 to $4.75 per ton.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

There was no change in the cheese market, the only sale recently consisting of a few hundred boxes, which realized full figures. For what remains, holders ask firm prices, and buyers have not yet manifested any willingness to meet their views. Nominally, the range is 11¼ to 11½c.

Butter continues heavy, and, with demand slow and receipts increasing, lower prices are predicted. An extreme bid to-day for fresh creamery was 18½c., and prices range down from that to 18c., according to the grade of the lot under negotiation. Dairy butter is neglected.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Refiners have marked up sugars 10c. per 100 lb. all round.

Lemons, under increased receipts, have declined 50c. per box.

Oranges have again advanced 50c. per package on last week's range.

Maple sugar and syrup have been modified in price, as predicted, under larger receipts.

Advices on currants to hand here this week exhibit a much firmer feeling.

Fresh eggs are very scarce here, and 4 to 6c. higher than last week, with a rising tendency.

' am also," he said, "aware that there was great decrease in the acreage of sugar ca in India between 1895 96 and 1896-97 ; t figures of 1897-98 have not yet reached m Great apprehension has been caused amo sugar growers in the Mauritius by the i creasing importation into India of bount fed sugar, but I do not know that a disastrous results have as yet been pr duced."

THE MERCHANT'S RATING.

By A. O. Kittredge, C.P.A.

THERE are many merchants, both large and small, whose credit ratings are not what they ought to be ; at least, they are not what the merchants think they should be. Investigation, however, shows that, in most cases, if not in all, the fault lies with the merchants themselves. One prime cause for the merchant's failure to secure the rating to which he believes he is entitled is the lack of information furnished with reference to his financial condition. Some merchants refuse all information whatever, upon the assumption, apparently, that their resources are so large as to make them independent of credit ratings. Such a position is extremely foolish. The world is prone to accept a man at its own valuation until such time as it has had the opportunity to demonstrate an error. Silence leaves the world to form its own opinion, and at this date it is very apt to conclude that because no statement is made there must be something to conceal. On the other hand, a statement frankly made and demonstrated to be correct carries opinion to the other extreme, and gives the merchant the full measure of credit to which he is justly entitled.

Several points are considered when ratings are established, in addition to capital for present worth. These include the broad questions of business integrity, of general business methods, and of habits with respect to payments. Of two men, equal in all other respects, one discounting his bills and the other habitually paying slowly, the first will have the better rating as to credit, even though the capital ratings of the two are essentially the same.

Merchants formerly bought their goods in person. They journeyed to the warehouse and factory to make selections, and thus came into direct contact with those of whom they asked credit. Now, purchases are made through intermediaries. The merchant's orders are given to traveling salesmen, or are forwarded by mail or telegraph. The merchant, then, should not overlook the fact that, in the changes which have been made in the methods of conducting business, changes also have necessarily been made in the methods of establishing credit or determining a rating. A signed statement to-day takes the place of the personal interview of a few years ago.

The great commercial agencies that make a business of ratings are only an instrumentality that modern business has found it necessary to employ in order to meet changing conditions. The merchant who does not have the rating to which he thinks he is entitled should commence to remedy the wrong by a careful study of the situation. In the end he will be quite willing to comply with the reasonable requirements of modern jobbers and manufacturers, some of which are here pointed out.

A BUSINESS CHANGE.

Mr. Robt. Kirkwood, of Sudbury, Ont., has recently purchased the stock of Kirkwood & McKinnon. Mr. Robt. Kirkwood is going to give up the dry goods and other branches connected with it and confine himself to wholesale and retail groceries, provisions, flour and feed. His place is well adapted for it. The warehouse is abou 50 x 120 feet. A side track from the rail way runs alongside of his storehouse.

INDIA'S SUGAR IMPORTS.

The subjoined facts and figures relating t exports and imports of Indian sugar hav an interest of their own at present, in vie of the proposed countervailing duty upo bounty-fed sugar entering our eastern d pendency. The imports into India of bee root sugar were quite insignificant up to th year 1889-90. In 1890-1 Germany sent i India 709,195 cwt. ; in 1895-6 and in 1896 the imports of sugar into India fro Germany, after having considerably d creased, were again between 700,000 an 800,000 cwt. From Austria 31,374 cwt. sugar were imported in 1890-1 ; the trad was insignificant in 1893-4 and the tw following years, but in 1896-7 it rose 115,514 cwt.

In the next year (1897-8) there was n doubt an immense development of th trade, and Germany and Auttria togethe sent into India nearly 2,150,000 cwt. ; b 1897-8 was altogether an abnormal yea It is pointed out in the Trade Report of th Government of India that the Indian pr duction of sugar had been affected by th draught, and that though there were e traordinarily large imports of refined sug the price of Indian refined sugar rose durin the year. Evidently it is impossible draw any safe conclusions from the figur of an abnormal year like 1897-8, nor ca sugar refiners reasonably complain of competition which merely prevented a ri of refined sugar to a famine price.- Commerce.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU . . . .

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

The Salt that doesn't Cake

The Salt that is made by the Vacuum Process is the salt that doesn't "cake"—Windsor Salt. See how each separate crystal sparkles—hold it to the sunlight—how clean, and white and dry it is. Sifted, purified, refined and re-refined. The crystals don't adhere in the finest salt there is or can be—Windsor Salt, for the table. Do your customers complain? Salt won't "run" easily from the salt shaker? The remedy is simple—plain—true. Windsor Salt won't "cake"—it runs easily. "A pleased customer" is the best advertisement you can have, you know.

Windsor Salt

Leading Wholesalers sell it.

The Windsor Salt Co., Limited, Windsor, Ont.

No argument is needed to sell Lazenby's Goods, Codou's Macaroni and Stephens' Pickles---their names are silent arguments themselves. That is what a name will do.

Lazenby's.

A name familiar to England's Nobility for over 100 years—"E. Lazenby & Son." Lazenby's Jelly Tablets are made from absolutely pure materials. The fruit, flower, wine and spice flavors are Nature's own. Thirteen different varieties —each one of the very highest quality. "Profitable to use—profitable to handle."

Jelly Tablets.

P. Codou's.

Another name that stands for all that's good in Macaroni—P. Codou. With that name on the package no argument is needed to sell it. Made only from real Russian wheat. Delicate, tender Macaroni.

Macaroni.

Stephens'.

Are you quite sure of the name when you buy Pickles in bulk? You may get them packed in something else besides Pure Malt Vinegar—unless you look for the name "Stephens." When you see that you get absolutely safe packing. The pickles are sound, crisp, piquant, always.

Pickles.

All of the above are sold by leading wholesalers.

In 25-lb. Jute Packages.

The Jute we use in our 25-pound packages (to meet the popular demand of the Trade) must be strong, soft and silky to the touch, and closely woven to assure its contents protection from dirt and leakage. But that is not all—each package is neatly printed, making it a very attractive shelf ornament for the store.

We pack our Split Peas, Pot Barley, Wheatlets and Wheat Farina in this way now—to meet the popular demand. And the demand increases right along, particularly among the smaller grocers. We believe in being "up to the times."

VOL. XIII. TORONTO AND MONTREAL, APRIL 21, 1899. NO. 16

TRAVELING MEN AS COLLECTORS.

(An address by L. T. Ford.)

THE traveling man represents the house to the country customer in all its departments. It may be usually conceded that he only acts as salesman, and all he has to do is to quote prices and take his order, but often there come up matters between the retailer and the jobber, or manufacturer, which need personal attention, and the retailer very naturally makes his complaint to the traveling man, as he is a personal acquaintance. He is called upon by the retailer and damages, as the traveling man can see the goods in the same place as the retailer, and from his personal acquaintance with his customer, he can settle such complaints to the satisfaction of the employer and customer. Quite often such settlements can be made more satisfactorily by the traveling man, as he can give them a personal investigation, whereas the jobber is usually at a loss to know what allowance would be equitable after reading the retailer's complaint. In many ways the salesman and customer cultivate each other's acquaintance until the customer looks to in all matters pertaining to his business with the house. If he gets behind with his account he confides more fully with the salesman, telling him he will buy in smaller quantities until his surplus stock is reduced and his account is reduced to a more satisfactory amount. As the traveling man attends to other matters arising between jobber and retailer, it becomes part of his business to look after the accounts for goods which he has sold. It perhaps requires more tact on the salesman's part to collect for merchandise sold than to make the sale. However, he can educate his trade to his manner of doing business, and in time the collecting becomes so much a to be transacted that it becomes an easy task. I have had traveling men tell me of different customers who, after the usual greeting, will say: "Well, Charley, you have my statement with you, let me get that settled; then I will see what I want." Such customers usually confine their trade to a few houses in which they have confidence, and the confidence reposed in the house is due to his favorable acquaintance with the salesman.

TO MAKE GOOD SHORTAGES

I believe it is policy, to bring the salesman into the credit office often and talk over different customers, and many times during such conversations opinions will be expressed by one or the other that will direct the credit man to care certain customers, or the salesman will take more particular notice of some customer to guard against the account getting in bad shape, for the salesman who endeavors to make a record strives to keep his bad accounts at the minimum.

As business methods change a demand for a different kind of commercial traveler is created, and a "has been" salesman is not usually wanted by the house seeking a new man.

THE TRAVELING MAN

that is demanded to-day is an all-round good business man, and it does not make so much difference whether or not he "stands in" with the boys, but has he the ability to attend to his business and the ambition to be everlastingly at it. Ability, ambition and honesty is what we want in men to represent us to our customers. I believe nearly every jobber in this city could use another man as salesman if they could find just the kind of man they want.

By the salesman attending to these different features of the jobber's business, he will take particular notice of any detrimental change in his customer's affairs that may come to his notice on his customary visits. On his entering his customer's store, he will bear in mind and how his account stands, so when buying goods the customer also knowing that the salesman carried his accounts in his pocket, will be cautious that he does not overreach his credit, especially if he is not prepared to pay bill due.

What I have said applies principally to jobbers whose accounts are small and who sell to a class of trade with limited capital. However, it often works well for the salesman to collect from some customers whose credit standing is good but for some reason they

NEGLECT THEIR ACCOUNTS.

To collect and do satisfactory work it is necessary that the salesman and the credit man act in harmony, so that the disposition of the salesman will be to carry out the will of the credit man regarding the collections.

I don't know that I should advocate that salesmen should carry statements and make a business of collecting their accounts for houses whose business is in large accounts; however, if the jobber could get the right kind of a salesman to represent him, it might prove to his advantage at many times.

I have not attempted to cover the subject in these few remarks, but simply gave you a few ideas that came to me.—The Lawyer and Credit Man.

EARLY CLOSING IN LONDON.

A MEETING of the Retail Grocers' Association, of London, Ont., was held on the 11th inst., the president, Mr. R. A. Jones, in the chair, and there was a larger attendance of members than usual, due probably to the early closing movement.

After routine business, Mr. T. A. Rowat reported on behalf of the committee on that the committee had cards printed and distributed among the grocers who were willing to close. The secretary did the distributing, and he thought the outlook very encouraging for the movement being a success. Some few are reported as not being in favor of closing, but he felt certain that if those in favor of the movement will continue closing their stores for a while, the few who are now keeping open will soon fall into line. On motion, the report was received.

The secretary reported communications from other associations regarding

TRADE DISCOUNTS.

The communications were read and found to be in hearty sympathy with the views of this association, and promising support in any movement towards obtaining better arrangements with the wholesale trade.

The secretary reported that a committee of the Ministerial Association requested that a deputation from their association be permitted to address this meeting on the early closing movement, and on motion the request was granted.

GROCERS' OUTING.

Messrs. J. C. Trebilcock, F. Harley, J. McGlade, President Jones, Vice-President Cullis and T. A. Rowat, were named as a committee to formulate plans for the grocers' outing and report at next meeting of the association.

The secretary was instructed to communicate with other associations, asking them to renew the request from Parliament for an amendment to the Garnishee Act.

The deputation from The Ministerial Association were reported in waiting, and were cordially received.

Rev. Dr. Saunders was introduced, and thanked the association for the privilege extended the deputation. He said he was pleased to note the effort being made for the earlier closing of stores. The had addressed their congregations on the question at different times, requesting them to, as far as possible, do their purchasing on other days than Saturday, and, if on Saturday, early in the day. The employers of labor had been interviewed and had agreed to pay their employes not later than Friday evening, and many of them propose to make Monday or Thursday pay day. Pamphlets had been placed in the hands of the citizens, requesting coopera- in the early-closing movement, and it was felt by many that some more definite plan should be adopted. It was, therefore, proposed to circulate petitions for signature of the different lines of trade requesting the city council to pass a by-law for a stated hour for closing all places of business on Saturday evenings. He would like to see the members of this association support the movement.

Rev. W. M. Walker said the ministers of the city did not wish to interfere with the business of the merchants, but the early closing movement had been advocated from the pulpit and by the press for several years past, with only partial success. Many of the merchants and very many of the citizens were of the movement, and considerable improvement had been made, but there were always a few who will not fall into line, and it appeared to be a pity that many should be, to a certain extent, deprived of their just privileges by a few, who, on som trifling excuse, will keep their places business open, and thereby cause nearb tradesmen to become unsettled and to begi to keep open a little later each evenin until, in a short time, all were back to th old time again. An early closing by-la would not interfere with those in favor early closing; and, if the large majorit were found to be in favor of closing, th others should be willing to fall into lin Such a by-law was reported to be workin very satisfactorily in other cities, and wh not in this city? He asked the members the Grocers' Association to give the que tion careful consideration, and hoped f their support in the movement.

The deputation retired and the membe discussed the question for some time, bu the hour being late, the question was final laid over until next meeting.

The early closing of grocery store recently started, was reported as being ve generally observed, with the exception an odd store in different parts of the city and a very large majority of the groce being strongly in favor of closing, it is fe that those who are waiting to see how th movement will succeed before they clo will soon fall into line.

The meeting adjourned.

TRADE WITH JAPAN.

T NOSSE, consul-general for Japan at Chicago, was in Ottawa this week on business with the Government. Mr. Nosse was formerly Japanese consul at Vancouver, but, about a year ago, he was given a more extended territory, embracing fifteen States of the Union, and all that portion of the Dominion lying east of Winnipeg, with headquarters at Chicago. At present, there is no consul-general resident in Canada, but it is said that when the Japanese Diet meets next November, a sum will be voted for the establishment of a consulate at Montreal, and Mr. Nosse will, most probably, be the first consul-general to Canada from Japan.

Mr. Nosse is very sanguine that the anti-Japanese legislation passed by British Columbia last year will be disallowed, although only two months remain within which the Government can take action. This is one of the subjects that he will discuss with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Mr. Mills and others.

In conversation with your correspondent, Mr. Nosse expressed his appreciation of the way in which Canadian newspapers, irrespective of party, have condemned the action of the British Columbia Legislature.

"The interests of two great nations, Great Britain and Japan," he said, "are too closely entwined in the Far East to be jeopardized by the action of a Provincial Government of Canada. I have every reason to know that my country desires to be on the most friendly terms with Great Britain. Japan has done much in recent years to show her anxiety to take her place with the leading nations of the earth. We have sent our young men to England, and to the United States to learn all that you can teach us in the way of government, the development of arts and manufactures, the improvement of our railroads, our steamships, etc., and we pay to your Motherland a compliment offered to no other country, by printing our official publications in English as well as Japanese. I am glad to know that your statesmen realize that the interests of these two great countries are far more important than petty harrassing legislation, which, while it would not particularly benefit British Columbia, is certainly annoying to us."

During the past few years, since the institution of the Canadian Pacific Railway's Empress line, there has been a steady growth of trade between Japan and Canada, and it would be regrettable if this trade were injured in any way.

"Has your visit to Ottawa anything to do with the suggested imposition of a du upon tea?" asked your correspondent.

"Well," replied Mr. Nosse, "I kn nothing of such a contemplated duty exce what I have seen in your newspapers. course, I realize that this is a matter your Government and Parliament, b personally, I should be sorry to see a action taken which might hamper tra between my country and yours. I ha every reason to believe that the agitation favor of a duty on tea is fostered by fir handling Indian and Ceylon teas, as, witl duty placed upon tea, they would get British and colonial preference of 25 per ce They are shrewd enough to see this, and looks very much as if the inspiration of th gentlemen has led to the newspapers taki hold of the matter. In referring to the s ject, the alleged excuse is put forth that teas of China and Japan are impure. So as the China teas are concerned, I h nothing to say; the Chinese can attend their own affairs, but, as regards Japan t I give a most emphatic denial to any re that impure teas leave Japan. The Gove ment of Japan has, after consultation v the great tea associations of my coun instituted a system of inspection before tea is allowed to be exported. So tha any person attempts to adulterate the duct he is immediately caught. This policy was adopted for the purpose of maintaining the high reputation of Japan tea and it has been most successful.

"I think, however, that this fact is not generally known, and it may, therefore, interest your readers. I may mention that last year in the city of Chicago, which is a large importer of Japan teas, not one single chest of tea was condemned as being impure, this bearing out what I have just said. Reverting for a moment to the suggestion of a duty upon tea by Canada, let me call you attention to this peculiar fact, I understand the principle of taxation in any country is to apply it equitably; it is hardly possible to do this in Canada as regards tea. The Provinces of Ontario and Quebec are large consumers of Japan tea, indeed, these two Provinces take 90 per cent. of the total amount imported into Canada. If, therefore, your Government should unfortunately decide to impose a duty upon tea it will have the effect of making these two Provinces pay 25 per cent. more than the other Provinces, which consume black tea chiefly coming from India and Ceylon. That is a point which is well worthy of consideration by your Parliament."

THE WORLD'S COFFEE TRADE.

Vice-Consul Julian Haugwitz, of Santos, Brazil, in a report to the State Department, says:

"The history of coffee export from Brazil begins at Rio in the year 1817, when 63,986 bags were shipped. In 1832 the figures stood at 478,950 bags; in 1840, 1,000,000 bags was reached; in 1851, the figures exceeded 2,000,000 bags, and kept at that average until 1875, when exports amounted to over 3,000,000 bags. In 1881 the highest mark was attained, at 4,377,418 bags. In later years the number began to decline, owing to the exhaustion of the productive power of the trees in the old districts. At Santos the records go back to 1850, when nearly 100,000 bags left this port. In 1871 the exports had grown to 500,000 bags; in 1877 to 1,000,000 bags; they increased in 1884 to 2,000,000 bags; in 1890 to 3,000,000 bags; in 1894 to 4,000,000 bags; in 1896 to 5,000,000 bags; in 1897-98 to 6,000,000 bags; near which figure production in this district is likely to maintain itself as long as the present economic conditions prevail, although the area available for coffee planting in this State is practically inexhaustible, and no soil more appropriate for the purpose exists in the world.

"For 1898-99 the Rio and Santos crops are estimated at 8,500,000 bags, and the visible supply, meaning the stocks in Rio, Santos, afloat, and in the public warehouses in Europe and the United States, had increased to 6,576,000 bags on January 1, 1899. The enormously heavy deliveries of the last year are, no doubt, to be accounted for by reason of the present low price of coffee, which latter is again a consequence of the extended Brazilian production. In the United States the deliveries of Brazilian coffee were in the following proportions:

Year.	Brazil. Bags.	Other kinds. Bags.	Total. Bags.
1892-93.....	8,392,492	1,006,057	4,398,549
1893-94.....	3,160,717	1,138,128	4,298,845
1894-95.....	3,167,840	1,228,106	4,395,946
1895-96.....	3,142,140	1,196,988	4,339,128
1896-97.....	3,989,057	1,099,537	5,088,594
1897-98.....	5,085,705	1,251,631	6,337,336
1898-99(6 mo.)	2,002,757	430,357	2,433,114

"The leading position of the United States as a coffee-using country—consuming now over 40 per cent. of all the coffee disposed of in the world—should make its commercial friendship a valuable desideratum to all sellers of this product and entitle it to corresponding trade concessions from the latter. This proposition applies with particular force at the present time of overproduction, when the buyer holds the balance of power, and any additional onus in the shape of taxes would have to be borne by the producer."

CAN RELAILERS DO A CASH TRADE?

ANOTHER LETTER ON THE SUBJECT.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER, — I was pleased to read several letters on the cash system from brother grocers. I feel pleased to think that so deep an interest is being taken by merchants nowadays in matters of vital importance in our trade, which is our means of making a livelihood, a very important matter, I tell you—in these days of close competition.

Kingston grocers, up to two years ago, enjoyed the absence of such things as cutting prices, trading stamps, cash coupons, etc. Good, honest trade was done. Good, honest, pure goods were dispensed ; but, alas ! now, articles that we used to enjoy a good profit on are given away in the crazy desire of some to grab all, and ruin brothers in trade.

It is not the owners of large stores that do the cutting, not men who have been brought up to know what business means, but men who have had little experience. They get a store, and think that by cutting such articles as tobacco, sausages, coffee, cocoa, etc., down to cost price, that they will bring all men unto them.

If merchants would not follow them, but simply ignore them, it would be better, for they would soon come to know that they were simply digging their own graves.

The world has often been visited by plagues, pestilence, and famine, so, the commercial world is suffering from the coupon, trading stamp, and similar schemes.

The merchants are simply robbed of their hard earnings.

Imagine a grocer selling a family flour costing him $1.85 for $2 per cwt., keeping clerks, drivers, and feeding horses to deliver the same ! Imagine how he feels when he puts 5c. into his pocket and hands over the other 10c. to the coupon people, who do not work very hard ! But, like other plagues, it is to be hoped it will soon die out, and be a lasting lesson to merchants.

Your good paper sent out its warning appeals, tried to vaccinate us, but we disobeyed, and we humbly acknowledge we have done wrong.

The Kingston grocers will have to form their association again, for, when it was in existence, good work was accomplished, grocers were friendly to one another, which means better times in the trade.

The merchants here have given the trading stamps, coupons, etc., a good trial, and are heartily sick of them. The trading stamp people have been given, up to this week, nearly $7,000, and they are but a few months here, and the value they have given I need not mention.

Barnum used to say people liked to be humbugged, and they are getting it in fine style.

Yours, etc.,

J. GILBERT.

Kingston, April 14, 1899.

P.S.—I regret saying that I am handling trading stamps, but am anxious for my time to expire. J. G.

DRESS IS NOT BRAINS.

Generally shyness comes from a person thinking too much about himself—which in itself is a breach of good breeding—and wondering what other people think about him.

Beauty in dress is a good thing, rail at it who may ; but it is a lower beauty, for which a higher beauty should not be sacrificed. They love dress too much who give it their first thought, their best time, or all their money ; who for it neglect the culture of the mind or heart, or the claims of others on their services ; who care more for dress than for their character ; who are troubled more by an unfashionable garment than by a neglected duty.

When Ezekiel Whitman, a prominent lawyer and graduate of Harvard, was elected to the Massachusetts Legislature, he came to Boston from his farm in countryman's dress, and went to a hotel in Boston. He went into the parlor and sat down, when he overheard a remark between some ladies and gentlemen. "Ah, here comes a real homespun countryman. Here's fun." They asked him all sorts of queer questions, tending to throw ridicule upon him, when he arose and said : "Ladies and gentlemen, permit me to wish you health and happiness, and may you grow better and wiser in advancing years, bearing in mind that outward appearances are deceitful. You mistook me, from my dress, for a country booby ; while I, from the same superficial cause, thought you were ladies and gentlemen. The mistake has been mutual." Just then Governor Caleb Strong entered and called to Mr. Whitman, who, turning to the dumbfounded company, said : "I wish you a very good evening." Dress, like wealth, is a power, but we must not be its slaves.—Pushing to the Front.

THE CURRANT SITUATION.

IN its review of the currant situation, The Produce Markets' Review of April 8, says: "In spite of the Easter holidays there has been a heavy week's business in currants, and a further advance in the price of medium and better qualities. So far as Provincial are concerned the London market remains unchanged, the supply having been supplemented by the arrival of a cargo, the greater portion of which had been already purchased by the trade at prices much lower than those now asked in Greece.

"The higher level of prices in Greece is to be accounted for in two ways. Firstly, the lowest sales made from that country were probably not warranted except by the expectation of holders that a decline would take place from the then existing level. Secondly, these expectations were not verified, on account of a good general demand springing up somewhat suddenly, thus encouraging the pretensions of holders of actual fruit, and at the same time forcing the hands of speculators for the fall. The present prospects of the growing crop also continue to be of such a character as to discourage the expectation of any immediate decline in the price of Provincial fruit, whatever may result from ultimate developments. When the position of the better kinds of fruit comes to be considered, the circumstances are very different. The visible supply of these would seem to be inadequate for requirements; unless, indeed, it can be supplemented from the stock of the finer parcels of Provincial and Amalias, which recent shipments would indicate as still being fairly plentiful in Greece. Contrary to ordinary expectation and experience, there also apparently remains there a certain quantity of Guelph and Vostizza fruit.

"Even taking all these circumstances into consideration, it would appear that some advance on the prices of a week or two ago might be warranted, and, indeed, expected, as the season became further advanced. Whether this tendency is or is not carried too far by the heavy speculative business of the past fortnight only time can show. There has already been a substantial advance, and if the speculators are to realize a profit, as they naturally expect to do, a further rise must, of course, take place. In the healthiest of markets, however, expectations based on speculative operations are often seen to be unfulfilled, and it would probably have been in the long run more satisfactory and profitable for all branches of the trade if this element had remained absent.

"In the present case, there is another circumstance of some importance to chronicle, and that is, that ordinary trade buyers have all along been able to supply their somewhat modest actual requirements at lower prices than the bolder operators, for the wise have shown themselves willing to pay, thus reversing the ordinary commercial experience, in which large buyers generally obtain some concession in price by way of discount on the magnitude of their transactions. If the impression should gain ground in the trade generally that prices have become unduly or too rapidly inflated, a great part of the advantage of a moderate supply and a really sound actual basis for the future may possibly become lost."

THE PRESERVATION OF MILK.

A process now coming into use in London for the better preservation of milk has oxygen and carbonic acid gas for its basis. The milk, as soon as possible after it comes from the cow, is put into self-closing bottles, such as are used for aerated waters, and is subjected for a fraction of a minute, whilst in a special machine, to the action of a mixture of the above gases at a pressure of several atmospheres. In the first instance, the bottles are completely filled, but, on being removed from the machine, they are left with a small space containing gas, whose pressure serves to retain the stoppers in place. This treatment has the effect of preserving the milk fresh for a considerable time, some samples being found to be quite sweet when examined 50 or 60 days after boing bottled. Indeed, the contents of the bottles, after they had been opened, seem to remain sweet for a longer time than ordinary untreated milk. Thus, in one experiment, in which portions of new milk and preserved milk were placed side by side, the former went sour in three days, while the latter was fresh at the end of nine. The milk does not undergo any visible change, and no alteration is apparent in its flavor, though whether any more subtle changes are produced in its character or composition under the influence of the oxygen is a point that does not seem, as yet, to have been definitely determined. The inventor also considers that the treatment probably destroys all harmful bacilli, but that, too, is a proposition which requires some further proof. Neither oxygen nor carbonic acid is fatal to all forms of bacterial life; the bacillus of typhoid fever, for example, has been found to grow in an atmosphere of the latter, as well as in the air, and there are species which will not grow in pure carbonic acid, yet flourish in a mixture of the two gases.—Commerce.

The "Salada" Tea Company state they have now over one thousand grocers selling "Salada" in the city of Pittsburg, and it has been largely brought about by the efforts of Mr. H. W. Bender, who is manager of that branch.

PROPOSED PEANUT TRUST.

THE present scheme to unite the southern peanut factories into a trust, with a capital of $5,000,000, seems very likely to go through, according to The Grocery World. The backers of the Trust have options on most of the Virginia peanut factories until May 15, and are using the interval before that time to examine the books of each concern in order to fix its proper value. The Trust, if it succeeds, will be known as The American Edible Nut Co., and claims to be able, granting that its present plans go through, to control the peanut market of the whole United States. The bulk of the peanuts sold in this country is grown and prepared for market in North Carolina and Virginia, and it is said that the growers of both States are anxious to go into the scheme. Other factories are located in Ohio and Indiana, and options have already been secured on these.

The Peanut Trust has the same object as all such combinations—increasing profit. There has been a great deal of cutting in the price of peanuts for several years, and to stop this, the attempt to form a trust has been made several times. It has always been unsuccessful, however, because of the defection of some of the growers.

The Cowan Co., Limited, owing to its large increase in business was compelled to remove to larger premises, and has taken the ground floor of No. 454 St. Paul street, Montreal. This building has an entrance both from St. Paul and St. Nicholas streets. It has been thoroughly renovated and a bright roomy office built. The company now has sufficient room for a good display of its many lines, and being so centrally situated will undoubtedly find this a great improvement over the old premises. The Montreal branch is under the management of Herbert L. Cowan, who has suceeded in establishing a good trade for the company's goods. Cowan's chocolates and cocoas are fast winning their way to public favor. The company also manufactures a high grade of icing for cakes and pastry, which is always in good demand.

Mr. Cowan is busy just now getting his new premises in order to receive his customers. He informed THE CANADIAN GROCER that business this spring had been good.

AN ANTI-TRADING STAMP BILL.

THERE is a bill before the New York State Assembly, at Albany, prohibiting the use of trading stamps, and one day last week the committee to whom the bill has been referred for consideration gave a hearing to those in favor and to those opposed to it.

Among those present in favor of the bill and against trading stamps were the members of the Merchants' Legislative League of the State of New York, which is composed of merchants of Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica and other cities.

One of the merchants said he was a member of a big dry goods firm and a representative of 27 firms which have used trading stamps. He also represented merchants from several other towns. All of them had used trading stamps and all of them believed that the trading stamp promoted illegitimate competition in business.

One of the Assemblymen appeared as the champion of the trading stamp companies. The bill in question he declared to be an attempt at class legislation, and averred there was no practical difference between handing out trading stamps and the placing of coupons in soap and other packages.

What the Assemblyman said by way of comparison in regard to trading stamps and soap coupons may be true enough, but that is no argument in favor of trading stamps. Two wrongs can never make a right.

FUTURE OUTLOOK ON TEA.

THOUGH it has not as yet led to any great speculative demand, there is considerable speculation as to the effect on the tea markets of the new United States standards which go in force on May 1 next.

The new standards, according to leading authorities in the trade, will admit a grade of tea into the United States that was barred out by the old standards. For this reason holders of teas running from 15c. down have expectations that there will be a demand for stock of this description now held in first hands in Canada.

As the Canadian reserve consists almost chiefly of teas running from 16c. down to 13c., and is comparitively limited, the prediction is made that if this demand is experienced, the price of these medium and low-grade goods will almost certainly advance. Accordingly, many holders are not disposed to urge business until after May 1, when the exact effect of the change in the American standards can be more accurately gauged.

The tone, therefore, is quite firm for all kinds of low-grade tea, Pingsueys, Congous, Ceylons, and Japans, and it may be remarked that the first named are scarce, indeed and never sold as cheap as they did during the past season. In fact, in a number of instances, sales were made in Montreal, at prices which did not begin to cover the first cost.

Recent shipments to New York from Montreal, have comprised some 2,000 odd packages of Congous.

Another feature in the same connection has been the demand for gunpowders experienced in Montreal from the same market, sales of several good-sized lots, aggregating 1,000 packages, being made at an advance of 3c. per lb. over the price the same goods sold for a short time ago, which was about 14c.

Reports from Ceylon also have been quite bullish lately, recent estimates reducing the Ceylon output for March several million lb., against last year's actual export of 9,500,000 lb., and the consequence has been a rise in Indian and Ceylon leaf of ¼ d. per lb.

More recently, the Ceylon estimate has again been reduced to six and a half million pounds for March on account of bad weather.

With a shortage in China and India, this reduction in the Ceylon possible supply becomes a serious consideration, and is expected to have an important bearing on prices. Possibly, this condition has something to do with the inquiry experienced in Montreal and New York lately from London for Ceylon teas.

FLUCTUATION IN MOLASSES.

THE fluctuation in the molasses market continues, recent advices noting another change at Barbadoes, the alteration this time coming in the shape of an advance of 1¼c. in the first cost, to 12¼c.

Since this intelligence was received, business in a large way at Montreal has been more active, and it is claimed that the bulk of the stock held in first hands at Montreal has been bought up. One lot, consisting of 500 puncheons and 50 tierces Barbadoes, was sold at 28½c., and another lot of 150 puncheons at 28½c.

Owing to the scarcity of low-grade cane sugars in the United States and Canada, sugar refiners are holding down molasses, and a sale of a cargo of 1,000 puncheons Antigua was made recently to one of the Montreal refineries at a price equal to 26c. laid down.

Private cables this week from Barbadoes state that inquiry is increasing faster than the receipts, and that prices are likely to advance, unless offerings become more ample.

Late mail advices from Antigua state that supplies are impossible to get at present, and planters will not sell ahead. A private cable received from Barbadoes says: "Cannot make firm offer, but think might secure a cargo at 21¾c. per gal. f.o.b. Market has advanced. Supplies not equal to the demand." It was reported also that a Montreal speculator recently bought a cargo of Antigua molasses and turned it over at a handsome profit.

A YEAR'S GROCERY IMPORTS FROM GREAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES.

THE Trade and Navigation Returns for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898, issued a few weeks ago, enables a comparison to be made of the imports of groceries into Canada during that period from Great Britain and the United States.

On account of the existence of the preferential tariff, giving a rebate of one-eighth of the regular duty, the comparison is all the more interesting. The fact that the figures are some ten months old takes somewhat from the interest that surrounds them, but there is still probably enough interest left to warrant the subject being dealt with. It is unfortunate, however, that the returns are issued so late year after year.

For the purpose of comparison we have selected over 90 different items, and while they do not comprise the whole of the list appertaining to groceries, they do nearly so.

The total imports from Great Britain in the items enumerated were $2,869,271. This was a decrease of $137,283, or 4.56 per cent. compared with the previous year. This was more than accounted for by the decrease in the free imports, the decline in which was $544,360, or 34.54 per cent. The dutiable imports increased by $317,077, or 20.72 per cent.

From the United States the total imports were $2,821,415, or but $47,856 less than those from Great Britain. In 1897 the figures were $2,657,887, or 6.36 per cent. less than in 1898. The increase was altogether due to the enlarged imports of dutiable goods, which gained $185,182, or 7.17 per cent. In free goods there was a decrease of over 28.40 per cent.

The following table shows at a glance the relative totals of the two countries:

		Great Britain.	United States.
Dutiable goods,	1898.....	$1,867,815	$2,766,8
" "	1897.....	1,530,738	2 581,6
Free goods,	1898.....	1,001,456	54.5
" "	1897.....	1,475,816	76,2

It will be noticed that the dutiable imports from the United States were in 189 nearly $900,000 larger than those fro Great Britain, compared with $1,000,000 1897. Another feature is that the free imports from Great Britain in 1897 we slightly in excess of the dutiable imports t same year.

The list in detail is given below.

In the nearly ninety lines enumerated the dutiable list, 57 show an increase British account and 64 on United States account. Taking, however, the percentage of increase in dutiable goods, those from Great Britain show the largest gain, being, as already pointed out, 20.72 per cent. against 7.17 per cent. for the States.

The chief increases are in rice, refined sugar, raw sugar, whiskey, these items alone accounting for an increase of over $269,363 out of a total of $317,077.

When the preferential tariff was brought down, THE CANADIAN GROCER ventured the opinion that the rebate of one-eighth in the tariff in favor of British goods was not likely to materially assist in the importation of British goods, being too small to exercise much influence. Of course, whatever influence it did exert it naturally was in the direction of assisting British trade; but this paper is of opinion that the advertisement which the preferential tariff gave Canada did more to attract British goods to this country than the rebate in itself did. At any rate, the large increase in the importation of sugar and whiskey could not have been influenced by the rebate, for they were exempt from the operations of the preferential provisions. The reduction in the duty on refined sugar doubtless helped that commodity, but then the United States as well as Great Britain shared in that.

But whatever interest the one-eighth rebate may have had, it must be gratifying to British exporters of groceries that while the dutiable imports from the United States in the articles enumerated increased by 7.17 per cent., those from Great Britain appreciated by 20.72 per cent.

In tea and coffee Great Britain gets an advantage over the United States on the Canadian market which transcends that which accrued, at any rate, from the one-eighth preferential rate, for, while not a dollar's worth came in free from the United States, $748,205 worth came from Great Britain. This is due to the clause in the free list of the tariff which reads:

> Tea and green coffee imported direct from the country of growth and production, and tea and green coffee purchased in bond in the United Kingdom, provided there is satisfactory proof that the tea or coffee so purchased in bond is such as might be entered for home consumption in the United Kingdom.

The rebate of 25 per cent. of the duty went into operation exclusively on British goods, on August 1 last. That should help British goods, but to what extent can only be gathered after the returns for the fiscal year ending June 30 next are issued.

THE BANKS AND THE INSOLVENCY BILL.

A PROPOSED COMPROMISE.

THE chief opposing force during last year to the insolvency bills which have been submitted to Parliament was the banking institutions. And the chief cause of their complaint was that the bills did not allow them to enjoy double liability on negotiable paper in which insolvents were interested.

At the present session of the Dominion Parliament, a bill has again been introduced with a view to giving the country the long needed insolvency law, and with the view of securing the cooperation and not inciting the opposition of the banking fraternity, a compromise proposal will be submitted to the council of the Bankers' Association some time this month, on behalf of the board of trade.

This compromise proposes that where there is a negotiable instrument which has not matured, such as a promissory note, for example, held by the bank and for which the insolvent is only secondarily liable, the bank shall set a value upon the liability of the person primarily liable, who, of course, is the maker, and the difference between such value and the amount of the claim, shall, until the instrument matures, be the amount at which the claims shall be calculated for the purpose of voting at meetings and other purposes, except the payment of dividends thereon. After the maturity of the instrument the claim is to be calculated for all purposes at the full amount.

The proposal strikes us as being a most fair one. Whatever the financial standing of the maker of a negotiable instrument is, it is only fair to all parties concerned, and particularly to the creditors other than the bankers if his financial standing be A1, that his value should be taken into consideration. It is obviously unfair to the other creditors, outside the banks, that he should be accounted as if he were a man of straw in order that the banks may enjoy special and unwarranted privileges.

As it is, the boards of trade have, in their compromise, exhibited a most liberal spirit particularly in allowing the bank holding the negotiable paper to be the valuator of the person primarily liable thereon.

But, to secure an insolvency law, it is worth compromising as long as the concessions demanded are not too unreasonable.

SCEPTICS WITHOUT MUCH CAUSE.

When "Old Probs," as we are accustomed to call the meteorological service when personifying it, makes a miscalculation in his weather forecasts, most of us are ready to deride him and to make sceptical remarks as to his ability to foretell the weather. A table, however, which appears in the recently issued report of the Marine and Fisheries Department of the Dominion shows what little ground we have for being doubting Thomases.

The meteorological service of the Dominion is divided into 11 districts, and the return in question shows that the average percentage of the forecasts verified in all these during the year ending June 30 last, was not less than 82.5.

The district which showed the lowest percentage was Manitoba with 81.1, and that which showed the highest was the Ottawa Valley with 84.8.

It is evident we can put our trust in "Old Probs" with a no small degree of confidence after all.

STARCH IS LOWER.

The manufacturers of starch in Canada this week announce a decline in the price of certain kinds of starch.

Canada laundry starch, silver gloss crystals in kegs, No. 1 white, and rice starch in cartons are ¼c. per lb. lower.

In order to meet American competition, the manufacturers have been putting a special package of corn starch on the market without attaching their names to the same. The price of this has been reduced ½c. per lb.

The reductions are due to the recent competition of a new American starch on this market.

DECLINE IN EGYPTIAN ONIONS.

A cable received in Toronto this week announces a decline of 8d. per bag in the price of Egyptian onions. A good many onions are coming forward that were purchased at the higher prices.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

GROCERY QUOTATIONS BY WIRE.

Should readers of this journal desire to secure between regular issues, the quotations on any staple line, they will, on application, be furnished by return mail or by telegraph; if by the latter method, at the cost of the person seeking the information.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, April 20, 1899.

GROCERIES.

IN spite of the bad condition of the country roads, the local wholesale trade is fairly good. Orders individually are not very large, but business is really better than might be expected, on account of the adverse conditions already noted. The most active lines are tea, sugar, and canned goods, which are, of course, the three staple lines. The market for canned goods remains much as it was a week ago, unless it be that there is a little easier feeling in regard to corn, which has been offered at a lower figure by some holders. The wholesale price, however, is without change, and it is the general opinion that the slightly easier feeling is only of a temporary nature. Sugars are even stronger than they were a week ago, in sympathy with the outside markets, an advance of 5c. per 100 lb. having been made on Wednesday. The outside markets are, however, higher than they were a week ago. Syrups and molasses are quiet, butfirm. Coffees are also a little firmer. The tea market continues strong, although business in this line is not as brisk as it was. The currant market is cabled dearer in Greece, and Valencia raisins are higher in London, with a little more business being done here for importation. Prunes are also firm and in active demand. The principal change in prices during the week is a decline of ¼c. per lb. in the price of laundry and rice starch and of ½c. per lb. on 2-crown starch, put up to meet American competition, but not listed.

CANNED GOODS.

The feature of the week in this line is a rather easier feeling in regard to canned corn. It seems that one or two holders have been offering at lower figures than they have heretofore been willing to accept. For instance, we know of one holder, not a packer, who has been offering corn at slightly below 95c., for which he would not a short time ago accept less than $1. Corn has also been offered and sold lower in Montreal. Wholesalers, however, are firm in their figures to the retail trade at 95c. to $1 per dozen, and some of them claim to have paid $1 during the past week. It is a well-known fact that some of the wholesale houses are practically cleaned out of canned corn. The general opinion appears to be that the weakness, if such it can be called, is only of a temporary nature. At the same time, however, it is the general opinion that corn, if it goes any higher, will interfere with the consumption. In regard to canned tomatoes there is nothing new to report. The market appears to be steady at present figures, namely, 85 to 90c. to the retail trade. The demand for canned vegetables is steady, most orders coming in wanting an odd case or so.

The improved demand noticed during the past couple of weeks for canned fruits has been maintained. Canned salmon is just in moderate demand at unchanged prices. Of course, the season when the demand becomes active has yet to come, but so far the trade in this line has not been up to expectations.

Canned tomatoes are being offered for future delivery at from 70 to 75c. There was a transaction a week or so ago at a lower price than either of these, but there does not appear to be anyone now offering at the figure at which this particular transaction was consummated. Corn for future delivery has been offered to the trade at 70c. and peas at 60c.

COFFEES.

The coffee market during the past week has ruled steady to firm and local representatives of Brazil coffee houses report a little more inquiry for importation, although the inquiries so far do not appear to have led to much business. Stocks of green coffee on the local market are light, and this seems to be somewhat interfering with the business, but shipments are now arriving and prices remain much as before.

SUGARS.

The market during the past week has been a decidedly strong one. Cables from Europe have almost every day shown an advance in prices, and beet sugar is 1s. per cwt. dearer on the London market than it was two weeks ago, while cane during the same time has appreciated 6d. In New York, cane is 1-16 to ⅛c. higher, and refined, ⅛c. higher per lb. On the local market there is a decidedly firmer feeling, in sympathy with the outside markets. All the refineries advanced their prices on Wednesday morning 5c. per 100 lb. The local demand for sugar has rather improved during the past week, and a fairly good trade is being done. Stocks in all hands in Canada are light. One refinery, the St. Lawrence, which was shut down for some time is now only working under light pressure. The wholesale trade is experiencing a fairly good demand for sugar. The ruling price in Toronto for Montreal sugar is $4.63, and for Acadia the same figure is now quoted.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Sugar syrups are still somewhat neglected, while the demand for corn syrups continues good at the following prices: Barrels, 2½c. per lb.; half-barrels, 2⅝c.; kegs, 2¾c.; 3-gal. pails, $1.20; 2-gal. pails, 90c. The demand for molasses is quiet, but prices are firm. The prices from New Orleans show that receipts are small. The latest advices from Porto Rico report an advancing market, with offerings moderate.

STARCH.

A reduction of ¼c. per lb. is announced this week in the price of certain lines of laundry starches. "Canada Laundry" is now quoted at 4¼c., instead of 4½c.; "Silver Gloss," in kegs, 6c.; No. 1, white, 4½c.; No. 1 white rice starch, in 1-lb. cartons, 9c. There is a ½c. reduction in corn starch put up to compete with American starch, but not listed.

NUTS.

Mail advices state that the stock of Valencia shelled almonds is very much reduced, and that higher grades are out of stock altogether.

TEAS.

The market continues as strong as ever, In fact, on the local market if anything, the situation is stronger than it was a week ago. Stocks in first hands on spot are very light, and, on account of this, together with the fact that the London grade is about 2c. above the parity of this market, the business of the brokers, at the moment, is largely confined to selling lots between one wholesaler and another. The lowest priced Indian and Ceylon tea to be had on this market is about 16 to 16½c., while some holders have nothing below 17½c. The few that hold stocks on the local market are not at all disposed to sell, believing that they will eventually obtain still higher prices than those now ruling. It may be noted that the teas which can be obtained at 16 to 16½c. were, a short time ago, quoted at 13 to 13½c. Prices in low-grade teas on the London market are almost out of reach of the local trade. Spot teas showing good value are eagerly picked up. It is the general opinion among those in a position to speak that the present high range of values will obtain until at least next fall, while others do not look for any decline until December.

There are a few Japan teas offering, but there is not much business being done. Stocks that are being held in the country are being held at prices above buyers' views.

China green teas are somewhat neglected owing to the high price ruling on them. China black teas are strengthening in price, and Congous that cost 12½c. laid down here a short time ago could not now be obtained at less than 15½c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—A cable received in Toronto on Monday reported the market in Greece a little firmer. A fair business is being done by local brokers in currants for importation. It is said that this year there will be no spring steamer with currants via Montreal, calling at Patras. Early shipments are being made via New York. Local wholesalers are doing a fairly good trade in currants.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Mail advices from London state that the market is strong and that supplies are short. The stock there is now given at 345 tons, as against 984 tons last year. It may be noted that the price of Valencia raisins in London has advanced about 2s. since March last, and further advances are expected. On the local market there is some inquiry for spot goods, and a few transactions have taken place. The demand is chiefly for fine off-stalk and selected. On account of the firmness of the outside market, some of the local wholesalers are this week notifying their travelers that they will not accept old figures.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—The market is strong and advancing. There do not appear to be any peaches on the market at less than 17 to 17½c. per lb. These are, however, fancy stock. At the prices now ruling on the Coast, evaporated apricots could not be laid down here at less than 20 to 21c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

The warm weather is causing a large increase in the movement of lemons and bananas. Mediterranean sweets are about the only oranges that are arriving in liberal quantity, and the movement of these is large. The supply of bananas is sufficient for requirements. Lemons are offering so freely that a decline of 50c. is noted. Pineapples of fine quality are now plentiful at 15 to 20c. Sweet potatoes, cocoanuts and apples are plentiful and are moving well at steady prices. The demand for Egyptian and Bermuda onions is unusually large. The supply is abundant. Bermudas are selling at from $2 to $2.25 and the Egyptians at $3 to $3.25. Egyptian onions are cabled 8d. per bag lower.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The past week has witnessed a steady increase in receipts, and, although the demand is growing, stocks are accumulating, and prices are slow in falling. From 11½ to 12c. is now quoted, as compared with 13c. a week ago. Picklers commenced operations about April 1 last year, with eggs at from 10 to 12c. This year prices have ranged so much higher, until this week, that many have not yet begun to pickle.

POTATOES—A firm feeling continues, with prices unaltered. We quote at 80 to 82c for cars on track, Toronto. The street market is firm at 90c. to $1 per bag.

BEANS — Medium grades are steady at 90c. to $1, and hand-picked are firm at $1.10 to $1.15.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The dried apple market is dull, and, though stocks are light, the feeling is easy at 5c outside. The jobbing price is nominally 5½ to 6c. Evaporated apples are moving at 9¼ to 9½c. Toronto.

MAPLE PRODUCT—New maple syrup is now offering in liberal quantities. The indications point towards a short season, and prices are expected to rule firm. The demand is good. We quote: Imperial gallon tins, 90 to 95c.; do., more than five tins, 85 to 90c. per gal.; wine gallon tins 75 to 80c. Maple sugar is offering freely at 8½ to 9.

VEGETABLES—All stocks are coming in liberally. Green onions are 5c. per dozen cheaper. Carrots have declined 10 to 20c per bag. We quote: Rhubarb, $1 to $1.25; greenhouse radishes, 40 to 50c. per dozen bunches; spinach, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; green onions, 10 to 15c. per doz.; celery 75c. to $1 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 30c doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz bunches; turnips, 35 to 50c. per bag; beets

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—A decidedly easy feeling is manifested, and the decline of last week has been followed by another fall of 1½ to 2c. this week. Stocks of all kinds are accumulating.

CHEESE—The market keeps firm. What fodder cheese is coming in is held at 11c. Toronto, but there is not yet much offering. The demand for old cheese, consequently, has not been affected by receipts of the new.

FISH.

Split and fresh-water herring are practically done. The scarcity of fresh-water fish has not yet been relieved. We quote as follows: Manitoba fresh whitefish, 10c.; trout, 9c.; black bass, 8 to 9c.; steak cod, 7½c.; fresh herring, 4c. per lb.; St. John herring, $1.35 to $1.40 per 100; Labrador herring, $5.75 per bbl. and $3.25 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 9 to 10c. per box; Halifax herring, $1.50 to $1.65 per 100; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; boneless fish, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; boneless fish in 1-lb. blocks, 5½ to 6c.; ciscoes, 60c. to $1.25; haddies, 8 to 9c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 7c. per lb.; oysters, $1.15 to $1.25 per gallon, or $6.75 to $7 per large pail.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 20, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE unsettled state of the country roads, which has tended to restrict trade, has been modified during the past week, and the actual movement of merchandise has been increased, and the general tone of the grocery market is essentially a healthy one. Owing to the continued strength of raw sugar abroad, the price of the refined article is 5c. per 100 lb. dearer. Cables note a brisk market for tea in Great Britain, and there has been inquiry both here and in New York, on London account, for Ceylons. In green teas, good-sized lots have been withdrawn from this market for shipment to New York, also. In fact, firmness seems to be the general rule in all groceries, at the moment.

SUGAR.

The sugar market, locally, has maintained its firm tone, in sympathy with the strong position of outside markets. Still, the volume of trading has been light, but, within the past few days, demand has been more active, and, as the country roads improve, a better business is looked for. All reports agree that stocks at country points are small. Prices are 5c. per 100 lb. dearer. Cables from London state that the market for cane is steady, at 12s. 6d. for Java and 11s. 3d. for fair refining. Beet has been weaker lately, with business at lower prices, present month's delivery declining 1½d. to 10s. 9¾d., and next month 1¼d. to 10s. 9¾d.. In New York, raw sugar is strong; fair refining, 4⅛c. bid; centrifugal, 96 test, 4 9-16c. bid, and molasses sugar, 4c. bid. Refined is firm there also.

SYRUPS.

Demand for syrups is still slow, and business is very light. Prices are nominally unchanged at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

Aside from demand for importation and some business in this connection, there has been little to report in molasses, so far the jobbing demand is concerned. Cabl from primary sources are rather firmer tone lately, and first cost at the Islands h again advanced. Here, however, pric are unchanged at 28½ to 30c., as to th size of the lot.

CANNED GOODS.

A somewhat easier tendency has be noted in corn here lately, and round lots 500 and 1,000 cases have been offered at 90 per dozen. Tomatoes are quiet and stead figures ranging from 87½ to 90c., and pea 80 to 85c., these prices, of course, being f round lots. There is little or nothing report in salmon, while lobsters have met fair inquiry for future delivery, and ru steady as last quoted.

DRIED FRUITS.

According to mail advices received her a somewhat firmer feeling is noted in Sm tana raisins, and imports into Great Brita are 124,547 packages less than in 1898, the end of March. Currants are fi abroad, and the European demand reported to continue exceptionally bris The tone, accordingly, is firm. A few l of Valencia off stalk raisins have co forward lately and have been promp taken by local jobbers. Prices here a steady. The same remark applies to prun dates and figs.

which take place early next mouth. Carload lots of navel oranges have sold, during the week, at $1.95 for 216's. Valencias are selling at $5 to $5.50. Lemons are in about the same position as oranges, dealers forcing sales to make room for the large sales. Good sound stock range from $2.25 to $2.75 per box. Bananas are moving better, and, although receipts have been heavy, they have not been more than equal to the demand, firsts, $1.60 to $1.70, and seconds 85c. to $1.

APPLES.

Apples continue quiet, but firm, at $3 to $5 per bbl.

HONEY—The honey market was quiet and featureless. We quote as follows: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 8½c.; dark, 6½ to 7c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 5 to 5½c.

BEANS—In beans business was of a jobbing character and prices rule steady. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

DRIED APPLES—The market is steady at 5 to 6c. for dried, with stocks light, and evaporated, 8½ to 9c.

HOPS—Rule quiet and unchanged. a few lots of Ontario hops, last year's crop, selling at 19c.

POTATOES—Quiet, and rather easier at 68 to 70c. per bag, on track.

TALLOW—Keeps firm at 5 to 5½c. for refined, and 3 to 3½c. for rough.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for all lines of provisions is of a limited character, in consequence, the market was quiet and without new features. We quote: Canadian pork, in barrels, $15 to $15.50; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¾ to 7c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN — The grain market was without any new feature. The demand for all lines was slow, but the undertone was firm, and prices show no change. Sales of No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat were made at 71¼c. afloat Fort William, prompt delivery, but later, higher prices were asked. No. 2 white oats afloat May were quoted at 36 to 36¼c., and at points west of Toronto 31c. was paid. Peas sold in round lots at 74c. afloat May, and at points west 65c. was paid. Buckwheat was quiet at 58½c. ex store.

FLOUR—A few inquiries were received from foreign buyers for Manitoba grades of flour, but no actual business was done. The demand from local and country buyers is up to the average for the season, and prices rule about steady. We quote: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.05; strong bakers', $3.70 to $3.80.

MEAL—There was no improvement in the demand for rolled oats, and the market was quiet and steady at $3.60 to $3.65 per bbl.

FEED—In feed business continues active, in fact millers in some cases state the demand is so great that they are behindhand with their orders, in consequence, prices are firmly held. We quote: Ontario white wheat bran, in bulk, sold at $16 to $17, and shorts $17 to $19 per ton; Manitoba bran, $16; shorts, $18, and mouille, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese continues firm in tone, but prices are nominal in the absence of trading. Reports from the country state that more factories are going into operation every day, but so far the output has not been very appreciable. A conservative estimate places the April make in Canada at 10,000 boxes and the great bulk of this will not be made until the last week of the month, so that it will not become a serious factor of business until the second week in May. Bids for the April make reported from the country are 10c., which is an advance on the earlier offers.

The butter market exhibits a rather steadier feeling, but there is no quotable change in values, which we quote at a range of 17 to 17½c. as to grade. Dairy stock is not quotable.

MONTREAL NOTES.

There has been a slump of 6c. per dozen in the price of eggs.

Inquiry from New York for Pingsuey tea has been one of the features of the week.

The first cost price of Barbadoes molasses at the Islands has again fluctuated, this time advancing 1¼c.

Oranges and lemons are being pushed here to effect a clearance before the arrival of the big spring cargoes.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 20, 1899.

SO far as the weather is concerned, the season is backward—much more so than the spring of 1898. The last week, however, has made quite a change, and we shall soon have open rivers and better country roads. There is a fair volume of trade in progress. The lumber trade is active, and the mills here are starting up earlier than usual. Traders in all lines of business look forward to a fairly good year.

CANNED GOODS—Oysters have advanced 25c., with 2's quoted at $2.10 to $2.25 and 1's at $1.30 to $1.45. Scallops, which are put up by a Charlotte county packer, and have quite a sale here, are 50c. higher, at $6 per case. New canned lobsters are on the market at $10 per case. Salmon are firm and in light supply at $5 to $5.25. Vegetables are steady at: Corn, 90c.; peas, 80c.; tomatoes, $1.

GREEN FRUITS—Oranges are scarce, and Valencias have advanced to $6 50 to $7. Bloods, at $2.25 to $2.50, are the only others in the market. Lemons are steady, at $2.75 to $3 50. Cranberries are $9 50 to $10. Apples range from $2 to $5. St. John will be represented at the coming fruit auctions in Montreal, and several carloads taken for this market. The trade in bananas is opening up well.

DRIED FRUITS—Trade is quiet and without special feature. Stocks of raisins and currants are ample and demand light. In other lines prices are without change. Stocks of evaporated fruits are light. We quote: Dried apples, 5½ to 6c.; evaporated do., 9½ to 10c.; evaporated peaches, 14 to 15c.; do. apricots, 17 to 18c.; Bosnia prunes, 5 to 5½c.; Californian do., 6 to 10c.; dates, 5 to 6c.; figs, 16 to 22c. New Egyptian onions are easier at 2½ to 2¾c.

SALT—Business is good. There were further receipts from Liverpool this week. The price is higher than at last report. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 40 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 80c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

SUGARS—Trade is now practically confined to Canadian sugars. American granulated is out, and, though some yellows are still offered, the competition is scarcely felt and will soon be at an end. The market is strong at the recent slight advance, and is strengthened by the very firm position of raws. There is no dark yellow sugar on the market, and the refineries had none to offer last week, but doubtless the deficiency will soon be remedied. We quote: Granulated, $4.50 to $4.55; yellows, $3,80 to $3.95.

MOLASSES—Three small cargoes of Porto Rico have arrived here, and as many more are booked for this market. The steamers have brought some from Barbadoes and St. Croix. The future of the market is a little uncertain, but advices indicate that the Porto Rico crop is not as large as usual, while last week the price at Barbadoes moved up 1c. to 12c. first cost. Quotations here are: Porto Rico, 32 to 33c.; Barbadoes, 29 to 30c.; St. Croix, in bbls., 29 to 31c.

FISH—This market is now entirely bare of pickled herring. Stocks of Canso, Shelburne, and Grand Manan, have all been cleaned up, and orders in these lines cannot be filled. Dry fish are scarce and firm. Fresh fish are scarce, but the catch of gaspereaux in the harbor has begun, and, with warmer weather, will doubtless be large in the next few weeks. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $4; small, $2.25; pollock, $2 to $2.10; pickled shad, ½-bbl., $3 75 to $5, as to quality; smoked herring, 6 to 7c. per box; haddies, 6c.; fresh haddock, 4 to 5c.; gaspereaux, $1 per 100; halibut, 11 to 12c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.

PROVISIONS—The market is practically without change. Domestic mess pork at $14.50 to $15 is 50c. higher than American mess, and only 25c. lower than American clear. Plate beef is steady at $13 to $13.50, and extra plate at $13.75 to $14. Lard has shown no material change for months past.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—The flour market continues steady and quiet. Oatmeal has quite a wide range, as to quality. Middlings are scarce and higher, and bran is practically out of the market. Cornmeal is in very active demand, and the mills here are rushed with orders. The seed trade is a little more active, and prices have settled down to a definite range. In beans, a scarcity of yellow-eyes has caused an advance. Split peas are also higher, and pot barley very firm. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.65 to $4.75; best Ontario, $3.90 to $4.05; medium, $3.70 to $3.85; oatmeal, $3.90 to $4.10; cornmeal, $2.15 to $2.20; middlings, $20 to $21; oats, 38 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1.05 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2; split peas, $4.10 to $4.20; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $4.14 to $4.25; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.50 to $2.00; do., Canadian, $1.80 to $2.25; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7½ to 8c.

CHEESE AND BUTTER—Stocks of old cheese are pretty well cleaned up. A few new cheese from the Sussex dairy school were brought in last week and sold out of store at 12c. The outlook indicates a further increase in the output of cheese in the Province this year. The break in the Montreal butter market gave a slight shaking-up to the trade here, which has been moving along for months with very little change. Creamery butter had been quoted at 20c. delivered here, but, last week, Montreal undersold that figure by nearly 2c. There is, as usual, an over-supply of poor dairy butter. The amount of annual loss on this stuff would give quite a lift to the creamery business, and a change in methods by our farmers would take a great burden off the country trader, who has to accept everything that is offered him, and his city consignee, who has to work it off on the public.

EGGS—Here, as elsewhere, the price of eggs, which after Easter dropped to 12½c., ran up again to 18c., and sales last Saturday were still at 17c. This week the market is easing off, and low prices are expected to prevail in a few days.

OILS—We are likely to have keen competition in burning oils. The representative of the Cornplanters' Refining Co., of Pennsylvania, has asked the city council to grant him equal privileges with the Imperial Oil Co for the storage of oil, and has promised to erect substantial buildings and be ready for business in two months. R. W. Ambrose, a well-known oil traveler, has been appointed the company's manager here. It is expected the concession asked will be granted, and the new company, to be known here as The Sun Oil Refining Co., Limited, will enter into business, handling American oils. The trade in lubricating oils is quite active. Prices in all lines are without change.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—These are now on the market and are quoted as follows: Maple sugar, 8 to 10c.; candy, 12 to 15c,; syrup, $1 to $1.25 per gallon.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Since January 1, over 20,000,000 superficial feet of long lumber has been shipped from this port to the United States, besides over 20,000,000 laths and some shingles and piling. Nearly all the sawn lumber was the product of Maine logs, manufactured here. Prices of lumber are notably higher than last year in both the English and American Markets. The winter's cut of logs is below the average.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, April 17, 1899.

THE weather is fine and Winnipeg streets are almost dry. Trade is improving and all the merchants are looking forward to the opening of navigation. Already the C. P. R. has large shipments of goods in store at Owen Sound waiting the first boat, and lake and rail rates will be in force next week.

There is a temporary famine in eggs owing to bad country roads, but probably by next week the market will be glutted.

There has been a general advance of 5 per cent. on all lines of woodenware, especially tubs, butter tubs, wire hoop ware and pails.

The "Royal Crown" Soap Co. are putting two new lines of goods on the market this week, household ammonia and liquid glue. There has been a slight increase in the price of medium Ceylon and Indian teas and speculators seem to anticipate a further advance. The demand for staple lines of all kinds, though not unusual, is steady, with little fluctuation in prices.

CANNED GOODS—There is no change here, excepting a very slight additional price for corn, which has not yet affected the prices from jobbers to retailers, and an advance of 25c. per case on Canadian canned peaches. Strawberries are offering very freely, but no large sales have been effected so far.

SUGAR—The advance of last week is maintained, and there is a good deal of uneasiness in the market here. Jobbers seem to anticipate a further advance, which, even with the reduction of the lake and rail rate, will practically keep it at the same figure.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES—Are very active, though prices have not advanced. Last week's figure of 2¾c. for bright syrup is still maintained.

MAPLE SYRUP—The American goods reported last week are on the market, but no Canadian syrup has been received. The demand here is for the latter rather than the former.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS—This market is very active just now, and the price of apricots and peaches being so high there has been an unusual run on prunes, which has led to an advance in this fruit of from ⅛ to ¼c., according to quality. The Coast stocks are running low and even higher prices are looked for. Dried apples are in greater demand, but very scarce and the price high, 7¼ to 7⅜c. being the present quotations.

CEREALS—No change in cereals. Rolled oats are $1.90 for 80's and American goods in car lots have been offered for $1.70, but I cannot locate any sales at these figures. Pot barley has gone a little higher, but not enough to affect the price to the consumer.

COFFEE — Market is fairly active, but prices for Rios are very low, 8¾ to 9½c. being about the quotation.

CURED MEATS—This market shows no change for the week, although sales have been larger. Hams, 10¾c.; breakfast bellies, 11c.; backs, 10½c.; shoulders, 8½c.: short clear, 7½ to 8c.

SODA—Bi-carbonate of soda has advanced very slightly, but consumers' price is not yet affected.

BUTTER—The market here is peculiar. There is an active demand for separator-made dairy butter, but very little is offered. Dealers are quoting 22c. for this line. On the other hand, fresh dairy rolls are only worth from 15 to 16c., tubs even lower. Of course, no fresh creamery is obtainable in this Province yet.

CHEESE—Very quiet, at 10c. for large and 10½c. for small, with really no movement.

GREEN FRUITS—The increasing warm weather is improving the fruit market. Retail dealers are showing fresh wax beans, as well as lettuce, radishes, onions, cress and the like. The fruit market proper is well supplied with staple lines, and bananas have now arrived in car lots, so that the supply is plentiful; the prices range from $2.25 to $2.75, according to size. In oranges, the market is unchanged; the supply is fair, and prices run from $3.50 to $4.50, according to variety. Lemons are slightly lower, and are quoted at $3.75, and the usual spring demand is in full blast. Sweet potatoes, fancy Illinois stock, are $5.50 per bbl. Strawberries are arriving in small quantities, and are quoted at $6 per case of two dozen. Pineapples are quoted to arrive this week; prices are not yet established.

"Crown" and "Monarch" Californian prunes, 30-40's and 40-50's, and "Ruby" prunes, 50 60's and 60-70's, are in stock with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

CAUTION.

Similar goods to those manufactured by J. & J. Where Seal Brand Coffee is Ground.

THE shrinkage of coffee by roasting averages 15 to 16 per cent.; extremely green lots losing 18 per cent., while a very old lot will not lose over 12 or 13 per cent.

The roasting process will develop in every coffee more or less of what is termed in coffee parlance, quakers. Too much importance is attached to these kernels, many supposing that their presence indicates a mixture. Such is not the case: they are simply a bean, which, while on the trees, become sun dried, leaving nothing but a lifeless berry; they roast white and are perfectly tasteless.

Simple as it may seem, the process of grinding the roasted bean is one that requires more attention than what is usually given to it. Coarse ground coffee requires protracted boiling to extract its strength, and much boiling is fatal to a good cup of coffee. While one may grind too finely, the mistake of grinding too coarsely is that most frequently made. Just to what degree of fineness it should be ground, depends somewhat on the manner of making the coffee. There are three distinct methods employed in making coffee, as follows: Boiling, filtering and by infusion. The first method is the most common one, and the coffee used should be ground so that the larger particles would not exceed in size the head of a pin: while, for the other two methods, the coffee should be ground very fine, and we believe that it is of very great importance to the retail grocer that he should discover just what method each consumer uses, and adjust his mill to individual requirements.

CHASE & SANBORN

Proprietors of "Seal Brand" Coffee,

MONTREAL

POSITION OF CHEESE IN ENGLAND.

THERE are still two full months before the new make of cheese, either from home sources or from America and Canada, can begin to be placed on the market, and sellers here now find themselves thrown pretty much on their own resources, which do not appear to be very extensive. Cable offers have ceased to come from Canada, America has practically disappeared from competition, and New Zealand, which was looked upon as a certainty for a considerable addition to this country's wants, turns out to be a broken reed. Thus prices, which had halted long under 50s. for finest September makes, have commenced their ascent towards 60s., having reached 54s., and promising to go higher still as the warm open days come on and increased consumption puts buyers under the necessity of replenishing stocks. As it is, prices are already some 12 to 14s. above those ruling this time last year; a situation which has been arrived at in consequence of the steadily decreasing shipments, culminating in the information sent across the Atlantic to the effect that, save for a few lots held on account of importers here, there are very few parcels to come forward.

It has been matter for some speculation on the other side during the winter, that prices should have so long remained at a comparatively low figure in the face of diminished output; but the fact is, we have heard of that lessened make before, and grown used to seeing reports of it, followed, towards the end of the season, by mysterious consignments of heavy lots which have knocked the bottom out of prices and netted a loss to other holders. Thus, buyers have held off, refusing to believe in scarcity, present or prospective, until now they find themselves, if report be true, pretty well bare. Moreover, they had the New Zealand make to look to. It was expected that this season there would be a fairly large import thence; but it has not come.

It is not clear what the reason for this is. It may be that the colony's milk has been put into butter, supposed to pay better; but it is thought in some quarters that shipments have only been delayed in order that the arrivals should reach us on the top of the rising wave. If this be so, the shippers have gone past themselves, and stand to get left, as a big consignment at the fag end of the season would require some skilful engineering to clear at high figures. The home make has undoubtedly got into very small compass, and all round there is little to be found to come; full cream Dutch being as scarce as American, Canadian, New Zealand, and home varieties competing with them. It is impossible to say how much remains in the hands of the retailers and big buyers, or even in the warehouses of importers, but it is quite evident that there is a scarcity there was not at the beginning of April, 1898, and, should the weather change to settled warmth, allowing an increase of out-of-door work, and, consequently, an addition of some magnitude to the demand for cheese for consumption, stocks would be so much further run upon that prices would go higher still.

Liverpool is more speculative than London, and rushed up the price before Metropolitan dealers did; but a true sign of scarcity is the fact that in the provinces rates went considerably higher without waiting for the London lead. We do not suppose that in any circumstances such a pitch of excitement would be reached that very much higher prices could be expected, as consumption would be instantly checked if a great increase had to be made in the retail price. Still, it might easily go to 60s. for finest September Canadians, which would be a better wind up for the producer than he has seen for years, and would inevitably have its effect in all centres of production.

If the rise must come, it must; and after so cheap a season the public cannot grumble if they have to pay a little more than they have done during the winter. All we fear is that our friends in Canada may get too big a notion of our dependence upon them if we rush up quotations too far, and the new season would open at a height which it could not maintain, and which would cause disaster. Moreover, that wretched product, the fodder cheese, would inevitably come along in increased amount, in haste to catch some of the profit to be made with the market at great height, and this is far from being desirable. Those leathery goods are bad for the seller on both sides—the producing country is prejudiced by them, and the vendor here does not satisfy his customers. We hope there may be few fodders in the coming season, and no "filleds," for they are both an abomination. —Grocers' Journal, April 8.

THE QUEER TOMATO MARKET.

THE GROCERY WORLD, of Philadelphia, says: "The canned tomato market can usually be depended on to do some strange things, and it has done a few of them since January 1. The market was rather low about that time, and the entire trade expected prices to advance when the new year began. This was on the theory that a shortage in the spot stock would begin to make itself felt about that time.

"The stock of canned tomatoes is proverbially elastic, and seemed just as plentiful after January 1 as before. Consequently, the price sagged instead of stiffening, and finally declined. At present the market for spot stock is about midway between 60 and 70c. in car lots, which is a decline of about 5c. per dozen since a few weeks ago. Even at the decline, the market is none too strong, and there are those who prophesy it will go even lower. It is scarcely likely to go to the old 60-cent basis, because it would pay to buy and carry over at even a higher price than that, which fact will likely prove a stiffener of the market. A decline of 2½ cents from the present basis, however, is not unlikely, especially if the demand continues as poor as it has been for the last thirty days.

"One reason why the spot stock of tomatoes holds up so well is the fact that last year, retail grocers all over the country largely increased their purchases of futures and this stock is not yet exhausted. This keeps retailers off the market, and, besides constitutes a factor in figuring the available supply."

HARD ON THE SMALL RETAILER

Competition is keen in the grocery trade as between individuals; it is keener as between them and companies and stores and now—as if the strife were not sufficiently bitter—we have restaurateurs entering the arena. A certain big firm, having achieved success in the department of the public supply relating to the satisfaction of human appetite on its walks abroad following this up by securing contracts for feeding society in its merry moods and at its public functions, is now sighing for new worlds to conquer. It seeks to penetrate the household, and to bring home its wares to those who will not call for them. Thus it comes to pass that in certain districts—pioneers only, possibly in a movement destined to encompass the metropolis — householders are receiving presents of bread and tea. If the sample please, they can buy the bread ½d. per quartern under the current rate, and the tea at 1s. 4d. Truly, the small retailer is in a hard case in his fight with the giant of trade.—Grocers' Journal.

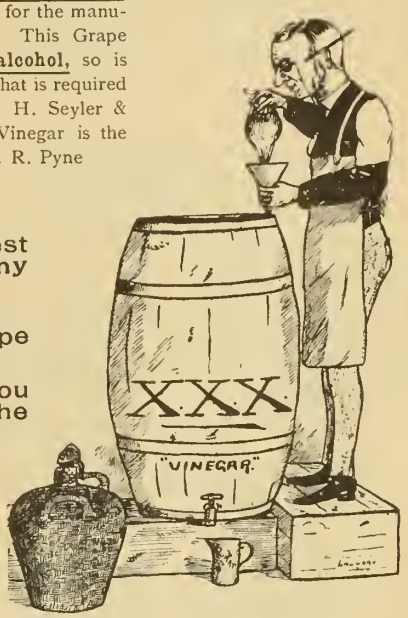
(IMPORTED FROM GERMANY)

Absolutely Pure. Highest Awards in Europe and America.

The Canadian Journal of Medicine and Surgery, the recognized authority in Canada on Medical and Health Subjects, in speaking of Seyler's Concentrated Grape Wine Vinegar, says, referring to its purity and cleanliness: "There are too many Vinegars of which this cannot be said, so that when medical men know that an article such as this is pure, and as represented, they, of all men, are able to do more for the manufacturer than any other class can. This Grape Wine Vinegar is quite free from alcohol, so is specially suitable for the sick. All that is required to prove to the profession that W. H. Seyler & Co.'s Concentrated Grape Wine Vinegar is the best is to quote what Analyst Dr. A. R. Pyne says about it."



GROCERS: Such high authorities, who have no interest whatever in the making of vinegars, are worthy of a hearing.

GROCERS: Save money by buying Concentrated Grape Wine Vinegar.

Why pay more for COMMON Vinegars when you can buy the BEST and PUREST made in the world for less money ?

Why bother with barrels ?

Why bother with carting water from the station to the store ?

STOP AND THINK FOR A MOMENT how much you will save, how much more pleased your trade will be with Concentrated Grape Wine Vinegar ! Don't let others think for you, investigate for yourself.

C. E. COLSON & SON, MONTREAL

OF COURSE THIS IS TRUE.

THE first victory over the traveling man was won in this way, and the others same ad libitum in about the same manner, so that the story of one is the story of all of them, says The Minneapolis Commercial Bulletin.

The traveling man wore a carnation in his buttonhole and a smile of greeting when he invaded the retailer's sanctum with his new clothes.

"Want anything to-day?" he inquired in an off-hand jovial way.

"Nope," was the merchant's laconic reply.

"House is offering some real bargains this trip."

Ignoring the statement, the merchant inquired:

"Carry any butter color?"

"Yes, sir."

"What does it cost?"

"Two dollars a case."

"Too high."

The traveling mon leaned confidentially over the counter, as traveling men sometimes do when they are making an effort to secure the trade of a hard customer, and whispered in the merchant's ear:

"Sell it on commission," he continued. "Can't cut under the price. I'll tell you what I will do, though. We will make it $1.90 and give you a 10 per cent. cash rebate, permitting it to be billed to you at $2."

The traveler fished a dime out of his pocket and handed it to the merchant and the order was sent in.

In a few days a reply came back from the jobbing house saying they were out of butter color and would not handle it thereafter.

Two weeks later the traveler reached the town on his rounds again.

"Make the same price on butter color?" asked the merchant.

Will to you," was the reply.

"Send me two cases."

The traveling man gave up 20c., and a few days later the merchant received a letter from the jobbing house similar to the first.

"How is butter color?" asked the merchant the third time the traveler appeared.

"The same."

Send me three cases."

The merchant put 30c. down in his pocket, but no butter color came. The customary letter showed up a few days later.

Now, as this thing had been going on for a number of years and the merchant has ordered butter color every time the traveler has called on him, and has received his cash rebate without ever having the order filled, I will leave it to you, gentle reader, isn't he entitled to have chunks of fame thrust upon him? Isn't a man that can fool a traveling man that way a Napoleon or something or other?

OPENING PRICES ON SALMON.

NO opening prices have yet been made on Columbia river salmon, but it is expected that they will be published during the next week or ten days. The general impression is that the opening price will be on the basis of $1.25 for talls, though, in view of the fact that no raw fish is to be obtained at less than 4½c. and the indications point to even higher figures on the latter, a still higher price than $1.25 for talls may be established. According to late advices from the Coast the independent packers are waiting for the association to make prices, while the latter is thought to be holding back for a while, until the plan of action of the outsiders is developed.

THE BARBADOES SUGAR CROP.

Clairmonte, Man & Co., in their circular dated Barbodoes, April 1, say: "The reaping of our crop has been much retarded by showery weather and the unripeness of the canes; however, all estates are now working, and as a consequence molasses is being offered more freely by planters and value has declined; sales made on the 30th ult. at 11c. per gallon and $4 for pun. Sales of muscovado sugar are being made at $1 90 per 100 lb. and hhds. $5, basis 89 deg., and bags, $2 per 100 lb; dark crystals, $2.50 per 100 lb."

DRIED FRUITS IN LONDON.

Advices by mail from London make the stock of currants there on April 1, 7,552 tons, against 8,607 tons at the same date last year and 10,697 tons in 1897. Of Valencia and Denia raisns the London stock on April 1 was 345 tons in 1899, 984 tons in 1898 and 637 tons in 1897. Of Smyrna sultana raisins at this date the quantities were: 78 tons in 1899, 49 tons in 1898 and 59 tons in 1897.

SICILY ALMONDS EASIER.

Late cables from Sicily denote an easier feeling in shelled almonds there, as the damage to the crop has not been as great as previous advices made it appear, and a good output is now expected. The reports from France, however, are to the effect that the crop there will prove to be almost an entire failure.

THE COMING FIG CROP.

A New York firm has sent out the following report:

"Our friends in Smyrna write us fully about the future crop, which is promising remarkably well. The severe frosts which occurred in the fig district during February, 1898, killed down to the roots a considerable portion of the trees, but, with ordinary weather during the season of growth, there should have been, during the season of 1898, about one-half an average crop, instead of something less than one-fifth of a crop, as finally resulted; the great depreciation was caused by the exceedingly dry weather of the 1898 summer, the trees which were not killed having very little vitality owing to the frost damage. During the past months the rainfall appears to have been ample, and everything favors the crop of the coming year; and, while it is early to have rellable information, still our friends look forward to a crop of about 40,000 loads, compared with an average crop of 70,000, and with only 13,000 final outturn of the crop of 1898. Should the crop prove as at present expected, we shall doubtless again see reasonable prices for this article during the coming campaign, as the previous crops of 70,000 loads were considered excessive and beyond the wants of consuming countries."

Advices by mail from Baltimore are to the effect that the market has been closely cleaned of stock of 3-lb. standard tomatoes at 65c. net cash, though it was still thought possible that a few small lots might yet be secured at that figure. The majority of the holders, however, were asking 67½c., and were said to show little disposition to sell even at this price. The west is reported to be inquiring for tomatoes in Baltimore, although as yet there have been no sales of consequence to that section.—New York Journal of Commerce.

IS IT TRUE?

The other day, says a writer in Retail Grocers' Advocate, a grocer told me the following—I wonder if it is true?:

"I have been buying goods of a certain house for years, and have always paid them promptly so as to get my discounts.

"We have in our neighborhood another grocer, who sells close, and is reported to be able to give things away if he feels inclined because he is said to have failed as many as four times in the last five years, and never to have paid a cent in settlement.

"The store is open the next day, and is owned by some other member of the family always, who knows nothing of previous transactions.

"Recently, he has been going amongst my customers, and has offered certain canned goods only to be had of this house at a price slightly less than my purchase price.

"Knowing that if there were any advantages to be had in buying, that I should get them, I made it my business to get at the facts.

"What do you think that I was told in explanation of the fact (as I found to be true) that the other fellow was buying cheaper than I was? Simply this: 'He buys all his goods regularly of us, and does not shop about, as you do now and then, and, of course, we can afford to sell him cheaper than we do you.'

"Well, that's a sort of reasoning I do not understand, especially when the 'regular' owed much money to this particular firm had not paid many others, and I, on the contrary, had."

If this is true, and it is so alleged, the conflict has reached a new and interesting phase.

THE DISCOVERER OF BEET SUGAR.

THE Berlin correspondent of The Louisiana Planter states that in many papers, German and foreign, it has been noted that on January 11, 1899, the beet sugar industry celebrated its hundredth anniversary, as on that date, one hundred years ago, Achard submitted to King Frederick William III. of Prussia a report of certain successsul experiments made in the production of sugar from beets, which was accompanied by samples of the new kind of sweet, and it is alleged that with this report the feasibility of beet sugar production was, for the first time, practically demonstrated.

This, however, says the correspondent, is not correct. It is a well-known fact that Marggraf in 1747 discovered the sugar in the beet, and that this discovery was laid before the Academy of Science in Berlin in that year; so that the jubilee of the beet sugar industry should have been celebrated in 1847. It is true, however, that about 40 years elapsed before the discovery of Marggraf was developed into practical results. A scholar of the latter scientist, Achard undertook in 1786 experiments in growing beets rich in saccharine matters, and he not only succeeded in this respect, but he also extracted sugar from the roots, of course, only on a small scale. Archard begged the king to grant him a privilege for the manufacture of beet sugar for ten years, and at the same time wished to have given him an estate on which he might continue his experiments and eventually build a factory; but these wishes were not complied with. A royal commission was appointed to examine the experiments of Achard, and consequent to the reports of this commission it was intended to build a small factory; but this plan was never executed. In 1801, when King Frederick Wilhelm condescended to support Achard's aspirations by a loan, the latter was enabled to buy an estate in Silesia and to construct a factory, which, in the month of March, 1802, started work. It was, no doubt, a memorable moment in the history of the sugar industry when Achard presented, in 1797, his report to the king; but for jubilees either the year 1747 or the year 1802 should be taken as departures—the latter because the industry was really started in 1802.

ST. JOHN'S WINTER PORT TRADE.

When the Allan liner Mongolian sails next Sunday, the winter port trade from St. John, N.B., will bo over. Fifty steamers will have taken cargo as follows: Dominion line to Liverpool, 13; Allan line, 9; Beaver line, 2; Donaldson line to Glasgow, 13; Manchester line to Manchester, 6; Head line to Belfast and Dublin, 7. There were also the regular fortnightly sailings of the small Furnace liners to London. This year's total trade shows an increase over that of last year. For example, the value of cargo taken to Glasgow is 40 per cent. greater than that of last season. The proportion of American produce carried was larger this season than last.

The Provincial Legislature has given its endorsation to the scheme to provide a great modern dry dock at St. John. It is hoped to get Federal and Imperial aid.

MONTREAL RETAIL GROCERS.

The monthly meeting of the Montreal Grocers' Association was held last Thursday evening in the Monument National, the president, Mr. J. Scanlan, occupying the chair. The secretary read letters from the Hon. F. G. Marchand and Mr. R. Lemieux, M.P., in which the latter acknowledged the association's thanks for services rendered during the passing of the Pharmaceutical bill.

The treasurer, Mr. Dixon, reported that the $800, which had been contracted, remained good until July. The treasurer said that he hoped that the members would make a strenuous effort to reduce the debt, and that, with a successful picnic, the whole amount could be paid off.

The treasurer also read the bill which is now before Parliament, respecting the inspection of fruits, and he hoped that the association would strongly support it.

With reference to the bill respecting the seizure of salaries of Government employes, the secretary was authorized to write to the promoters of the bill, assuring them that they had the unanimous support of the association.

THE BUTTER MARKET.

Receipts of butter on Toronto market have, in the past week, been so much in excess of the demand, either local or shipping, that accumulation of stock is reported everywhere, and the price is to-day fully 3c. below that of a fortnight ago.

Even at the prices quoted, there is an easy feeling, and a large buyer could get a material reduction. As the stock coming in is fodder butter, it has not the keeping quality or the color of the stock that will arrive in a short time, so commission men would give a cent or so to an extensive buyer.

The indications point towards a large make this spring, notwithstanding the high price and the probability of a big make of cheese, so prices of both creamery and dairy are likely to go still lower than they are at present.

A company with a capital stock of $200,000 is being formed to take over and enlarge the wine business of Ernest Girardat & Co., Windsor, Ont. The present output of the Girardat plant is about 50,000 gallons a year. The new company will increase the capacity to 200,000 gallons a year, and expects to practically control the native wine trade of Canada. The company will also go extensively into the manufacture of vinegar and champagne, and will equip a large cooperage plant.

A Victoria despatch says that at the annual meeting of the British Columbia Salmon Canners' Association, a series of resolutions were passed condemning the new fishery regulations, and asking the Government to establish additional hatcheries, and that spawning beds be conserved. If the revenues will not permit this, the canners are willing to pay a tax of 1 per cent. on every case of fish, the money to be used for the above purpose.

THE SUGAR WAR.

The fierce competition which marks the sugar refining interest never was stronger than at present. It looks now as if the outcome of the trouble would be a complete revolution in methods of distribution. We would not be surprised if eventually refiners were forced to sell sugar direct to consumers, just as milk, soap, and other articles are now sold. The introduction of package sugar was an innovation that is still in its infancy. The 2-lb. paper package has been followed by the 2-lb. and 5-lb. cotton packages, and in time the packages will be made to conform to the wants of consumers in various sections. And then we shall have the dollar package, and soft sugars, as well as hards, in packages of varying weight. And then?—American Grocer.

CANNED FRUITS FOR ENGLAND.

Mail advices from San Francisco to April 8 state that of the 459,696 cases of Californian canned fruits shipped by sea to England, 401,199 cases have arrived, leaving but 58,497 cases to hear from. Spot stocks on the Coast were reported to be low and are expected to clean up very close before new pack is available.

A BRUSH FIRM'S SAMPLE-ROOM.

BOECKH BROS. & COMPANY., Toronto, have recently remodeled their offices and sample-rooms on an elaborate scale, and they are, without doubt, one of the finest equipped premises in their line in Canada.

The samples of brushes are arranged in long glass-covered cases with sliding tops, where the smallest artist's brush to the largest painter's and kalsomine brushes, may be seen, and it is really surprising to see the variety of this class of goods to select from. Under these glass cases are fitted sliding drawers, containing scrub, shoe, stove, dandy, horse, and clothes brushes; also, various other lines too numerous to mention. Brooms are fitted in a rack along the wall, with whisks placed in between. Underneath are washboards, tubs, pails, churns, and other wooden packages. Above the brooms are bannister brushes, hair brooms, hearth dusters, and other goods of this class. A large assortment of baskets for all purposes is neatly arranged to attract the customer's attention.

On the south side, the offices are divided from the sample-room by a glass partition, fitted with handsome fixtures. Adjoining the general offices are private offices for general manager, secretary, and cashier; also, for buyer and sales department. A vault has been built of substantial size for books, etc.

Separate from this again the numerous traveling salesmen have not been overlooked, having a room fitted up for their use in grand style. Between this and general offices is a typewriter's department for the stenographer and stationery stock. The stationery stock contains no small amount of printed matter of various kinds.

Wash-rooms are in keeping with the other parts, being modern and up-to-date in every respect.

An electric elevator replaced the old Armstrong patent which makes a big saving in time, both to the firm and employes.

Luxfer prisms have been fitted over the front window, which throw abundance of light into the back part of the warerooms.

The building has been fitted throughout with a system of steam heating and is lighted by electricity.

On passing out on to the street again attention was called to the various lines of adjustable show and display tables, which are neatly decorated with brushes, and, as a finishing touch to the artistic appearance of the showrooms, a number of flowers and palms occupy prominent places which add much to the beauty of the place.

The factories of the company are located on Adelaide street west, and goods are sent to warerooms every day for shipment.

TOBACCO CULTURE IN SUMATRA.

The close of the yearly tobacco auctions in Amsterdam gives a very clear idea of the enormous sums which Holland derives from the culture of tobacco in Sumatra. The island yielded 201,800 bales of tobacco, each bale weighing about 200 lb. The whole, when disposed of, amounted to $14,518,000, one-third of which, or about $4,800,000, represents a net gain. Without doubt, there are years when 70 to 80 per cent. dividends are declared in the larger Sumatra tobacco companies. So much for Sumatra alone, without taking into consideration the production of the large tobacco plantations of Holland in Java.

HANDICAPPED BY UNSALABLE GOODS.

FEW retail merchants realize the cor stantly increasing cost of portions c their stock, which is daily, monthl and yearly growing in amount becaus original figures are adhered to for sellin prices, regardless of the fact that certai articles, by lack of popularity, or becaus they already had their day, are worth les than their first cost. The tenacity wit which some merchants hang on to old good year after year, inventoring them at th original cost, instead of present value, i certainly worthy of a better cause.

An article costing originally $10, takin the value of money at ordinary intere rates, would stand at the end of the secon year at about $11, at the end of the fift year $13, and so on, each succeeding ye piling up the cost, in that the money repr sented has not been earning an interest a profit elsewhere, and therefore it woul be charged to the goods. Meanwhile, th goods are diminishing in value, compare with original figures, in a more rapid rat than their cost is piling up.

If the merchant had sacrificed the artic the first year for eight dollars, the loss c the transaction at the end of five years, usi the same interest calculation as befor would amount to only $2.75; but the at the usual percentage of profit would ha earned much more than this. By compa son, the oft-quoted saying, "We got o money back anyway," uttered by tho who hold an article for several years a then sell it at its original cost, becom extremely ridiculous.

Carrying a stock of dead or unsalable goo locks up so much capital in trade that t merchant often finds himself unable to ta advantage of the usual cash discounts. Th means that goods otherwise costing him $1 less 7 per cent., for quick money, or $9 net, will stand him $10 net. His reputati of being a close cash buyer is thus lost, a the consequence of a considerable amou of dead stock on the shelves is that t merchant is obliged to pay long prices f all his goods.

Merchants who get into this position a no longer sought after by wholesalers wh there are special bargains to be offered, f at such times only strict cash buyers a approached. This frequently means in given community that the merchant's co petitors can sell certain goods and ma reasonable profits at prices that represe actual cost to him. Putting the knife in the prices of unsalable goods, and getti rid of them, is the only way to conduct successful business. The first loss on u salable articles is always the smallest lo —C. H. Arnold.

J. L. PRESCOTT & CO., New York

"A STITCH IN TIME SAVES NINE."

"IT IS surprising how quick the little profits on cigars count up in the course of a week," said a progressive grocer to a representative of this paper one day last week. "If anyone had told me a year ago how many of the small expenses of running my store could be met by selling cigars, I would have put him down for an idiot, because, at that time, I firmly believed that only the very large stores in our large cities could sell cigars and make any money out of them. I think differently now," he added reflectively, "and all that I can say is that I would have been a great many hundred dollars to the good if I had taken the trouble to look into the matter before I did, but I was prejudiced by my own judgment, and I let that prejudice influence me, without investigating in a practical way, as I should have done."

We believe that a great many grocers are to-day in the same position that was occupied by the grocer whom we quote above—that is to say, they are as much in the dark regarding the real benefits to be derived from the selling of cigars as he was a year ago.

We cannot understand why a grocer will allow a prejudice to grow up in his mind without having a practical reason to give why that prejudice exists. There is too much theorizing about the whole matter—conditions in one part of Canada cannot be so materially different from those in another part as to affect the ultimate value of the business of cigar-handling by grocers. Indeed, everything points the other way, namely, to prove that it is a safe and a very profitable business.

The gist of the whole conversation which THE GROCER'S representative had with the gentleman quoted in the opening paragraph above—the very essence of it—was that unless that grocer's business had received some sort of a stimulant at the time he referred to he would have been obliged to have cut off some expenses in the running of his store, but that the little daily profits he made from the selling of cigars amounted, in the aggregate per month, to enough money to liquidate them.

It may be pertinent to say right here that there was one thing in particular that the grocer dwelt upon most persistently in his conversation with our representative, and that was the absolute necessity of handling only such lines of cigars as he could depend upon to run evenly in the grade and to maintain their quality steadfastly.

Asked as to how he determined in order to be sure of not making a false start (as to quality) with his trade, he replied that he wrote to two or three cigar manufacturers whom he knew advertised right along, securing from each one of them a sample cigar and then testing it himself, and thereby deciding, in a general way, the merits. It so happened that he was a smoker himself, but he ventured the remark that, if he had not been, he would have done the next best thing, which was, to his way of thinking, having their quality passed upon by one of his customers.

There is no doubt but that any of our readers (that is, any of them who are retail grocers) could easily secure samples from a manufacturer who is well and favorab known, and it would be well worth such person's time to "take his pen in hand and invest 1c. in a post card, or, perha better still, to send a request in a seal letter to-day.

Remember the old proverb: "Never p off for to-morrow what you can do to-day and also that "A stitch in time sav nine."

QUALITY

MONSOON

INDO-CEYLON TEA.

YOUR STORE IS JUDGED

by your leaders—not by your staples.

What is your leader? What do you give the ladies who want the best tea for their money, and who know what the best is?

If you give them a mediocre tea you get the reputation of runing a poor store—a good place to keep away from. If you give them MONSOON you give them the best and most widely known tea in the country—a tea everybody likes—a tea everybody knows about—a tea that is a staple in the best grocery stores in Canada. If you want the custom of good families give them a good tea—the best.

No argument is needed to sell Lazenby's Goods, Codou's Macaroni and Stephens' Pickles---their names are silent arguments themselves. That is what a name will do.

Lazenby's.

A name familiar to England's Nobility for over 100 years—"E. Lazenby & Son." Lazenby's Jelly Tablets are made from absolutely pure materials. The fruit, flower, wine and spice flavors are Nature's own. Thirteen different varieties —each one of the very highest quality. "Profitable to use—profitable to handle."

Jelly Tablets.

P. Codou's.

Another name that stands for all that's good in Macaroni—P. Codou. With that name on the package no argument is needed to sell it. Made only from real Russian wheat. Delicate, tender Macaroni.

Macaroni.

Stephens'.

Are you quite sure of the name when you buy Pickles in bulk? You may get them packed in something else besides Pure Malt Vinegar—unless you look for the name "Stephens." When you see that you get absolutely safe packing. The pickles are sound, crisp, piquant, always.

Pickles.

All of the above are sold by leading wholesalers.

As Yellow As Gold.

The grains of Gold Dust Corn Meal are literally as yellow as the grains of gold. You will find no dirt or black specks in it. Each grain is evenly cut, because the Corn Meal is made by the American process—the best process that Science knows of. Only pure, yellow corn is used in the making—every bushel of it is carefully inspected to see that it is just right. Let us send you samples. If you have been using ordinary corn meal Gold Dust will surprise you.

You Can't Know

how quickly the profits pile up in the handling of cigars until you try it. The profit on a single cigar is small, but it is sure—look out for the quality though. Quality can make or mar any grocer's cigar trade.

My "Pharaoh" Cigar which retails for 10c. wins a smoker's confidence every single time—largely increased sales to grocers prove it. My "Pebble" Cigar (that retails for 5c.) has doubled in sales during the past few months. Samples of both cigars free—to any grocer who is interested to know how quick the profits "pile up."

A RETAILER WHO DOES A CASH BUSINESS.

By William Nimmo, Ravenswood, Ont.

I am pleased to see from the last issue of your journal, that there is such a lively interest being taken in the cash system of doing business. I have been in business here, in Ravenswood, for over twenty-seven years, and have had an experience that may be of some use to my fellow-merchants, and, as I am a believer in

HELPING ONE ANOTHER,

I will give you my views on the subject, hoping they may be the means of assisting a few of those who are undecided what course to pursue.

I am one of your old subscribers, and I have been a very careful reader, from week to week, during that long period.

About six years ago, THE CANADIAN GROCER printed a series of articles on the cash system of doing business, and these articles made me pause and consider whether I was out of credit accounts. After a careful examination, I found out that my cash sales were paying me a profit, and that my credit sales were very unprofitable, as I had to wait till my customers were ready to pay their accounts.

For instance, after they paid their notes on the binder, their interest on mortgages, and their notes on ploughs, etc., in a great many cases it would be from 12 to 18 months before their store bill would be paid, and very often I would have to take butter at from 2 to 4c. more than I could get for it when sold. I did business on these lines for 22 years.

Five years ago, I advertised that on and after a certain date I would sell for and on that date I closed my books never to open them again. Since that time I have given no credit whatever, and never will. The cash system has given me so great satisfaction that I would not take any man's cheque for $1,000 and again go back to the credit system for five years. My only regret is that I did not adopt the cash system 20 years ago. It must be borne in mind that no man can do

A CASH BUSINESS AT CREDIT PRICES

I reduced my prices to the smallest possible margin, and let the people know my terms through our local paper. I enclose my advertisement for the current week. You can use it in whatever way you so desire. Any merchant looking over my advertisement will see at a glance that it would be impossible to give a year's time and run the risk of losses at these prices.

It is admitted by all merchants that the man who can pay his bills in 10 days and save his discounts has when buying, and, if there are any "sugar-plums" to be had in the wholesale houses, he is sure of the lion's share.

Now, how is it possible for a merchant to save his discounts who carries a stock of, say $5,000 on a capital of from $3,000 to $5,000, and bear the burden of 200 or 300 accounts that run open from six to 18 months? It cannot be done, and, if it can, I would like to know how. There is only one way that I know of, and that is:

SELL FOR CASH ONLY,

reduce stock to capital, and then there is clear sailing. I have tried it, and have succeeded. You can do so if you have determination. You may lose a few customers, but you will be sure to receive others to take their places. Why should we be the bankers and commission merchants of the farmers? In nine cases out of ten, they are in a better position to borrow money for their current expenses than the merchant is, and, when they have produce to sell, let them go with it to a produce dealer, and if we sell them goods at a reasonable profit they have no right to expect more favors from us than anyone else.

When I was doing

A CREDIT BUSINESS

I bought a dressed hog from one of my customers, who had a fifteen months' old account on my books. I told him that I would give him credit for the amount on his account. What do you think he said? "On no, I want the cash, pork is cash!" and I had to pay him the cash. And pray, can you tell me anything that the farmer has to sell for which he does not demand cash or its equivalent? This may appear an extreme case, but, I will venture the statement that there is not a merchant in Canada to-day, doing a country trade, who has not had a similar experience.

The farmer sells his grain, hay, straw, cattle, sheep, fowl, eggs, butter, cheese, potatoes, etc., etc., and what does he receive in payment? Cash. The only exception that I know of is when he is selling his farm, stock and implements, then from his own brethren (and I don't know a farmer that is not willing to sign these notes), and they must be satisfactory or the sale is off. He can then sleep in peace whilst Mr. Storekeeper does the worrying.

Merchants of Canada,

GET DOWN TO THE CASH SYSTEM,

then you will have pleasure in your calling, and not till then.

I have just touched the border of what can be said in favor of the cash system, and

THE BEST.

WE all believe in the "best," and everybody wants the "best" for his money. It is the proud boast of the American consumer that the best is none too good for him, says Merchants' Review.

Consequently, grocers and other caterers for the wants of the inner man invariably keep the best goods. We know they do, because they admit the soft impeachment themselves.

The word "best," however, has a very elastic meaning. The writer's "best" and the "best" of some of the grocers whom he has dealt with, are two different things. When a grocer offers 25-cent coffee or 50-cent tea as the "best," as so many of them daily do, it is as plain as a pikestaff that "best" has a very wide meaning.

No delusion perhaps is so common as that of the average grocer, that his best tea is "the best," except the cigarman's delusion that each of his brands is "the best."

There was a cigar manufacturer who owned a number of brands of five-cent cigars and who advertised one as the best on earth, another as the best in the world, and another as the best to be found anywhere, and so on. They were all "the best" to him—that was his delusion—but strange to say, nobody else thought so.

There are just about as many "best" kinds of tea in this city as there are grocers, and about as many "best" brands of cigars as there are cigar-stores, and we offer the circumstances as a proof of elasticity of the term "the best" and of the crying need of some standard for the guidance of tradesmen, if not for consumers also.

The stores that have in stock the consumer's "best" are the stores that thrive; those that keep only the average retailer's "best" never reach a high stage of prosperity, which serves to show that the term sometimes has talismanic properties.

We recommend our friends to look into this matter of importance of the wor "best." Perhaps, when their attention once drawn to it they will discover the caus of some unexplained falling off in sale and profits.

TRADING STAMP STORE CLOSED

THE retail grocers of Chatham hav formed an association, with J. A Wilson as president, and J. W. Dy as secretary-treasurer. The grocers decide to do away with all cash premiums on Ma 1. Persons having cards will be allowe the amount of the cards up to the time th grocers quit the premium business. Th following will be printed on cards and place in all the grocery stores in the city, says Th Planet, of Saturday:

"The grocers of the city of Chatham ha unanimously decided and agreed on an after May 1, 1899, to discontinue givin trading stamps, coupons, furniture, ca rebates or any articles of merchandise."

An interesting sequel to the above is t following from The Planet of April 17:

"The many friends of F. J. Reid, of t Trading Stamp Company, will regret to he that owing to an unfortunate combination circumstances he was forced to close h establishment on Saturday evening. H Mr. Reid done this a couple of years ago might have saved for himself some $500 $600, but in an effort to protect as far possible the interests of his patrons he he out as long as possible. The action tak by the grocers in discontinuing the use the stamps has been mooted for some tim The result has been that the demand stamps has fallen off, while those who he them have in many cases combined gether to make up the necessary $100 a claim their premiums. This, of cour soon brought things to a climax, and wh everything was gone on Saturday Mr. Re was forced to shut down."

COCOA PLANTING IN SAMOA.

ACCORDING to a British Foreign Office report (quoted in The Board of Trade Journal for January, 1899), it appears that a potential commercial future has at length arisen for the Samoan group, after years of depression, owing to the fall in the price of copra and the apparent unsuitability of the climate for other cultivations, such as rice, sugar, tea or cotton.

Small capitalists ($2,500 to $10,000) going to Samoa and purchasing or leasing land for the purpose of cocoa planting would stand a good chance of making a fair income after the first three or four years, provided they possess a practical knowledge of tropical planting or will take advice from those in Samoa who have experience in the matter. The number of small plantations is rapidly increasing, and it is estimated that 75 acres are now planted with cocoa trees. The tree is robust and hardy, growing luxuriantly in Samoa and yielding abundant crops after trifling cultivation. The quality is considered good, the price varying, according to reports from Hamburg, San Francisco and Sydney, between $290 and $390 per ton. A small plantation of six acres holds about 1,200 trees, and these in the third year produce some 140,000 pods; and it is apparent that, even with the liberal allowance of 15 pods to the pound of marketable bean, each tree would produce from 6 to 8 lb. of prepared cacao bean per annum. The trees are in full yield after the fifth year, and there is apparently no age limit to their bearing.

The cost of land near Apia, continues the British consul, is from $7 to $14 per acre if purchased from the whites, and from $1 to $2 per acre if leased from the natives on a 20 or 40 years' lease. The soil is rocky and volcanic. Although labor in large masses is practically unobtainable and the native Samoan is by no means energetic, sufficient floating labor for small plantations is to be had. The price is from $6 to $8 per month for a laborer, his food costing about $4 per month. One man ought to look after six acres of well-grown cocoa in the dry season, but two are required during the wet season, from December to May.

PERSONAL MENTION.

D. Gillmor, of the firm of Chase & Sanborn, Montreal, was in Toronto last week.

W. F. Hagarth, general merchant, Canfield, Ont., was in Toronto on business this week.

Mr. Robert Greig, Montreal, who is now carrying on a general commission business, was in Toronto three or four days last week on business, particularly with a view to pushing such lines as Hire's root beer and Pratt's foods. He did well. Mr. Greig is this week calling on the trade in Western Ontario.

Mr. W. H. Gillard, of W. H. Gillard & Co., Hamilton, was in Toronto on Friday. He reported trade good in the "Ambitious City."

Mr. Fred. Dixon, of The Dixon Cold Storage Co., has been appointed official weigher and gauger by the Toronto Board of Trade.

GOOD MANNERS.

President Quincy was once riding to Cambridge in a crowded omnibus, when a colored woman entered. The president of Harvard University rose and gave her his seat, although at that time negroes were considered "only property." The author heard Fred Douglass say that he was ejected from a street car in Boston on account of his color.

Garrison was as polite to the furious mob that tore his clothes from his back and dragged him through the streets as he could have been to a king. He was one of the sincerest souls that ever lived.

Christ was courteous, even to His persecutors, and in terrible agony on the cross He cried: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do!"

The speech of Paul before Agrippa is a model of dignified courtesy, as well as of persuasive eloquence.

The finest type of the coming man will be a Christian gentleman.

Ross Winans, of Baltimore, owed his great success and fortune largely to his courtesy to two foreign strangers. Although his was but a fourth-rate factory, his great politeness in explaining the minutest details to his visitors was in such marked contrast with the limited attention they had received in large establishments that it won their esteem. The strangers were Russians, sent by the Czar, who soon invited Mr. Winans to establish locomotive works in Russia. He did so, and soon his profits resulting from his politeness were more than $100,000 a year. Courtesy pays.

Not long since a lady met the late President Humphrey, of Amherst College, and she was so much pleased with his politeness that she gave a generous donation to the college.

Some men almost work their hands off, and deny themselves of the common comforts of life in their earnest efforts to succeed, and yet render success impossible by their cross-grained ungentlemanliness. They repel patronage, and business goes to others who are really less deserving, but more companionable.—Pushing to the Front.

AN OLD MEAT BISCUIT.

Prof. Lindley 30 years ago delivered a lecture before the Society of Arts, Crystal Palace, London, England, on an army meat biscuit, which was highly commended by Col. Sumner, of the United States Dragoons, says an exchange. It was the creation of Gail Borden, of Texas. Four ounces of it were enough for a meal. Of it the lecturer, in substance, said:

"Ten pounds of it will last a man a month. The meat biscuit was subjected to a test by Dr. Playfair, and was found to contain 32 per cent. of flesh-forming principles. It was the essence of boiled meat mixed with fine flour, and, as the starch was unchanged, Dr. Playfair stated there could have been no putrescence in the meat employed in the preparation.

"The essence in five pounds of beef is said to be contained in one pound of the biscuit. The discovery is opportune, as there is no suitable method of preserving meats in the English colonies and many other places in times of drought, when it could not be disposed of when fresh."

CANNED PEAS TO BE CHEAPER.

It is said that packers of peas will experiment with a new plan this season, which will reduce the expense of canning considerably if it proves successful. For years it has been thought necessary to sift the peas to be canned before cooking, because it was thought they would not cook evenly if different sizes were mixed. It is said that all the trouble and expense of sifting is to be done away with this season, and that all sizes are to be put in the cans together. Reports so far received concerning the experiments show that the new method has been successful.—American Packer, Baltimore.

It is only a year since Lumsden Bros., wholesale grocers, Hamilton, started a branch of their business at No. 45 Colborne street, but they have already found it necessary to secure more commodious premises, and are this week moving to No. 9 Front street east, the warehouse formerly occupied by Smith & Keighley.

CANNED GOODS IN THE UNITED STATES.

SPRING is now advancing rapidly in all the Atlantic States and reports increased arrivals of sub-tropical fruits and truckage. Pineapples from the West Indies are beginning to appear in large numbers and of excellent quality. Fresh green peas in the pod are becoming the usual luxury to those whose penchant is in favor of such goods in preference to the canned article, and the warmth of the sun seems to be hastening the warm summer temperature in a steady way. The amount of tomatoes arriving from the truck farms is very small, and will not suffice in any way to account for the dullness of the market and the lack of demand for these goods in tin,

We will, therefore, have to look to some other cause for this prevailing condition, because in the last two weeks tomatoes have not held as firm a tone as characterized them previously. We think, however, the situation can be explained. Despite a certain similarity in general superficial appearances, the market is in an exactly opposite condition to what it was one year ago. As we have before noted, the control of the tomato supply in 1898 was almost entirely in the hands of the jobbers, who had gotten possession of the goods in the early months of the year, and whose interests it was to keep the prices high, because there was not only a strong demand from the United States Government for large blocks of these goods, but the effect of this Governmental demand was to make the balance of the holdings proportionately more valuable even in the open market for consumption.

This year, whilst it is true that the jobbers virtually control the market through the contracts for future goods, their holdings of spot goods is still comparatively small in respect to what they held a year ago. The United States Government is not in the market for goods this year as they were last, and the position of the jobbers, therefore, resolves itself into the fact that every drop in the price of tomatoes is to their interests, as forming a market among the sellers of future goods, the price of which the latter will have to make good if figures go below contract rates. Under such conditions, the packer no longer has the jobber as an assistant to report the market, all holders of future contracts for goods to be delivered become natural bears in the market, and the packer has no hope but in an overruling Providence and the chief of the weather bureau.

There is evidence throughout the whole market that, with this weakness of tomatoes, corn has shown a decided strengthening and advance. * * * It is also probably well understoood that the tomato pack of this year will be much more largely increased than the corn pack. The operations of the syndicate at work to form a combination or trust of the New York State packers are also credited with a purpose to control the output of canned corn, and this naturally acts in a strengthening manner on the market for that article, as indicating that the supply will not be allowed to go beyond the requirements. It is also true that there is no article in the list of canned goods in which the line of competition promises to be so hot as in that of tomatoes, and, if there are sacrifices to be made, the supposition is that they will be made in this article.—The Trade.

COFFEE IN CANADA.

We alluded recently to the practical absence of demand for coffee in Canada. This week's mail has brought us papers in which an advertisement attributes the fact that "the consumption of coffee in Canada is not what it should be" to the fact that "the public is imposed upon by inferior coffee and compounds." The United Coffee Growers Company may find Canada a useful market.—Planting Opinion, Madras.

OBNOXIOUS RULES ABOLISHED.

SHORTLY after acquiring Porto Rico, the United States, it will be remembered, applied to the coasting trade, between the new territory and the United States, the regulations in force between port and port in the latter country. In other words, vessels flying a foreign flag were prohibited from engaging in the carrying trade between Porto Rico and the United States.

As the United States was, at that time, contending so vehemently for the "open door" in China, their action was considered inconsistent.

To the Dominion, the regulations were particularly displeasing. The vessels engaged in carrying produce from the Maritime Provinces to Porto Rico had been accustomed to take on a cargo at the latter place for points in the United States, thus insuring a cargo for at least part of the way home. This, they were, of course, prevented from doing when the new regulations went into force.

They could, of course, carry a cargo to Porto Rico and take on another one for a Canadian port; but the limited nature of the Canadian market, compared with that of the United States, obviously made it more difficult to get a cargo. The experience during the few months the regulations have been in force has proved this. Canadian vessels, rather than return light, have taken freight at almost any rate.

The exclusive character of the regulations has, however, proved inimical to the interests of the business men of the United States, as well as irritating to the foreign vesselowners who had hitherto shared in the trade. The trouble was a scarcity of United States vessels, which was affecting the trade between the United States and Porto Rico.

This stirred up the business men in the United States, and they accordingly represented to the War and Treasury Departments that a relaxation of the regulations was necessary if the trade of the Island was not to be stifled.

How successful they were in their representations may be gathered from the fact that, at a meeting of the McKinley Cabinet on Saturday last, it was decided to abolish the regulations at once.

This will be good news to Canadian vesselmen as well as to the United States business men engaged in the Porto Rican trade.

The policy of exclusion is not the policy of business.

FRUIT CROP PROSPECTS.

The cold weather of March and early April so retarded the growth of buds on fruit trees in the Niagara and Essex districts that there has been little premature development, and, consequently, there has not been much loss from frost-bitten buds. A big crop of all fruit is expected. The severity of the winter, however, in Essex County, has resulted in a loss of fully 10 per cent. of the peach trees, which were killed outright by the frost.

NEW CROP RICE.

Wholesale dealers have been promised first shipments of new crop domestic-milled rice next week. Quite a few orders have already been booked by the different wholesalers, so retailers may also expect their supplies in a few days.

THE NEW CHEESE SEASON.

THE new season for cheesemaking will soon be in full swing, the factories in the different sections having commenced operations, while contracts have already been made in some cases for the April output.

In the Belleville section, for instance, where the early make will be greater than last year, producers have already sold their April output ahead at prices ranging from 9½ to 10c. per lb. Around Brockville, a few April contracts have been made within the same range; but, from present indications, the only section where this early make will exceed that of last year is around Belleville. In the other districts it will be about the average, and a conservative average estimate place the entire April output in Canada at 10,000 boxes.

Last year at this time early purchases of cheese were being made at 7½ to 8c., so that the average opening price this spring is 2c. per lb. above last year.

The position certainly warrants the difference in the price. Taking the entire exports from North America to Great Britain from the first of last May to date, there is a shortage of almost half a million boxes. At this time last year there was also a larger quantity of old cheese unconsumed in Great Britain, so that the statistical position all round favors higher prices.

The new make cannot be considered a very serious factor in the supply until the second week in May, and by that time the stocks of old cheese in Great Britain will be still further reduced. It is natural, therefore, that producers should ask and be conceded better prices now than at this time last year. At the same time, they will be unwise if they allow the stronger position of affairs to tempt them into holding back their output of early cheese in the hope of forcing buyers into conceding extreme prices.

It is not necessary to dwell at length here upon the peculiar properties of these early cheese. Everyone knows that their keeping qualities do not compare with cheese made later in the season. If they are held back, therefore, they come in competition with a better class of goods, and the market as a whole suffers.

WILL THE PRICE OF CANNED GOODS BE FIXED?

ANOTHER attempt is being made to fix the price of canned goods. THE CANADIAN GROCER cannot yet state with certainty what the details of the scheme are, but, from what can be gathered, there are some who favor the fixing of a limited price at which the retailer shall sell the different brands, the price of each to be fixed by a committee, quality to be the standard of value.

It is urged that by doing this, and giving the wholesalers a specified rebate at the end of certain periods, the desideratum of steady prices can be secured.

There are, it is understood, wholesalers as well as canners who favor such a scheme.

It is about five or six years since the last attempt was made to fix the price of canned goods. Then, it will be remembered, the Canadian Packers' Association put into operation a scheme whereby all the canned goods put up by the members of the association were sold through one selling agent, while a selling committee met in Toronto at certain stated periods to determine and regulate the price.

The results were not satisfactory. The price being uniform for all packs, the best known brands were soon sold, while those not so well known remained in their owners' hands, and, ultimately, in spite of the fact that a penalty was attached for infringement of the agreement, the dissatisfied partners to the agreement began to ignore it. After being in nominal operation a year the scheme was discarded.

Judging from the experience of the past, it will be necessary to avoid in the new the pitfalls of the old scheme if it is to attain anything approaching success.

But what is necessary above everything else is confidence in each other by the packers and all others who may be subscribers to any agreement that may arise out of the present movement.

At present, this quality is decidedly wanting among the packers, and it is no wonder. They have subscribed to agreements in the past, and some of them, before the ink was scarcely dry upon the paper, hied themselves away to the sample-rooms of the wholesale houses and courted orders at the old figures. This is not supposition. It is a fact.

Taking it all round, the canned goods industry in Canada is not in as satisfactory a condition as it should be. Taking year in and year out the supply exceeds the demand, and the situation is being further aggravated in this respect by the new factories which are being erected this spring.

But there is only an excess as far as the home market is concerned. Should, however, the limit of the canned goods industry be determined by the capacity of the home market? Emphatically, no!

The possibilities of the canned goods industry in Canada are only limited by the possibilities of the foreign market.

For the production of fruit and vegetables of a superior quality Canada is richly endowed by Nature. But, while Nature has been liberal, we have been slow to take advantage of her gifts.

If our faith in the possibilities of the country and the measure of our energy were only in proportion to the generosity of Nature, there are other industries besides that appertaining to canned goods which would be much more extensive than they are at present.

As far as the canned goods industry is concerned, an agreement which will insure better profits to all without being unjust to any ought not to incur opposition. But what is still more essential are packers zealous for first-class goods and packers with energy that is not trammeled by fear of competitors.

In other words, what is wanted is packers who will lead, not follow.

A preliminary meeting to consider the proposed fixed price on canned goods was held in Hamilton on Wednesday.

THE PRICE OF BROOMS.

Though there has been an advance of $10 per ton in the price of broom corn in the United States, there is not likely to be any increase in the price of brooms in Canada, as the manufacturers are well stocked up with corn and will likely be able to fill orders, unless an exceptional demand sets in at present figures.

There seems to be no question, however, that the last crop of broom corn has been cornered, the large interest being The Central Illinois Broom Corn Association, which recently met at Charleston, Ill., and prices have been inflated in the United States market.

CANNED TOMATOES EASIER.

There has been a further development of the weakness in the canned tomato market noted a couple of weeks ago.

It appears to have been induced by the desire of certain holders to dispose of their surplus stocks, fearing to retain them till later in the season.

During the past week there have been transactions in round lots at 77½c. per dozen delivered in Toronto, terms net cash 10 days, and one jobber declares he bought a lot at 5c. per dozen less than that price.

With the season to run yet another three months, and that a good consumptive three months, it seems to us that holders who have been in such a hurry to dispose of their goods have been a little premature.

The pack was large last year, but it came, as THE CANADIAN GROCER has time and again pointed out, upon an unusually bare market.

Then, there are two other factors which should not be overlooked: The consumption, so far this season, has been larger than ever before, and the scarcity of green vegetables is most pronounced.

HONEY WANTED FOR ENGLAND.

A commission merchant in Canada has received inquiries from a firm in Great Britain for honey. This firm, it appears, has been hitherto getting its supply from a Chicago house. Its requirements are two tons of honey per month, and the quality must be uniform and the supply regular.

Being a large producer Canada should be a large exporter of honey, but last year the exports in this particular were insignificant. They only aggregated 5,212 lb., valued at $507. Of this Great Britain took 2,000 lb. and the United States 3,212 lb. In 1897, however, the exports were much larger, being 26,598 lb. valued at $2,811. Great Britain took 20,804 lb., valued at $2,274, and the United States 5,722 lb., valued at $526. The remainder, 72 lb., was exported to Belgium and China.

This year attention is being given to the export trade by those who last year ignored it, and we may therefore look for an increase in the Dominion's foreign trade in honey.

NINE YEARS OF TEA IMPORTS.

IMPORTS of tea into the Dominion during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898, were 19,954,565 lb. valued at $2,721,-189.

In quantity, this is the smallest since 1893, when the figures were 18,034,897 lb.

The imports of tea into Canada during the nine years ending June 30, 1898, were as follows :

	Quantity in lb.	Value.
1898	19,954,565	$2,721,189
1897	24,317,104	3,310,348
1896	22,667,535	3,252,133
1895	20,610,733	3,115,025
1894	20,459,530	3,039,928
1893	18,034,897	2,975,452
1892	22,593,619	3,650,940
1891	18,042,043	2,981,415
1890	18,451,378	3,073,643

The decline in the importation for 1898 cannot be ascribed to a falling off in the consumption of tea. It was undoubtedly due to the heavy purchases which were made during the previous year in expectation of a duty for revenue purposes being placed upon that commodity. Heavy stocks was the natural concomitant, which, in turn, caused a decline in importations. Consumptive requirements are limited, and, when one year the market is over-supplied, it is only to be expected that the next will be characterized by more cautious buying.

Notwithstanding the decline, however, the average for the past two years exceeds that of the previous two, the average for 1897-98 being 22,135,834 lb., against 21,639,134 lb. for 1895-96.

The present fiscal year promises to witness another large importation of tea, the quantity brought in during the nine months ending March last being valued at $2,965,-968. The monthly returns from which the figures for the past nine months are gathered do not give the quantities. In value, it will be noticed, the figures exceed those for the 12 months of 1898.

The monthly average for the 12 months of 1898 was $221,765, and for 1897 it was $226,425. For the nine months of this year it is $328, 345.

The fact that teas are costing more than in 1898 would in itself help to swell the value of the teas imported, but, when the full returns have been issued, it will doubtless be seen that there is an increase in the quantity as well as in the value, particularly in view of the smallness of spot stocks in Canada in first and second hands.

It may, perhaps, not be uninteresting to note that the tea imported in 1877, 22 years ago, exceeded in value the imports of tea during any one of the past nine years given in the above table. In regard to quantity, however, the conditions were the very opposite, there only being 13,575,657 lb. imported.

Indirectly these figures show the difference in the price of the tea imported in 1877 and 1898 respectively, the cost being 25.90c. per lb. in the former year and 13.63 in the latter, a decline of over 47 per cent.

Taking the population at 5,000,000 in 1890-91, and at 5,500,000 in 1897-98, the average consumption of tea in Canada per head during the former two-year period was about 3.64 lb. and during the latter 4.02 lb.

TOMATO PULP WANTED IN ENGLAND.

Inquiries have been received in Canada from a house in England for large quantities of tomato pulp.

The pulp must be put up in sealed tins, and must be free from acids or preservatives of any kind.

Any information sent to this office will be forwarded to destination.

This may open up new possibilities for the tomato industry. To what extent can only be ascertained by actual experiment. It is to be hoped that persons will be found sufficiently enterprising to interest themselves in a practical way in the matter.

Mr. J. S. Larke, the Canadian Trade Commissioner in Australia, in his last report to the Department of Trade and Commerce, pointed out that there was a maker of sauce in Australia who wanted tomato pulp, for which he was willing to pay $50 per ton. "At that figure," says Mr. Larke, "British Columbia ought to be able to supply the article, though the freight might make it impossible to bring it from Ontario."

BRAZIL NUT STATISTICS.

According to current reports, the largest cargo of Brazil nuts ever received at this port is being brought by the Bernard, which is expected to arrive from primary ports on May 1. She has, all told, we understand, 11,000 bags, about equally divided between large Manaos and medium Para. Conservative estimates of the crop by well-posted people in Para are 113,000 bags, compared with 95,000 bags last year and 83,000 bags in 1897.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, April 27, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade continues, on the whole, in a very satisfactory condition. The demand is fairly good, and most houses are busy getting shipments ready for shipment to the upper lakes. Some good-sized well-assorted lots are being sent out on this account. As far as prices are concerned, probably the most interesting feature is an increased weakness in canned tomatoes. Although the wholesalers' prices have not yet been changed, the views of those who are holding this line of goods have been again modified. There have been sales during the past week to wholesalers at 77½c. net cash 10 days, and some dealers report that they have bought at even a lower figure than this. The local sugar market remains unchanged from last week, with the demand good. Coffees are in good demand and steady as to price. Syrups and molasses are quiet. Teas continue as strong as ever, but there is not a great deal of business being done by the brokers, although the wholesalers appear to be still pretty busy. The currant market is firm, with the local demand fairly good. Valencia raisins are, however, the most interesting feature on the local market, on account of their scarcity and inquiries from outside points. There have been quite a few transactions between wholesalers during the past week in this line. The prune market continues firm, and Californian prunes are advised ¼c. per lb. higher.

CANNED GOODS.

The most interesting feature in connection with the canned goods market this week is undoubtedly the weaker feeling which has developed in canned tomatoes. Although the wholesale price is still 85 to 90c., as a rule, yet, those who are holding tomatoes have developed a more pronounced weakness than was noticed a couple of weeks ago. There have been transactions during the past week at 77½c., and one jobber reports that he has bought at even a less figure than that. The cause of the weakness is generally attributed to the fact that holders of a few hundred cases more than they probably require have become anxious to find buyers. There is yet about three months of a good consuming period ahead, and it seems to us unwise for holders at this stage of the campaign to become frightened.

Corn has changed hands at 92½c., but the wholesale price remains much as before, viz., 95c. to $1. In fact, some of the best brands of corn are being held as high as $1.05. There have been transactions in peas during the past week at 65c. Toronto for round lots. Wholesale figures remain unchanged at from 75c. upward. There is a fairly steady trade in canned vegetables. The season for canned meats is beginning to open up, and, while a number of orders have been booked, only a few shipments have so far been made. A good demand is still to be noted for canned fruits, and during the past week quite a quantity of peaches at $1.75 for 2's and $2.50 to $2.75 for 3's; plums, at 95c. to $1.25 for green gages, and 85 to $1.10 for Lombards; $1.85 for pitted red cherries, have gone out.

COFFEES.

Advices received this week from London, report that an advance is probable shortly in East Indian coffees, which kinds show extremely good values. Advices state that the Costa Rica and Guatemala coffee crops are only about half of what they were last year. On account of the holiday in Brazil that market has not been receiving much attention, but prices rule steady. The local demand for Rio coffees continues fairly good at unchanged prices.

RICE.

New crop of domestic-milled rice will be delivered to wholesalers next week, and a fair number of orders have been taken on local account. Imported Patna rice continues to advance, and the local price to retailers runs from 5¼c. to as high as 5¾c. for fancy grades.

SUGARS.

Advices from London, England, on Friday last, showed a decline of 3d. in beet sugar, while cane was quiet, with prices barely maintained. On Saturday, however, the market took a firmer turn again, and the cables announced an advance of 1½d. in beet sugar for April option and 2½d. higher for May. But, on Monday, it again took an easier turn, and quoted beet sugar ¾d. lower. These fluctuations in the market are probably, in part, at least, due to the fact that Mr. Licht's estimates on beet sugar are 6 per cent. over last year for all Europe. Refineries in the United States have been ready buyers at the ruling quotations there, but no supplies were offering at the quoted prices. The price of hard sugars in New York has been well maintained during the week, but soft grades are still being shaded. On the Canadian market no new features have developed during the week. There is a good demand at last week's advance, and the volume of business is, if anything, larger than when we last reviewed this market.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is not a great deal doing in either syrups or molasses, although prices rule steady. Advices from New Orleans indicate that deliveries of grocery descriptions of molasses are still light.

TEAS.

Retailers are still reported to be fairly good buyers of tea, but the wholesalers at the moment appear to be laying on their oars. The London market, they will not look at, on account of the high prices ruling there, and spot teas of low and medium grades on the local market are practically exhausted, and any good flavoring teas at about 16½ to 17c. offering are quickly taken up. A tea circular from London under date of April 14, states that the first sale since Easter was held on the previous Monday when a strong demand prevailed for all descriptions, teas under 9d. being again slightly dearer. The Ceylon market opened on the previous Tuesday with a somewhat heavy auction. Teas below 9d. were not in very strong demand, however, occasionally selling at slightly dearer rates. Medium and better teas were irregular and weaker. The official telegram gave exports to the United Kingdom from Ceylon during March as 8,500,000 against 9,500,000 a year ago, making the total from January 1 to March 31, 23,000,000 lb., against 24 250,000 lb., the same time last year. Japan and green teas have been a trifle easier during the past week, owing to some holders being more disposed to do business. This applies particularly to the higher grades of Japan teas. China black teas are a trifle higher.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS — According to latest advices from the primary market the price of currants continues to rule steady. Locally brokers report business for this time of the year fair, and wholesalers find the demand keeping up well.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The Valencia raisin market is by far the most interesting feature of the foreign dried fruit market. Stocks are exhausted in Denia, and they are very light in England and in the United States. In Toronto, during the past week, there have been quite a few inquiries from outside points, and quite a few transactions have taken place in spot stocks, which has given the market a firmer tone. It will be remembered that during the past season a good many wholesalers sold large quantities of Valencia raisins at below cost. The transactions referred to were in fine off-stalk and selected, chiefly in the latter. It is asserted that selected raisins could not be laid down here now under 6c. per lb. There is some difference in quotations among local wholesalers, probably on account of the different grades handled. The range in prices is, however, as follows: Off-stalk, 4 to 4½c.; fine off-stalk, 4½ to 5c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c.

PRUNES—Price of Bosnia prunes is again quoted a little higher in the primary market, and brokers here have been advised of a further advance of ¼c. per lb. in Californian prunes.

GREEN FRUITS.

A brisk spring trade is being done. The low price of lemons is causing a big demand for them. The quality of those offering is fair, but better ones are expected shortly. Bananas are moving in large quantities at 25c. lower figures than last noted. The shortness of Valencias and navels is causing a big demand for Mediterranean sweets, which have advanced 25c. Sweet potatoes are moving steadily at unchanged figures. Pineapples are in fair supply, but the demand exceeds it. Strawberries are now coming in from the South in fair quantities. They are quoted at 17c. for pints and 35c. for quarts. The demand for Bermuda and Egyptian onions continues brisk with a decline of 25c. in the price of Egyptians.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The feeling is steady and prices are unchanged at 11½ to 12c. These prices are high for this time of the year, the average price for the corresponding week during the last five years being 10c.

POTATOES—The demand keeps good, and, as supplies are not increasing, the price is steady at 80 to 82c. for cars on track, Toronto. The street market is firm at 90c. to $1 per bag.

BEANS—There is a steady movement of medium grades at 90c. to $1, and a good demand for hand-picked at $1.10 to $1.15.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The market is dull. The jobbing price for small lots is 5½ to 6c., but for car lots on track in Toronto jobbers refuse to pay more than 5c. Evaporated apples are in good demand, and holders are firm in asking 9 to 9¼c. outside. The jobbing price locally is 10c.

MAPLE PRODUCT — The opinion is strengthening that the crop will be a light one this year. We quote syrup as follows: Imperial gallon tins, 90 to 95c.; do., more than five tins, 85 to 90c. per gal., wine gallon tins, 75 to 80c. Maple sugar is quoted at 8½ to 9.

VEGETABLES — Locally-grown outdoor rhubarb, some of it fully 18 inches long, is already on the market. Canadian spinach is now offering. Onions are more plentiful and are 5c. cheaper. We quote as follows: Rhubarb, $1.25 to $1.50; greenhouse radishes, 40 to 50c. per dozen bunches; native spinach, $2 to $2.50 per bush.; green onions, 5 to 10c. per doz.; celery 75c. to $1 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 30c doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz bunches; turnips, 35 to 50c. per bag; beets 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips, $1 to $1.20 per bag; carrots, 30 to 50c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.40 to $1.60 per bag; butter squash $2; Hubbard squash, $2; red cabbage 50c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Dairy large rolls and pound prints are still coming in too freely, causing another drop of 1½ to 2c. this week. There are no No. 1 tubs coming in. As the prints and rolls now offering are not good keeping quality, it would be advisable to market nearly all dairy in tubs. Creamery is easy too, a decline of ½c. being noted.

CHEESE—There is now a good supply of new cheese at 10 to 10½c. Old stock is firm at 11½c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Though packers have quit operations and there is no demand for dressed hogs from that source, there is still quite a demand for butchers' use. For these $5.5[illegible] is offered. The movement of all provisions is large. Smoked backs are ¼c. dearer

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—A firmer feeling has resulted in an advance of 1 to 2c., both red and white wheat now being quoted at 68 to 69c. outside. There is little grain of any kind offering on the street market. We quote as follows: Wheat, white, 71c.; red, 71c.; goose, 66c.; peas, 63 to 65c.; oats, 38 to 39c.; barley, 42 to 44c. No. 1 hard Manitoba is unchanged at 80c., Toronto and west.

FLOUR — Manitoba patents are 10c. dearer. A firm feeling is manifested throughout. We quote as follows: Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.70; Ontario patents, $3.60; straight roller, $3.10 to $3.20, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—There is no change. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $4.00 in bags and $4.10 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $4; pot barley, $4.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES There is a good demand, and prices have stiffened, but no change is yet reported. We quote cowhides: No. 1, 8¼c.; No. 2, 7¼c.; No. 3, 6¼c.; Steer hides are worth ½c. more. Cured hides are worth 8¾c.

SKINS—Offerings of calfskins are liberal. Prices are steady. We quote as follows: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c. Sheepskins and lambskins are not offering freely. Prices are firm at 90c. to $1.

WOOL—Fleece is easy at 13 to 14c., and unwashed at 8 to 8½c.

SEEDS.

The indications are that the season is pretty well over. There is little red clover offering. Dealers are paying $3 to $3.30 on board at outside points. Alsike is quiet at unchanged prices, $2.50 to $4 outside. Some timothy is offering, but, as the market is almost over and a great deal of what is coming in is mixed, buyers are very careful, and it is likely much of this seed will be carried over by holders till the fall.

MARKET NOTES.

Valencia raisins are scarce and higher on the Toronto market.

Prunes, both Bosnia and Californian, are still tending upwards in price.

Manitoba patents flour is 10c. dearer. Wheat is 2c. higher than a week ago.

Smoked backs are ¼c. dearer. Canadian heavy mess pork has advanced 50c. per cwt.

Mediterranean sweet oranges are 25c. dearer. Bananas and Egyptian onions are 25c. cheaper.

Dairy large rolls and pound prints are 1½ to 2c. cheaper this week. Creamery tubs and boxes have declined ½c.

There is a rather easier feeling in regard to both Japan and China green teas. China blacks, on the other hand, are a little stronger.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 27, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THERE continues to be a steady improvement in the wholesale grocery trade, owing to the improved conditions of country roads and the fact that stocks of most of the leading staple lines in second hands are small. With the opening of navigation buyers here are also showing a disposition to operate more freely, consequently the prospects are somewhat encouraging, and a large healthy trade is anticipated in the near future. A feature of the week has been the activity and excitement in the raw sugar situation, prices having fluctuated rapidly. Refined sugar is firmer at the recent advance noted. A considerable amount of attention has also been given to the molasses market, and, if reports from the Island are true in regard to the crop, some excitement is looked for in this article later on. Teas are becoming more active each day and prices are steadily tending upwards for most grades, owing to the strong foreign advices and the limited supply on spot.

SUGAR.

The feature in this article continues to be the activity in the foreign market for raw and the rapid fluctuations in prices. Beet, on Saturday, advanced 1½d., to 11s., for April and May, but has since reacted again; the latest cable advices received from London reported the market quieter, with prices slowly tending downwards, and quoted April at 10s. 10½d., and May at 10s. 11¼d. Cane sugar is quiet, Java being quoted at 12s. 6d., and fair refining at 11s. 3d. The market for the refined article is moderately active, and the undertone is firm, with prices maintained at the late advance. The demand is not what it should be for the season, but refiners have every confidence in the future, as latest advices from country points report stocks low. We quote: Granulated, $4.50 to $4.55, and yellows, $3.90 to $4.30 per 100 lb., as to quality, at the factory.

SYRUPS.

There is nothing new to note in syrups. The market remains quiet and prices are unchanged at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market has undergone no great change within the past week, but according to latest cable advices received from the Island the undertone is firm, and first cost prices are held at 12¼c., which figure means 28½ to 29c. laid down here. The indications now are that the crop of Barbadoes will be much smaller than was at first expected owing to the damage done by the hurricanes, consequently an impression prevails here that present prices at the Island will be sustained. Cables from Antigua state that supplies are exceedingly small, and prices 5½c. per gallon higher than on the opening day. Porto Rico cables are also very firm in tone and report the market steadily advancing. In new crop Barbadoes some business has been done on local account, and a sale of one cargo is reported to a refiner and one cargo to a wholesale grocer. Another lot of 400 puncheons of old crop has also changed hands at 28½c., and now the entire stock on spot, outside of wholesale grocers, is held by a speculator, which amounts to about 1,200 puncheons. A late cable notes a still further advance on the foregoing, first cost being now quoted at 13½c.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no material change in the situation of the canned goods market. The tone is about steady under a better demand for most lines. Several small lots of corn have changed hands at 90c. per dozen, but for 500 and 1,000-case lots 85c. is the outside. Strawberries have sold in fair-sized lots at $1.30, and pumpkins at 75c. per dozen. Tomatoes rule quiet, and prices are unchanged at 85 to 87½c., and peas at 75 to 80c. per dozen. In canned salmon, there is nothing new to note.

DRIED FRUITS.

There has been a moderate demand for Valencia raisins, and several fair-sized lots have changed hands at 5¼c. for 4-crown layers. Other grades are also being inquired for, and, on the whole, the market is in a much better condition than it was a few weeks ago.

RICE.

Business in rice has been quiet owing to the fact that buyers generally are waiting for the arrival of new crop stock. The feeling is steady and prices show no change.

COFFEE.

In coffee, business has been limited, and the market is quiet and easy. Rios have sold at 7 to 7½c. and Santos at 7 to 10c. Maracaibo changed hands at 9½ to 10c.

SPICES.

There is a very firm feeling in spices, and a moderate amount of business is reported. Singapore white pepper has sold at 19½ to 20c.; Penang, at 17½ to 18c.; pimento, at 11 to 12c.; nutmegs, at 40 to 50c., and cassia at 9 to 10c.

TEAS.

A much stronger feeling has developed in the market for most grades of teas, and prices are steadily advancing, especially for Ceylons, China blacks and gunpowders which are becoming scarce, to some extent as the demand at present and for the past two weeks or more has been chiefly for the above grades. A fairly active business is doing, and some round lots of Ceylons have sold at 17 to 20c., which figures show an advance of 2 to 3c. per lb. over previous sales. Pingsuey pea leaf gunpowders have changed hands at 13½ to 15c. Japans are quiet.

GREEN FRUITS.

The market has ruled quiet, but, with navigation now opened and cargoes c oranges and lemons on the way, much activity is expected in the near future. The supply of apples is small, and prices rule firm at $3 to $5 per bbl. Valencia oranges have advanced 25c. per box, to $5.25 to $5.75, and navels are steady at $4 to $4.25. Stocks of lemons here are large for this season, in view of the heavy supplies near at hand. Good sound stocks are selling at $2.25 to $2.75 per box. Bananas are moving fairly well at 85c. to $1.75 per bunch. All other lines are unchanged.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was an easier feeling in the egg market, owing to more liberal receipts, and prices declined ½c. per doz. The demand was fair and trade moderately active at 12½ to 13c. per doz.

MAPLE PRODUCT — The demand for maple product continues good, and, as the offerings are not large, prices rule firm. We quote : Syrup in wood, 5½ to 6c. per lb., and at 65c. per tin. Sugar sold at 7½ to 7¾c. per lb.

HONEY—There was no change in the market for honey to note. We quote : White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 8½c.; dark, 6½ to 7c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 5 to 5½c.

BEANS—In beans, trade is still of a small jobbing character at steady prices. We quote : Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel ; primes, 85 to 90c.

DRIED APPLES — Stocks light, prices steady at 5 to 6c., and evaporated, 8½ to 9c.

HOPS—Demand slow and business quiet. Canadians, 18 to 20c., as to quality.

POTATOES—Market firm. Carload lots selling at 70 to 73c. on track here.

PROVISIONS.

There was no improvement in the local provision market in point of activity. The demand is limited for all lines, but prices are fairly well maintained. We quote : Canadian pork, in barrels, $15 to $15.50 ; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¾ to 7c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

The demand for all grades of wheat from foreign buyers was again good to day, but holders here did not think bids high enough, consequently the amount of business transacted was not large. Cables on oats were weaker, bids from London showing a decline of 3d. since Saturday. In this market business was rather more active, but the feeling was easier. For No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat there were buyers at 73c. afloat Fort William, prompt delivery. In regard to the crop prospects, a private despatch received to-day read : Seeding at a standstill, ground too wet, heavy rain last night. There was a fair demand for oats, and some round lots changed hands, including 30,000 bushels at 36c. afloat May. Peas were quiet at 74c. afloat May. In buckwheat, some business was done for May afloat at p.t., and holders are asking 58½c. ex store.

FLOUR—There was nothing new in the flour situation. The demand on local account was good, and a fairly active trade was done at steady prices. We quote : Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.05 ; strong bakers', $3.70 to $3.80.

FEED—The feed market continues active and firm under a good demand. Ontario white wheat bran, in bulk, sold at $16 to $17, and shorts $17 to $19 per ton ; Manitoba bran, $16 ; shorts, $18, and mouille, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

MEAL—The meal business is still of a jobbing character, and prices for rolled oats are unchanged at $3.60 to $3.65 per bbl.

HAY — There continues to be a steady demand for baled hay, and a fairly active trade was done at firm prices. We quote : No. 1, $6 to $6.50; No. 2 extra, $5 to $5.50; clover and clover mixture, $4 to $4.75 per ton.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—Business was quiet, there being nothing further to report on spot and no additional news from the country. Prices in old cheese are nominal, around 11c., while for new, sellers are asking 10 to 10½c., as to grade.

BUTTER—Business is moderate in a local jobbing way, and creamery brings 17 to 17¼c. in 30-lb. tubs when strictly fresh. For anything else prices grade down ¼ to ½c. per lb. Dairy butter is absolutely nominal.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Geo. Mann, the Montreal representative of The "Salada" Tea Co. reports business as exceedingly brisk, and asks anyone doubting this to visit their premises, corner St. Sulpice and St. Paul streets, any time between 7 a.m. and about 10 p.m.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 27, 1899.

COMPLAINTS of the effect of the backward season on general business are still heard, but the weather has been much warmer during the last week. There is a good demand for merchandise in all lines. Activity in the lumber trade is increasing, with a promising outlook for the season. Markets generally are firm, and the conditions favorable to good business.

CANNED GOODS—Business is fair at unchanged figures. We quote: Corn, 90c.; peas, 80c.; tomatoes, $1; salmon, $5 to $5.25; new lobsters, $10; scallops, $6; oysters, 2's, $2.10 to $2.25; 1's, $1.30 to $1.45.

GREEN FRUITS—The only oranges now offered are bloods, at $2.25 to $2.50. Messina lemons are steady at $2.75 to $3.50; apples, $2 to $5 per bbl. Bananas are selling well at $1.75 to $2.25.

DRIED FRUITS—The market is quiet and stocks are moderate. We quote: Dried apples, 5½ to 6c.; evaporated do., 9½ to 10c.; evaporated peaches, 12 to 13c.; do. apricots, 17 to 18c.; Bosnia prunes, 5 to 5½c.; Californian do., 6 to 10c.; dates, 5 to 6c.; figs, 16 to 22c. New Egyptian onions are easier at 2½c.; Bermudas, $2.

SALT—Quotations are without change. The supplies from England will now come forward with less regularity, as the regular lines of steamers have gone on the Montreal route. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 40 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 80c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

SUGARS—The market is strong, and there is still a marked scarcity of low-grade yellows. We quote: Granulated, $4.50 to $4.55; yellows, $3.80 to $3.95.

MOLASSES—There have been no further receipts since last report. A cable from Mayaguez, P.R., last week, stated that it would not be possible to get another cargo at that port. The last fluctuation in Barbadoes was upwards. The market here is strong. Some large buyers are holding off in hope of lower prices, but are not getting the concession. We quote: Porto Rico, 31 to 33c.; Barbadoes, 29 to 30c.; St. Croix, in bbls., 29 to 31c.

FISH—The market is entirely bare of pickled herring and also of dry pollock. Owing to a better demand from New York buyers, smoked herring are a fraction higher. The market here has not been as bare of cured fish for many years. Fresh fish are more plentiful. The catch of alewives is a little larger, but scarcity of herring for bait around the Nova Scotian shores has caused the usual demand for alewives, and the demand is in excess of the supply. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $4; pickled shad, ½-bbl., $3.75 to $5, as to quality; smoked herring, 6½ to 7½c. per box; haddies, 6c.; fresh haddock and cod, 24c.; gaspereaux, $1 per 100; halibut, 8c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.

PROVISIONS—The market is quiet and steady. P.E. Island is offering hams at 9c. Charlottetown, which would be a little lower, delivered here, than the price heretofore prevailing. Plate beef is firmer. We quote: American clear pork, $14.50 to $15.50, as to quality; American mess, $14 to $14.50; domestic mess, $14.50 to $15; plate beef, $13.50 to $13.75; extra plate, $13.75 to $14.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour is dull and steady; oatmeal quiet; cornmeal active. Prices of these are unchanged. Feed has advanced. Beans are firm, especially yellow-eyes. The seed trade is late in opening up, and sales have not been large as yet. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.65 to $4.75; best Ontario, $3.90 to $4.05; medium, $3.70 to $3.85; oatmeal, $3.90 to $4.10; cornmeal, $2.15 to $2.20; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 41 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1.10 to $1.15; prime, $1.05 to $1.10; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2; split peas, $4.10 to $4.20; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $4.10 to $4.25; hay, $7 to $7.50; timothy seed, American, $1.50 to $2.00; do., Canadian, $1.80 to $2.25; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7½ to 8c.; red, 6¾ to 7½c.

EGGS—The market has not declined as rapidly as expected, but sales last week were at 14 to 15c., and this week 13 to 14c., with easier tendency.

CHEESE AND BUTTER—In cheese there is nothing doing, stocks being about cleaned up. Butter is easy. Dairy tubs are 12 to 15c.; rolls, 16 to 18c.; creamery tubs, 18 to 19c.; rolls, 20c.

OILS—There is no change in the price of burning or lubricating oils. Dealers in the latter report an unusually heavy spring trade with the mills.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Maple sugar has been scarce for the past week, and quoted higher at 10 to 14c. Syrup is lower at 80c. to $1.25. Of course there is a very wide range in quality of both.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Mr. Joseph Finley, wholesale grocer, has returned from a trip to the West Indies.

Quite a large fleet of steamers is now in port loading deals for the British market.

Fresh alewives are being shipped in car loads to Nova Scotia for bait for the deep sea fisheries.

James Patterson, fish merchant, who has been very ill for several weeks, has got back to business.

A small quantity of cheese from the wreck of the Allan liner Castilian came to the market last week.

Practically all of the large sawmills at St. John are now running, and giving employment to many hundreds of men.

The St. John river is now open for navigation, though the ice has not all run out of tributary lakes, which are also traversed by steamers in the open season. The river steamers bring a lot of produce and live stock to the north end wharves, making there a market which rivals the city market, and is much patronized by retail grocers and meat dealers.

John K. Storey is a thrifty dry goods merchant who ran for mayor at the recent election and only got 229 votes. But Mr. Storey is not at all disconcerted. He has given the following unique announcement to the press : "Mr. Storey wishes to state that the first year Mr. Sears offered for mayor he received only 233 votes ; Mr. Harris Allan, 186 ; T. H. Hall, 175 ; D. E. Berryman, 112, while Mr. Storey himself received unsolicited 229, and is now offering ladies' fine sailor hats from 25c. up."

THOSE EGGS.

Mrs. Bloggs ordered "fresh eggs" of her grocer. About half of them proved to be bad. Some of them boiled, when broken, nearly drove her guests from the table. Others were unendurable in the kitchen. Mrs. Bloggs called her grocer to account, and he called for a court of inquiry. The court visited his establishment, looked at a number of eggs which were white and clean, and broke several which the grocer handed to them, and found them to be good. They also received the testimony of several persons who averred that they had had good eggs of that grocer. The grocer considered himself and his eggs vindicated. And yet, strange to say, Mrs. Bloggs is not convinced that the eggs she complained of were good, and she has changed her grocer.—Burlington Free Press.

A BRITISH CLERKS' ORGANIZATION

AT the annual meeting of The National Amalgamated Union of Shop Assistants of Great Britain, held in Bradford, England, recently, 49 branches, with a membership of 2,596, were represented.

The president, E. Lomas, Manchester, in his annual address, stated that the organization was strong, and the prospects of their power growing were most bright. The most important question they had to face was the remuneration of female labor. Their attitude must be that wherever women do the same labor as men they must receive the same remuneration for that labor.

The report of the general secretary, James Macpherson, stated that the income of the society for the year was £3,347, as compared with £715 five years ago. There were 86 branches, with a total membership of 3,285. Of these, 1,776 members had joined in the last year. This membership he considered too small, however, in the face of the fact that there are about 1,000,000 workers in the distributive trade of Great Britain, of whom fully 750,000 were eligible for membership. He advocated spending £500 for organization purposes.

Statistics were given, showing that in 114 shops, principally grocery and drapery shops, employing 3,855 persons, 1,357 were living in and 2,498 living out. Of these, 423 worked under 60 hours, 571 worked between 60 and 65 hours, 808 worked between 65 and 70 hours, 1,945 worked between 70 and 75 hours, and 108 between 75 and 85 hours. Of those working under 60 hours, fully 400 were workers of cooperative societies. Systematic overtime was worked in 26 of the shops concerned, and in one case only was the overtime paid for. Twenty-seven of the shops allowed only half an hour for dinner and twenty minutes for tea.

The union's opinion of the living-in system and the long hours in many shops was expressed in the following resolutions : "This conference reaffirms its previous declaration that the living-in system has been perverted into a profit-making department of the distributive trades to the detriment of the physical, moral and social well-being of the shop-workers, and is of opinion that the time has arrived when the union should take active steps for its abolition, and calls upon all shop-workers to protest wherever possible against this substitution of truck as part payment of wage in the place of current coin of the realm," and "This conference calls attention to the unpaid overtime which some workers have permitted employers to exact as a right, and further condemns gratuitous service, and calls upon all shop-workers to organize in order that they may be in a position to abolish a system which the most unskilled laborers have long since refused to submit to." Both of these resolutions were passed without dissent.

The officers for the present year are : H. H. Roper, Lincoln, president ; B. Wilson Bradford, vice-president ; James Macpherson, general secretary. The next annual meeting will be held in Bristol.

THE RETAIL MERCHANT OF 1900

What changes may be looked for within the next few years? This is the query on which all retailers with small capital may well ponder. Already the thoughtful merchant has recognized the necessity for the adoption of safeguards to prevent the loss of capital. It may be said that hard times have made people the more careful of their dimes or that the great department stores in the cities, with their peculiar methods, have made a hole in the small merchant's profit or that it is the ever-extending trolley line or the frequent cheap excursion to the large centres. It may be said that it is the mail-order houses supplying the consumer. But, say what you will, there is no denying the fact that changes have come and that changes are still going on. Let every merchant therefore, fortify his business by adopting the soundest rules. Let him collect his accounts promptly ; let him sell more nearly for cash ; let him meet competition rationally ; let him push profitable goods energetically and restrict his buying to what he can sell, and sell quickly. The necessity of the hour is to make the business pay whatever it is, or else the retailer must prepare to join the wageworkers of the world with whatever grace he can command.—John T. Plummer.

THE DROUGHT IN CEYLON.

Complaints are still being made about the drought prevaling everywhere—on the hills as well as in the low-country. There has been a serious check to the flush in all the tea districts, but opinions differ as to how far the general output will be affected. The frosts in Upper Dimbula have nipped some of the higher tea in the hollows and ravines rather sharply ; and one planter in the Agras, who has had a large acreage of newly-pruned tea caught, is said to have reduced his estimate materially. If the Island's output is to be sensibly affected by the above causes, it cannot but help the tendency towards better prices in the near future by diminishing supplies.—The Times of Ceylon.

DELUSIONS OF COUNTRY CONSUMERS.

"YOU may bray a fool in a mortar, yet shall not his folly depart from him," and, similarly, the average farmer may be passed through a threshing-machine without losing the curious delusion that country grocers make enormous profits, says Merchants' Review. Other country dwellers besides farmers share in the notion, and, therefore, the supply houses and traveling fakirs with groceries for sale usually find plenty of "suckers" ready to bite.

Somebody, perhaps, has told the country resident that retail grocers commonly make 25c. a pound profit on tea, and he or she supposes that it is a net profit and a fair criterion of the margin earned on the whole stock. They really believe that the Klondyke is a pauper's hang-out, compared to the Golconda and Ophir of the rural storekeeper, and they swallow all sorts of yarns as to the great saving to be effected by buying of some fakir.

Now, the crop of this particular kind of "sucker" never fails; like the crop of beats, it defies all unfavorable influences and can always be depended upon to yield an abundant harvest. The fact that an occasional critic of the general storekeeper or country grocer sometimes tries his 'prentice hand at storekeeping, and ignominiously fails, makes no difference as regards the obstinacy of the delusion that the dealer's profits are princely. The hayseed adventurer always has plenty of excuses very pat. "Excessive competition" is a good, big mouthful, and is often made to answer; or, the excuse is that customers wouldn't pay their debts; anything rather than admit that the margin of profit was low and the work hard, with the management demanding great skill and the utmost vigilance.

Owing to his silence or misleading insinuations the delusion becomes a confirmed mania with the general public, and, besides offering a tempting field to the catalogue houses and traveling fakirs, the grocery business invites other members of the rural communities to try their luck at storekeeping with assurance, after other pursuits have been tried in vain.

AN INVITING ENTRANCE.

It is said that the hallway of a house is an index to its general character and that the tidiness and appearance of the servant indicates the sort of housekeeper by whom she is employed. And may we not say that the entrance to a store; the approach to the counters; the appearance of the desks, indicate the character of the stock and its servic remarks American Grocer.

If boxes and baskets of vegetables lir both sides of the entrance, or the floor crowded with displays of indifferent sort, s that approach to the counter is hampere then customers are incommoded and so u favorably impressed that they will avo frequent repetitions of their visit. Tl entrance and approach to the main counte should be open and scrupulously neat, ar the store so arranged that it arrests tl attention of visitors and invites inspection.

And when before the counter, custome do not like to be greeted by an untidy clerl whose linen suggests the need of a laundr man, hair the services of a barber, ar clothing the work of a cleansing establis ment, or whose address is abrupt or borde on the uncivil.

Let there be plenty of room about tl store entrance and counters; have the he bright and cheerful, the stock well arrange and every feature such as interests and i vites visitors. Then, they will not only g away satisfied, but will talk about the sto and its fine service, and that is the ve best sort of advertising.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. say that Hei pickles and sauces are having a big sale th season.

THE CONSUMPTION OF COFFEE.

THERE is "food for thought" for Indian coffee planters in remarks made by Mr R. E. Johnston in a letter to The London Grocer. Mr. Johnston, after noting that the board of trade returns show that the amount of coffee taken for consumption in the United Kingdom during the last three years has been as follows, viz.: In 1898, 12,540 tons; 1897, 13,424 tons; 1896, 12,400 tons, remarks: "About 40 years ago the figures were: In 1861, 15,792 tons; 1860, 15,926 tons; 1859, 15,398 tons. The population of the United Kingdom has increased from 29,070,000 in 1861 to 39,824,000 in 1897 (according to the Registrar General's estimates). Thus, in 1861 the consumption of coffee in the United Kingdom was equal to 1 21-100 of a lb. per head, whilst by 1897 it had fallen to 70-100 of a lb. per head." He then proceeded: "It is not unnatural that those who are interested in the coffee trade should try to find out the cause of such a remarkable decrease. We know that the production of coffee has increased very much, and I am informed that, in consequence of the low range of prices, which this increase has led to, pure roasted coffee is now being retailed in Germany (where the duty is rather higher than it is in the United Kingdom) at the equivalent of 9d. per lb. Perhaps some of your readers may be able to tell us the lowest price per lb. at which pure roasted coffee can be bought by the consumer in this country. I see that the deliveries of Brazil coffee (the cheapest coffee produced) for home consumption from the port of London were: In 1898, 1,062 tons; 1897, 1,500 tons; 1896, 1,350 tons. It would be interesting to know at how many grocers' shops a buyer could get a pound of Brazil coffee if he were to ask for it. No doubt the low price of tea has affected the demand for coffee, but I cannot help thinking also that the home trade in coffee is being throttled by high retail prices and by the sale of mixtures instead of pure coffee."

No mention is made of the competition of cocoa, and here, we think, Mr. Johnston overlooks a very important point. What we specially wish to note, however, is the remarks about the retail prices of coffee. We have given one or two American quotations of late, which show that coffee is retailed in the United States at much lower prices than in England. At the same time, we cannot shut our eyes to the probability that if lowness of price be resorted to as a means of stimulating the consumption of coffee, India will gain very little—if, indeed, she does not lose—and Brazil and other producers of "cheap" coffee will score all the tricks.

OLD TEA IN CEYLON.

C. Spearman Armstrong, one of the pioneers of tea in Ceylon, informs The Ceylon Observer that his 23-year old tea fields in Maturatta have continued, without manure, to give as good crops now as 15 years ago, namely, an average of 600 to 700 lb. per acre. Mr. Armstrong has seen nothing of blights in his own high district, though he has heard a good deal of them elsewhere. He agrees, however, that probably Ceylon is approaching its maximum crop of tea—that future crops may run between 120 and 130 million lb. averaging about 125 millions.

SPRING IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

THE PROVINCE, Vancouver, in its issue of April 6, contains the following interesting reference to the advent of spring in British Columbia :

It is pleasant to turn from the terrors of political strife and the consideration of sawmill sites and railway charters occasionally, to pay some attention to the mystery of unfolding spring. While winter has not yet relinquished its grip on the world in the east, here in British Columbia we are well on towards summer. The trees are in leaf, the flowers are in bloom, the birds are mating and the big snow fields are gradually disappearing from the mountains. The advance is so rapid that one can almost see the buds bursting and the leaves uncurling. Certainly, each day's growth and development can be easily noticed. The green tints become more pronounced with each passing hour, and, although things are not as far advanced as they were a year ago, it is practically only a matter of days before the virgin spring will turn to glorious summer. In British Columbia these things happen at a bound. The seasons have little of dawn and twilight. The winter of yesterday is spring to-day. To-morrow summer comes, and, with the "slow, reluctant feet," of which the poet told us, but with the calm assurance of a young woman who knows her way and is not afraid to take it.

To those who are accustomed to the rigors of an eastern winter the mild climate of British Columbia is a revelation. Notwithstanding the fact that the "winter" which has just left us was an unusually severe one there were probably not more than a dozen occasions when heavy overcoats were required. On the overwhelming majority of occasions waterproofs and light spring overcoats afforded sufficient increased protection. For a month or more not even these have been necessary. Pedestrians have gone around without extra clothing of any kind and have suffered no inconvenience. Those who have lived in the east, sneezing and freezing from October to May, would think this pleasure enough in itself to make life worth living and that everybody should be happy and contented, but we have our little grumbles and troubles here the same as elsewhere. That is human nature. No matter what a man has, there is always something lacking, and perhaps he never finds it this side of the peaceful grave.

THE MAN WHO SUCCEEDS.

I saw two men playing billiards, says a writer in Brains. One played to attract attention by the spectators ; the other made no fancy shot, but pulled out every count in sight. He won the game. I witnessed a game of football. One fellow on the losing side was a gallus chap. He waved his hands gracefully, and when his team was applauded he bowed and saluted the grand stand. At the end of the game I heard that they would have won but for the poor playing of the gallus chap. I know a salesman who attracts many girls to the store where he works. They love to stand and talk with him—he is so witty. They listen and giggle. The proprietor tells me he is the poorest clerk in the store. I notice, wherever I go, that the fellow who is bent on attracting the most attention to himself is not the fellow who succeeds. I notice the fellow who has wood to saw and saws it is always in demand.

TALLOW PASTE-SOAP.

To prepare from tallow a solid paste-soap, smooth and of good texture, the following proportions, according to Oil and Colorman's Journal, are taken :

Tallow 200 parts, cocoanut oil 100 parts, are brought to the boil along with 180 parts of 10 deg. soda lye, and when combination has ensued, 140 parts of 20 deg. soda lye are added by degrees, boiling meanwhile continued.

After the second quantity of lye has combined with the soap, about 180 parts of 25 deg.—26 deg. soda lye are run in, and the soap is fitted, to a slight touch, with 26 deg. lye.

At this stage it will boil very thick and viscid, and must, therefore, be salted out with 20 deg. Be. brine, so that a sample taken out with the knife will break short off, and no longer draw out in threads. This point is an important one, since the soap, if not short enough in the grain, will cut unevenly, although it may be solid enough. If the requisite shortness of fracture and cohesion of the soap, when dropped on a glass plate be not attained, a little more 26 deg. lye must be added. The pan is then covered up and kept warm over night ; next day, the inch or so of scum on the surface is skimmed off and the soap is transferred to the frames, where it is again crutched.

POTATOES IN CANS.

At Mayville, Mich., there is a potato canning factory which has a capacity of 300 bushels per day. The potatoes are washed, then steamed, then mashed and forced through a sieve, making them stringy, then dried and placed into square tin cans, eight inches each way. A can will contain a half bushel and weighs about five pounds. In this way, 3,000 bushels can be shipped in a freight car, while in the old way a car contains about 500 bushels. The potatoes are not affected by heat or cold, and can be held from one season to another without damage. They may be cooked in any style to suit the taste. —Trade.

THE HUM AT ATLIN.

A snecial correspondent of The Provinc writing from Atlin, under date of March 2 has the following to say of the distric Things are beginning to hum here and the is no doubt but that there is gold in almc every creek. I am of opinion that Atl will, this fall, surprise the world by its ou put of gold. We are all feeling hopefi but nothing can be said definitely of o prospects, for gold is where you find it, a not where you want it. I would advise coming in to pass the Customs offices fir otherwise they will be compelled to pay du at Log Cabin, on the way in. If Vancouv merchants want their share of the trade th had better open branches immediately, Skagway is now getting the big end of and Seattle is making a big bid for a sha It is, however, a mistake for anyone to b supplies at Skagway, for they can be pu chased here for less than the cost of hauli them in.

He now working on an improvement th when the sugar market is low, he c reverse the machine and send the sap ba into the tree again until sugar advanc which will give him complete control of t sugar market."

THE COLOMBO TEA SALES.

THE first thing that strikes one on entering the Colombo salesroom at the Chamber of Commerce is the comparative quiet with which the proceedings are conducted. The room is airy, well ventilated and cool, with Japanese punkahs in full swing, and there is no crowding. Bidders sometimes speak in an undertone, but their voices are instantly spotted, and swept up into the continuous flow of the sellers' auctioneering harangue. To anyone accustomed to the tea sales at Mincing Lane there is, of course, something lacking in the excitement of the proceedings. Of the latter, I attended two at home not long ago, the second time with Mr. William Somerville himself, who also kindly accompanied me on this my first visit to the Colombo salesroom, and by of those present, greatly added to one's enlightenment on the personel engaged in capturing the various breaks and grades that were put up and bid for with eagerness, deliberation or sometimes distinct indifference. At Mincing Lane, men stand in a throng around the auctioneer's desk, the biggest buyers nearest, every desk in the room being crammed—the majority of the company, it is true, being lads who have come to take down the prices for the papers or for firms other than those represented in the room. There the London auctioneer's task is vastly more trying, and to pick out the first voice among six that are roaring together like a hurricane is no simple matter. Here in Colombo, too, there is more time for conversational remarks.

QUITE A LITTLE SPAR

being raised now and again over some abnormal bid or point of sale with which a bidding-claimant happens to be dissatisfied. Of course, at home, the interests concerned and the consignments dealt with are vastly more immense, so it is scarcely to be wondered at that the business proceeds with far more continuous briskness. However, under the conductorship of Mr. W.E. Drury, of Messrs. Forbes & Walker, this contrast was not so marked, and the largest of the three sales lists was tackled with the greatest despatch. One of the largest, if not the largest, prices among those in to-day's sale was that fetched by Palmerston Broker Orange Pekoe, namely 79c.; 77c. was given for the same grade of tea from Fetteresso, while Queensland (another of the Palmerton Co.) fetched 76c. Inverness broken Pekoe was offered at 65c., but not sold, 60c. being the nearest bid. In Mr. E. John's list, 76c. were given for Mount Everest B.P. and 63c. for its Orange. St. John's B.O.P. was started at 70c. and knocked down at 77c.; for Orange Pekoe of the same estate the price given was 66c.; for Pekoe 51c., and 45c. for Pekoe fannings. In Somerville & Co.'s list, Dalhousie O.P. fetched 55c., X.Y.Z. broken Pekoe 54c., and Woodthorpe do. 51c. These were the chief prices among the larger breaks.

Most of the bids were made and won by Mr. F. F. Street, who seemed always ready to step into the breach when bidding flagged, or to meet a piteous appeal from the desk, such as: "What, only —c.? Oh, I can't sell. I'll take——(perhaps 1c. higher). Mr. Garrett was there buying for Lipton, but his bids were by no means overfrequent. Mr. Croll, for Messrs. Crosfield, Lampard & Co., bid very little, on the whole, but generally with a bold and well-timed offer whenever there seemed a certain hesitancy in the room to advance as far as the shadowy boundary lines of market value. As far as I could learn, the market was, if anything, rather better than usual, one bidder averaging something like a 2c. rise on that of last week. To turn to the lighter side of the proceedings, the following will give a selection of the remarks that passed aloud, here and there :

At one point a break of 2,340 lb. in the catalogue was announced to be only 270 lb. "Why don't you correct the catalogue?" called one. "I'll send it to you to correct next week!" returned Mr. Drury. "All in Venesta packages!" said the auctioneer, in putting some B. P. fannings of Kennington for sale. Later on the question whether they were packed in Venesta was considered so important that Mr. Drury was requested to send a clerk to telephone an inquiry as to the chests used. The tea was Nahalma broken Pekoe. "I'll give you 45c. if they're not in Venestas!" was one exclamation.

A FINISH-UP BID

of 41c. for Clunes' Pekoe made the room musical, or the reverse—for several notes were blended in a discordant whistle. For O.S.S. an offer of 40c. being successful, a non-bidder shouted across "Don't sell without seeing me." Over Lamiliere teas business was proceeding so rapidly that several were unaware exactly which lot was being dealt with. "Where are you now?" called one. "Pekoe!" was the reply. "What did you do with the Pekoe Souchong?"—"You bought it at 42c.!" was the crushing rejoinder. When things were going to sleep a little, and someone, missing a bid he thought was his, gave vent to his feeling a little, he fetched a sharp retort from the person reflected on. "Oh! Oh!" said a few. "Well, I won't stand that from anybody," the injured one replied. "No, don't," went the chorus. "Knock him down. Sit on him. Jump on his chest!" and so on ad lib.

Even to an outsider the Colombo tea sales are far from dull —Ceylon Observer.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, April 24, 1899.

THE weather is very fine and warm, and seeding is now pretty general. The wheat market is excited and fluctuating as the bad reports from Kansas have been more than confirmed. It is almost impossible to quote any price that would be likely to be correct when this gets into print.

A new departure in the business world has been the visit of the representatives of Ontario and Quebec fruit houses, endeavoring to dispose of the stock of the three incoming steamers from the Mediterranean. This would indicate that more and more the men of the east are looking to the west for their market. The consumption of oranges and lemons is always very large at this point.

TEA—Ceylons are higher with every indication of a firm and steady market. From reports it would appear that there will be a difference in the opening price of from 1d. to 2d. per lb. on these teas (ordinary medium grades). Representatives of the various houses that have visited the city all assured buyers that the prices were firm and likely to advance. In China tea, direct orders with limits are now being given, but it is impossible at present to say how the market will open as it is always largely affected by the Russian demand. Japan shows nothing new to report as no large offers have been made. Several sales have gone through at prices ranging very much the same as last year.

COFFEE—Market slow and dull. No. 5 Rios, from 8¾ to 9c.: extra fancy Arabian Mocha, 30c.; extra fancy Java, 33c.

SUGAR—There has been an additional advance of 5c. per 100 lb. by refiners, but so far the price has not advanced here and quotations are still at 5⅛c.

CEREALS—Beans are offering very freely, but price is maintained and $1.40 is asked for first-class hand-picked. Rolled oats are without change. Pot barley has declined and new stocks are quoted to arrive at $2.40.

CANNED GOODS—The market is much the same as last week. Tomatoes are really selling here below their market value. Well-known brands are quoted by some houses at $2.30, others $2.25, while less notable brands run as low as $2.15. Peas are $1.95 for Marrowfats, and $2 to $2.25 for sifted. In corn, ordinary brands, $2.30, but St. John Valley corn is quoted at $2.50.

CANNED MEATS—The competition is very keen here at present, and it would appear that (freight added) they are being sold lower here than at any point in Canada. Of course, the range of brands is so large it is difficult to quote prices, but for choice American brands the following is correct: Corned beef, 2-lb. tins, $2.65; 1-lb. ditto, $1.50; brawn, 2-lb., $2.25; pigs' feet, $3; roast beef, 2-lb. tins, $2.65; 1-lb. ditto, $1.50; lunch tongue, 1-lb. $3.30; 2-lb. ditto, $6.25; 1½-lb. ox tongues, whole, $9 50; 1-lb. chipped beef, $2.75.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED FRUITS—The feeling in evaporated apples is for higher prices, though 11c. straight is still quoted. Dried apples have shown a tendency to decline. A few cars are due to arrive, and are quoted from 7½ to 8c. It is likely, however, that these cars exhaust the possible supply. Californian apricots are clearly out of the market at the prices asked. They would be worth 19c. laid down here at the present time, and that price is prohibitive. Peaches are also scarce and high. Unpeeled are quoted at 14 to 15c. In peeled, none are offering, but, at any rate, there would be little sale for them if the price was in proportion to that of unpeeled. Prunes are firm, with slightly higher tendencies. Quotations run from 5½ to 9c., according to size and quality. Pitted plums range from 8½ to 9½c. Usually, the demand for these goods has not been large, but, owing to the very high prices of apricots, peaches and nectarines, there has been a considerable run on prunes and pitted plums, and the prices are better and the sales larger than ever before. In raisins and currants, the demand is normal and prices are without change. Cooking figs are cheap, and, though the sales are fairly large, the market is weak.

HONEY—Comb honey is scarce, and buyers are anticipating difficulty in filling requirements for strictly first-class comb. One house received an importation of 5,000 lb. the other day, but were warned that no more could be had. Dealers think it probable that they might have to go to California to replenish their stocks.

CHEESE—Market dull, with no change in price. A few cheese factories are open, but no new cheese will be delivered for some time; in fact, the dairy commissioner is using every inducement to persuade factory men to keep unripened cheese off the market.

EGGS—The market is peculiar. Although so very scarce last week the price did not advance as high as might have been looked for. The feeling now is more easy, and it is likely that from this on prices will be more reasonable. Dealers are offering 16c. Winnipeg.

BUTTER — The situation has changed very little. Small lots of choice dairy butter bring 16 to 17c.; separator made in bricks is worth 20c. Medium and low-grades are now asked for, and, when sold at all, prices are on a sliding scale.

CURED MEATS—Are without change.

GREEN FRUITS—Little change to report. Retail houses are showing cherries and asparagus to-day, but wholesale houses have not touched them yet. Strawberries went as high as $8 and $8.50 during the week, but are lower to day, and are quoted at $7.50 for the case of 24 boxes that retai at 60c. Oranges have not changed in price. Quite a few Tangerines have been on this market during the past two months and wholesale men report them as growing in favor. They are so sweet and with such a full flavor that it would seem they only need to be known to be more freely appreciated. Bananas are arriving in car lots so freely that they are somewhat of a drug on the market, and prices have gone down from 50 to 25c. per bunch. Quotations to day are $2.25 to $2.50.

SOME FOOLS.

WHILE I was quite young I "got job" with a one-horse grocer in large city. I had ideas of my own and, having actually become a factor in th selling of good products, I decided to pu into play some of my grocery thoughts an fancies. This grocer was one of thos individuals commonly tagged as slow. Hi 2 x 4 grocery didn't come up to my youthfu ambition at all. I liked to look out on th street—so I surprised the windows. Of a things that make against a store, dirt show-windows are among the worst. M next attack was on the shelves. "Th boss" called my attention to a mistake was making. Putting on a groceristic front, he showed me the error of my way I was cleaning the shelves from bottom up As fast as I cleaned a row of oysters an persimmon cans I made them dirty again I had the right idea in my head, but I didn use it right.

That's the way with hundreds an hundreds of advertising merchants; the advertise, but they are not doing the thin in the right way. 'Twas only to-day that saw a holiday ad., with old fat Santa Clau much in evidence. This was in a large daily paper dated February 22, 189 That's a case of throwing dust on dollar Run that advertiser down, and he will te you either that "advertising doesn't pay, or that he "just does it to encourage th poor publisher." If he says advertisin doesn't pay, I'll agree with him if he wi amend the statement to read: "The kin of advertising I do doesn't pay." If h practises philanthropy in the guise of givin out advertising, I want to say that he fearfully unwise. A man would better b charitable in a direct and open manner-give what he wants to give and let it be matter of itself—than to get it all mixed u with his business and make a mark of hin self.—Geo. B. Forrester in The Advertisin World.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

EVAPORATED APPLES STRONG.

TELEGRAMS received from the west to-night indicated a strong market there for prime evaporated apples. Orders were received late this afternoon for several cars at 8⅞c. for prime f.o.b. New York and were filled, but the holders declined to go on at that figure, demanding 9c., although at 8⅞c. several more cars could have been promptly sold. Stocks on the spot are reported to be closely controlled and the holders appear to be indifferent sellers. The demands from western buyers are said to be causing an upward tendency, notwithstanding the indifference of eastern buyers.—New York Journal of Commerce, April 22.

CALIFORNIA RAISIN SITUATION.

Regarding the raisin situation on the Coast, The California Fruit Grower says in its issue of April 15: "There has been a fair inquiry and movement. Quite a number of cars of unbleached sultanas have gone forward to Europe at the 3¼c. rate. The Griffin & Skelley Co. shipped six cars to Hamburg, Germany. There is a good consumptive demand for the cheaper grades. Eastern reports indicate a firm market and light stocks. The California Raisin Growers' Association has been incorporated, and is in practical working order. The commercial packers have, with one or two exceptions, signed the new contract, and the completion of the association now depends upon the growers themselves, and they have until May 1 to sign up the necessary 80 or 90 per cent. Several large grower packers, who would not sign last season, have signed, and the association management feels confident of securing the required acreage. In that event, the California Raisin Growers' Association will be an assured fact for the next two years at least. If properly conducted, there can be no doubt as to the great benefit the association will prove to the raisin industry."

SALMON CANNING BEGUN.

The San Francisco Trade Journal, of April 14, says regarding salmon: "Fishing and canning is the order on the Sacramento, but so far the run has been light. The grade of fish is said to be good as to color and solidity of flesh. On the Columbia the season opens Saturday, but it is not likely that much will be done before towards the middle of next week. Preparations have been made for more fishing, but it looks as if gill-netters will have the advantage this season, for the water promises to be high. If the latter is realized the fish ought to average larger in size, in which case it will take fewer to make a good sized pack. There promises to be considerable competition between buyers, particularly if the run should not be above an average. It is reported that cold-storage men will pay an advance over canners so as to secure the more desirable sized fish for Eastern markets. At this writing it is hard to learn what prices are to be paid, for it is said that the combine is waiting for the first move from outsiders, while the latter are waiting for the combine, but it looks as if 5c. will be the basis for chinooks. Since writing the above we are advised that the price of fish on the Columbia river has been settled on at 5c. Confirmed sales of chinook, canned, are reported on the basis of $1.25 f.o.b. river for talls. How this can be done so as to make anything but a loss and pay 5c. a lb. for fish is more than we can figure out."

CALIFORNIAN PRUNE SITUATION.

The principal feature in the Californian prune market is the renewed inquiry from European exporters. The report that the French crop has been seriously damaged by late frosts, coupled with the statement that handlers in France have recalled stocks held in England, Germany and elsewhere on the Continent on commission, has, it is stated, caused European and English buyers to again turn their attention to Californian goods. There have already been sales made of several cas to go to Germany, and negotiations are said to be pending for the purchase of a number of additional cars by exporters, but the conclusion of the transactions has been delayed, we understand, owing to the difference in views of buyers and sellers. There are said to be other and quite numerous export inquiries, but, in view of the comparatively limited stocks on the spot, no large business, it is held, is likely to occur whether buyers finally come up to sellers' prices or the latter agree to accept the bids of buyers.

The spot demand for Californian prunes is fairly active, but it is of a hand-to-mouth character, and jobbers seem to be doing most of the business, and the market is somewhat unsettled in consequence of offerings of inferior rejected goods. The large sizes of prune fruit are reported to be in small supply, and there is not much of the smaller fruit to be obtained, we understand, from first hands either here or on the Coast. Mail reports from California are to the effect that the effort to get higher prices on stocks remaining there has not met with much success. The California Fruit Grower, in its issue of April 15 says that the f.o.b. price on that date was 3¼c. for outside stock and 3½c. for Santa Clara fruit. The four sizes are said to be practically exhausted on the Coast, and what remains are being held for the regular trade, sellers rejecting all bids from speculators.

According to mail advices from California just received here, the proposed prune combination has not yet been launched. A private letter from San Jose says that the fruit union people are working hard to make the combination a success, but as yet there is not much to show as a result of their labors. The writer says further: "Whether they (the fruit union) will be able to hold enough growers in line to make the thing a success remains to be seen, although they claim to have received much encouragement for their efforts from New York correspondents."—New York Journal of Commerce

ALMONDS IN LONDON.

London stocks of Jordan almonds on April 1 were 14,065 boxes and 87 packages compared with 9,386 boxes and 258 packages at the same time last year. Of Valencia almonds there were 7,538 boxes on April 1, against 5,612 boxes at the same date last year and 6,566 boxes in 1897.

AN INJUDICIOUS "AD."

A Brockton (Mass.) grocery store, according to an exchange, has been advertising once in a while a "barrel of ginger snaps for 25c." The day after one of the "ads." appeared, a woman drove up in a democrat wagon, which she proceeded with some trouble to back up in front of the store. After she had arranged everything satisfactorily she went into the store and asked for a barrel of those ginger snaps. When one of the clerks handed her out one of the little imitation barrels in which they come, she was highly indignant, and marched out without purchasing.

SAMPLE-ROOM ACCOMMODATION WANTED.

Commercial travelers are frequently heard to complain about the lack of sample-room accommodation at many points throughout the country. Travelers sometimes have to wait two or three days before they can secure a sample-room, in cases where several travelers arrive at one time and have to wait their turn. At several of the larger towns it would be a profitable investment for some enterprising citizen to have a few good sample-rooms fitted up. The travelers would be glad to pay for a room in preference to being obliged to wait a length of time when the rooms in connection with the hotels are engaged. At points like Brandon, Portage la Prairie, Calgary, Prince Albert, etc., it would probably be found a profitable investment for some resident to fit up a few good rooms for the commercial men.—Winnipeg Commercial.

J. L. PRESCOTT & CO., New York

SETTLED IN TORONTO.

IT is stated in the columns of THE CANADIAN GROCER in December last that I. M. Mayell & Co., London, Ont., intended moving to Toronto, the firm being of the opinion that the "Queen City" afforded better facilities for the carrying on of their business.

A few days ago a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER paid a visit to the company's new quarters at 86 Richmond street east, Toronto. The building is four storeys and of red brick, with an addition specially built for the coffee roasting branch of the business. The name of the firm is now Mayell & Co., Mr. I. M. Mayell having retired from the business in December last. A rumor had been circulated that the company, in removing from London, had brought with it the machinery and stock, but there was no evidence of this when a tour was being made through the various departments of the new factory. The rumor in question was broached to Mr. Mayell, who replied: "The old plant was left in London. All our machinery, labels, and stock are new in every respect." Then Mr. Mayell produced a copy of the contract made with his successor in London. The following is an extract from the same: "Whereas the vendors have agreed with the purchaser for the sale to him of the stock in trade, machinery, fixtures, tools, stencils, etc., of the business carried on by them in the city of London aforesaid, upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set out: (B) Their stock of labels now on hand, excepting 'Art' baking powder labels and 'Electric Leaven' labels, it being understood and agreed that the purchaser may use any labels purchased by him from the vendors with the vendors' name upon them, but that he shall not be entitled to reorder labels with the vendors' name upon them without the sanction of the vendors."

"Was it understood that when you sold out your London business that you intended to remove to Toronto?"

"Certainly; it was well known that we were going to start up in Toronto."

"But has it not been rumored that your successor did not know that you were going to remove to Toronto?"

"Is that so?" exclaimed Mr. Mayell, with some surprise. "I do not see how such a rumor could have got abroad. Our successor had a perfect knowledge of our intention to remove to Toronto. We did not sell him the good-will of our business, you see. Our agreement plainly shows that we reserved our baking powder labels and business entirely, and there was nothing prohibitive ever mentioned by my successor in regard to our starting up again. In fact, he is a most agreeable gentleman, and seems to have every confidence in his ability to do business from our old stand, and told us we were at liberty to start even in London if we wished."

The factory of Mayell & Co. at 86 Richmond street east is one of the most complete of its kind in Toronto. The goods put up under the firm's new brands and labels are most attractive. Mayell & Co. should meet with success in their new venture.—Advt.

SUGAR BEETS IN PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

The Charlottetown Morning Guardian, in referring to the movement to establish a beet sugar industry in Canada, adds: "It may be that Prince Edward Island will some day have a great beet sugar factory as a notable addition to our present fine and small industries. When the time comes, it will mean a large annual disbursement of cash among our farmers—cash which is now sent abroad to maintain foreign industries instead of our own."

41 YEARS is a long time to maintain one position in the starch busines in Canada, namely—AT THE HEAD. THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU . . . .

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

Comparisons, for Profits' Sake.

You remember the catch phrase, "The Pill that Will? Windsor Salt is the salt that will, but there is no catch to the statement--it is fact--not theory or assumption on our part. We make the comparison for your profits' sake. Windsor Salt will--hold trade every single time. Salt is salt--but all salt is not pure and white and dry (for the table) and perfectly crystalized. Windsor Salt is the salt that will--it is the salt of double profit--profitable for you and the users too. You hear this everywhere, "as pure as Windsor Salt."

The Windsor Salt Co., Limited
Windsor, Ont.

Windsor Salt.

No argument is needed to sell Lazenby's Goods, Codou's Macaroni and Stephens' Pickles---their names are silent arguments themselves. That is what a name will do.

Lazenby's.

A name familiar to England's Nobility for over 100 years—"E. Lazenby & Son." Lazenby's Jelly Tablets are made from absolutely pure materials. The fruit, flower, wine and spice flavors are Nature's own. Thirteen different varieties —each one of the very highest quality. "Profitable to use—profitable to handle."

Jelly Tablets.

P. Codou's.

Another name that stands for all that's good in Macaroni—P. Codou. With that name on the package no argument is needed to sell it. Made only from real Russian wheat. Delicate, tender Macaroni.

Macaroni.

Stephens'.

Are you quite sure of the name when you buy Pickles in bulk? You may get them packed in something else besides Pure Malt Vinegar—unless you look for the name "Stephens." When you see that you get absolutely safe packing. The pickles are sound, crisp, piquant, always.

Pickles.

All of the above are sold by leading wholesalers.

Surprising!

Substitution seems to be the order of the day. It is surprising how many grocers have been selling inferior grades of Corn Meal under the name of Tillson's Gold Dust. And the number seems to be increasing every day.

Women are sending us samples of what their grocer gave them for Gold Dust—we appealed to fifty thousand Canadian women and it seems that we enlisted the sympathies of fully one-quarter of them. They gave us the name of their grocer, and now we propose to follow this up persistently. If a woman wants Gold Dust Corn Meal in the future, we are going to see that she gets it every single time. "A good thing is worth imitating."

Because I have been advertising my 10c. "Pharaoh" Cigar and my 5c. "Pebble" Cigar persistently, do not infer that I do not make other grades at other prices, especially for your trade. Labor is cheap here in Granby, and my living expenses are small. I own my own factory. I do not have to make as large a profit as many manufacturers do because of these reasons

You see why I can certainly give you a better quality of tobacco and workmanship at a lower price than you can possibly get elsewhere. Drop me a postal and one of my travellers will call with samples of

THE GROCER who is in business to make money can reap the benefit of this very easily. Just put these teas into stock and let your customers know you have them—you'll sell 'em all right. Try it and see.

GROCERY BUSINESS METHODS.

THE prudent purchaser never buys in too large quantities groceries that will become stale and unsalable if not turned quickly. His purchases rarely exceed the quantity which he can sell within the limited time before deterioration sets in, and on this account he gains a valuable reputation for selling fresh goods. He does not let the inducement of an extra discount offered for a larger order cause him to lose sight of the fact that if he buys too heavily his loss from unsalable stock will be far more than the extra discount would amount to. Of course, this would not apply to cereals, soap, sugar, flour, canned goods and other articles which do not deteriorate in value if properly cared for. Frequent purchases of crackers, butter, candy and other supplies which need to be fresh to be good will save many a grocer annoying complaints. Any grocer can keep fresh stocks to the satisfaction of his customers and to his own greater profit if he follows these suggestions and the advice of F. R. Boocock, in Business :

" How often it is that when a failure occurs in any line of business it is discovered that a large amount of the stock on hand is old, obsolete, and unsalable? It would seem that this very condition of affairs would justify a careful search for the cause and the application of the proper remedy. Is not the whole situation explained by this one fact, that when a new supply of goods is received by the average merchant it is piled or dumped upon the old, thus leaving the original supply as a perpetual cornerstone for successive pyramids of fresh goods? Under these conditions it is not surprising that a certain amount of goods should become shopworn, faded, stale and useless. By reason of this very system a large number of retail merchants, in making a statement of their affairs, should in all justice classify about 25 per cent. of their stock as 'fixtures.'

" No matter what the kind of goods, when a new lot arrives that which is on hand should be carefully removed and the fresh supply put in the place assigned to it. The old lot should either be placed on top or otherwise arranged, so as to be the first that is sold. This rule should be applied to every class of goods, whether sold by the yard, pound or piece. This method, properly observed, guarantees a continuous rotation of stock, and will keep everything neat, fresh and atrractive. Old stock should not be tolerated by any merchant that desires to keep abreast of the times and effectively meet his competition.

" When new stock of a certain character is received, it is the general custom to mark it with both the cost and selling prices. Equal care should be taken to mark, along with the other figures, the date of its receipt. When the annual or semi-annual inventory is taken, every article in the store should be itemized, and opposite, in parallel columns, there should be noted the cost price, the selling price, and the date it was placed in stock. After the inventory has been completed, it should be carefully analyzed and separated into sections. Every article over six months old should be at once moved, even at a sacrifice, if necessary. Of course, the character of the goods will determine the length of time that their retention on the shelves will be safe. Fresh, clean, and attractive-looking stock is a merchant's best advertisement. It indicates his enterprise and judgment as nothing else can, and it is certain to attract the attention of his patrons and command trade."

One method of buying to advantage while maintaining fresh stocks has not received the consideration it deserves. I would recommend every grocer to look very carefully over his stock and study his customers' wants, not only by his sales books, but also by the orders for high-grade brands which he either could not fill or did not think it to his advantage to fill. With the knowledge before him, he should make out a list of the articles which his customers ask for, and from each class select the brand which he knows to be the most economical for his customers to buy. Let him make this first-class brand in each line his leader. By pushing these leaders, he can buy them in sufficient quantity to secure good prices, and yet turn them so quickly that his stock will always be fresh. There will probably be some other brands which he will have to carry to meet the demands of certain classes; but these should be bought in comparatively small quantities and sold more for the convenience of customers than for the profit involved.

Buyers of groceries are quick to recognize quality and freshness and they value above all things a tradesman upon whom they can rely without the fear that he will take advantage of them if they relax their watchfulness. I am convinced that such a plan as I suggest will encourage this feeling of confidence. It is feasible, and is, I believe, applicable to almost any store which has an intelligent class of buyers. It has been successful in many cases and is pretty sure to win the confidence of the customers, which is the first essential to success.

One mistake commonly made is to take advantage of those who send children on errands, by giving them stale or inferior goods. This is suicidal, if one is desirous of securing the good-will and confidence of the parents. It should rather be the aim of every grocer to serve children with particular care, seeing that they get what their parents want, and are waited on in their regular turn. Kind treatment of their children is often an opening wedge to the confidence of people who could be approached in no other way so easily or surely. —Roscoe, in N. E. Grocer.

WHAT'S A GROCER IN BUSINESS FOR, ANYWAY?

First, last, and all the time, to make money, eh? Yes; but about the "How."

And it's the "How" I want to talk about.

It does seem as if many grocers carried the idea around with them that their particular stores were great big benefactions to the public in general; that it is a privilege to deal with them; that the world owes them many and varied thanks for having them around.

They go about with their precious noses so high in the air that they may easily be used as hat pegs, and the expressions upon their faces make one think of how the late William H. Vanderbilt appeared when he said (if he did say it, as many claim he did), "The public be d———!"

The public can do without any store upon earth to-day a great deal better than that store can do without the public.

The quicker some of those great "High-and-mightinesses" realize that fact, the better for their business.

Such men forget that unless the public is pleased the public refuses to buy, and that unless they cater to the public's wants, likes, desires, expectations, exactions, the public will do its buying in more business-wise quarters.

These thoughts are the result of learning how some dealers handle the matter of returned goods.

When a patron buys a bill of goods, she (I say she becaase she does most of the buying) should have the privilege to send back anything she does not want, whether it has been ordered by mistake or not, unless the article is of a perishable nature, and unless the buyer waits too long before returning it.

There are many grocers who are bright enough to see that it pays to receive back into the store those goods which patrons desire to return for any reason. It pleases the patrons, and that's what the grocer must do if he will retain their trade.

Of course, the grocer may "stand upon his right," and demand that when the goods are regularly ordered they must be paid for and kept. That's undoubtedly "his right," but it isn't always good business.

A patron likes to feel that when occasion requires it she may have the privilege of return or change. It's the smart thing for the grocer to offer that privilege. If she asks the privilege and is refused it, she'll almost surely do her buying somewhere else where that privilege is hers for the asking; while, if she asks it and it is granted, she can't help feeling the weight of the accommodation.

The grocer, too, has woven another cord which binds that patron's trade to his store.

There are very many grocers, and their numbers are increasing, who are alert to the advantages accruing to their stores, from following a liberal and generous policy.

They are willing to do anything to please customers, and are even willing to grant requests when they know perfectly well that those requests are totally unreasonable.

One merchant said to me recently: "I've made up my mind that during 1899 not one customer who comes to me with a kick shall go out of my store dissatisfied. I don't care what the kick may be, I'm going to adjust it to the customer's satisfaction. I know some will 'pull my leg,' but I'll let them do it. I'll get their good-will and make up the loss many times over before the year is out."

He is a successful merchant, and deserve to be. He's business-smart enough to se that a temporary loss is a gain, if it please a customer.—American Grocer.

CUT ICE IN WINTER.

A grasshopper wasted all the frosty da of winter in gayly skating o'er the froze lake, while a prudent ant improved eac gloomy hour by cutting ice and storing away.

When the summer was come and th thermometer registered 108 degrees in th shade, the grasshopper approached the a for a loan of $3.00. But the ant, wh loaned money only on good security, saic

So the hungry grasshopper went to th hayfield, where he dropped dead from sunstroke, while the ant sat on the sha side of his house, drinking ice-cold lemo ade and reading French novels.

A WELL-EQUIPPED STORE.

MISENER BROS., grocers, provisioners and hardware dealers, Brantford, Ont., have moved into new premises. The building is three and a half storeys high, and has a 41-foot frontage, containing seven plate glass windows. One side of the main store is devoted to hardware, the other to groceries. The provision store is separated from the others by an archway. The counter in the provision store is a slab of marble, the bottom of the window is also of marble. A fountain has been arranged here to spray fruits and vegetables, and the firm intend putting in an aquarium with gold fish, etc. The counters of the main store are of quartered oak and the ceiling is metal. One feature in the grocery department is an innovation in Brantford, that is the plan Misener Bros. have adopted for handling their sugars, rice, oatmeal, etc. Instead of having to fill their bags out of barrels or boxes, the goods are sent to the second floor and placed in bins. Chutes leading to the first floor have been arranged so that any quantity of goods desired can be drawn out in a short space of time.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday last week Misener Bros. held an opening reception. An orchestra pleased the ear and light refreshments the palates of all patrons who visited the store on those days.

PRESERVING EGGS.

Numerous methods of preserving eggs are in use. The idea of all of them is to keep air out of the eggs ; as by such absence of oxygen, decay can be arrested for a considerable length of time, especially if the eggs are perfectly fresh at the start and are kept in a cool, dark place. The standard method, most used by speculators and dealers, is to put the eggs in limewater. The process is as follows, this recipe having been widely sold at $5 under pledge of secrecy :

Take 2 gallons of water, 12 lb. of unslacked lime and 4 lb. of salt, or in that proportion according to the quantity of eggs to be preserved. Stir several times daily and then let stand until the liquor has settled and is perfectly clear. Draw or carefully dip off the clear liquid, leaving the sediment at the bottom. Take for the above amount of liquid 5 oz. each of baking soda, cream of tartar, saltpetre and borax and an ounce of alum. Pulverize and mix these and dissolve in one gallon of boiling water and add to the mixture about 20 gallons of pure lime-water. This will abo fill a cider barrel. Put the eggs in carefull so as not to crack any of the shells, lett the water always stand an inch above t eggs, which can be done by placing a bar head a little smaller on them and weightin it. This amount of liquid will preserve 1 dozen eggs. It is not necessary to wait get a full barrel or smaller package of egg but they can be put in at any time that th can be obtained fresh. The same liqu should be used only once.—American Ag culturist.

EMBELLISHING THE MODERN STORE.

DO merchants ever pause to think of the changes wrought by time in their several ancient and honorable trades? Do they realize that when prentices roamed the business precincts of Cheapside, crying "Clubs, clubs!" the shops wore an aspect different from now as cheese from chalk. What would the well-conditioned ones of the Guild of 100 years agone have thought of the methods of modern shop display, or fin de siecle window dressing?

Ingenuity and taste are equally called nto play, and the merchant who lags in either, it is generally conceded, loses just so much patronage. To show goods in various enticing shapes constitutes the main "tricks of the trade." Of course, it is possible to find isolated merchants who deal in first-class stock who are yet negligent in the matter of attractive fixtures, but the rule is all the other way. A tradesman's yearly profits depend upon the estimate which the public place upon his progressiveness, upon his enterprise. One of the most profitable channels into which to direct enterprise is in taking advantage of Luxfer prism windows at the top of plate glass fronts, in order to secure an almost out-of-door brightness, sent from front to rear. Luxfer prisms are one of the most important inventions of the century, and appeal especially to Canadians, because emanating originally from Toronto. They dispense with hot skylights and light wells and banish gas bills. Stores which used to be considered quite bright are, by comparison with prism-lighted ones, absolutely dingy.

INGENIOUS ADVERTISING SCHEME.

Open all your letters, says a contemporary, by cutting one end of the envelope so carefully with a sharp pair of scissors that no rough edges are visible. Save all these envelopes. In the course of a month you will have quite a lot. Give them to a clerk, send him out in a wagon or on a bicycle, with instructions to drop one in the middle of the road every few hundred yards or so. With his five hundred envelopes he can cover a great deal of country.

The effect will be so magical that you will at once feel the effects of it. Nobody can pass an envelope that looks like a letter without stopping to see whose it is, who dropped it, and all about it; and, when it is thus picked up and the grocer's address and business carefully read, an impression is made on the reader's mind that is very hard to forget.

PAYS FOR HER TRADING STAMPS.

A College street, Toronto, grocer was standing in the doorway of his store the other day when a lady, who had for some years been a customer of his, passed.

The grocer lifted his hat as she approached. She stopped, and inquired:

"I suppose, Mr. —— you have noticed I have not been buying so much from you as I used to?"

"I believe you are not," replied the grocer.

"No," returned the lady, "I started to fill a trading stamp book, and have it almost done, so am getting my groceries at Mr. ——'s, who keeps stamps."

"Do you think you save anything, Mrs. ——?"

"No, I really don't. The trouble getting the stamps and keeping them has been more than their value. And, besides, I frequently have to pay higher prices than I would in a store where there are no stamps. But now, after having taken so much trouble, and being so near through, I want to finish the book. I'll never start another, I assure you."

This took place this week. It is about as good a view of the trading stamp from a consumer who has had a lengthy experience in getting them as one could wish.

COAL OIL REGULATIONS.

THE Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, on Tuesday, announced, during his budget speech, that the Government had decided to modify the Customs regulations regarding coal oil.

"At present," he said, "all petroleum, whether Canadian or imported, must be barreled before being inspected. The packages must bear the inspection marks, and inspection fees must be paid, varying from one-fifth of a cent to one-half a cent per gallon, according to the size of the package. We propose to sweep away all these restrictions. Canadian oil will be inspected at the refineries, and imported oil at the port of entry, and, having been so inspected, may be removed or sold without restrictions as to packages. The inspection fees will be entirely abolished. The present law contains provisions for guaranteeing the safety of the oil. These will have to be adhered to and rigidly enforced. But, apart from what may be necessary in the interests of safety, our aim will be to allow the utmost freedom in the handling of the oil. My hon. friend the Minister of Inland Revenue will introduce immediately a bill to abolish all these restrictions to which I have referred. There is no doubt that a large part of the oil business will still be handled in barrels. The tank cars will come to large centres, where the oil will be stored in tanks, and thence distributed in barrels to different parts of the country. Wherever the conditions of the trade require that, well and good, but where they do not, we do not propose hereafter to compel the people to buy oil in barrels."

DELAYS IN COLLECTIONS.

Warren Jeffries hits the bullseye in the very centre when treating of the subject of "Business Procrastination," remarks New Jersey Trade Review. He says that the distinctive difference to be noted between the active, pushing, successful man of business and the unsuccessful and discouraged man is frequently found in the simple matter of the improvement of time. The one seizes upon every opportunity as it is presented, and, acting promptly, profits by it; he is alert and his movements are rapid. The other, with perhaps as clear perception of the situation at the first fails to reach the goal in time simply from constitutional inertia or the bad habit of procrastination. Mr. Jeffries thinks that there is no man in business in whose management of affairs promptitude counts more than with the retailer. The consumer's wants are imperative. The retailer, to profit by supplying those wants, must act instantly. Is a new article asked for? It must be found and supplied quickly or else a competitor gets the advantage. Does some event occur that can be turned to advantage in an advertising way? The opportunity must be seized upon instantly or the effect will be lost. Are discounts offered for prompt payment? Then the remittance must be despatched by the specified date, or else the coveted percentage is not secured. Are there accounts to collect? The bills must be presented at the time they are due and every reasonable effort put forth to secure their payment, or else loss from bad debts will be the ultimate penalty. Procrastination in collections costs large sums of money every year to retailers and to other merchants as well. First, it deprives them of the use of the money which would secure discounts on purchases, and, second, it helps the debtor to get into a position where he cannot be made to pay even by legal progress.

DISPOSING OF SURPLUS STOCKS.

When wholesale grocers in Ohio become overstocked with any description of goods the secretary of the State Association is used as a medium for their relief. At regular intervals he makes up a list of the articles in over-supply and distributes the same among all of the members, so that they can relieve each other of the surplusage. The list is also published in retail circles, as it contains many bargains which the retailers are often glad to get. There is just one objection to this bargain list in a limited price territory—it must tend to create competition in retail selling prices, as such is the usual consequence of underbuying by a few members of the retail trade. It is to be hoped, however, that this will not happen in Ohio, where the outlook for limited retail prices of proprietary goods is so promising.—Merchants' Review.

TORONTO GROCERY CLERKS' AND DRIVERS' ASSOCIATION.

Since the organization of the Toronto Grocery Clerks' and Drivers' Association that body has been doing work beneficial, not only to its members, but to the grocery trade in general.

Deputations from the association have recently waited on many of the grocery stores on Queen street. The result has been that the grocers between Soho and Bathurst street have agreed to, and, in fact, have commenced closing at 7 o'clock, and those as far west as Niagara street have agreed to start next week.

The committee in charge of the annual excursion, which is to be run to Oshawa on May 24, are working hard to make it a success. J. T. Paul, 402 Spadina avenue, president of the association, is chairman of this committee.

CHARCOAL IN PAPER BAGS.

The good housewife who, forty or fift years ago, looked out in the street now an then so as to be sure and not miss the char coal man when he came along, and wh bought charcoal by the bushel or the barrel to be carried in from the wagon and emptie in the cellar, would have been surprised t see, as she might now-a-days, charcoal sol in paper bags. The charcoal thus sold i a residue of the manufacture of wood alco hol, produced by the charring of hardwoods beech, and maple in kilns. It is shippe in bulk in carloads from the region of pro duction to the place of distribution, an there put into bags for sale.

This modern way of selling charcoal wa introduced into Buffalo about eight yea ago. Buffalo now buys 10,000 to 15,00 bags daily. Charcoal in paper bags ha since been introduced in various other citie as far east as Boston It has been sold i New York for about two years.

The paper bags are stout sacks of th same general proportions as an eighth-barr flour sack, but a little larger and holdin half a bushel of charcoal. The filled ba are tied around the neck. Charcoal i paper bags is sold in stores, like any oth commodity.—New York Sun.

INCREASED IMPORTS OF WEST INDIA SUGAR.

IN the House of Commons, on Monday last, the Hon. Wm. Paterson, Minister of Customs, replying to a question, stated that the importation of West India raw sugars into Canada for the six months ending December 31, 1898, aggregated 9,049,000 lb., valued at $161,901, as compared with 6,245,929 lb., valued at $124,804 during the corresponding six months of 1897. In quantity this is an increase of nearly 45 per cent.

It will be remembered that by an amendment to the Customs Tariff, assented to June 13, 1898, sugar, the product of the West Indies and of other British colonies, was accorded the privilege of the 25 per cent. preferential tariff, said privileges to come into operation August 1. The figures given by the Minister of Customs deal with five months' importations under the preferential tariff.

It is to be regretted that the question to which he replied did not ask for the importation of sugars from Queensland for the same period, for the people of that colony were expecting to derive some benefit from the preferential tariff.

We must confess that we are somewhat surprised at the increase in the importation of West India sugars. On account of the countervailing duties in the United States against European bounty-fed sugars, which really gave West India sugars a greater preference than under the Canadian tariff, the refiners across the border were, as they are still, keen competitors for West India sugars. Under such conditions an increase was not to be expected.

How far the preferential tariff contributed to the increase in the importation for the period named cannot be determined, but, with the increase 45 per cent., the tariff seems entitled to share in the honor of inducing it.

TO STOP FALSE ADVERTISING.

A BILL, somewhat unique on this side of the Atlantic, is before the Minnesota Legislature. "An Act to Prohibit False Advertising" is the title of the measure.

The first section, stripped of its legal phraseology, makes it a misdemeanor to falsely advertise the value, quality, or the manner or source of purchase or the possession of awards, prizes or distinctions; or the motive or purpose of a sale which are untrue or calculated to mislead. The second section makes it a misdemeanor for a person or firm to advertise by methods untrue or calculated to mislead and divert trade from and injure a competitor. The bill has the support of the business men of the State.

A law similar to that now before the Minnesota Legislature is in force in Germany, and prosecutions taken under it have been successful.

A lying advertisement is worse than an oral lie as a rule, for it not only goes out to a larger constituency, but it has the power to do a great deal more harm.

The purpose of the wantonly lying advertisement is to deceive the buyers whom it is designed to entrap, and any legislation which has for its object the prohibiting of such advertisements is entitled to the sympathy of every honest business man.

ST. JOHN'S WINTER PORT TRADE.

The statement of the winter port trade through the port of St. John shows a large increase over that of the season of 1897-98. Sixty-one steamers carried outward cargo valued at $7,137,737, compared with 57 steamers of smaller tonnage and cargo value of $4,838,768 in the preceding season. The tonnage of vessels outward was 32,206 tons greater in the season just closed. The tonnage of freight outward was 23,109 tons greater and inward freight 1,795 tons greater.

The exports included 2,943,059 bushels grain, 10,488 head of live stock, 183,345 sacks of flour and oatmeal, 64,114 boxes cheese, 11,192 packages butter, 32,774 boxes cured meats, 54,767 bales hay, 10,894 tierces lard, 12,498 bbls. sugar, 8,655 bbls. glucose, 105,096 maple blocks, 45,630 bales pulp, 12,332 cases eggs, 33,950 bags starch, and a very large lot of miscellaneous cargo.

This trade was carried on without delay or accident, so far as St. John was concerned, and affords another proof of the adaptability of St. John as a freight port for winter trade.

The total cargo value outward included $3,208,114 represented by American produce in grain, live stock, cured and fresh meats, sugar, glucose, etc.

INCIDENTAL COSTS.

It is the little things in business that require to be looked after. As the old proverb says, "Take care of the cents, and the dollars will take care of themselves."

In estimating the cost of an article for the purpose of fixing its selling price, it is necessary to calculate the incidentals, in order that nothing may be lost.

Too often the selling price of an article is placed at a figure which, it is believed, will meet the prevailing keen competition and at the same time yield a small profit. But, while the goods sell, the profit does not come, and the business, in consequence, is a losing, and not a paying, one.

The first cost and the freight are not the only factors entering into the cost of an article; and every factor that is not taken into account becomes a leakage, instead of a source of supply.

Labor, insurance, advertising, interest, rent, etc., are all factors in the cost of an article. Do not overlook them.

THE BUDGET SPEECH AND THE GROCERY TARIFF.

AS FAR as the tariff is concerned, the budget speech of the Finance Minister, on Tuesday last, was more than usually featureless. In the tariff itself there was absolutely no change.

There are occasions when changes in the tariff are necessary, but the less often these changes are necessary the better, for their influence upon trade is always more or less disturbing.

The refiners and the wholesale grocers are doubtless disappointed because no provision is to be made for relieving them of the effects of the sugar war and the rebate system in the United States.

It is denied by the refiners in the United States that the sugar which they are exporting to Canada is bounty fed. And strictly speaking they are right. But that the rebate of $1.68 per 100 lb. which they receive on sugar exported is financial assistance cannot be denied, call it by what name you choose.

One thing at any rate is obvious, the refineries would be unable to sell their sugar in the Canadian market as they are now doing were it not for the rebate.

THE CANADIAN GROCER does not for one moment presume to say that the Government should have made an actual increase in the regular duty on sugar. Under ordinary conditions the present duty should be quite sufficient. Certainly, the people of this country are not inclined to accord them any more. But the conditions obtaining in the sugar trade across the border are not ordinary. They are extraordinary, although they cannot be permanent any more than could be the fight between the famous Kilkenny cats. But, while the Trust and the independent refineries across the border are tearing each other, they are enabled, by the aid of the rebate, to give both refiners and wholesalers in Canada unpleasant scratches. A simple clause in the tariff imposing a countervailing duty on such refined sugars would have settled the matter.

Another change that should have been made is in the duty on syrups. The present specific duty of 10½c. per gallon is practically prohibitive, being in some instances equal to an ad valorem duty of 90 to 100 per cent.

Medium and low-grade syrups which are so much used on the farms and in the lumber camps are practically not made by the Canadian refineries, while the high duty permits only an occasional bargain lot to be imported from the United States, where there is a good supply of these syrups.

If there is one commodity in the grocery trade the duty on which is objectionable it is syrup, and there is no good reason for its continuance.

It is to be hoped that before Parliament is prorogued the Government will give some consideration to the duties on both sugar and syrup.

Those who pinned their faith on the pronounced statements of certain daily papers that a duty was to be placed on tea and bought speculatively in anticipation thereof, are, no doubt, disappointed. There was never, however, any probability of a duty being placed on tea, and during the past few months THE CANADIAN GROCER has again and again pointed this out. However, the knowledge that the tea market is an unusually strong one is some compensation to those who may be holding tea in excess of their usual requirements.

Difficulties as well as men should be looked in the face.

HIGHER PRICES ON TEA.

THERE has been an active movement in tea during the past ten days at Montreal, especially in China and Ceylon stock. In the latter, round quantities have changed hands around 17c., and the fact becomes interesting when it is learned that the identical lots of tea sold about three months ago at 13c., so that the sales stand for a rise in price, in the period mentioned, of 4c. per lb.

About a month or so ago, China Congous were obtainable at 9½ to 10c., but lately the same class of tea has sold at 13½ to 15c., so that this class of tea also stands from 4 to 5c. higher than it was during the winter months.

Both Ceylons and Congous are difficult to obtain at the advanced prices.

Light supplies of Pingsueys have led to appreciation in their value also, for none are now obtainable under 12½ to 14c., the same goods selling during the winter at 9½ to 10c. These prices are, of course, fo straight lots between traders, but they ar having their influence in leading to a firme attitude on the part of jobbers.

Recent cables from Japan state that ne crop stock is commencing to arrive, and th the opening quotations show a decline of 1 per cent., but it is considered that, as th figures refer to first garden pickings, the afford no fair criterion for the latter descri tions of Japan tea, which are chiefly used Canada.

MOLASSES VERY FIRM.

THE molasses market has been excite with an advancing tendency, as a r sult of cables from primary marke noting a rise in the first cost at Barbado of 1¼c. per gallon, and, as the first cost now firm at 13½c, it means that impor tions will cost 31c. laid down in Montre

This strong news has led to an increas demand from traders in Montreal and el where east of that point for both new a old crop stock, and three cargo lots of 1,c puncheons each were recently bought at t Islands at the rise for Montreal firms.

In addition to these transactions, a rou lot of 300 puncheons old Barbadoes w bought by Quebec people at 30c., Quel gauge, which is equal to 31c. Montreal.

One estimate places the stock of molasses in Montreal at 1,500 puncheo yet, despite the fact that 31 to 32c. is ask for round lots, and 33c. for smaller qua tities, the Montreal Guild range still sta at 31 to 32c., but it may be remarked t it is a merely nominal one at present, fo is doubtful if jobbers would consent to acc orders for any quantity at this range.

Advices from other points of product are quite as firm as from Barbadoes, cab from Antigua, this week, stating that market is bare of stock.

Altogether, the position seems to be strong one, and, unless recent intellige has been outrageously cooked, no mate change from the present level of value s expected during the current season.

The fact that prices are considerably ab those which ruled at the same time last son was pointed out a couple of weeks a

A MENACE TO CANADIAN-JAPANESE TRADE.

THE question regarding the anti-Japanese legislation of the Province of British Columbia, which is now occupying the attention of the British, Canadian, and Japanese Governments, is of commercial as well as of political importance.

Should the Dominion Government not disallow the bill, or be unable to induce the Provincial authorities to repeal it, the Japanese Government vows it will retaliate in a way that will affect Canadian goods entering that country.

It is this that gives the question its commercial signification.

At present, Japan is not an extensive purchaser of Canadian products. Last year it only took $148,028 worth, against our purchases from her of $1,439,354. The exports to Japan last year of goods the produce of Canada, not taking into account articles less than $100 in value, were as follows :

EXPORTS TO JAPAN.

	Quantity.	Value.
Coal, tons	1,361	$ 4,573
Salmon, smoked, lb	272,900	6,087
" canned, lb	2,692	166
" pickled, bbls	3,911	11,733
Planks and boards, M. feet	2,965	39,102
Horses	2	200
Butter, lb	2,900	576
Cheese, lb	6,845	1,006
Bicycles	8	394
Household effects	....	300
Machinery	....	150
Whiskey, gals	135	394
Sugar, lb	2,100,401	78,095
Cigars and cigarettes, lb	9,932	4,670
Moldings, trimmings and other housefurnishings	....	221
Other manufactures of wood	....	100

Except in the items of coal, household effects and cigars and cigarettes, the above table shows an all-round increase compared with the previous year. The total exports of 1898 exceeded those of 1897 by $7,000, or over 5 per cent. There was a gain of $5,000 in smoked salmon, while of canned and pickled salmon there were none in 1897. Planks and boards were another clean gain, although there were masts, spars and lumber to the amount of $1,367 in the returns of 1897 that are marked by their absence in last year's report. Butter increased from 30 to 2,900 lb. and cheese from 5,513 lb. to 6,845 lb. But cheese is not a popular food with the Japanese, and it will be necessary to cultivate a taste in them before Canada can hope to do much of a trade with them in that article. At present, the flavor of cheese is repulsive to them.

We sent five bicycles more than in 1897, and 56 gallons more of whiskey. Sugar was 1,872,562 lb. in 1897. The sugar, which is the product of the British Columbia refineries, is credited with being the best imported into Japan and commands the highest price.

The decline in coal was $6,694, in household effects $1,400, and in cigars and cigarettes $5,044.

Compared with our total export trade, that to Japan is only a little over 1-10 of 1 per cent., an insignificant proportion, indeed. But should we value the Japan trade by its present proportions? We scarcely think so. There are possibilities, and good possibilities of its expansion, and these should not be overlooked in the process of appraising its value.

Japan is often called the Great Britain of the Orient, and this appellation is as applicable in a commercial as in a political sense.

In 1897 the Dominion Government considered the possibilities of the Japanese trade of sufficient importance to send a special commissioner to that country to investigate it, and his report showed that there was in Japan a market for many Canadian staple products if intelligent efforts were only made to push them. The increases that were made in 1898 in the exports of salmon, planks and boards, butter, sugar, etc., rather corroborate Commissioner Anderson's conclusions.

But legislation specially aimed against citizens of Japan can scarcely be said to be conducive to the expansion of our commercial relations with that country.

British Columbia stands to lose the most should retaliatory legislation be inaugurated by Japan, for the salmon, the sugar, the coal and the lumber exported to the latter country are the product of that Province, but what injures British Columbia directly injures the Dominion indirectly.

It is to be hoped the Government of the Pacific Province will have the good sense to repeal the obnoxious legislation as soon as possible.

The population of Japan, exclusive of that of Formosa (2,000,000) and Pescadores (45,000), is about 42,000,000, and the imports of the country in 1897 were £21,930,000.

In 1894, a treaty was concluded between Great Britain and Japan. This treaty acknowledged the right of the Japanese to frame their own Customs policy, English jurisdiction to be abolished at the end of five years. In return, however, Japan agreed to throw all the country open to British traders, instead of only the treaty ports, as soon as the foreign jurisdiction was abolished. Canada declined to accede to this treaty, and consequently, is exempt from its provisions.

CANADIAN TOBACCO INDUSTRY.

One of the most interesting statements made by the Minister of Finance during the delivery of the budget speech, was in reference to native tobacco industry.

There are now 11 factories in Canada in which Canadian leaf is used for making tobacco and cigars. During the nine months the quantity of tobacco produced was 1,502,153 lb., which Mr. Fielding estimated would reach 2,002,000 lb. for the 12 months, against 1,904,000 lb. last year. The quantity entered for consumption for the nine months of the current year was 1,477,000 lb., which he calculated would reach 1,960,997 lb. for the year, against 1,877,000 lb. last year.

The quantity produced in 1897-98 exceeded the average of the three previous years by 1,509,385 lb., and the consumption during the same year by 1,474,915 lb.

A lamp chimney combination has been formed, but the heat of competition would soon crack it.

JAPAN TEA MARKET OPEN.

The Japan tea market has opened, and prices appear to be on a slightly lower basis than a year ago.

A cable on Monday stated that 900 piculs of tea had been sold at prices equivalent to 20½c. per lb. for finest and 23½c. for choice. These prices were slightly lower than similar sales on the corresponding date 1898.

THE ONLY PACKET TEA upon the market to-day that is not an experiment.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, May 4, 1899.

GROCERIES.

GENERALLY speaking, a good demand is experienced by the wholesale grocery trade. Large purchases of sugar were made early in the week in anticipation of tariff changes. The opening of navigation has brought several orders for groceries, especially canned goods, from the Northwest. This, with an improved local demand, has steadied the feeling regarding tomatoes, which could not be purchased at less than 80c. for round lots. The wholesale price is firm at 85 to 90c. The demand for canned fruits, corned beef and potted meats is improving, the summer trade in these goods having started. Canned peaches in 3's are 15c. dearer. The Valencia raisin and the currant market continue firm, with an active demand for the raisins. Rio coffee has advanced in the primary market, and this, as well as all other grades, is firm here. The tea market is as strong as ever, and, though prices locally are unchanged, Ceylon and Chinese teas are rather higher in the primary markets.

CANNED GOODS.

With the opening of navigation, several liberal orders for canned goods, especially vegetables, have been received on Northwest account. The local demand, too, is good. Retailers stocked pretty heavily in the fall, but in many cases they are becoming cleaned out and are restocking in the lines in which they are short. The result is that there has been a stiffening in the feeling regarding canned corn and peas. Tomatoes seem to have recovered from the easy feeling noted last week, though the price, 85 to 90c., still holds good. Peas are firm at 75 to 80c. for 2's. The demand for canned fruit, canned fish, cooked corned beef and potted meats is opening up very nicely. A firm feeling is evidenced throughout. Peaches in 3's are 15c. dearer than last week, as stocks are light and a scarcity is anticipated. In other lines of canned fruit no change in prices has been made, but, in case of shortage, which is possible in all stone fruit, prices may go higher.

COFFEES.

The stiffening in the value of East Indian coffees is caused by advances in the primary market for Rio. There is a good local demand, so the feeling here is firm though the price quoted still hold good.

RICE.

With the opening of navigation there has been an increase in the movement of rice, which is now in good demand. The new crop of domestic milled rice which is being received this week has not affected prices, which are steady at from 5¼c. to as high as 5¾c., for fancy grades.

SUGARS.

There was pretty liberal buying of sugar by retailers in the early part of the week in anticipation of a possible change in the tariff.

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

Though no change was made the market holds firm, and jobbers are looking for a higher range of values in the near future. At the moment, the demand is rather quiet and prices are unaltered.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Not much business is being done in either molasses or syrup. The syrup market is featureless. Molasses are steady. Advices have been received this week from New Orleans stating that a decidedly firm feeling is manifested on the molasses market there.

TEAS.

The market is in practically the same situation as was noted last week. There is no let up in the strength of the London market. One house, which is an extensive packer of Ceylon teas, states that as no grade of Ceylon tea can be bought under 16c., and as it costs 3½c. to put up the tea in packages, it is only a question of time how long 25c. Ceylon package tea will be put on the market. Nearly all the large packing-houses had large supplies bought before the present high prices were reached. When these stocks are exhausted, either inferior teas will have to be mixed with the Ceylon or the wholesale price of the 25c. tea will have to be advanced, if this grade is kept on the market. The general opinion of jobbers seems to be that prices are inflated, for they are only buying from hand to mouth.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—The market is firm. An advice received this week from Patras, Greece, states that the market there has been stiff for the last month, and important business has been doing with all consuming centres, especially Germany. Owing to deficient rainfall and the prospects of a short crop, holders and buyers in Patras express doubt that there will be any decline in prices.

VALENCIA RAISINS — The strong tone noted last week is still manifested. Quotations received from London a few days ago quote an advance of 7s. 6d. per cwt. on the prices of a month ago. The stocks of selected and fine off-stalk held here are considerably lighter than usual at this season, and, as prices in the primary markets have advanced, local jobbers are holding their stocks at firm prices. There has been an active movement of all Valencias, and particularly selected grades. The range of prices quoted last week still holds good. It was as follows: Off-stalk, 4 to 4½c.; fine off-stalk, 4½ to 5c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c.

PRUNES — There is an active demand. Prices are unchanged, with a steady feeling manifested.

GREEN FRUITS.

The principal demand on the green fruit market this week has been for bananas. Large quantities of Jamaica fruit are arriving, and are moving out just as quickly as they arrive. Prices are likely to be dearer, as the crop is lighter than usual. There is a fair demand for lemons, and stocks are sufficient for the demand. The market, however, is dependent on the fruit sale to be held in Montreal next Friday. There is a good demand for oranges. Valencias are practically done. Messinas are arriving in half boxes and boxes, the boxes selling at $3.25 to $3.50. It is the general opinion that all oranges are likely to be dearer very soon. Stocks of Canadian apples held in store are fairly large, but are not likely to last much more than through this month. The quality of those held is good. There is a good demand for Egyptian onions, but Bermudas are quiet. Some domestic onions have been received from the Buffalo district, and have been selling at $1 per bushel case. Pineapples are arriving and move more freely, as the price has dropped about 5c. for all grades. The last cargo of cocoanuts received went out more rapidly than previous shipments. The price has been reduced 50c. Cranberries are practically done, as far as this market is concerned.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS — The feeling is decidedly easier, though the reduction in price amounts to but ½c. this week, the prices ranging from 11 to 11½c. per dozen. The supply is greater than the consumption, and, as a result, picklers have been forced to commence operations, though the prices ranging give no hope of a profit on eggs now being pickled, so the chances are in favor of further reduction in prices.

POTATOES—The demand is slightly easier, causing a reduction of 2 to 4c. for cars on track, Toronto, 78c. now being the ruling price. The street market is steady at 90c. per bag.

BEANS — Beans are also easier, showing a decline of 5 to 10c. for medium grades, which are selling at 85 to 90c.; hand-picked are steady at $1 to $1.10.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The stocks are pretty well cleaned up. Locally the demand is light, but there is a good inquiry on Northwest account. The jobbing price for small lots is steady at 5½ to 6c. For large lots on track, Toronto, 5c. will be paid. There is a good demand, and a fair movement of evaporated apples at 9c. outside. The jobbing price locally is 9½ to 10c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—The light crop has resulted in an advance of 10 to 15c. for imperial gallons, and 5 to 10c. for wine gallons. Sugar has advanced ½c. We quote syrup as follows: Imperial gallon tins, $1 to $1.10; wine gallon tins, 85c. Maple sugar is quoted at 9c.

VEGETABLES—Rhubarb and greenhouse radishes are arriving so freely that the price of the former has been reduced 75c., and that of the latter 10c. Asparagus is now offering freely at 40 to 60c. per dozen bunches. We quote as follows: Rhubarb, 50 to 75c.; greenhouse radishes, 30 to 40c. per dozen bunches; native spinach, $2 to $2.50 per bush.; green onions, 5 to 10c. per doz.; asparagus, $1.25 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 75c. to $1 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 30c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 35 to 50c. per bag; beets, 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips, $1 to $1.20 per bag; carrots, 30 to 50c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.40 to $1.60 per bag; butter squash, $2; Hubbard squash, $2; red cabbage, 50c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The market is still declining, both dairy and creamery showing a drop of ½c. this week. As there are accumulations of all grades, and as the stock arriving now is fodder-made and will not keep fit for competition with the butter which may be expected in a few weeks, even lower prices are looked for.

CHEESE — Arrivals of new stock are steadily increasing. The price now ruling for new stock is 10½ to 11c. Old goods are firm at 11 to 11½c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

With the close of the packing season of dressed hogs, the provision market shows a steady improvement. Long clear bacon, ham and rolls have advanced ¼c. per lb. Canadian heavy mess and short cut barrel pork are both 50c. dearer. As clear shoulder is in poor demand it has been reduced 50c. The general opinion is that prices are likely to go higher in many lines, if not all. Lard is especially firm at the prices quoted. The demand for all meats has been brisk during the past two weeks.

FISH.

Manitoba whitefish, bluefish and St. John herring are out of the market. Erie whitefish are offering at 9c. Bluefish have advanced 2½c.; fresh herring, ½c. Labrador herring are $1.75 per bbl. and $1.25 per half-bbl. cheaper. Steak cod has declined ½c. The supply is increasing, and there is less difficulty in meeting the demand. We quote as follows: Erie fresh whitefish, 9c.; trout, 9c.; perch, 4c.; haddock, 6c.; halibut, 10c.; bluefish, 10c.; steak cod, 7c.; fresh herring, 5c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4 per bbl. and $2 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 9 to 10c. per box; Halifax herring, $1.50 to $1.65 per 100; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; boneless fish, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; boneless fish in 1-lb. blocks, 5½ to 6c.; ciscoes, 60c. to $1.25; haddies, 8 to 9c. per lb.; lobsters, 15c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—A firm feeling continues, prices remaining at 68 to 69c. outside. The only grain offering on the street market is oats. We quote this market as follows: Wheat, white, 71c.; red, 71c.; goose, 65 to 66c.; peas, 63 to 65c.; oats, 38 to 39c.; barley, 42 to 44c.; rye, 50c. No. 1 hard Manitoba is unchanged at 80c., Toronto and west.

FLOUR—The feeling is steady and prices are unaltered. We quote as follows: Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.70; Ontario patents, $3.60; straight roller, $3.10 to $3.20, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—There is no change. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $4.00 in bags and $4.10 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $4; pot barley, $4.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL

HIDES—The demand keeps good without change in prices. We quote cowhides: No. 1, 8¼c.; No. 2, 7¼c.; No. 3, 6¼c.; Steer hides are worth ½c. more. Cured hides are worth 8¾c.

SKINS—Offerings of calfskins are liberal. We quote as follows: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c. Sheepskins are coming in slowly at 90c. to $1, and lambskins at 20c.

WOOL—The feeling is easy throughout. Prices are unchanged, fleece selling at 13 to 14c., and unwashed at 8 to 8½c.

SEEDS.

The season's trade in alsike and red clover, as well as timothy, is almost done, the only orders received now being for lots of three or four bags. The backwardness of the spring season, however, is causing some demand for Hungarian millet, which is selling at 60 to 75c. per bush. The prices for alsike and red clover are unchanged, the former being worth $2.50 to $4 outside, and the latter $3 to $3.30 on board.

SALT.

Canadian salt in barrels is quoted 5c. lower than a week ago. We quote at Toronto:

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, May 4, 1899.

GROCERIES

THE situation in groceries is, on the whole, satisfactory to the trade, for, aside from a somewhat backward demand for refined sugar, the movement of business is of normal dimensions for the season. The staple named also is very firm in its disposition, as the raw article continues very stiff, and for this reason the reluctance of buyers, considering that their stocks are light, is difficult to explain. Syrups continue featureless, but there has been some excitement in the molasses market, as a result of very strong advices from primary points. Canned corn has exhibited a firmer tendency, while tomatoes are rather easier, other lines being unchanged. Rice, coffee, spices and dried fruits remain as last reported. Quite a lot of activity has been exhibited in tea, and, as will be noted elsewhere, full prices have been realized, both in the case of China and Ceylon stock. Green fruit has been fairly active, and prices rule steady, despite the fact of large auction sales taking place this week.

SUGAR.

There has been little change in the local sugar situation since last report, the tone ruling firm, with prices well maintained. Demand, however, is not as satisfactory as sellers would like. In the raw market the situation is a very strong one, and present indications point to its continuance. As a result of it refiners both in Canada and the United States have been free buyers of raw stock in London, according to late cables. While cane has been dull, values are firm at 12s. 9d., and fair refining, 11s. 3d. Beet has again advanced, being 3d. higher than a week ago at 11s. 2¼d. for April and May delivery. In New York the raw article is very strong also, fair refining, 4 3-16 to 4¼c.; centrifugal 96 test, 4⅛c. The market there for refined has ruled firmer in sympathy. On spot, refiners, while they complain about the restricted volume of the demand, say that it is sure to come, as stocks are light throughout the country.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in the situation of the syrup market. Business is extremely light, as demand is slow, and prices are unchanged at 1¾ to 2¼c., as to quality at the factory.

MOLASSES.

There has been some excitement in molasses since last report, as a result of strong advices from primary markets noting an advance of 1¼c. per gallon. The market seems to be shaping for firmness all round as jobbers have shown more anxiety about supplies this week than previously. This fact has led to considerable movement of stock from first to second hands at firm prices. At present, no Barbadoes are obtainable here under 31c., and smaller lots are held as high as 33c., but the jobbers' guild price is still 31 to 32c. This is one of the peculiar facts of the market at present.

CANNED GOODS.

Demand for corn has been the leading feature of the canned goods market this week, and quite a quantity of stock has changed hands at 87½c., what is an advance of 2½c. on what has been made previously. Of course, for jobbing parcels no such price is possible, as holders ask 90 to 95c. per dozen. Tomatoes have exhibited an easier feeling, for round lots have been offered here during the week around 85c., which is a decline of 2c. from previous quotations. In a jobbing way no change has been noted. Peas are quiet, but with an easy tendency, as jobbers have been offered them at 75c., and 80c. is now the general jobbing price. Gallon apples are firmer in tone, also peaches, while plums are somewhat lower. There are few raspberries to be had here and prices are nominal. Salmon are steady, and the firm feeling in lobsters is fully retained.

RICE.

There has been no change to note in rice, and business will be quiet now until the arrival of new crop. Prices remain as last quoted.

COFFEE.

There is little business doing in coffee, and the market rules quiet, with no alteration to report in values. The only business in green coffee was in Maracaibo at 12c. and some low-grade Santos at 8c. in 75 and 50-bag lots.

SPICES.

Business in spices rules quiet, but the market is very firm in its tone. Cables from the east continue to note great firmness in pepper, and nutmegs are strongly held also.

TEAS.

There has been quite an active inquiry for teas of all sorts, with the exception of Japans. China Congous at 13 to 15c. have moved quite freely, the same stock having been bought a short time ago at 10c. The same strong tendency is noted in Ceylons, which have moved to a considerable extent during the week at 17c. China greens have also been in good request.

DRIED FRUITS.

Valencia raisins have moved to a small extent at steady prices, while other lines of dried fruits are entirely without new feature.

GREEN FRUITS.

There has been a fair demand for all kinds of green fruits during the past week despite the fact that the big auction sale on Friday of this week has diverted a lot of attention from the regular market to it. Considering the large quantity of stock that will be offered, both oranges and lemons have held their own since last report. Valencia oranges have realized $5.75 to $6 and Californian navels $4 to $4.25. Good sound lemons have ranged from $2.25 to $2.75. Bananas are steady at $1.60 to $1.75 for firsts, and 85c. to $1 for seconds. Pineapples are lower under larger receipts at 12½ to 20c. each. A few small lots of American strawberries have sold at 30 to 35c. per box.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a good demand for eggs to-day, and the market is fairly active with a good business doing at steady prices, sales being made at 11 to 11½c. per dozen. Receipts to-day were 290 cases.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Arrivals of maple product continue small, for which the demand is good, and prices are firmly held. We quote: Syrup in wood, 5¾ to 6c. per lb. and at 65c. per tin. Sugar sold at 7¾ to 8c. per lb.

HONEY—The demand for honey is limited and the market rules quiet, with no change to note. We quote: White clover comb in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 8½c.; dark, 6½ to 7c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 5 to 5½c.

BEANS—Business in beans continues of a small jobbing character at steady prices. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

PROVISIONS.

Outside of the improvement in the demand for hams and bacon, the provision market was quiet and featureless. We quote: Canadian pork, in barrels, $15 to $15.50; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¾ to 7c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN—The grain market was more active to-day, there being a better demand from shippers for coarse grains, and a fairly active business was done. The tone of the market was stronger, and prices for oats advanced ¼c., with sales reported of 50,000 bush. at 36½c., and 10,000 at 36⅝c. afloat. Peas also show an advance of ½c., with sales of 15,000 bush. at 75c. afloat. Buckwheat was quiet, but firm, at 61c. There was a fair demand for Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat, and sales were made at 72¾c. afloat Fort William, prompt delivery, which figure shows an advance of ¾c. since Saturday. There was a fair demand for all lines of grain over the cable, and some round lots were placed.

FLOUR — A fair amount of business in a jobbing way was done in flour and the tone of the market remains about steady. We quote: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.05; strong bakers', $3.75 to $3.80.

OATMEAL — There was some demand for carload lots, and sales were made at $3.75 to $3.80 per bbl.

FEED—There continues to be a good demand for feed, and the market is active and firm. We quote as follows: Ontario white wheat bran, in bulk, sold at $16 to $17, and shorts $17 to $19 per ton; Manitoba bran, $16; shorts, $18, and mouille, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

HAY — In baled hay trade was more active, and now that the export live stock season has opened up the movement will steadily increase. The tone of the market is firm with an upward tendency. We quote: No. 1, $6 to $6.50; No. 2 extra, $5 to $5.50; clover and clover mixture, $4 to $4.75 per ton.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—Remains in much the same condition, and there is nothing to report in relation to old stock. For new make, buyers manifest a desire to modify bids, and 9½c., at the factory, appears to be the general idea just now. The stocks in store in Liverpool are 37,500, against 56,725 for the same date last year. In London, they are 70,000, and in Bristol, 14,000. In Montreal, the official declared stock this week was 17,000 boxes.

BUTTER— The butter market is rather dull, and 16½c. is the top price at present for the great bulk of the transactions, though a fraction more has possibly been made. From the top price values grade down to 16¼c. The stock of butter in Liverpool declared this week is 3,200 packages.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cables note another advance in Barbadoes molasses at primary markets.

The first big auction sale of Mediterranean green fruit is advertised for Friday of this week.

An active movement of tea from first to second hands has been a leading feature here lately.

The Acme Mills Co. report good demand for "The Sirdar" Mocha coffee.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have made several large shipments lately of their "Diamond" baking powder to the Maritime Provinces, where it has secured quite a foothold with the trade.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., May 4, 1899.

NAVIGATION on the St. John river opened up last week. There is, in consequence, a considerable movement of goods to fill orders from river points, and the steamers are bringing down produce to this market. In other respects, the past week has been without special feature. The tea market is still active. Sugar, molasses, and dry and pickled fish are very firm. The butter market is easier. The weather, though rather cold, has been exceptionally fine for several weeks. Reports from Provincial points show that some seeding has been done. The opening of the streams has caused a small army of men to be hurried to the head waters to bring out the logs. The lumber market is active and mills busy, with quite large shipments to the American and English markets. The wholesalers in all lines of trade report a satisfactory volume of business.

SUGARS—The market is firm at a slight advance, and the impression having somehow got abroad that the sugar tariff might be changed, it, also, had an influence on the trade. The Canadian refineries, however, did not advance prices soon enough to shut out American. Some four or five hundred barrels of American yellows were received here last week, and it is said there is still some to come forward. We quote: Granulated, $4.50 to $4.55; yellows, $3.75 to $3.95, as to quality.

MOLASSES—The last quotation from Barbadoes was 13c., 2c. above the lowest point. The St. John market is firmer in consequence. Porto Rico is also firm, and some dealers anticipate a higher market all round, holding that the quantity available to come here will not be large enough to depress prices. We quote: Porto Rico, 32 to 33c.; Barbadoes, 29 to 30c.; St. Croix, in bbls., 29 to 31c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — Demand is fair and the market here is without change. Oats and feed are high. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.65 to $4.75; choice patents, $3.90 to $4.05; medium patents, $3.70 to $3.85; oatmeal, firm at $4 to $4.10; cornmeal, $2.15 to $2.20; western gray B.W. meal, $2.25 per 100 lb.; oats, 42 to 43c.; middlings, bulk, car lots, $21.50 to $22; bran, $20 to $21.

FISH—The market is still entirely bare of pickled herring and of dry pollock. A few small dry cod were received last week and are selling at $2.50 per 100 lb., while large and medium cod are firm and scarce. Receipts of fresh fish are larger and prices lower, but all kinds of cured fish are firm. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $4; small, $2.50; pickled shad, $3.50 to $5, as to quality; haddies, 5c. per lb.; smoked herring, 6½ to 7½c.; smoked alewives, 90c. per 100; kippered herring, $1 per box; fresh halibut, 6c. per lb.; cod and haddock, 2c.; alewives 75c. per 100; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.

PROVISIONS—The market is dull and featureless, at unchanged quotations. We quote: American clear pork, $14.75 to $15.25; American mess, $14 to $14.50; domestic mess, $14.50 to $15; plate beef, $13.50 to $13.75; extra plate, $13.75 to $14; pure lard, 7½ to 8½c.; compound lard, 6¾ to 7½c.

FRUITS — Strawberries from Boston are selling at 30c. There is a fairly good trade in green fruits, but a larger movement will set in after the coming fruit auctions in Montreal. Quotations show no change this week, either in green or dried fruits. Oranges, (blood), $2.25 to $2.50; Messina lemons, $2.75 to $3.50; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, $2 to $5; dried apples, 5½ to 6c.; evaporated do., 9½ to 10c.; evaporated peaches, 14 to 15c.; apricots, 17 to 18c.; Bosnia prunes, 5 to 5½c.; Californian do., 6 to 10c.

BUTTER—The market is easier because of western competition. Ontario roll or lump butter (dairy) was offered last week at 13c. f.o.b. Before that, some creamery had come down from Montreal at about 18c. delivered here. Some time ago, a Winnipeg firm tried to place two cars of old dairy stock here, but could get no offer. We quote: Creamery roll, 20c.; tubs, 18 to 19c.; dairy roll, 15 to 17c.; tubs, 12 to 15c.

CHEESE—The cheese market offers no feature of interest.

EGGS—There has been a very sharp decline from the tall prices of a few weeks ago, and, with supplies coming in freely, the market is easy. Sales were at 10 to 11c. last week, and this week will, no doubt, see another cent knocked off.

SEEDS—There is now a better movement of seeds, which was certainly needed. The market is steady. We quote: Canadian timothy, $1.80 to $2.25, as to quality; American do., $1.50 to $2; alsike, 7½ to 8c.; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; red clover, 6¾ to 7½c.

CANNED GOODS—There is a more active movement in this line at unchanged quotations. We quote as follows: Corn, 90c.; peas, 80c.; tomatoes, $1; salmon, $5 to $5.25; new lobsters, $10; scallops, $6; oysters, 2's, $2.10 to $2.25; 1's, $1.30 to $1.45.

SALT — The market for Liverpool salt is firmer since the winter port steamers withdrew from this route. Supplies will come forward from the other side with less regularity during the summer. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 40 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 80c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

OILS—Trade in lubricating oils continues active. Quotations in all lines are unchanged.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Maple sugar is quoted at 10 to 12c., and syrup at 80c. to $1.25, according to quality.

The carcases of two spring lambs were sold to a market dealer on Saturday for $9.

A halibut, over eight feet long and weighing over 200 lb., was brought in by a fisherman last week.

Cucumbers at $1.20 per dozen and rhubarb at 6c. per lb. are now on the market, being received by steamer from Boston.

The St. John market is bare of yellow-eye beans. The last sale was at about $2. Green dried peas are quoted at $1.20 per bushel.

There is said to be a good prospect for the establishment of a sardine factory on Grand Manan. Maine sardine factories get a large lot of their small herring from Grand Manan waters.

Very few lobsters are being taken in the Bay of Fundy this year. Dealers say they have been fished out. Only the small ones come here, the large ones being sent direct to the American market.

The D.A.R. steamer Prince Rupert, on the Bay of Fundy route, has been disabled. The small steamer Bridgewater is now making daily trips, and it is expected the palatial Prince Edward will be sent to perform the service until the Rupert is repaired.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, April 29, 1899.

THE weather through the week has been very variable, and to-day is cold and stormy. In spite of this, however, trade is very good, and continues to increase in volume.

Two creameries opened this week, and a number will open on May 1. The spring, so far, has not been good for pasture, but the warm rains of the past week will no doubt improve it greatly. Ontario creamery has been bought by some houses for 16½ to 17c. for shipment to British Columbia. This, and the fact that the refrigerator service is not yet on, and butter must be shipped from here by express, will cause the market to open rather lower than usual. About 18c. is the price talked of for early offering. Dairy butter of medium grade is a drug in the market, and there is no sale for it. Fresh dairy rolls, nicely clothed, bring 13 to 15c. Separator-made dairy, in bricks, neatly wrapped in parchment paper, command 19 to 20c. in a jobbing way.

EGGS—The expected drop in eggs has taken place, and jobbers are quoting to-day from 10 to 11c. The supply is large.

CHEESE—The situation is without change, and none is expected until the factories open.

CEREALS—Rolled oats, $1.85 to $1.90 for 80's; standard and granulated at $2.20 per sack of 98 lb.

SALT—There has been an advance of 2½c. per barrel on this article, why, no one seems to know.

SUGAR—No change in either the price or the situation for sugar, the quotation being still 5⅛c.

MAPLE SUGAR AND SYRUP—There is now no question but that both pure sugar and syrup will be very scarce this year.

HONEY—The scarcity of honey continues, and it is now generally understood that the output of eastern apiaries is exhausted, and the remaining stock all in second hands.

RICE—Japan is offering at a slightly easier price. A few carload sales have been effected in this market. The price for futures will probably be 4⅝ to 4¾c.

CANNED GOODS—Are without change. Prices seem very firm. One sale of 500 cases of tomatoes took place during the week, but price was fully maintained, Bowlby's are quoted by some houses at $2.30, others at $2.25; other brands run as low as $2.15. Peas are $1 95 for marrowfats and $2 to $2.25 for sifted, Corn, ordinary brands, $2.30; St. John Valley corn, $2.50. Tapiocas and sago maintained their figures, and sales have been small in consequence.

CURED MEATS—These advanced slightly during the week but dropped again to their old figures. Prices are very firm. We quote: Hams, medium, 10½c.; bellies, 11c.; backs, 10½c.; shoulders. 8½c; skinned backs, 11c.; dry salt long clear, 8½c.; extra short clear, 8c.; dry salt backs, 9c.; shoulders, 8¼c.

GREEN FRUITS—Bananas, Port Limon, $2.25 to $2.75 for extremely fancy stock. Oranges—Navels are getting scarce; extra fancy Washington navels, $4.50; off sizes, 25c. per case off; fancy navels, $4; choice navels, $3.50 to $3.75. Californian lemons are now out of season. New Messinas will come with opening of navigation. Cherries, black and red, $2.50 per box. Strawberries, $6 for 24 quart cases. Apples—The Macpherson Fruit Co. received to-day what is quoted as the last car of spies. They will sell at $6. A few picked Baldwins are selling at $5.50; Washington apples, in boxes, $2.25; onions, B.C. yellows, very fine stock, 3½c. per lb.

PICKLES THAT ARE PURE

The Famous "Sterling" Brand

There would be no use saying that "Sterling" brand pickles are pure if the record would not sustain the statement. But we know just what goes into these pickles. We are the manufacturers.

Doing an extensive trade in all sections of the Dominion we cannot afford to have any claim made for these pickles brought into question.

They've been tried in the balance, but never found wanting. You can safely recommend them to the most exacting customer.

SITUATION IN CALIFORNIAN PRUNES.

THE unsettling effect of the recent auction sales of prunes is said to be passing away, the goods having been disposed of, and a better feeling is noted among the principal holders; but, as the warmer weather seems to be checking the consuming demand, comparatively little business has come under our notice during the past few days. On the other hand, stocks seem to be well controlled, and the holders do not appear to be anxious to sell except at full previous prices, several bids for large lots at ½c. below the quotations having been turned down.

The reports of a heavy drop of prunes, usually expected at this time, are beginning to come in. Letters received from all growing districts are of the same purport. The trade here is generally disposed to accept these reports with a good deal of allowance for the natural desire of the growers to start the season with the promulgation of such features as will be most advantageous to them, but there are a number of prominent handlers here who, while admitting that the conditions now governing the growing crop may not be so bad as has been published through the letters of interested growers, are of the opinion that there is good ground for believing that the crop will turn out to be considerably less than last year. One of these merchants, commenting on the reports published in our West Side Trade Notes to-day, said that he had little doubt that the reported damage to the crop was not overestimated by California correspondents. He could not agree with some of them, that the present drop was due to the recent warm weather, but was disposed to attribute it to the loss of vitality in the trees, caused by the prolonged drought last winter, which killed many trees and undoubtedly had a weakening effect upon the rest.

A feature contributing to the strong feeling among handlers of prunes here is the prospect of a large demand from Europe this year, as a result of the reported short prune crops there.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

NEW STORE IN OTTAWA.

Norman D. McLeod, one of Ottawa's grocers, has moved into larger and more commodious premises at 137 Bank street. The new store has received a complete overhauling, the interior of it being recently painted and renovated, and transformed into one of the neatest grocery stores at the capital. Norman D. McLeod, the present proprietor, is a son of the late Donald McLeod, the founder of the business, and acquired his training in his father's store. The store is in one of the briskest districts of the capital, and Mr. McLeod does a nice trade.

FRESH FISH FOR ENGLAND.

A Prince Edward Island shipping firm interested in the fish trade have received a letter from a Liverpool commission merchant, in which he says: "Since writing you on March 22 we have received your favor of April 14, on the subject of smelts. We have gone carefully into this matter, and after due consideration, we cannot recommend you to ship smelts to this market there is so much fresh fish to be had excepting when we have very heavy gales plaice, cod and other fish is very cheap, and we do not think you can ship smelts to this market with either satisfaction or profit to yourself. We had one small parcel shipped to us in cold storage per Gaspesia, but, unfortunately, when they arrived they were all putrid, had they arrived in good condition we would have been able to speak quite definitely about them." Of course no definite opinion can be formed on a trial shipment which did not arrive in good condition.

BUSINESS PRINCIPLES.

WHETHER in business or out of it a man should endeavor to keep his reputation pure and spotless, says a writer in Michigan Tradesman. Every questionable action in a man's life is recorded by commercial agencies, from the time he enters business. Nothing hampers a man more than a lack of firmness or uprightness in his dealings. On the other hand, honesty and trustworthiness insure an unlimited credit, in time. Trickiness and unscruplousness render a man an object of aversion to all creditors. Credit is extended by merchants and bankers, according to their confidence in one. Therefore it is advisable to pay bills as promptly as possible.

Another requisite which cannot be ignored in mounting the ladder to success is the assistance and benificent influence of hope. As long as a man has hope in the efficacy of his efforts, he is bound to work more conscientiously and cheerfully and accomplish better results. Work thus engenders an enthusiastic feeling which makes its performance a pleasure instead of drudgery, for work without enthusiasm is like a harp without strings. Therefore, the business man should encourage hopefulness and optimism. As someone has well said, "A widespreading, hopeful disposition is the best umbrella in this vale of tears."

There is one thing that too few men of business do, and that is consult with their life partner when deciding to start upon some new venture. The partner referred to in this case is a man's wife. Oftentimes the better half may not be competent to give valuable advice, but there are many cases in which she could give incalculable assistance if she were only appealed to for it. The writer has known of some remarkable instances where shipwreck could have been avoided if the wife's intuitive powers had been consulted. A woman may sometimes possess the capacity of viewing the subject from more sides than one. Besides, her opinion may be more unbiased and impartial, and her judgment cooler than that of a man who is apt at times to subordinate his common sense to his ambition.

It is a good plan, also, to foster and cultivate as many ideas as possible. Where it is impossible to originate ideas, the next best thing is to nourish and improve upon the ideas of others. Some men are inevitably more deficient in imagination than others; therefore, these are the very ones who must be content to experiment upon the ideas of others which have been highly successful. Indeed, to be able to select well among old things is almost equal to inventing new ones. There is no new thing under the sun, as Solomon says; all things are improvements or variations of something old.

Although it is by no means recommended here that a merchant should take his business cares home with him, and carry them about as the pilgrim does his pack, nevertheless the problems of business life which are continually arising may be debated in the home circle as well as elsewhere.

It is also advisable to do all in your power to convince the public that business is in a thriving condition. Maintain good spirits, for bad news spreads like a prairie fire. When an opportunity is found to boom business do not neglect to do it. Look cheerful, be affable and ingratiating, look people in the face and work with a will. Nothing pleases people more than kind, considerate treatment.

It has been intimated that independence, although a valuable quality under some circumstances, is nothing but pigheadedness in business. Thus, enterprising merchants must keep this quality in abeyance, cater to customers' whims and humor them when consistent with self-respect. This poetic comparison may be made to refer to mercantile life: "The same law governing the sea applies to the great ocean of business; both are subject to ebb and flow, and if your transactions lack confidence, your business will be drifted on the quicksands of disaster. To avert this danger, have a trusty pilot at the helm and an experienced skipper on the lookout."

THE CREDIT EVIL.

The credit-giving evil extends to all departments of business, although it seems true that the grocers are the most lax of any tradesmen in this respect. A writer in a Boston daily gives these instances of the evils resulting from credit-giving:

"Recently, a young and hustling grocer was obliged to fail just because he could not collect his bills. He invested all he had in the business, and for about a year everyone thought he was prospering finely, when suddenly we learned of his failure. The cause was too much trusting. Another man I have in mind, who runs a turning and planing mill, lost all he had—$2,000—through trusting carpenters and builders. He is now starting over again in the same business with borrowed capital and going on a cash basis. A poor widow, who we well know, was keeping a boarding house for carmen, and trying hard to support her two sons and a daughter. She battled bravely against great odds for over three years, but finally, owing to so many leaving her with their board unpaid, she had to give up. We have been in the practice of medicine for nearly four years, and many is the time we could look a dozen men in the face who owed us, and not a cent did we have. For two weeks at a time have we been without money when there was plenty due us, first, because pride and business diplomacy forbade us dunning anyone for that which we had earned. One of the most prosperous meat markets we know is conducted on a strictly cash basis, and, as they trust no one, they sell from 2 to 5c. cheaper per lb. than the other markets, who allow their customers to run accounts, and who make upon the good what they lose on the bad."

PROFITS AND DISCOUNTS.

The following, says an exchange, should be posted on every merchant's desk. It means, discount your bills:

1. One-half per cent. on a 30-day bill, paid in ten days, is equal to interest at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum.

2. One and one-half per cent. on a 60-day bill, paid in ten days, is equal to interest at the rate of 11 per cent. per annum.

3. Four per cent. off on a four months' bill, paid in 30 days with a 3 per cent. discount, is interest at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum.

4. Five per cent. discount off on a four months' bill is interest at the rate of 15 per cent. per annum; or, if paid in 30 days, less 4 per cent., it is 16 per cent. per annum.

Bills paid are safer than money in any bank, however strong. Cash discounts are the dealer's first profit, and one he is sure of.

NITRATE OF SODA.

The statistical position of nitrate of soda is interesting at this time, as the situation has undergone several changes that may be expected to have some influence on market conditions, says The Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter. The total visible supply to the middle of July is stated to be 328,943 bags, which is considerably in excess of the visible supply of a year ago, but is smaller than in 1896. It may be expected that the deliveries during the next three months will be larger; in fact, this is assured, as large sales have recently been made for delivery during the coming months, and the visible supply is consequently not excessive. The deliveries during the past three months amounted to 139,638 bags, which is considerably less than the average of the corresponding three months of the four preceding years. The statistical situation, though changed considerably during the past few months, presents no abnormal features, and the low prices which have prevailed of late may no be attributed thereto.

THE BEET SUGAR SOWINGS.

Referring to the beet sugar situation, Czarni-Kow, McDougal & Co., the sugar authorities, say : "The detailed reports received as to the sowings are not quite clear. Germany may show a decrease, but Russia is put down for an increase of 25 per cent., while Scandinavia is given even a still greater percentage of interest. For the whole of Europe the total increase so far estimated by the principal statisticians does not exceed 6 per cent., although in some quarters it is expected that, after the final details are received, the total increase will not be much below 10 per cent. Even allowing that there is an increace of 10 per cent. in the area sown, the effect on the sugar situation will not be great, as the total stocks that will be left at the end of September this year will be much below those of last year, and no further large increase is expected from any cane-producing countries, with the exception, perhaps, of the Sandwich Islands. This outside estimate of 10 per cent. increase in beets will do no more than provide the sugars fully required to keep pace with the consumption, particularly in America, where, owing to the narrow margin between the values of raw and refined sugars, and consequent cheapness of the latter, consumption is likely to increase. Distribution is also likely to be stimulated, as dealers in general are apt to carry larger stocks of refined under such conditions. One of the principal reasons why the sowings in Germany may not be as large as last year is the fact that field labor is very scarce. Manufacturing industries are attracting many hands that formerly were employed in the fields, and, as higher wages are paid by these industries, it has been found that labor for increased beet sowings was not available."

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

ARRIVALS of currants at Liverpool from the beginning of the season to April 11 were 20,563 tons, compared with 20,225 tons for the same period last year. Stocks remaining in bond on April 11 were 2,245 tons, against 4,417 tons on the same date in 1898.

From the commencement of the season to April 11, Liverpool received 449,035 packages of Sultana raisins from Smyrna, or 128,936 packages less than the corresponding period last year.

SALMON CANNING SEASON OPENS.

The fishing season opened on the Columbia river on April 15 with bright prospects for both packers and fishermen, says The California Fruit Grower. It is brighter for the packers because of a good market, and brighter for the fishermen because the old price of 5c. per lb. for fish has been restored. Telegraphic advices indicate that the opening day of the season started with an unusually large catch, and, on account of the great number of young salmon turned into the Columbia from the hatcheries four years ago, it is expected that the season's pack will be in excess of anything in recent years.

CALIFORNIA PRUNE SITUATION.

Concerning the situation in prunes, The California Fruit Grower of April 22 says: "Prune market is remarkably quiet, but holders are firm as to prices. The demand is for small sizes, 90's to 100's and 100's to 110's, both of which are very scarce and cammand a premium over the basis price for the four sizes. Holders of Santa Clara stock are asking 3½c. basis and outsiders 3¼c. Few, if any, orders for equal quantities of the four sizes are being filled. Both large and small sizes are scarce, the stock on hand being intermediate sizes. The growing crop promises well at this time. Some reports are at hand regarding the dropping of the fruit from the trees. This might be expected owing to lack of moisture last season and the frosts in some sections this spring. The regular June drop is yet to occur, but, no doubt, there will be a good yield of prunes, the State considered as a whole. This market has been relieved of 12 or 15 cars of prunes by the burning of Castle Bros.' fruit packing house, at San Jose, on April 20."

NEW CROP BRAZIL NUTS.

In their last circular, J. C. Houghton & Co., of Liverpool, say regarding new crop Brazil nuts: "So far the quality of this season is particularly satisfactory, and ought to lead to a large consumption. The demand continues strong, and a good trade was done during the past week at 18s. 6d. to 20s. for Para, and 23 to 26s. for Manoas. Arrivals from commencement of season to date are 1,024 tons; to same date last year, 1,008 tons."

GROCERIES IN NEW YORK.

The week has developed few features in the jobbing grocery trade. While the general demand does not seem to have been as brisk as during the preceding week, business, nevertheless, is held by the leading jobbing houses to have been on a very satisfactory scale. The movement in future canned goods has continued, though the volume of business does not appear to be so large, most buyers seeming to have covered their wants, for the present at least. Spot canned goods receive a fair amount of attention, although the orders are chiefly for small quantities. Among the vegetables, corn seems to hold the strongest position, stocks being very closely cleaned up at all points, while the consuming demand continues fairly active. At the opening prices on Columbia river salmon, a number of the leading brands, it was reported to-day, had already been sold out. It was rumored on the street that an early advance in prices might be looked for, as sellers were not disposed to go on at the present figures in view of the high cost of production. On the other hand, it was asserted that the association was not likely to make any change in its quotations for some time to come at least.

The movement in dried fruits is satisfactory, though buyers show interest only in such quantities as are needed to cover the immediate requirements of consumption. With stocks in first hands closely absorbed and the supplies held by jobbers smaller than usual at this season the tone of the market is very firm. The result of yesterday's auction sale had an unsettling influence on the market, but it is generally held that as soon as the character of the goods offered is generally understood the market will recover its natural tone, based on the strong position of stocks in all hands.

Among the leading staples the chief feature is the continued good demand for sugar. Coffee has been quiet, and for tea the demand has been rather light. Flour seems to be selling only to a moderate extent, and prices appear to favor the buyer.—New York Journal of Commerce.

The stock of the estate of T. V. Sears, grocer, Antigonish, N.S., has been sold to D. G. Kirk.

BRITISH COLUMBIA SALMON PACK

A VANCOUVER paper, of April 18, says: "Nothing proves the magnitude of the British Columbia salmon fishery better than the figures compiled by R. P. Rithet & Company, Limited, of Victoria. These figures are published at a most opportune time, for, from Fraser Mouth to New Westminster, on the Skeena river, Rivers Inlet, Naas river, Lowe Inlet, Alert Bay and the west coast of Vancouver Island, all is bustle in preparation for the season just about to open. In earlier numbers of The News-Advertiser something has been said of the activity at Steveston and in the Royal City; now it is learned from the north that all the canneries are starting save the Balmoral, which will remain closed and fish for the Inverness cannery. All the fishermen and Siwashes are looking for big packs, for, they say, all the signs are propitious.

"As has been said, the size of the industry can best be noted by studying the figures of the packs for the past five years. Here in detail is the pack of British Columbia salmon for the year 1898—an 'off' year:

TRADE CHAT.

THE main building of the pork-packing factory which is to be started in Harriston, Ont., will be 80 x 144 ft., and be three storeys and a basement high. The building and machinery will cost about $35,000.

John Rourke, of the Cash Grocery, St. Thomas, Ont., intends opening a wholesale fruit business in that city.

Thos. H. Cleghorn, fruiter and fish dealer, Toronto, has been appointed manager of the Toronto branch of the A. Booth & Co.'s fish firm. Mr. Cleghorn is advertising his business for sale.

W. H. Smith, wholesale fruiter, etc., Toronto, has moved his business from 186 and 188 King street east, to larger premises at 36 and 38 Church street. Mr. Smith had been in the King street stand over 25 years.

Robt. Marshall, of Marshall Bros., wholesale tea merchants, London, Ont., dropped dead at his home on Monday last week. Mr. Marshall came from Liverpool in 1872, and had been in the tea business in London for 25 years.

The deliveries of cheese at Brockville, Ont., the last two Saturdays in April amounted to about 2,000 boxes. On account of lack of rain pastures in that district will not be ready for grazing for a couple of weeks, which will be later than last year.

Linus Wolverton, secretary of the Fruit Growers Association of Ontario, states as an objection to a duty on sugar that the development of the jam and canned fruit industry of Canada is retarded by the high price of sugar here as compared with the price in Great Britain.

Geo. P. Guinnis, representing a company of English capitalists, is offering to finance a sum of $1,000,000 and to construct and operate an abattoir and its auxiliary industries if the Quebec Government will guarantee the principal and interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. for forty years. Beef and mutton would be exported to Great Britain dressed and chilled.

The British Government has wired the colonial Cabinet that the Imperial Parliament had passed an act renewing for this year the modus vivendi by which the French lobster factories on the treaty shore are legalized, and the superintendence of lobster packing operations is placed under charge of the captains of the French and British warships. The Colonial Legislature, it is expected, will pass a similar act at the coming session.

An Aylmer, Ont., despatch says that there is a strong agitation in that place for a beet sugar factory. An attempt is being made to organize a company with a capital of $250,000. A large amount of the money required is already in sight, and there will be a big acreage of land planted to this crop this spring in the immediate vicinity of Aylmer.

The United Kingdom imported 160,000 tons of butter last year. Of this, 70,000 tons, or 45 per cent., came from Denmark. France sent 13 per cent.; Sweden, 9 per cent; Holland, 8 per cent.; Australia, 7 per cent.; Canada, 5 per cent.; United States, 2 per cent.; Germany, 1 per cent., and all other countries, a little over 8 per cent. Canada's butter export trade can evidently stand more development.

The commissioners who have been engaged in the inquiry into the lobster industry have submitted a report to the Minister of Fisheries, which recommends five open seasons along the shores, instead of two, as heretofore. The open season on Quebec shores is from April 20 to July 16. They recommend that the limit size of lobsters be seven inches, instead of nine, except in the Bay of Fundy and western Nova Scotia, where the nine-inch limit will be retained.

STARTING OUT WITH CHRISTMAS NOVELTIES.

The Greig Manufacturing Co. are now the selling agents in Canada for the following foreign goods: Tom Smith's crackers, Christmas stockings and cake ornaments; Cayley & Co.'s fancy boxes and fine chocolates; Croren & Co.'s drops and tablets; John Buchannan & Bro.'s Peels; Lorrimer's Worcester sauce; Dandecoile & Godin's preserved vegetables, sardines, etc.; Wm. Whitley's pickles.

They are now showing a full line of both Cayley's and Tom Smith's Christmas novelties, including crackers, stockings and ornaments, as well as boxes, baskets, and all the latest novelties, filled with delicious chocolates. The trade in both these lines has always been an extensive one, and the range of samples shown this season is larger and more varied than ever, and at prices to suit any and all buyers.

They are also showing a large and well assorted line of empty boxes and baskets for confectionery trade including both English and German makes.

The Messrs. Greig are sanguine concerning the coming season's trade. The demand for their "Crown" extracts is increasing daily, and their orders for other goods are much larger than last season.

Mr. Wm. Greig is starting out in a few days with a complete line of Christmas goods and will then visit all the principal points east of Toronto, and then go direct to the Maritime Provinces.

CLEANLINESS COUNTS.

THERE was once a venerable grocer in Greater New York, according to Merchants' Review of that city, who, in many respects, was behind the times, charging thumping profits and adhering to old customs generally, and yet he made a good living, for women liked to visit his store because it was so bright and clean. He was thorough as well as conservative, and regularly once a week, if not oftener, his store got an old-fashioned cleaning, the counters, floors and windows being treated to a copious bath, and the quantity of water used was so great that it used to run out of the store and across the sidewalk in liberal streams. The writer often heard younger competitors of the old veteran sneer at his passion for cleanliness, but it proved a sheet anchor to him, for a difference in price could not keep fastidious customers away from the store.

Perhaps the public's appreciation of cleanly habits in the storekeeping class does not receive the attention it deserves, but it is a fact beyond dispute that carelessness in that respect has driven much trade away from some of the butchers, bakers and grocers.

In spring and during the summer scrupulous cleanliness in the care of the store is more imperative than during the cooler months of the year, but at no time can the grocer allow his store to become dirty without danger of losing trade.

In the shape of a Horseshoe.

True, we now sell our Edwardsburg Silver Gloss Starch in handsome, durable, useful 6-lb. Enameled Tins, but we also sell it in the 1-lb. packages that you know so well—it rests with you to say as to which you wish to have. We have not lowered the quality of "Silver Gloss" to meet the increased expense of the Enameled Tins—the quality remains steadfastly of the same high standard that you have known so many years. You can't better the best—even Enameled Tins won't do it; but perhaps as a store attraction, the Tins will answer a wise purpose.

Choose which—the 6-lb. Tins (in horse-shoe shape) or the 1-lb. packages of

MONSOON

INDO-CEYLON TEA.

The putting of tea in a package is all that is necessary, in the minds of some dealers, to get the retailer to take hold of and push their respective brands. If that were all our fifteen years of experience would count for naught, and Monsoon would never have secured the enormous sale it enjoys to-day.

You can judge better between good tea and common tea by making Monsoon—any grade—for one meal, next meal make the same price of any other brand or loose tea.

We are anxious to cooperate with the retail grocer in supplying the public with the very best tea.

Write us to-day and we will give you further information regarding what we are willing to do in the shape of advertising for you.

STRANGERS

It is surprising how sensitive some of the grocers are, who, after writing me for samples and prices, send me an order for my Cigars, and then, because I ask them for references as to credit, consider it as a personal slight.

They forget that in many cases they are absolute strangers to me, and that, while in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred they are entitled to all the credit they want, I have to adopt one rule on BUSINESS PRINCIPLES. I want all the business I can get, and I will fill every order I get, gladly, if a grocer will only give me one good reference.

Of course, there are many grocers whom I know about personally—it is only from ABSOLUTE STRANGERS that I ask for a reference.

SIMPLE BOOKKEEPING SYSTEMS FOR GROCERS.

A PRIZE was recently offered by the Grocery World, Philadelphia, for the best and simplest form of ookkeeping for a grocer. The result was nnounced the other day, J. W. Rittenhouse eing the winner, while eight others secured onorable mention. Subjoined is the first-rize essay and one of those which was onorably mentioned :

BY J. W. RITTENHOUSE, SCRANTON, PA.

I have a Eureka cash register, which has upright cabinet of 260 drawers, ½ inch eep, 3 inches wide and about 6 inches ng. Each drawer is numbered and has space for a card with the name of the istomer. This cabinet was intended to e with coupons, but nor liking the coupon stem I arranged a system of my own.

The charge is made on the day book and ss book at the same time by the use of a rbon sheet and footed up. No matter how en the book comes to the store it is ways footed up in full on leaving, viz.: hn Smith comes in to make a purchase, book is footed up at $10. We start charge on the day book as follows, his wer being No. 20 :

John Smith.

		$10 00
1 lb. butter.....	$0 23
1 lb. lard	10
Sugar	28

n transferring this to the charge sheet in proper drawer, viz., No. 20, it is copied footed exactly as it is on the day book the pass book, or where a whole month's order is to go on the sheet at once, you can save half the labor by using your carbon sheet between the page of the pass book and the drawer sheet, in that way posting, charging and rendering a bill all at once. The sheets are made to fold over once, and just fit the drawer nicely.

In each drawer there is a jump-up, with an attachment for holding slips. This is in case a customer does not bring his book. The charge is then transferred from the day book to a slip cut for that purpose and stuck in this jump-up (all Eureka cabinets have them). This then tells how often the customer comes without the book—day and date.

A good feature about it is you cannot open the drawer without noticing the slips, if there are any, and, consequently. when the book comes again you will put it on, and it is then fresh in the customer's mind.

I will say for this system that in the five years I've used it I've never had one cent disputed in my accounts. The customer always knows what he owes, and so do I.

No confusion on pay day to make up books—they are always ready. It gives the customer confidence in the merchant. It keeps both posted—the merchant as to the amount of credit extended, and the customer can, if he will, continue to live within his means.

BY FRANK GARRIGUES, MOORESTOWN, N.J.

I adopted, or, rather, worked out a plan some time ago which I think a very good one, but, of course, I know it is not perfect, hence am anxious to see a better one. For the benefit of some who may not be using so good a one, I submit mine.

All orders are taken on pink slips over carbon paper, which makes two copies exactly alike. This avoids possibilitiy of mistakes and disputed accounts. The original is not separated from the duplicate until the order is filled, so that price to be charged for anything like cheese, which has to be weighed, can be filled up on each slip at once.

When the order is all up the original is placed on the goods under a string, and shows where they are to go, and gives the housekeeper a chance to see at once on receipt of goods if all are delivered and account is correct. The duplicate is placed at this time in the cash register, and serves as my original entry of charge items.

The pink slips come to me in pads of 50 each, numbered. When the boy goes out to deliver goods he takes each day a new manila slip specially prepared for him, with numbers from 1 to 50 printed thereon. If Mrs. Jones pays him any money on account, he gives her credit therefor on this slip, in its proper place, by name. If she pays for goods just delivered, he gets the number from her slip and marks the amount received opposite to the corresponding number on his manila slip. On his return these different items are added on this slip with the amounts received on account, deductions made for such items as he pays out, like freight, toll, etc, and the footing shows undoubtedly what he must turn in to the cashier.

The different slips in the register are then gone over ; all found paid on driver's slip are at once marked "paid," but kept for future reference in case of an error, etc. Balance are at once posted in ledger, which is the only book of accounts I keep. Using a cash register, I devised a slip (see inclosed white slip) to keep it in for purposes outlined thereon.

As soon as the pink slips are posted in the ledger, all of them, both paid and unpaid, are collected with the white slip and the driver's slip, and fastened with a McGill fastener and filed away as my day book. These are easily referred to at any time for any purpose. Each month's slip is held together by a gum band.

Now then, for my ledger and the way I use it.

This is a plain double entry book, with as wide a page as I can get—indexed and paged, of course. It is all kept with a lead pencil, so as to avoid the trouble of using a blotter after each entry. If a good pencil is used I find no danger of it becoming illegible. Entries are made as follows :

			Dr.	Cr.
1899	Thomas Jones.
	.79 1.15 .56 3.14 7.00			4–14
April	4 6 7 10 11		12 64	12 64

Of course, I soon learn the page devoted to each customer, which is always a double, that is, an open page.

The turning from page to page and marking with lead pencil—no blotter—is soon done. One line will always carry the charges for a week, so a double page lasts a full year. Then I begin a new ledger, always keeping the same page for the same customer, so as to help my memory in posting. Now then, all my pink slips have printed on them, "Keep this bill for reference," so when I send out statements on the first of each month, as I always do, I can use a printed line, "For groceries as per bill," and by only filling in dates on one side and amounts on opposite side, I save much writing here and get everything plain.

Of course, should a customer lose a pink slip, I can easily produce my own for same day and prove an exact duplicate. I use only one book and never copy an original order. I can't use less books, and fail to see how I can do less writing.

A FRIENDLY PEDLAR.

From a recent issue of a Philadelphia daily we take the following item :

"A pedlar sold Mrs. Hastings, of No. 415 Bridge avenue, Camden, a pound of coffee yesterday. She gave him a $5 bill and he left the door to get change, which he is apparently still seeking, for he never got back. The bag of coffee he left is worthless."

This pedlar is a true friend of every grocer in Camden, and the trade there ought to go his bail if he is caught. In this one act, he has done more to set good Mrs. Hastings against pedlars and towa grocers than almost anything else he cou do. Incidentally, Mrs. Hastings has he self and no one else to blame for the loss this $5 bill. What beautiful confiden must a woman have, not only to buy coff of an itinerant pedlar, but to afterwar entrust him with $5 !

Long may such pedlars thrive !—Groce World.

TEA CONSUMPTION IN RUSSIA.

Some interesting figures are given els where of the imports of tea into Russi which, according to a Russian tea-buyer Colombo, amount annually to 54,000,0 lb. of ordinary tea and another 86,000,0 lb. of brick tea. If we could only displa half of the former amount, or, say, ship 2 000,000 lb. annually to Russia, what difference it would make to Ceylon planter and above all to the Colombo tea mark as nearly all of it would be bought and so in Colombo and be shipped direct ! We not despair of this being effected within t next few years. The rough estimate shipments to Russia for this year is 6,00 000 lb., but we are assured that this is like to be exceeded. The number of Russi tea-buyers settled here—at present four number—has been steadily increasing, a among the passengers on the last P. & mail steamer for the Far East were fo other Russian gentlemen bound for Chi to buy tea, all of whom announced the intention of paying the Colomco tea mark a visit next year. The outlook in this d rection, in spite of the heavy duty in Russi and the fact that the population on the who are very poor, very conservative, and spe another language, is very satisfactory ; a is a bright contrast to our American e perience, where we have been spendi thousands of pounds trying to convert o "cousins" to take our product, but wi comparatively little success. — Time Colombo, Ceylon.

THE OLD PRICES OF CEYLON TEA.

THE TIMES of Ceylon, of April 5, says : "The prophesied rise in prices has come with a rush. A steadier advance would have been more reassuring, and, as a sudden jump may mean a quicker fall, we must not lose our heads! The approach of the holidays, too, may have something to do with an average of 9¼d., and Pekoe Souchong at 8d.; and we shall know the state of the market better when the auctions are resumed after Easter. It is but human, however, to feel gratification at the changed position of affairs. It is a complete illnstration of the law of supply and demand. Last year, Ceylon felt the full effect of several years of increasing supply; now, the receiver's time of competition to get what we send has come. This is what 'starving the London market' means—so much, and no more.

"The shipments to the United Kingdom, after being short in January, realized the estimate (7,750,000 lb.) for February ; but, owing to the drought during the past seven weeks, the shipments to London during March will be hardly up to the amount calculated, which was 8,000,000 to 8,500,000 lb., and the estimate for April will be more like 7,000,000 lb. This ought to keep up prices, and we anticipate that last week's figures will mark about the average between now and August, when the market has always shown up well. Those figures were : Pekoe Souchong, 7½d.; average, 8¾d. This week, we have an advance of ½d. on each of these prices, and, when we make a few comparisons, it will be seen why we are not sanguine that they will be maintained throughout April and the three following months. The average is 2d. higher than it was for the corresponding week in 1898.

"The highest average at any time last year was 8¾d.; the highest the year previous was 9d.; and in this, the worst month, we actually stand level with the best weekly average in 1896. Even then, March prices were considerably lower, and we have to take 1895 and 1894 to find a parity in the spring of the year. Of course, exchange was nearly at its lowest then. We have to go still further back — to 1893, and previously—to find Pekoe Souchong at 8d.; and thus it is that, though we seem to stand on velvet, something restrains us from dancing a hornpipe—it seems too good, to last. It is not too good, however, to justify something like a boom in tea shares, and further evidence of this is to be seen in the official quotations revised to-day.

"There is one other thing we desire. We trust that those directors who have had to cut down remuneration on estates to a very fine point, and dispense with European assistants, will shortly see their way to again remunerate their superintendents adequately and divide large properties which, for economy's sake, have been grouped under a single planter. It was the practical agriculturist who was made to feel the pinch first and we trust, in the readjustments which can now take place, that he will be the first to benefit."

BEET SUGAR PRODUCTION.

The beet sugar production of the world for the past four years has been as follows that of 1898 being in part estimated :

	1898. Tons.	1897. Tons.	1896. Tons	1895. Tons.

QUEENSLAND COFFEE IN ENGLAND.

Henry Devitt & Co., offered a parcel of Queensland coffee at Mincing lane—about a quarter of a cwt.—but the smallness of the entry prevented bids, says The British Australasian. This is a pity, for the coffee has been carefully examined and tested by experts, who report most favorably. The coffee arrived unhusked, and is considerably superior to the berries grown in Figi. the nearest rival to Queensland in the cultivation of this article. A broker divided the beans into three lots, and then valued them at 50s., 55s., and 65s. per cwt. Coffee plants take four years to arrive at bearing age. In the Mackay district of Queensland coffee has been grown for some years; it is sold locally. "Great Britons" drink very little coffee, the import looking quite infinitesimal alongside tea, but good qualities will always command a market.

Dr. Sproule has given notice of motion in the Dominion Parliament calling for a Government bounty for beetroot sugar manufactured in Canada during the next ten years, and for the remittance for the same period of duty on machinery used in sugar manufacture, and not made in Canada

NINE MONTHS OF BRITISH TEA EXPORTS.

THE figures giving the exports of tea from the United Kingdom for the nine months ending March 31 last are interesting.

The total exports were 29,437,816 lb., or 3,186,067 lb. less than for the same period in 1898 and 512,081 lb. less than in 1897.

The decreases, however, are not due to any falling off in the exports of Indian and Ceylon teas. These have increased. The decline is in China and teas from "other countries." In Indian teas the gain is 2,000,000 lb., and in Ceylon teas 500,000. China teas show a depreciation of nearly 5,000,000 lb.

Canada did her share towards increasing the exports of Indian and Ceylon teas from Great Britain, and particularly of the former description. Even more China teas were exported to Canada from Great Britain during the nine-month period than during the same period in 1898. Here are the figures in pounds for the nine-month periods of 1898-9 and 1897-8 respectively:

	1898-9.	1897-8.
Indian	1,606,491	845,082
Ceylon	1,698,886	1,145,158
China	797,003	779,737
Other countries	37,526	23,064
	4,139,906	2,793,041

The increase of over 89 per cent. in the figures relating to Indian teas exported to Canada is the most striking feature of the above table. The increase in all teas exported to Canada during the nine-month period was nearly 50 per cent.

Presumably, on account of the duty and the inspection law, the United States has during the past year imported a much smaller quantity of tea than usual, and, as might be expected, the imports of this commodity from the United Kingdom to the United States have shared in the decline. The exports from the former to the latter country during the nine-month period under review were as follows:

	1898-9.	1897-8.
Indian	543,524	538,341
Ceylon	860,356	1,128,441
China	531,538	1,184,711
Other countries	60,796	87,913
Total lb.	1,996,214	2,939,406

It will be noticed that Indian tea is the only description which shows an increase.

Newfoundland took 13,043 lb. of Indian tea, against 5,921 lb. the corresponding nine months of 1898; 29,698 lb. of Ceylon tea, against 43,803 lb., and 33,404 lb. China tea, against 63,913 lb.

EXPORTS OF CANADIAN BISCUITS.

A YEAR or more ago, THE CANADIAN GROCER referred to the efforts that were being made by a biscuit manufacturing firm in Toronto to cultivate an export trade with the United States and other countries.

From what can be learned the results have been quite encouraging. With some of the border towns in the United States a steady, although at present small, business has become established, while with the British West Indies a nice trade is being built up.

One large grocery house in a certain border city across the line reports that the Canadian biscuits of certain lines are displacing similar lines made by the Biscuit Trust.

Unfortunately, the Dominion trade returns do not give separate figures for biscuits, the latter being grouped with bread. To publish, therefore, the figures of the two combined would be useless.

BUSINESS MEN SHOULD HELP.

MEN who possess qualities which have enabled them to make their business a success, should lend these qualities to the making of better laws, municipal, provincial and federal.

Good laws are only possible when those who have the immediate making of them are elected to the various legislative bodies by voters of merit and integrity.

No class is better fitted, either to govern or to appoint those who shall govern, than the business class, for the simple reason that government, to be good, must be businesslike.

The reason that we have so much poor government and so little good government is that the proportion of the business element in the councils of the various governing bodies of the country is so small, compared with that of the professional politician, who is devoted to grinding axes for himself or his party.

Every merchant who places the cause of good government first, and that of party second, is helping along the good cause.

SELECTED RAISINS WANTED.

Reference was recently made in these columns to the smallness of stocks of Valencia raisins in the world's commercial centres. Among the places mentioned was Liverpool. And how light stocks there are may be gathered from the fact that a cable has, this week, been received in Toronto offering to buy selected raisins.

Ten thousand half-boxes were wanted, and the price which the buyers named was 20s., cost and freight, Liverpool.

Stocks in Canada are too light to warrant the bid being accepted, but, even if the stocks were ample, the price would scarcely be acceptable, for the fruit wanted was to be best marks, for which from 18s. 6d. to 19s. 6d. Toronto, was paid by importers this season.

Selected Valencia raisins are this week being offered from London at 24s. per cwt., Toronto, which is equal to about 22s. in the former city, so it is evident the Liverpool people who sent the cable, are bargain hunting.

The price at which London houses are offering selected raisins to-day would mean, incidental charges added, nearly 6½c. per lb., Toronto.

OUR RELATIVE TRADE WITH THE EMPIRE AND ALL FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

HOW important to Canada the trade of the British Empire is one begins to learn after a perusal of the trade returns. During the fiscal year ending June 30 last, the foreign trade of the Dominion was $294,850,689, an increase of about 20 per cent., compared with that of the previous year.

Of the total trade, $145,305,711, or 49.28 per cent., was with the British Empire, the balance being divided among over two score of other countries.

The foreign trade during the fiscal year 1897 was $249,244,274, of which $113,909,982, or about 45.70 per cent., was with the British Empire.

Taking the exports alone, the proportion taken by the British Empire to that by all other countries is still larger.

Last year it was 67.48 per cent., against 59.61 per cent. for 1897.

The grand total of exports was $164,152,683, of which $110,779,358 were taken by the British Empire and $53,373,325 by all other countries. In 1897 the grand total was $137,950,253 ; that taken by the British Empire being $82,238,023, and that by all other countries, $55,712,230.

This shows that the exports of the Dominion to the British Empire increased over $28,500,000, or 34.71 per cent.

The exports under the different general classifications were as follows :

	British Empire.	Foreign countries.
Mine	$ 579,211	$10,970,876
Fisheries	5,543,960	5,025,128
Forest	14,666,433	16,765,861
Animals and their produce	34,720,880	5,647,380
Agricultural products	21,352,556	4,341,711
Manufactures	5,253,881	5,046,463
Miscellaneous	121,102	475,131
Grand total	$82,238,023	$55,712,230

While the imports are not as favorable to goods produced within the Empire as are exports of the Dominion to the different countries under the British flag, yet there is an increase of $2,854,394, or 9.67 per cent. over 1897. In spite of this increase, however, the proportion of foreign goods imported was larger than during the previous year, the percentage being 72 81 and 71.54 respectively.

The total value of the goods imported from the British Empire was $34,526,353 in 1898 and $31,671,956 in 1897. The following table shows how these figures were made up :

	Free Goods.	Dutiable Goods.	Total.
British, 1898	$11,231,037	$23,295,316	$34,526,353
Foreign, 1898	44,841,881	51,329,772	96,171,653
British, 1897	10,333,298	21,338,661	31,671,959
Foreign, 1897	34,739,958	44,882,104	79,622,065

It will be seen from this that the importation of foreign goods increased 20.66 per cent., compared with an increase of only 9.67 in goods from the British Empire.

It will be remembered that the rebate of 12½ per cent. of the duty which was concurrent with the fiscal year 1898 was enjoyed by Germany, Belgium and a number of other countries besides Great Britain. This fact, of course, tended to minimize whatever preferential advantage there was in the tariff as far as the Mother Country was concerned. But it is significant that from the country which is Great Britain's chief competitor (the United States) the increase of imports was 27.86 per cent., a larger gain by 7 per cent. than that of all foreign countries taken together.

Under the present condition of affairs the British Empire is unquestionably the market for Canadian products, but it is equally certain that the Dominion is a much better customer of the United States than she is of Great Britain.

But British exports to this country are increasing, and they would increase still more if the manufacturers there would take vigorous steps to prospect the Canadian market. With the rapid development of the manufacturing industries in the United States, to say nothing of the close proximity of that country to this, it is only natural that there should be an increase in their trade with Canada. But the apathy of British manufacturers in regard to the Canadian market has made the increase all the more possible.

With a more aggressive policy in regard to Canadian trade, aided by the 25 per cent. preferential tariff, British manufacturers should be able to regain a great deal of the lost ground.

CROPS AND THE TRADE OUTLOOK

THE backward nature of the season and the lightness of the rainfall this spring have naturally occasioned some concern in Canada. The appearance, therefore, of the crop report of the Agricultural Department of Ontario has been awaited with more than usual interest.

Fall wheat is, of course, the most important crop in the Province, and it is regretted that the weather of the winter and of the early spring has caused a great deal of injury. A quantity of wheat is, however, still being held by farmers for higher prices. Much clover, too, has been winter-killed.

Vegetation is naturally, like the season, backward, but the recent improvement in the weather has made great changes for the better, and made the conditions for spring seeding much more favorable than they were.

An abundant bloom is reported to be on the orchard trees, but a good deal of injury appears to have been done to the peach trees in the Essex district. In the western part of the Province, small fruits, particularly raspberries, were somewhat affected by the winter.

In regard to live stock, the report is, on whole, favorable.

Taking the situation as a whole, the report should not cause alarm. Wheat, while the chief, is not the only staple product of the farm, and what is likely to be lost in regard to fall wheat it is possible to regain at least in part by spring wheat. Then, the live stock, vegetable, fruit and dairying conditions are fairly good.

But granted that the agricultural conditions of Canada are a great deal less favorable than they were a year ago, there are others which are a great deal more favorable. The mining industry—gold, coal, iron, etc.—is immeasurably so, while the lumber industry, which a year ago was most unpromising, is now promising.

As far as the manufacturing and industrial interests are concerned, they were never in the history of the country in as good condition.

CEYLON TEA IN WAR AND PEACE.

MR. R. B. WEBSTER, the well-known representative of The Cooperative Tea Gardens Co., of Colombo, Ceylon, was in Toronto for three or four days this week. Mr. Webster every year makes a trip around the world in the interests of Ceylon tea, and is naturally, therefore, an interesting man to talk with, particularly as he is a good converstionalist and a keen observer of his surroundings.

He is at present making his tenth trip around the world. It was two years ago that he last visited Toronto, and since that time he has had some interesting experiences aside altogether from his calling as a representative of Ceylon tea. Early last year, for instance, when he arrived in Egypt he found the British and Egyptian troops ready to ascend the Nile to crush the Dervishes, and, realizing that it might be a good opportunity to push his tea in that part of the world, he became attached to the expedition and was given charge of the civil transport service for the contractors. He subsequently became assistant to the officer commanding the army service corps, and still later was appointed by the Sirdar war correspondent for The London Post.

In his capacity as war correspondent he was present at the battle of Atbara, where about 3,000 Dervishes were killed and the British and Egyptian losses were 700 men killed and wounded. Mr. Webster has some very interesting snap-shot photographs, taken upon the field of battle, some of which are gory and others humorous.

"I suppose some Ceylon tea was drunk by the troops?"

"Yes," said Mr. Webster, "the troops in the Soudan drank nothing but Ceylon tea."

"No coffee or spirits?"

"No coffee or spirits."

It may be mentioned that before returning home, Mr. Webster will again ascend the Nile, probably as far as Khartoum. This time his commission will be wholly commercial and not a combination of war and commerce.

It will be remembered that Mr. Webster was here two years ago. It was stated that he intended visiting, if possible, the tea estates in the Caucasian Mountains.

"I was told when I got to Russia," he explained, "that there was no possibility of my being allowed to visit these estates, as it was against the rule to allow foreigners to do so. I, however, with a great deal of persistent effort, succeeded in getting Mr. Popoff, the proprietor of these estates, to give me permission to visit them. I did so. A great deal of money has been spent on these estates by Mr. Popoff. Up to the time I was there, the amount he had expended was about $400,000. The estates are beautifully laid out in terraces."

"What do you think of the possibilities of these estates?"

"I do not think very much of their possibilities. The climate is too severe, and I noticed that the tea bushes were all stunted in growth. There is no fear of these estates producing tea in any large quantity. I tried to get them to give me some samples of leaf on the estate, but they refused my request. Fortunately, however, I had previously secured samples from Mr. Popoff, and these I forwarded to Gow, Wilson & Stanton for valuation. They advised me that they placed a value of 6d. per lb. upon them, which, I might state, was also my valuation. The workmen employed on these gardens are Chinese, who were imported for the purpose. The duty upon tea entering Russia is very high, but, on account of the conditions I have already noted, I do not look for any material development in the tea industry in that country."

Mr. Webster left Colombo on his present trip around the world in September last, and since then has visited many other countries—Australia, New Zealand, Samoa and the Pacific Coast States of the American Union. Among his selection of photographs is one in which he is taken with the rebel king, Mataffa. It might be incidentally mentioned that Mr. Webster considers that the quarrel of Mataffa is a just one, and that the British and American authorities are taking the wrong side.

"In your present trip, how have you found trade in Ceylon teas?"

"I found that the demand for our teas is increasing nicely everywhere, and I might tell you that six firms in Russia have appointed offices in Colombo, showing that that country is taking an increasing interest in our teas. Formerly, the Cylon teas which Russia imported were bought in London, but now they are importing direct, finding it more advantageous."

"The tea conditions in Ceylon are becoming more satisfactory are they not?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Webster. "The year 1897 saw the lowest price touched in Ceylon tea, but now the conditions are becoming more favorable. The exports of tea from Ceylon up to April 12, 1899, were 1,248,000 lb. short of what they were up to this time last year, and, with the increased demand from Russia, and, in fact, the Australian market and Europe, I fail to see why there can be any drop in prices."

Mr. Webster, after concluding business on this side of the Atlantic, will cross to England and will visit the continent, and, as already stated, will go to Egypt before he returns home.

Mr. Webster, who is .managing-director of one of the new coffee estates in Queensland, Australia, reports that the coffee plants there are developing nicely, and that the first crop will be gathered the year after next.

CHANGE IN A CROCKERY FIRM.

Mr. John Gowans, senior partner in the firm of Gowans, Kent & Co., wholesale crockery dealers, Toronto, has retired from the firm. About thirty years ago, Mr. Gowans, in partnership with Mr. Henry Kent, commenced this business in Toronto. This partnership was continued for about fifteen years, when Mr. Kent's sons, James G. and John G., were admitted. A short time later Mr. Kent, sr., died, since which time the firm has been unchanged until the present retirement of Mr. Gowans.

Wm. Peterkin, who has been the firm's foreign buyer for some time, and D. W. McClain, manager of their retail store, called the "Pantechnetheca," who has made a special study of high art china goods, have been admitted into the firm, the style of which will remain unchanged.

The retail store will be closed, and Mr. McClain's knowledge of fine china will be exclusively devoted to the wholesale department.

CANNED TOMATO SITUATION.

The easier feeling in canned tomatoes, noted two weeks ago, has resulted in a lower range of quotations in wholesalers' prices.

Prices for some time, as is well known, have ranged from 85 to 90c. per dozen. This week, however, the range is 80 to 85c., a decline of 5c. per dozen. Some houses are still, however, quoting 90c. for certain brands.

At present figures, however, the market is steady, and the fact that most of the packers have withdrawn quotations till June 1 has tended to increase the steadiness. The demand, too, is fair, and should improve from this out, which will, of course, help to maintain values.

One packer, who offered tomatoes for future delivery, came down from 77½ to 75c., but below the latter figure he could not be induced to go.

F. V. Chalmers, of A. Chalmers & Co., tobacco importers, London and Liverpool, who came out to examine the Essex county tobacco crop, states that though fine tobacco will soon be grown in that district, the last crop is of the mixed type, some of it being good and some of it inferior. He has not bought extensively as the growers hoped he would.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, May 11, 1899

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade, this week, does not exhibit many striking features. The volume of business is fair, although, perhaps, not as brisk as it was during the last few weeks. Canned goods are meeting with a fair request, but the movement is not, on the whole, large. The feeling is a little easier in regard to canned tomatoes. Wholesalers are quoting from 80 to 85c. In regard to other lines of canned goods prices are unchanged. There is a good demand for canned fruits, and the season is beginning to open up for canned meats. Coffees are in a fairly good demand locally and the market is steady. There are quite a few sugars going out, although the business is not as large as it was a week ago. Syrups and molasses are quiet. Teas do not attract so much attention as they did, and the outside markets are a little easier. The currant market is steady, and there is a moderate business being done. A scarcity in Valencia raisins is still to be noted, and there have been some inquiries this week from Liverpool. The prune market continues active at firm prices.

CANNED GOODS.

The tomato market is a little easier for present pack, wholesalers' quotations this week having been 80 to 85c. as a rule, though for some brands as high as 90c. per doz. is asked. As far as futures are concerned, packers appear desirous of refraining from doing business for a while, the most of them, at any rate, having withdrawn, until June 1, quotations for future delivery. There were, however, some offered this week at 77c. The packer, however, was subsequently willing to accept 80c., but he would not go below that figure, and as the buyer only wanted to pay 72c., no business transpired. There is no change in the price of corn and 95c. to $1 is the ruling figure. The high price of corn appears to be, at least, effecting the consumption somewhat, as the trade report that attention is being turned from this commodity to canned tomatoes. Peas are quiet from 70c. upwards and they appear to be the quietest line in the canned goods list. The demand for canned fruits keeps good, and better than is usual at this time. The demand for peaches is particularly good.

Business in canned meats is beginning to open up, and some houses report that they have, during the last few weeks, made quite a number of shipments of both canned meats and canned fish.

Quite a few shipments of canned goods have been made since the opening of navigation, orders for which were placed some time ago. The demand for canned goods generally, from Ontario points, is fairly good, and, as a rule, prices are considered steady.

COFFEES.

The local demand is fair. The crop movement in Brazilian coffees continues small, the receipts at Rio and Santos being light. Latest cable advices from Europe indicate a firm market there.

See pages 27 and 28 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

SUGARS.

The demand has fallen off somewhat during the past week, and the volume of business is now only fair. The London market took an easier turn on Saturday last, but the cables on Monday reported a stronger tone to the market. On Friday last beet advanced 3d. in London. In the United States refined sugars are quiet and steady this week. Willet & Gray report that raw sugar last week advanced 1-16 to ⅛c. per lb. in New York, and refined ⅛c. Stocks in Europe and America, at the end of last week, were 2,194,825, against 2,156,397 tons the previous week, and 2,550,148 tons a year ago. Willett & Gray state that the repeated stimulus to the raw market is largely derived from the speculation for the raws going in Europe. Prices on the local market are unchanged at last week's advance.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The market is without much feature either in regard to syrups or molasses, very little business being done in either. Advices from New Orleans state that the market there is dull and unchanged. A cable advice received in New York this week from Barbadoes report large sales of molasses at 19c., Canada being a large purchaser.

TEAS.

There is not a great deal being done. Advices from London state that the market there is a little easier for teas for a price, although about everything offering has been taken. Mail advices under date of April 28 state that the small auction of Indian teas passed with a slightly easier tone, a decline of a farthing per lb. being frequently noticeable, and that many buyers had, in consequence, withdrawn. "Apparently," says Gow, Wilson & Stanton's tea report, "there is only a small amount of Indian tea to be brought to auction during the remainder of the season." The week's average on Indian teas in London on garden account was 9.18d., against 7.91d. last year. Advices of the same date in regard to Ceylon tea say: "A further decline of ¼d. to ½d. per lb. took place, but at these prices buyers operated readily. Teas for 8½d. per lb. are now as cheap as they have been, taking the good quality into consideration. Such teas did not receive any benefit from the recent advance, and, as the decline mentioned above is general, such kinds are actually cheaper than they were some two or three months ago. The average for the week is 8.42d., against 7.81d. last year." A private letter received in Toronto this week states that the prospects for the Indian tea crop are generally favorable, some of the districts in India having had sufficient quantity of rain early in April. Samples have been coming in slowly to Calcutta of new crop. Those which have come forward were generally fair and above the average, especially those from the Darjeeling and Teria districts.

Spot low-priced green teas are a little firmer than a week or ten days ago, on account of an improved demand for them, several parcels having changed hands. It will be about three months and a half before the new crop of China green teas arrive.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Trade is fairly good, although no striking features have developed during the week. The outside markets rule steady. Advices from New York state that two vessels are due to arrive there in June, which have between them about 5,000 barrels of currants.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The market is even stronger than it was a week ago, although our quotations are without change. There is a good demand, and it is the opinion of wholesalers that more are being sold just now than is usual at this time of the year. It is significant that the price which wholesalers are quoting for selected raisins is nearly ½c. per lb. below what it would cost to lay this fruit down to-day. A cable was received in Toronto this week by Watt & Scott from Liverpool offering up to 20s. for 10,000 half boxes of fruit. It will, of course, be remembered that the Liverpool market is practically bare of Valencia raisins, hence the inquiry here. Some shipments have recently been made from New York on Canadian account. The buyers are reported to have been Winnipeg business houses.

PRUNES — Local wholesalers report that they are doing a good business in Californian prunes at firm prices. Cheap Bosnia prunes are scarce here. Generally speaking, a good prune trade is being done.

DATES—There is a large demand, and there is a scarcity of spot goods. Some houses, however, have this week received shipments.

GREEN FRUITS.

The fruit market is beginning to take on its summer appearance. Tomatoes and strawberries are already coming in from the South in fair quantities, and the latter will be arriving in carload lots in a few days. The price of tomatoes ranges from $4 to $6 per case, according to quality, some of them proving quite soft. Strawberries are selling at 17 to 18c. for quarts. Pineapples are arriving freely, and good stock is selling actively at 12 to 15c., though as high as 18c. is paid for fancy fruit. A sharp advance is noted in lemons, on account of prices paid at the Montreal fruit auction last week. One Toronto buyer secured 10,000 boxes. This, with other purchases made by Toronto houses, and the purchases made this week, will supply this market with an abundance of lemons. Though future sales may affect the market, prices are likely to be well maintained. Valencia oranges are done. There is a fair supply of Californian fruit at the prices ruling last week. Messina is the principal orange on the market to-day, all houses being well stocked with them. Prices are steady at $3.25 to $3.50. The supply of bananas is moderate, and prices keep so high that there are sufficient for requirements. There is a fair movement of imported onions, but there is practically no demand for Canadian stock. There is little sale for sweet potatoes, which are still quoted at $4.50 per bbl.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS — As receipts are not increasing much quicker than the demand, prices have not yet declined, as anticipated, 11 to 11½c. still being the ruling figure.

POTATOES—There is no change. For cars on track, Toronto, 78c. would be paid. The street market is steady at 90c. per bag.

BEANS—Hand-picked are selling well at $1 to $1.10 ; medium grades at 85 to 90c.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The incoming of rhubarb, strawberries, etc., on the market, and the good prospects of a large crop and low prices in apples next fall has resulted in a weakened tone on the dried apple market this week. Jobbers who have been buying at 5c. on track, Toronto, are willing to sell out at that figure this week. For small lots in a jobbing way, 5½c. is the ruling figure, though 6c. is sometimes asked. Evaporated apples have not been affected yet, and a steady feelin is manifest, dealers paying 9c. outside, an jobbing at 9½ to 10c. locally.

MAPLE PRODUCT —The high prices note last week are well maintained on account the scarcity. We quote syrup as follows Imperial gallon tins, $1 to $1.10; wir gallon tins, 85c. Maple sugar is quoted 9c.

VEGETABLES—Rhubarb, spinach, asparagus, onions, etc., are all arriving in lar quantities, with the result that a general r duction in prices is noted. We quote: Rh barb, 40 to 60c. ; greenhouse radishes, to 50c. per dozen bunches ; native spinac $1.50 to $2 per bush.; green onions, 5 10c. per doz.; asparagus, 30 to 60c. p doz.; celery, $1.25 per doz.; lettuce, 20 30c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz., $1 $1.25 ; parsley, 20 to 25c. per do bunches ; turnips, 35 to 50c. per bag ; beet 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips, $1 p bag; carrots, 30 to 50c. per bag; onions, Da vers, $1.40 per bag ; butter squash, $1.7 Hubbard squash, $1.75 ; red cabbage, 40

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The market is demoralize Receipts of both dairy and creamery co tinue large, and quite an accumulation stock is noted. As the stock is of po keeping quality, prices are easy, with decline of ½c. noted in large dairy ro and all grades of creamery. Dairy tu are ½c. cheaper.

CHEESE — The quantity of new sto coming in continues to increase and to i prove in quality. The demand is activ though the high price, 10½c., is still aske There is a good demand for old cheese 11 to 11½c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

There is a fair inquiry for dressed hogs at $5.25 to $5.50 for butcher's use. The provision market is firm. The demand for all meats is active, and higher prices are confidently looked for by packers. Lard is steady at unchanged figures.

FISH.

Receipts of fresh-water fish are increasing. The demand is good. The price of whitefish, trout, herrings and haddock has declined 1 to 1½c. We quote: Erie fresh whitefish, 8c.; North Shore whitefish, 7½c.; North Shore trout, 7½c.; perch, 4c.; pike, 5 to 6c.; eels, 6c.; bullheads, 4c.; herrings, small, 4c.; herrings, large, 4½c.; halibut, 10c.; steak cod, 7c.; salt water fresh haddock, 5c.; B C. salmon, 17c.; shad, 35c.; Labrador herring, $4 per bbl. and $2 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 9 to 10c. per box; Halifax herring, $1.50 to $1.65 per 100; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; boneless fish, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; boneless fish in 1-lb. blocks, 5½ to 6c.; ciscoes, 60c. to $1.25; haddies, 8 to 9c. per lb.; lobsters, 15c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The conflicting reports as to the condition of the crop of fall wheat has resulted in differences of opinion as to the probable price of wheat in the near future. An advance of 1c. took place early in the week, and, though the feeling is slightly easier, this rise is well maintained. Both red and white are worth 69 to 70c. outside. On the local street market there is a fair movement of goose wheat and oats. We quote this market as follows: Wheat, white, 71½c.; red, 71½c.; goose, 65½ to 66c.;

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, May 11, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been no important change in the wholesale grocery trade during the past week, all lines being steady to firm, with the exception of molasses, and the excitement in this article referred to in our last issue has been more pronounced than ever this week, and the situation is exceedingly strong, with prices steadily tending upwards. In spite of the reaction in prices for raw sugar refined is firm at the advance noted last week, but business is still rather quiet. The movement in other lines has been up to the average and trade, on the whole, is satisfactory.

SUGAR.

The feature in the sugar situation has been the reaction in prices for beet in the foreign market, and, since this day week, they show a decline of 2¼d. Cables to-day, however, reported the market quiet, with a firm undertone, and quoted Java cane at 13s.; fair refining, 11s. 9d., and beet, 11s. 2¼d. May; 11s. 3d. June. The above facts have not had any effect upon the refined article, as the tone is firm and prices fully maintained at the recent advance. The demand for the season is not what it should be, but now that the tariff question is settled for the present, refiners are anticipating a more active trade in the near future, as stocks generally in second hands are comparatively small for the season all over the country. Granulated, at the factory, is selling at $4 60 to $4.65, and yellows at $4 to $4.40 per 100 lb., as to quality.

SYRUPS.

In spite of the recent advance in sugar and the strength of the molasses situation, there is no change or improvement to note in syrups, as the market is still quiet at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb., as to quality, at the factory.

MOLASSES.

The excitement in the molasses market has shown no abatement since our last report, in fact, it has been more pronounced than ever, as cable advices from Barbadoes have been exceedingly strong, and prices show another advance of 1c. per gallon, the first cost now being 15c., and even at this price buyers state it is impossible to get orders filled, as the market there is practically bare of stock. At the above figure it would cost 33c. net, and with the discount 34c. laid down here. In sympathy with the above, the Wholesale Grocers' Guild fell in line this week by marking up prices 2c. per gallon to 33c. for carload lots, and 34c. for single puncheons. There is little doubt now that there is going to be a great scarcity this season here, and the trade will not be su prised at still higher prices. The deman for molassses this year from Scotch an American refiners has been unusually larg on account of the scarcity of low-grad cane sugars.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no special feature in the canne goods market to note. Demand for a lines has been rather slow; in consequenc the volume of business doing is small, b the tone of the market is steady for all line with the exception of tomatoes, which ha a downward tendency, and sales of rou lots are reported at 82½ to 85c. per doze Corn, in round lots, is held at 87½c., a small quantities at 90 to 95c. A few sm lots of beans have changed hands at 77½ Peas are quiet and unchanged at 75 to 8c The demand for salmon is slow, and lo sters are firm.

RICE.

A more active business is reported rice, as orders are coming forward mo freely for new crop goods. The tone steady, and prices show no change.

COFFEE.

Business in coffee continues quiet, a prices show little change. Some small sa of Rio have taken place at 7 to 7½c., a Santos at 7 to 10c. Maracaibo has chang hands at 9 to 10c., with choice quoted 14c.

SPICES.

This market has ruled quiet but fir Cables from the East were firmer on pepp at 11¾c. for black for May and July s shipment, and 18¼c. for Singapore whi Prices here show no alteration.

TEAS.

The activity in the tea market notic during the last few weeks has been flatter out to some extent, owing chiefly to t action of the Government in regard to t duty. Business during the week has be quiet, but the tone of the market is firm, account of the light stocks held. Sales ported were 100 Japans at 14c., and ab 300 Ceylons at 19 to 21c. Pingsuey a gunpowders were scarce.

GREEN FRUITS.

The feature of the week in this depa ment was the sale of oranges and lem held last Friday at the Montreal Fr Auction Company's rooms. It was ss. Fremona's cargo, which consisted 66,000 boxes and half-boxes. The atte ance of buyers from both the United Sta and Ontario was large; in consequence, demand was good and the prices reali were considered very satisfactory. The receipts of the sale amounted to $125,0 Lemons, extra fancy, sold at $2.50 to $2 per box; fancy, $2.15 to $2.50; choi

$1.75 to $2.25, and fair, $1 to $1.50. Oranges were in a somewhat wasty conditions, consequently no fancy figures were paid, as the average price per box did not exceed $1.60, and the range was from $1.45 to $1.50. The demand for small fruits such as are in season has been good, and the market, on the whole, is much more active than it has been. Bananas are plentiful, and prices range from 85c. to $1.75 per bunch. Pineapples sold at 10 to 25c. each; strawberries at 20 to 25c. per quart. Apples are scarce and dear at $3 to $5 per bbl.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Owing to the liberal receipts of the past few days, the tone of the egg market was easier to-day, but prices show little change. The demand was good, and trade is active at 11c. for choice and at 9½ to 10c. for No. 2 per doz.

MAPLE PRODUCT—There continues to be a good demand for maple product, and the market is fairly active and firm. We quote: Syrup, in wood, 5¾ to 6c. per lb., and at 65 to 70c. per tin. Sugar sold at 7¾ to 8c. per lb.

HONEY—In honey, business continues quiet and prices are unchanged. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 9c.; dark, 6 to 7c.; white extracted, 7 to 7½c., and dark, at 4 to 5c.

BEANS—There was nothing new in beans to note. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

PROVISIONS.

A fairly active trade was done in smoked meats, and the demand for lard was fair, but pork is dull. The tone of the market is steady and prices show no change. We quote: Canadian pork, in barrels, $15 to $15.50; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¾ to 7c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN—There was no important change in the situation of the local grain market. In oats, a stronger feeling prevailed late Saturday afternoon, and a sale of 20,000 bushels was made at 38¼c., afloat, but this figure could not be realized again, and the top was 37c., at which several sales were made, including one lot of 10,000 bushels. Peas were quiet; buyers and sellers being apart, the former bidding 74½ to 75c., and the latter asking 76c., afloat. In Manitoba wheat, the feeling was steady, No. 1 hard being quoted at 72½c., afloat, Fort William. The demand from foreign buyers was good for this grade of wheat, but bids were somewhat out of line, in consequence little business was done.

FLOUR—The flour market was rather quiet, but the tone is steady, and values show no change. The demand was less active than it has been, both from local and foreign buyers. We quote as follows: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $4.10; strong bakers', $3.70.

OATMEAL—Business in meal was quiet, but the tone of the market was firm, and prices were maintained at $3.80 to $3.90 per bbl. for rolled oats.

FEED—The demand for all kinds of feed continues good, and the market is active and firm. We quote as follows: Ontario white wheat bran, in bulk, sold at $16 to $17, and shorts $17 to $19 per ton; Manitoba bran, $16; shorts, $18, and mouille, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

HAY—There was a good demand for baled hay, and trade is active at firm prices. We quote: No. 1, $6.50 to $7; No. 2 extra, $5 to $5.50; clover and clover mixture, $4 to $4.75 per ton.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—The tone of the market here for old stock is firm with holders of such asking 11c. Business in new cheese was quiet.

BUTTER—The butter market was moderately active to-day and steady. The demand for export account was fair, and some fair-sized lots changed hands at 16¼ to 16½c. for creamery in boxes. A fair local trade was also reported at 16½ to 16¾c. Eastern Townships dairy sold at 14½ to 15c., and western at 12½ to 13c.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., May 11, 1899.

THERE is but a fair volume of business. Much interest was taken in the budget, but after the disappointments of the past two years our dealers did not buy as largely as they otherwise would have done. The interest was around tea, sugar, and tobacco, and some little in oil. The river freshet is very large, the water being higher than for years, and but for the continued cold, would have been much higher. Business along the river is active. The steamers are running right up to Woodstock.

OIL—There has been much interest over the effort of a new American oil company, called The Sun Oil Co., to get a warehouse in the city. While oil is high and competition would be welcome if it tended to improve the situation, there is a difference of opinion if this would have the desired result. There is but a fair sale in oil in all lines, particularly burning oil, this being the quiet season. Prices show no change.

SALT—In Liverpool coarse salt, prices are rather higher, now that the regular steamers, which have been using this for their winter port, are going to Montreal. There is not a large stock held here, but the spring demand has been well supplied. In Canadian fine there is improved demand, owing to the opening of the dairy season. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 40 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—Except in corn and salmon values are hardly as firm. Tomatoes are somewhat disappointing, as Montreal holders are offering at lower figures than was expected. As goods can now be brought down by steamers freights are low. Corn is still sold here below western prices. There are but light stocks held. There is a steady sale. In meats goods are being sold close. In peaches, 2's are scarce and prices are very firm. There is some inquiry for gallon apples and 3-lb. pumpkin. The former tend higher. Oysters hold their advance. Canned pineapple is rather higher. New goods are now on the market. Lobsters and salmon are light stock and keep high.

GREEN FRUITS—The chief business is now done in bananas. Prices are firm. This is a line that shows little change. In oranges, stock is very light. There is a steady sale for good stock. Messinas have the best demand. In lemons, prices are still low, but tend higher. This market requires good fruit, and in lemons will pay for it. Pines are arriving more freely, and are easier in price. Sale here is not large. Strawberries have more attention. Prices are about as low as they will go till natives arrive.

DRIED FRUITS—The sale is light. In prunes, which have had the chief attention during the spring, the sale is reported dull, with fair stocks held, so that, while prices west are firmer, holders are disappointed. Raisins are a light business, and prices are easy. A car of Californian ungraded Pacific that was consigned here some three months ago was this week shipped to New York, there being no demand here. Evaporated apples are scarce, but have limited sale; dried are dull. Dates are firm. In onions, Egyptian hold the market at even prices. In Bermudas, stock is light, but there is only a fair sale; the demand seems to fall off each year, the price being one cause. In peanuts, prices at Norfolk are again up 25c.

SUGAR—Fair stocks are held. Dealers rather looked for an increased duty, owing to the continued sale of American in our market, even American yellows being quite freely received. While holders of Canadian sugars were disappointed in regard to the duty, they find, owing to an advance made last week, that the somewhat extra stock they hold is very welcome. There is a good sale.

MOLASSES—Values are very firmly held, and the outlook is for quite high prices to rule, particularly in Barbadoes, stocks of which are light. Though there have been quite free arrivals of Porto Rico, it came on a bare market and has gone into consumption quite largely, so that present stock is quite small. There is quite a quantity about due here. Values are higher, and the fact that Canadian vessels are to be again allowed to carry cargo between Porto Rico and American ports, together with the firm feeling on the Island, makes a strong market here. There is still some demand for New Orleans.

PRODUCE—In eggs, there is but a light movement, and commission men are not encouraging shippers to forward any large quantities. Price is low. In butter, market is dull, but small quantities of Ontario being received, chiefly large rolls. There is but a fair demand for creamery. Dairy tubs have best sale. Cheese is scarce, but new fancy Ontario is beginning to arrive. Prices are rather firmer.

FISH—Stock is light. In dry cod, new fish, are now to hand. Price is still high, with no difference between large and mediums. There are no pollock, the price ruling in the West Indies having caused stocks usually sent here to be shipped there. Pickled herring are out of the market, which is nominal at this season. Shad dull, as are smoked herring, though price of the latter is somewhat firmer. There is a fair supply of fresh fish. Halibut is marked lower. Salmon are beginning to be offered, but are very high. Gasperaux are still but a fair catch. We quote rather lower. We quote: Large and medium dry cod $4; small, $2.50; pickled shad, $3.50 to $5, as to quality; haddies, 5c. per lb. smoked herring, 6½ to 7½c.; smoked alewives, 90c. per 100; kippered herring, $1 per box; halibut, 6c. per lb.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; gaspereaux, 60c. per 100 alewives 75c. per 100; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.

PROVISIONS—In barreled beef prices are somewhat easier. Pork shows litttle change and but a fair sale. In lard, prices are quoted rather higher.

FLOUR FEED AND MEAL—In flour rather lower values prevail. There is but a quiet business. Oatmeal is quoted higher, but there is no large sale. In cornmeal, the higher price still holds. Sales continue large. Some granulated cornmeal has been received from the United States. Feed is still high and scarce, which is true to a somewhat less degree of oats. Beans are selling as low here as western shippers are asking. In barley and split peas, the high price has caused a falling off in the demand. Hay is firmer and holders hope for higher prices. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.65 to $4.75; best Ontario, $3.90 to $4; medium, $3.70 to $3.85; oatmeal, $4 to $4.10; cornmeal, $2.20 to $2.25; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 41 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1.10 to $1.15; prime, $1 to $1.10; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2; split peas, $4.10 to $4.20; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $4.10 to $4.25; hay, $7 to $7.50; timothy seed, American, $1.50 to $2; do., Canadian, $1.80 to $2.25; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7½ to 8c.; red, 6¾ to 7½c.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, May 9, 1899.

BUSINESS is good and the weather is much improved. Seeding has been going steadily forward in spite of cold weather, and the area will be larger than last year, though not so large possibly as it would have been had the spring opened earlier.

Arbor day was very generally observed and many trees were planted and much general work of clearing up gardens and the like got through with.

Among the news of the week is the appointment of Mr. Briggs, late of The Codville Company, as agent for Manitoba and the Northwest of The Price Baking Powder Company.

Few changes are reported for the week. In butter, there have been offerings from one or two factories and two sales were closed at 18c., but most of the Manitoba make is being sent to British Columbia on consignment, as fresh-made creamery bricks are bringing 26c. per lb. at some Coast points. The low price in the east, is, however, expected to effect these prices within the next few days. Dairy butter is weaker and fresh-made rolls clothed are selling at 18c.; ordinary fresh dairy, 13 to 14c., with little demand; separator-made in bricks is quoted at 18 to 20c.

CHEESE—Houses are running along on old stock, the demand being small. No new cheese is offering.

EGGS—Eggs are easy and supply light. The market is fairly firm at 10c. point of shipment.

CURED MEATS—This market has experienced a slight advance in some lines. Hams are quoted at 11c.; bellies, 11½c., backs are unchanged at 10½c.; shoulders, 8½c. Dry salt long clear is quoted at 8c.; extra short clear, 8½c., dry salt backs, without change, 9c.; shoulders. 8¼c. The market appears firm at these figures.

FISH—Smoked and dried fish are practically out of the market, the only sales being of scaled herring and shredded cod. Herrings are worth 15c. per box and cod 90c. per doz. There is a pretty good demand for canned fish.

NUTS—It is reported that the Tarragona almond crop is completely destroyed by frost, and, though there is considerable stock afloat, holders are firm, looking for higher prices. Valencia almonds have advanced slightly, and are now quoted at 30 to 31c.; Tarragona, 16 to 17c.; Grenoble walnuts, 14c.; Sicily filberts, 12c.; cocoanuts, $1 per doz.

SUGAR—This market has been active and excited all week. Sugar from Eastern refiners is 10c. higher, while that from British Columbia is from ⅛ to ¼c. higher.

Granulated is quoted variously from 5⅞ to 5⅓c.; yellows, 4⅝ to 4¾c. This advance is supposed to be due to sympathy with the American, where the raw material has advanced.

Evaporated Fruits—This market is without change. The figures for apricots and peaches are so high that practically no sales are being effected. Prunes continue firm and in fair demand. Californian raisins would appear to be going higher. The holdings at the Coast are much lighter than last year, and will be exhausted before a new crop comes in. As Valencia raisins are abundant and reasonable, the general price may not be as much affected as some anticipate.

Canned Goods—Offerings are larger, and one or two sales from second hands have taken place during the week, but prices are without change. Peaches are reported as likely to be a short pack this year, but whether this is authentic remains to be proven.

Green Fruits—Business is good in this line, and the supply of staple lines full. Strawberries have dropped to $5.50 per case of 24 boxes; pie plant, $1.80 per box; oranges, $4 to $4.50; Messina lemons, $3.75; Californian lemons out of season; cherries, black and red, $2.50 per box; Washington apples, in boxes, $2.25. Full lines of early vegetables are selling well.

CANADIAN PRODUCTS WANTED.

The London, England, representative of The Canadian Grocer writes that the following are some of the trade inquiries received during the two weeks ending April 21 at the Canadian Government offices in London:

The names of exporters of birch spoolwood from Quebec and the Maritime Provinces are asked for.

An inquiry has been received from one of the paper trade journals for the names of wood-flour exporters. The product is used to some extent as a filling in the manufacture of certain grades of paper.

A firm of manufacturers and importers of turnery and domestic joinery have asked to be placed in communication with Canadian exporters of bass broom handles and ash rake and fork handles.

Inquiry has been made for porcupine quills, and the name of the firm will be given to anyone who is able to ship these goods.

The manufacturer of a patent automatic weighing and sack-filling machine, which, he thinks, should be specially useful to Canadian shippers of grain, has been inquiring as to how he can best extend the sale in the Dominion.

A member of a Scotch firm is shortly leaving for Canada, and would like to have the names of reliable shippers of oatmeal packers of canned and dried fruits, and manufacturers of brooms, broom handles washboards, and woodenware, upon whom he can call with a view to business.

An inquiry has been received through the agent of the Government in Glasgow from a firm who are prepared to correspond with exporters of turkeys for the next season's supplies. They have had a large experience in the business, so far as Russian and other foreign turkeys are concerned.

A Dundee firm of 50 years standing have asked to be referred to commission firms in Toronto and Montreal suitable to represent them in jute and linen goods.

A firm of wholesale manufacturing opticians, scientific instrument makers and electricians wish to be placed in communication with firms in the Dominion open to do business in these lines.

An inquiry has been received from a Swedish firm for a Canadian open to export aspen wood for the manufacture of match splints. Large quantities are already imported from Russia.

A Spanish house has asked to be furnished with names of Canadian fruit brokers, timber merchants and manufacturers of white phosphorus.

[Persons who can furnish the desired information in regard to any of the above inquiries can have such forwarded to destination through The Canadian Grocer.—Editor Canadian Grocer.]

A MERCHANT FROM ALGOMA.

THE CANADIAN GROCER, last week, received a visit from Mr. T. J. Foster, of Foster & Co., Richard's Landing, St. Joseph Island, Algoma.

Mr. Foster was originally a Hamiltonian. He went to Algoma several years ago to teach school. From a teacher he became a clerk in a general store, after serving seven years in which capacity he became a merchant. He carries a stock of practically all kinds of merchandise and does a business of about $25,000 annually. In addition to their regular business, Foster & Co. do a large trade in lumber, pulp wood and farm produce, which they purchase from the farmers and ship to outside points. A good deal of hemlock and hardwood are shipped by the firm to the United States.

Mr. Foster reported that business during the past winter had been decidedly good.

A WESTERNER'S UNIQUE SIGN.

There is a grocery sign in Macleod, Man., which is very striking and amusing, and no doubt has been a means of building up trade. It reads:

OLD JOHN BLACK
Adventurer and Agitator
Seller of Groceries and Guff.

Mr. Black is an eastern Ontario man and has been in the Northwest a number of years. He spent 14 years with the Hudson's Bay Company, at Macleod, and has been in business for himself a little over two years, in which time he has worked up a large connection.

There will be another clerks' competiti this year.

A SOAP FIRM MOVES.

The Canadian grocery trade and gene public are quick to recognize an article real value. The quality of an article has be proven before it is accepted, but, or accepted, the growth of its sale is assur One of the most recent proofs of this fact cited in the case of "Hudson's Soap," fine powder soap introduced from Englar The sale of this article has already reach over all parts of the country. The firm h just moved its headquarters from 34 Ch boillez square, Montreal, to 30 Front str east, Toronto.

"Don't Pay Freight on Water"

The above curt advice will strike every business man as sensible and worthy of reflection.

Hundreds of merchants from Halifax to Vancouver are acting upon it and saving money by buying

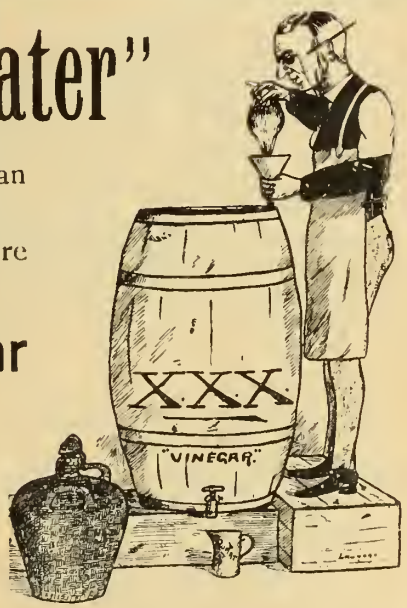
(Imported from Germany)



For sale by Wholesale Grocers in Toronto, Hamilton, London, Montreal, Vancouver, Victoria.

If your wholesaler does not keep it write to us direct.

Why pay freight on 900-lb. (2 bbls. vinegar) of water when you can buy Concentrated Vinegar (2 gals.) weighing only 30-lb. You can add water yourself. No object in buying Toronto or Hamilton water at 25c. per gallon and paying freight on it besides. Has this feature ever struck you, grocers?

This Vinegar is the only absolutely pure article on sale. The highest medical authorities of Europe have given this verdict.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

THE feature of the week was the auction sale held on Wednesday. The offering wasa fairly large one and reflecting the increased pressure to sell and the absence of a spirited demand, a lower basis of values was established ; Formosa, Foochow, country greens and Pingsueys showing a decline of ½c. and Japans, Congous and Indias and Ceylons were rather easier. Subsequent to the auction sale the private market ruled quiet and quoted prices were lowered about ½c. per lb. It has been decided to hold two regular auction sales of tea a month, instead of one, as has been the custom for about the past year.—New York Journal of Commerce, May 6.

GOOD PINEAPPLE SEASON.

Baltimore packers have great confidence in the outlook for the pineapple season. It is expected that the packing will begin within two weeks, and the indications are that it will be large. Up to date the inquiries for pineapples have far exceeded those of previous years, and there is every reason to believe that money will be made this year. The local brokers say that the orders up to the present time, based on the reports that the crop will be large, are very gratifying. A fleet of schooners have cleared and will clear from Baltimore for the West Indies, and will return laden with "pines."—American Packer.

A CLEANED-UP FRUIT MARKET.

Reviewing the dried fruit situation on the Coast, The San Francisco Trade Journal says in its issue of April 28 : "The market is about cleaned up of every variety, even prunes have been taken quite freely ; so much so as to leave very little to be had. The price is reported ¼c. higher. We hear that offers have been made for new season's delivery of peaches on the basis of 8c. for choice."

SALMON SITUATION IN THE UNITED STATES.

The salmon situation on the Coast is thus reviewed by The San Francisco Trade Journal in its issue of April 28 : "So far, the pack on the Sacramento river shows an increase over the corresponding time in 1898, but not quite up to 1897. The fish it is said average better in color and more solid in flesh. On the Columbia the run has been light with the size small, not going above 14 to 15 lb. each on an average. The light run there is causing fewer fishermen to go out than was expected with the high prices considered. It is said that some buyers are scouring the river in steam launches and pay cash for fish from boats without fishermen being compelled to pull for a cannery. Owing to the light catches there is considerable competition between buyers. The water in the river is reported quite high, more or less muddy and quite cold. In high water seasons in the Columbia the April catches have been uniformly light, but with warm weather in May and June the runs increase as do the size of the fish, and we do not see why this year should be an exception. We still think the pack of chinook this year will be largely in excess of 1898, but that of bluebacks will be less, for cold storage men will be quite a buying factor for bluebacks and steelheads, besides which the price of Alaska will have quite a bearing on that of the two latter. It looks as if more attention will be given by Columbia river canners to packing ovals, flats and halves at the expense of 1's in talls owing to the increasing demand for the finer grades in those cans, and the impracticability of Alaska canners, by reason of higher cost of labor, packing much outside of 1-lb. talls."

RAISINS ON THE COAST.

Referring to the raisin situation, The New York Journal of Commerce says : "Stocks on the Coast are reported to be exceptionally light, even for this season. Ordinarily, at this time of the year, there are at least 1,000 cars left in first hands there, b according to reliable information, the ho ings of the association on April 28 w less than 300 cars of graded loose rais and about 140 cars of Pacific. There w included in these holdings 215 cars of thr crowns, 24 cars of four-crowns, 55 cars two-crowns, and 3 cars of ungraded lo muscatels."

DAMAGED TARRAGONA FRUIT.

Advices received from Tarragona April 6 are as follows : "It is confiden reported from different districts that entire crop has been lost. Some allowa must, of course, be made for exaggerat in reports from the villages, but, after haustive inquiries, we have been forced the conclusion that very little sound fr will be gathered, and you will not be s prised that every parcel of old fruit has be withdrawn and that prices here to-day nominally 50s. cost and freight."

EXPORT OF MANITOBA WHEAT

A considerable quantity of Manitoba wh has been moved from Fort William by t Montreal firms at about 8c. per bushel rail, which is said to be the cheapest r yet established by the C.P.R. Besides low rail freight on this grain the shipp have the advantage of putting it on the f steamers, which they could not have d had they waited for its arrival by water Trade Bulletin, Montreal.

MEETINGS OF RETAIL GROCERY ASSOCIATIONS.

TORONTO ASSOCIATION.

THERE was a large attendance at the regular meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, which was held in St. George's Hall, Elm street, on Monday evening. The president, F. W. Johnson, was in the chair.

J. T. Paul, R. H. Hudson and L. Draper, a deputation from the Toronto Grocery Clerks' and Drivers' Association, were heard regarding the early closing movement. The deputation expressed the determination of the clerks and drivers to use every effort to secure general observance of early closing in the grocery trade of Toronto. They had already succeeded in persuading a number of grocers to close early, and others had promised to commence in the near future.

At the advice of members of the association, the deputation promised to ask their association to wait on the Toronto Trades and Labor Council, and ask that body for sympathy and cooperation in their efforts to secure a shorter day's work.

The committee who were appointed to meet the commission fruitmen re the shipment of fruit to the Toronto market on the early morning trains reported that a circular, which embodied the resolution passed at the last meeting of the association, had been sent to the various growers.

The motion, which D. Clark gave notice of last month, that the salary of Ed. Hawes, the secretary, be increased, was introduced, and, after discussion, it was decided to give him an advance of $50. The opinion was unanimous that Mr. Hawes has been of great value to the association, and if the association funds were larger, his salary would have been even more largely advanced.

J. D. Kelly proposed that the association should be incorporated. It was decided to leave the matter over till the executive committee should report on the expenses that would be incurred and the benefits that would be derived from such action.

The secretary read communications he had received from the various railway and steamboat lines regarding their annual summer excursion. When the subject was opened for discussion it was speedily moved that the excursion be by boat, as in the past few years. This was carried, and a warm discussion regarding the best point to visit took place. It was soon evident that Oshawa and Cobourg were the favorites in the minds of the members, but, as more information concerning rates, etc., was wanted, a decision was not reached. The executive were instructed to bring in a report on the various points that were suggested, and any other points which they think worth considering.

MONTREAL ASSOCIATION.

Regular monthly meeting of The Montreal Grocers' Association was held in Monument National Hall, 220 St. Lawrence street.

Moved by N. Lapointe, seconded by E.W. Farrell, that the secretary be instructed to write The Wholesale Grocers' Association, thanking them for the manner in which they have kept the agreement signed by the wholesale firms and manufacturers re selling to department stores, and that this association relieve them of further adhering to said agreement, as it is quite evident that the department stores have been buying goods through some medium unknown to us.

This was carried unanimously.

Moved by P. O'Brien, seconded by N. Lapointe, that we hold our annual picnic as usual this year, during the month of July. Carried.

Moved by J. P. Dixon, seconded by S. Demers, that a committee composed of the officers of this association be named to choose a site for holding our picnic, and report at a special meeting to be held on May 17. Carried.

Moved by J. P. Dixon, seconded by E. W. Farrell and N. Chartrand, that the secretary be instructed to write to the Mayor of Montreal signifying our protest against any further increase of tax on delivery wagons, and that the secretary arrange an appointment for a delegation of grocers to wait on the mayor and aldermen of the city regarding this question. Carried.

P. GANNON, Secretary,

NOTES FROM BISCUITDOM.

Where in the world do Peek, Frean & Co. get all their ideas for such an infinite variety of biscuits? Every day seems to bring a new creation from their vast ovens to meet the constant demand for a novelty and yet the old favorites still retain their places in popular affection, to a much greater degree than one would at first imagine. For any person with a sweet tooth, what can excel their new "Florence Wafer?" It is really a sandwich made of two light wafers with delicately flavored cream, and is a sweet and dainty morsel. With many people it is already a favorite, and those of the trade who have not seen and sampled this new confection, should communicate with Peek, Frean & Co.'s Montreal agent, whose address is given in their advertisement, for he has just received samples for distribution to those who want them, and will be glad to have inquiries.

A PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE STORE.

While in Portage la Prairie I had the pleasure of calling upon J. & E. Brown. They have, I think, without exception, the finest general store in Manitoba. In fact it would not hurt a few Eastern merchants to pattern after it.

There are three entrances from the main street, there being one to the grocery, boot and shoe building, another to the men's furnishing and clothing department, and a third to the dress goods and staples department.

The second floor is devoted to carpets, dressmaking and millinery. The millinery showroom is large with sufficient mirrors around to produce a good effect. The grocery department is the full length of the west side of the store and gives ample room to show the stock off to best advantage. I cannot remember a store where the stock looked better.

And so the six-pound Enameled Tins in "horseshoe" shape that is now put up in prove our statement that we "keep abreast of the times."

You must not confuse the Edwardsburg Silver Gloss with any other so-called "Gloss" Starch, because that would not be fair to Silver Gloss which is made from the very best selected corn, by the most skillful starch-workers in the country. Our experience of over forty years makes it "best"—quality counts.

Comparisons, for Profits' Sake.

You remember the catch phrase, "The Pill that Will"? Windsor Salt is the salt that will, but there is no catch to the statement--it is fact--not theory or assumption on our part. We make the comparison for your profits' sake. Windsor Salt will--hold trade every single time. Salt is salt--but all salt is not pure and white and dry (for the table) and perfectly crystalized. Windsor Salt is the salt that will--it is the salt of double profit--profitable for you and the users too. You hear this everywhere, "as pure as Windsor Salt."

SIMPLE BOOKKEEPING SYSTEMS FOR GROCERS.

THE following is a further contribution of short essays on bookkeeping received by The Grocery World in its prize competition :

By C. E. Conarroe, Atlanta, Ga.

A convenient form of bookkeeping for grocers :

1. Books to be used : Ledger, journal and petty ledger or customers' ledger.

2. Description of books : (a) Ledger, any ordinary ledger with about 200 pages ; (b) journal—for this book I should use a special column book, either six or eight columns, ruled and headed as follows :

Sundries.	Mdse	Cash.	L.F	Remarks.	L.F	Cash.	Mdse	Sundries.
				April 24. 1899.
75 00	25 00		178	Daily sales		25 00	75 00
1 12		73 88		Inv. from John Jones.....	178			75 00
				30 days, 1½ per cent., 10 days.
				John Jones, check No. 93
				Discount on inv.....				1 12
76 12	25 00	73 88				25 00	75 00	75 00

The cash and merchandise columns need be posted but once a week or once a month, or when a page is filled, at the option of the individual most concerned, only the footings being posted. The entries in sundries column must, of course, be posted separately, and this can best be done by devoting a few minutes each evening. In fact, the entries can be most conveniently made in the evening or during some quiet portion of the day, by having a convenient file or hook where all invoices and memoranda are placed during the day. All cash entries should be made at time of transaction.

(c) Petty Ledger—One of the various forms, of suitable size, may be selected, according to ideas of purchaser. In this book is kept a record of all credit sales. The pages are ruled as an ordinary statement of accounts, are perforated and can be removed at will. An itemized account of each sale is made thereon at the time sale is made ; this is torn off, receipted, and given to customer upon settlement of account, and journal entry then made for cash. No customer's accounts to fill general ledger ; no posting ; no weekly or monthly statements to itemize ; no checking over journal or salesbook to verify account, as original entry is made on petty ledger.

If one is unfamiliar with bookkeeping he can for a very moderate sum secure some young man who is employed during the day to give his services for one or two evenings in a week until books are well started, and, as the entries in the average grocery business are unusually simple ones, no trouble need be feared.

Have used the above plan of bookkeeping in both grocery and crockery stores.

By William H. Isaacs, Philadelphia.

I use but one book for my store charges, which is a ledger. I go after orders every morning, receive them in a pass book, and as soon as delivered enter in the ledger, giving month and day, as follows :

1899. MRS. JONES.

April 15	2 lb. sugar.....		11
	½ lb. coffee		15
	3 bun. rhubarb..		10
	¼ peck apples ..		18
17	½ peck potatoes		18
	Can corn		10
	Can peas		10
	Can asparagus..		25	1	17
19	By cash on act				50
	Balance				67

For all other purposes I use two books, one day book and one ledger. By the above I can tell within five minutes exactly what I owe and how many accounts are still open, and, at the end of every month, I can tell how much business has been done each day, and can compare this year with last, or any year since I have been in the grocery business.

By John M. Clayton, Philadelphia.

I think I have quite a convenient and handy method of bookkeeping. I have a large book file with the alphabet on, the same as a ledger, and it has steel springs or fastenings that hold the accounts firm and safely in their place. I take a bill-head or a plain piece of stiff paper, put the customer's name at the top of the paper or bill-head, and charge them with what they get underneath. When the customer asks for her bill to pay it, we just take it off the file, receipt it, and hand it to her, and that is the end of it.

This is, I think, a very handy way for a grocer to keep some of his accounts at least.

LONDON RETAIL GROCERS.

THERE was quite a number of grocers in attendance at the meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association of London, Ont., held on the 8th inst., and considerable interest was taken in the questions discussed. President R. A. Jones was in the chair.

The secretary reported a meeting of the committee appointed to formulate plans for the grocers' annual outing. The committee suggested an excursion to Niagara Falls on July 26, and arrangements have been made with the M.C.R. for a train to leave London at 7 a.m., and returning leave the Falls at 8 p.m. On motion the report was received and adopted.

The secretary was instructed to reply to a communication from the Ottawa Retail Merchants' Association regarding trade discounts.

The question of an early closing by-law, suggested by a deputation from the Ministerial Association at the last meeting, was discussed for a short time, and laid over for further information.

It was suggested that it might be in the interest of the retail trade to club together and buy goods in large quantities and obtain better rates of discounts, and, after a short discussion, this question was laid over until the next meeting.

The question was asked: "Would it not be advisable to request the mayor and city council to proclaim Monday, July 3, as a holiday, instead of July 1 (Dominion Day?" It was argued in favor of the suggestion that Saturday is our best market day, and no doubt that if the day is observed as a holiday many farmers will be disappointed, as they will unthinkingly come to market as usual, but, if kept on Monday, no one will be at any inconvenience. The secretary was instructed to present to the mayor and city council the request of this association, that Monday, July 3, be proclaimed a holiday, instead of Saturday, July 1 (Dominion Day).

The committee appointed at last meeting to arrange for annual outing were empowered to add to their numbers and complete arrangements for the excursion to Niagara Falls.

Considerable discussion took place on the early closing movement, and it was reported to be working satisfactorily generally.

Trading stamps came in for quite a lively discussion, but no action was taken.

A half hour's social talk on the grievances and pleasures of the trade brought a very pleasant and profitable meeting to a close.

Four members were added to the association, and the president remarked that he hoped the association would continue to grow until every grocer in the city is a member, and he urged the members to make it a point to attend every meeting. The meetings were for the benefit of the trade, and "the better acquainted we get with each other the more we will be able to help one another and the trade generally."

E. SUTTON, Secretary.

THE POWER OF ADVERTISING.

"Properly applied," observed the old advertising man, "advertising is a force which has no peer in strength over the public mind. It is the greatest scientific triumph of the century. It suggests what we shall eat, wherewith we shall be clothed, and even what we shall pay for it. It creates a wish for things which the public never knew or imagined it wanted. It offers to supply a demand before the demand is made, while, previous to the days of modern advertising methods, the supply only followed a manifestation of the desire for its presence."—Profitable Advertising.

A CLEANSING COMPOUND.

J. H. Farr & Co., Toronto, are manufacturing a cleansing compound, "Sanatine Cleanser," which should be of value to housekeepers, painters, and others. It can be used for removing grease or any stain from woodwork, which it will do without injuring the varnish or paint. It can also be used for cleaning oilcloths, carpets and cloths, as it will hurt in no way any fabric, coarse or fine. In the kitchen it is of use for cleaning tables, pots, glasswa or silverware. As it softens hard water. does not chap the hands, its effect being rather to keep the skin soft and in good condition.

VISIT FROM A COCOA MAN.

Mr. Arthur R. Sharp, representing Rowtree & Co., Limited, York, England, is Montreal in the interests of his firm, wh are establishing an agency in Canada, und the management of Mr. Chas. Gyde.

Rowntree & Co. are an old English firm of cocoa and chocolate manufacturers, having been established in 1838. They now operate three large factories giving employment to over 1,800 hands, and have a staff of 50 travelers looking after their interests in the British Isles alone, besides having resident agents all over the world. The "Elect" cocoa and chocolates have been known for many years to the Canadian trade, and now that the 25 per cent. preference is in force they look for a large increase in business. Besides being manufacturers of cocoa and chocolates they have a large range of French confectionery as well as a high grade of jujubes and pastiles. In the latter line they are the largest manufacturers in the world, and their goods are standards wherever they have been used.

They are also introducing for the first time in Canada a new product, called "Elect" lemonade crystals, which make a healthful and delightfully refreshing summer drink.

This is Mr. Sharp's first visit to Canada and he is favorably impressed so far, and is looking forward with pleasure to his trip across the continent, which he is taking in connection with Mr. Gyde. They expect to leave next Monday for the Maritime Provinces, and after that will make a trip to Victoria, B.C., which place they expect to reach about July 1. From there, Mr. Sharp returns east via United States.

MULLIGATAWNY SOUP.

FOR this soup prepare the following vegetables which should be of good quality and fresh :

Seventy-five lb. of carrots are cut (by hand or machine) into small pieces ; 25 lb. of white turnips are prepared in the same way. Peel and cut into thin slices 15 lb. of onions, cut 15 lb. leeks into small dice, and cut up fine 10 lb. lettuce.

In the 2-lb. cans put 6 oz. of the mixed vegetables and then fill the cans to the required weight with soup which is made as follows :

Take 60 gallons of good clear beef essence, taken from the roast beef shrinking or cooking tanks and boil down in a jacketed kettle, to half its bulk. To this is added 40 gallons of good clear jelly or soup stock made from the boiling of fresh beef bones after the meat has been removed from them. For flavor and seasoning, add to the above mixture 4 gal. mushroom catsup, 4 lb. fine salt, 15 oz. white pepper, 3 oz. mace and 6 oz. curry powder. All the ingredients must be thoroughly mixed in the jacketed kettle and boiled for one hour. While boiling, the soup must be well stirred. After the soup has been cooked the required time, it is drawn off into a tight box truck of ample capacity, from which it is convenient to fill the cans. Fill the 2-lb. cans, so they weigh 2 lb. and 1 oz., which extra weight will allow for loss and evaporation.

In canning soups, always allow one ounce for loss and evaporation in processing.

When the cans are filled, they are wiped well and capped, leaving the centre vents open. They are now placed on the racks and put into the retort. The cover of the retort is closed tightly, and the exhaust must also be closed. On the first processing they are given one hour and 45 minutes at two pounds pressure.

When the required time has elapsed, shut off the steam and blow off the pressure very slowly. The retort is then opened, the cans removed and the vents stopped quickly. The cans are then replaced in the retort and boiled off for 1 hour and 40 minutes at 9 lb. pressure. While boiling off, the exhaust of the retort is left open. After the cans have remained for the required period, the steam is shut off and the pressure is again blown off ; the cans are removed to the shower-room and there showered until thoroughly cool. They are then removed and sent to the cleaning-room, afterwards being wiped, dried and labeled.—National Provisioner.

NEWFOUNDLAND GUANO FIRM.

Mr. S. B. Shaddick is visiting various places in Canada in the interests of The Newfoundland Fish Industries Co., Limited, St. Johns, Nfld.

About a year ago, this company engaged in the manufacture of guano and oil from offal, a substance which formerly had been consigned to the sea. For the purpose of converting the offal into guano and extracting the oil, two factories have been erected and fully equipped ; of these, one is in the south, at Bonne Bay, Hermitage Bay, and one in the north, at Snook's Arm, Notre Dame Bay. At each of these, upwards of 200 tons of offal are treated per day.

The company have also gone extensively into the herring business, both pickling and canning, and propose exporting from 30,000 to 40,000 barrels a year, to be distributed over the Canadian, American and English markets. Cold storage is also included in the operations of the company Mr. Shaddick states, a cold store having been erected at St. John's for the purpose of experimenting on the freezing of various kinds of fish. Herring packing is carried on all the year round, thus providing employment for many who would otherwise have been left idle during the summer months. Mr. Shaddick is now negotiating for markets in the Dominion for the company's products.

If you are wise, you give them IMPERIAL CHEESE, the cheese that everybody likes because of its purity, economy, and delicious flavor.

TRAVELERS AND INSOLVENCY.

THE Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association met in quarterly session on Saturday night at Montreal in their rooms in the Board of Trade building and discussed the proposed insolvency law. Mr. Max Murdock, the president, reported the standing of the association as most satisfactory. The membership had increased 250 during the first six months. They were now about the 3,000 mark. Up to the present time, he said, we have paid in death claims $7,625, as against $13,675 for the same period last year. Should Providence favor us to the same extent for the balance of the year, our financial statement will be exceptional.

Hon. J. D. Rolland, the past president, with the president, constituted a deputation that, during the past month, has been pressing upon the Justice Department of the Dominion Government for the disallowance of the amendment of 1898 to the Act of 1894, passed by the Legislature of Prince Edward Island referring to commercial travelers. The Government is considering the matter, and this decision will be announced some time previous to August 19, the time limit in which it has the right to interfere in the matter. They had been generously assisted by Messrs. Prefontaine and Madore.

The special matter that is desired to lay before the meeting, said the president, is a series of resolutions, that having been approved by the executive are referred for your endorsation. They refer to an Act of Insolvency about to be introduced into the Federal Parliament. That such legislation is desired is not seriously questioned. The arrangement for the distribution of the assets of an insolvent debtor is now in a state of chaos, each of the seven Provinces having its own law, some of them bad and the rest iniquitous. The United States has labored under the same difficulty until last year, when a Federal Insolvency Act was passed which promises to give great satisfaction. Canada is now enjoying a season of great prosperity, and the need of such a law is not apparent. Depression will come. We trust it may be long delayed—but it follows as does night the day, that seasons of prosperity are followed by times of difficulty. Let this country be ready and with an equitable Federal insolvency law bring harmony out of the chaos that now exists.

Mr. Gregg said that, having been a commercial traveler for nine or ten years, and, later, having attended to the office of a large business house which had connections in all the Provinces, he was convinced of the absolute need of such an Act. Mr. Gregg discussed very minutely many of the details of the proposed Act, showing the great advantage of uniformity.

Mr. Rolland, in seconding the resolution, said that representatives from Great Britain, France and Germany found great difficulty in extending their business here on account of the bad state of our laws. He trusted that all the pressure possible should be used to induce Parliament to pass Mr. Fortin's bill.

Addresses were also delivered by Messrs. James Croil, James Robertson, William Gosling, L. O. Demers, J. T. Dwyer and Fred. Birks, who proposed and seconded the different resolutions as follows :

Resolved :

(1) That the absence of uniformity in the legal procedure for the distribution of the assets of an insolvent debtor is detrimental to the commercial interests of the Dominion, and an obstacle to the extension of trade, both external and internal.

(2) That this uniformity can only be obtained by means of a Federal Insolvent Act.

(3) That the general provisions of the bill, respecting insolvency, presented by Mr. Thos. Fortin, member for Laval, are endorsed by this association.

(4) That it is urgent that legislation embodying such provisions as proposed by Mr. Fortin be passed during the present session of Parliament.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

JAPANS AND CONGOUS.

A NEW YORK paper says: "Cable advices received from Japan dated May 13, say that there continued an active speculative demand, the settlements to that date being 32,000 piculs, against 28,000 piculs for the same period last year. Despite, however, the active demand, prices have weakened slightly, but, at the lower prices, there has been no buying of importance for the United States nor Canada. The Japan crop, according to the latest information received, will be about the same as last year. Recent cable advices say that the market for Congou tea at Hankow has opened and that there is a good demand for the common grades, England being the principal buyer. No particulars, however, were learned as to the amount of tea thus far settled nor prices paid. The North China Congou crop, according to the advices received, promises to be somewhat larger than last year. Locally, there was a small and uninteresting market. The volume of line business transacted was of decidedly limited proportions, as jobbers generally confined their purchases to only such supplies as were absolutely needed to meet current wants. Still, as there was no pressure to sell, values held to a steady basis, particularly for the common grades."

CURRANTS AND RAISINS IN LONDON.

There is for the moment an extremely small supply of medium quality currants on the London market, but this seems likely to be well supplemented in the course of a few days by the arrival of the ss. Benmore with a full cargo, which presumably consists to a large extent of the qualities referred to. The Greek market for provincial fruit has shown some fluctuations during the past fortnight, but these appear to be more in consequence of the variations in the rate of the monetary exchange (with which variations they seem to correspond very closely) than of any corresponding changes in actual supply and demand. An examination of the London stocks of Sultanas is most certainly a sufficient justification for the comparatively high values now ruling, and, in addition to this, the stocks in Smyrna are not only almost, but practically quite exhausted, so that the position compared with previous years is even stronger than might be supposed from a study of the London stocks only, and it appears to be extremely probable that a further advance in price may be necessary to eke out the stocks until the new fruit arrives. Valencias continue to sell steadily, the London stocks are a little more than a fourth of last year's, and about 200 tons short of ordinary requirements. Taking this into consideration, prices appear extremely reasonable, and with a usual demand should certainly not recede.—Produce Markets' Review, May 6.

THE BRITISH BACON MARKET.

Who is it that has been knocking the bottom out of the bacon market? Such bad times as have recently prevailed have not been equaled for many a long year, and every effort put forth to get the market "up" has most completely failed. It is evident, of course, that the superabundant supply of Danish is causing a glut, and holders are anxious to unload to keep the prices down. How long Canada is going to carry on the losing game of competition is an important question for the trade, wholesale and retail.—Grocers' Journal, May 6.

THE UNITED STATES CANNING INDUSTRY.

A Baltimore, Md., press despatch says: "All of the canning factories in Baltimore are now preparing for the season of canning fruits and vegetables, and, although the season is somewhat backward in the way of vegetables, the prospect is encouraging. The prosperity of the business, of course, depends upon a large crop of vegetables and fruits.

"Within the next week, the start will be made on canning pineapples, of which there are many cargoes afloat and due to arrive in a few days from the Bahamas. The business is indicative of a busy season. Peas are due in about two weeks, then will come strawberries, followed by cherries, gooseberries, blackberries and raspberries, string and lima beans, and, finally, tomatoes and peaches. Scarcity of peaches will prevent a large pack of that fruit this season.

"It is thought that canned goods will keep pace with the general prosperity in commercial conditions. Jobbers are reported to have disposed of nearly all of last year's pack, and, consequently, they must buy new goods as soon as they can be obtained."

CALIFORNIAN DRIED FRUIT.

Advices from California as to the coming crops are somewhat conflicting, though the general concensus of opinion among large handlers and on the Coast seems to be that there will be an ample supply of all varieties this year. Apricots and peaches will yield well in most sections, it is reported, though of the former only a fair crop, as a whole, is looked for, and a large part of this, it is understood, will be shipped green. Of peaches, a very good crop is expected in the entire State, although in some sections is reported that the yield may be smal Prunes are still uncertain, but reports fro reliable sources indicate that in spite of th heavy early drop there will be a larger yiel than that of last year, though the regul June drop may very materially curtail th production. However, as many of the ne orchards are coming into bearing this ye the output from these, it is believed t many, will go far towards making up f any lack of fruit from the older trees.

The reports regarding the frost damag to the raisin vines at the end of April va according to the interests affected. Fro the best information obtainable, we lea that the first crop was badly affected in son sections and only slightly in others. Hea damage to the first crop, however, would beneficial to the vines, it is held, and unle there should be some untoward conditio developed later, the second crop is expect to be a large one. On this point, a we informed Pacific Coast authority says th late frosts have done some damage to t vines in different sections, but they will p out again and make a crop which will somewhat late in maturing, and may liable to rain damage while on the trays.

No prices on future Californian dri fruits have yet been put out, so far as can learn, though some driers of apric have, we hear, solicited bids of 8¼ 8½c. f.o.b. in bags, without, howev guaranteeing to make deliveries at su figures.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

A London, England, trade paper say "The demand for salmon continues disa pointing for the time of year, but the larg holders, being confident of the positi show little, if any, anxiety to force sal With the advent of warmer weather, a c siderable trade may be expected, as grocers generally hold small stocks."

THE SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MAN.

IN business or out have your reputation spotless, your character clean. Commercial agencies record every movement made from the time one enters business. If not fair and upright in all your dealings, you will be greatly hampered ; if honest and trustworthy, your credit may in time be unlimited. Creditors will have nothing to do with a person tricky and unscrupulous ; merchants and bankers extend credit according to their confidence in one, therefore, pay bills promptly, the delay of a day may weaken your credit.

Endeavor to be up-to-date, taking advantage of the latest and most improved inventions, so that you can present your affairs in the most attractive manner, and, whether in business or pleasure, work with self as a centre, placing all the force of your physical and mental powers in that direction.

Select a good location with a first-class exterior, having the interior nicely furnished and up-to-date ; everything free from dust, salesmen obliging and patient ; back of this entire combination use the most potent advertising medium.

Your private office must be neat and clean, for a caller is impressed with an office denoting system and order. Papers and other miscellaneous matter should never lie about as if they had accidentally blown in and were just as liable to blow out. Centuries ago such methods were practised, but in those days the fields of enterprise were restrained and restricted, and merchants kept their own books, wrote with a quill, and let the ink dry of its own accord. In those days business men were mere automatons, far from a brain-progressive class, and merely conformed to the habits of their ancestors.

Welcome honest competition, meet it, battle with it, and lead it. Patronage hangs on a thread, so weave it as strong as a cable by honest trading. The old proverb says : "Sell at small profit, and you sell quickly ; he who quickly sells, sells plenty ; he who plenty at small profit quickly sells, earns little on plenty, but plenty on much."

If every article bears the mark of honest value, your establishment will, in time, be the rendezvous for the purchasing public. We are all dependent on each other ; the merchant on the people, and the people equally on the merchant.

Never be so fond of your store, methods, and ideas that you will not give the public credit for knowing its wants, or your patrons may go you one better. Far prefer to hold your finger on the pulse of trade, and shape your course accordingly.

Business at times may be subject to disorder somewhat similar to the nature of man. In such cases, study it as a physician studies and diagnoses the complaint of his patient. If the condition is dull and out of the ordinary, depend upon it, there is a a cause producing the effect, and the quicker you set about removing it the better. If you lack the ability to regulate the pulse of business to its normal standard, engage the services of those capable.

Convince the public business is thriving. Be jovial in spirits, for bad news spreads quickly. If there is an opportunity to boom business, do so ; don't pull a long face, but smile, hold up your head, work with both hands, and look pleasant.

Attend strictly to business during business hours. Cultivate the friendship of the public. Without identifying yourself with politics, watch its course with circumspection, for the various changes in national affairs may have a tendency to affect your line.

A business man requires health and exercise, and it is a physical and mental necessity for him to spend a part of the time out of doors.

The life of many a business man attests how thoroughly, although unconsciously, one can become a drudge from long-continued habit, getting so habituated to work that it grows a part of his being, and he imagines the work can not go on without him ; it is, therefore, necessary to take a week's vacation at least once a year, and apply it to an outing in the country, forgetting business cares during that period.

A close examination of every class of society convinces us that in proportion as the intellect is highly strained the body suffers. The wear and tear of the living mental machine, resulting from over-strenuous labor or exertion of the faculties, destroys the physical fabric.—Benjamin Wood, in Michigan Tradesman.

SOAP A DISINFECTANT.

It is not generally known that ordinary soft soap, white almond soap and solid potash soap have disinfecting qualities, remarks an exchange. A concentration of these soaps as low as 1 per cent. destroyed cholera and other bacilli in a very short time. The cholera bacilli succumbed to even 0.5 per cent. of potash soap in five minutes. As, however, in washing the hands, the concentration of the soap ranges between 5 and 45 per cent., it may be presumed that this precaution is sufficient to kill many pathogenic organisms, and soaking clothes, etc., in soap solution will be equally efficacious. For typhus bacilli the lowest limit of concentration capable of acting fatally on the germs was found to be 10 per cent., necessitating a large consumption of soap. The soaps employed were without effect on the pus-forming cocci. The strongest disinfectant of all, on account of its nitrobenzol, was almond soap. It was however, found to be a bad practice to try to combine soap with otherwise good disinfectants, such as carbolic acid, lysol, etc. The soap, when present in large proportions, as it naturally would be, retarded, if it did not prevent, the action of the disinfectant. It is, therefore, preferable to employ them separately, though in most cases where soap is used other disinfectants are superfluous.

CANNED TOMATO SITUATION.

THERE has been no further decline in canned tomatoes on the Toronto market, and prices appear to be steady at the figures now ruling.

Retailers who have what they deem to be in excess are still trying to find purchasers among the wholesalers. There has been a little business done in this way, and at figures slightly below those which the packers who are not sold out will accept. Packers, as a rule, are asking 80c., and 1,000 cases are reported to have changed hands at that figure.

Packers who are in the association are still adhering to their agreement not to quote futures until June 1, but certain, at least, of the packers who are not parties to the agreement, are willing to do business for future delivery. We know of one transaction in this account in which 5,000 cases of tomatoes were concerned. The price was 75c. f.o.b. factory, or nearly equal to 70c. Toronto.

While there is not, on the whole, a great deal being done in canned goods at the moment, some shipments have gone forward to the Northwest during the past week, and this will naturally tend to steady the market. Two shippers between them sent 3,000 cases, consisting of tomatoes and corn.

The ruling quotation with Toronto wholesalers is 85c. per doz. for tomatoes. Second grade goods can be obtained at 80c., while certain brands are still held as high as 90c. per dozen.

THE MONTREAL FRUIT SALES.

THE disposal of over $100,000 worth of oranges and lemons between 3 o'clock and 8 o'clock one afternoon is no mean feat.

It was done at Montreal on Monday, when the steamer Marnock's cargo of 48,985 packages of oranges and lemons were sold at auction without reserve. Buyers were present representing leading houses in Toronto, Hamilton, London and Ottawa as well as Montreal in Canada, and also from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and Chicago in the United States.

Buyers from the United States took about 50 per cent. of the fruit.

The lemons sold at fair prices, on the whole, finest lemons fetching $2.50 to $3.25; choice, $2, and poor to fair, $1 to $1.50. Messina oranges dragged a trifle, half-boxes realizing 50c. to $1.60, and boxes 75c. to $2.65. Sorrento oranges moved off much better than the former, commanding $2 to $3.15, as to package and brand, while Palermo oranges were slow and easy at 50c. to $1.30, as to brand. The last cargo, that of the ss. Bellona, about 30,000 packages, will be auctioned on Friday of this week.

STRAWBERRIES CHEAP.

Since Saturday last, strawberries have been arriving in Toronto in unusual quantities from Tennessee and North Carolina. One firm alone received no less than four carloads, containing over 80,000 boxes.

The natural result of these large receipts was a decline in prices, and as low as 8c. was accepted for some rather inferior fruit. For the best offering it was difficult to secure 12c.

At these figures, the large quantities arriving were kept well sold up, though prices are not likely to rise again above the 12c. figure.

BRISTOL BUSINESS MEN COMING TO CANADA.

A NUMBER of Bristol, England, business men sailed on Monday for Canada. The extension of trade between Canada and that port is the object of their visit.

Mr. H. Spear, secretary of the Bristol Incorporated Chamber of Commerce and Shipping Guildhall, Bristol, has kindly forwarded to THE CANADIAN GROCER the names of the gentlemen composing the delegation, as well as the different interests they represent. They are as follows :

Representatives of the Bristol Channel Corn Trade Association : Messrs. W. H. K. Watt, of Watt & James ; Henry Hosegood, of Stoate, Hosegood & Co.; Harold James, of Arthur James & Co.; Charles Priday, of Priday, Metford & Co.; T. W. Hibbard, of James Reynolds & Co.

Bristol Provision Merchants' Association: George Bradbeer, of Bradbeer, Brynes & Co.; Hedley Stevens ; James Keniston, of Keniston Bros.

Bristol Cabinet Manufacturers' Association : Henry Hayes, of Grace & Hayes, and possibly Mr. Holman, a son of the president of the Chamber of Commerce.

We are also in receipt of a letter from Grace & Hayes, whose Mr. Hayes is named in the above list. They are particularly desirous of opening up a connection with lumber mills that do business in hardwoods, also those that would supply first hand specifications of lumber cut and planed to size and turners' mouldings, etc., for cabinet manufacturers' requirements, etc. "Could you also inform us," they write, "whether there are manufacturers of ready-made furniture of all classes who would be likely to entertain an export business ?"

Mr. Hayes may be addressed, care of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Increased interest in trade between Bristol and Canada has been taken of late, and the visit of the gentlemen in question will naturally tend to still further augment it.

CANADA'S DIRECT IMPORTATION TEA TRADE.

CANADA fairly well distributes her patronage for the various descriptions of teas, although, as every grocer is aware, increased attention is being given to the importation of Indian and Ceylon teas.

The countries from which we chiefly import are Great Britain, China, Japan and the British East Indies. What we get from the United States is very little compared with that brought direct from the countries of production or that bought in bond and imported from Great Britain.

During the last few years there has been an increasing tendency on the part of the trade to import direct from the countries of production. Two causes have chiefly contributed to this. The one is the tariff, which only permits tea to be imported duty free on condition that it comes direct from the country of production, or is bought in bond in Great Britain and is accompanied with a certificate showing that same has passed inspection there as being fit for home consumption. Tea otherwise brought in is subject to a duty of 10 per cent.

The accompanying table gives the importation of tea during the past nine years. The totals do not describe exactly all the importations for each year, but they practically do, as the figures which are eliminated relate to imports from such countries, for instance, as France and Germany, and are too insignificant to be included :

	1898	1897	1896	1895	1894	1893	1892	1891	1890
Great Britain	4,133,598	7,064,331	5,487,162	6,265,409	6,218,680	7,307,389	7,110,055	7,306,768	7,905,830
United States.....	521,234	252,475	238,153	849,669	221,332	202,428	564,916	161,123	759,170
China.....	3,623,616	5,418,809	5,339,748	4,437,761	4,509,374	2,871,466	2,766,133	2,426,123	2,195,898
Japan.....	8,953,186	9,164,582	10,051,516	9,081,915	8,359,885	7,697,545	11,961,317	7,090,461	7,462,674
Brit. East Indies	2,769,961	2,406,606	1,531,214	492,011	164,518	86,616	188,416	154,169	127,611
Total lb.....	20,001,595	24,306,805	22,647,793	21,126,765	19,473,789	18,165,444	22,590,847	17,138,634	18,'51,183

The imports last year were abnormally small, because, during the previous year, they were abnormally large, owing to the anticipated but unrealized duty.

The most striking feature in the above table is the large increase in the direct importation of tea from the British East Indies, which comprise both Indian and Ceylon tea, the returns not giving separate figures for these respective countries.

This increase in the nine-year period is over 2,000 per cent.

Although the consumption of China teas is gradually falling off in Canada, the average importations direct, according to the above figures, would rather indicate that they were being well maintained, but these figures are favorable, because we are importing more teas direct than we were even six years ago and less indirect. In other words, while our direct importations of China tea during the past five years have averaged more than during the previous four years, shown in the table, the total importation has been less.

Unfortunately, these changed conditions in regard to the direct importation of both British East Indian and China teas have been at the expense of the exporters in Great Britain. At the same time, however, it cannot be helped, and, with the excellent steamship service which Canada has now on the Pacific plying between Chinese and Japanese ports, it is only natural. This direct steamship service has, no doubt, also tended to maintain the uniformity of the importation of Japan tea during the past five years.

There is one extraordinary fact in regard to the direct importation of Japan tea, and that is that the average annual proportion to the total of all teas imported was the same for the two-year period of 1897-98 as for that of 1890-91, namely 40.89.

Taking China teas, the average direct annual importation for the two-year periods was 12.98 and 20.40, an increase of 7.42 per cent. in favor of the 1897-98 period. The average direct importation of British East Indian teas for the two-year period of 1890-91 was slightly less than 4/5 of 1 per cent of the total. By the two-year period of 1897 98 the average had risen to about 11.7 per cent.

From Great Britain, the average annual importation for the two-year period fell from 42.43 per cent. in 1890-91 to 25.27 per cent. in 1897-98.

We have not attempted to deal with the proportion of black and green tea imported during the nine years, but may do so in a subsequent issue.

BRITAIN'S IMPORTS OF PRODUCE

DURING the first three months o 1899 the importation of butter, eggs hams and bacon into Great Britai shows an increase, as compared with 1898 Cheese importations were lower.

The greatest increase is shown in eggs of which 3,364,938 great hundreds wer imported in three months this year, a compared with 2,711,914 great hundreds las year. The bulk of this increase went fron Germany, which sent 1,154,233 great hun dreds, as compared with 795,356 grea hundreds in the same quarter last year From Canada 15,400 great hundreds wer shipped, as compared with 8,670.

Though the importation of bacon an hams from all countries does not sho much difference, that from Canada show satisfactory growth. The total from thi country is still, however, comparativel small. The total importation of bacon wa 1,494,666 cwt., against 1,464,225 cwt. la year. Of this 1,182,619 cwt. went from th United States, and 61,594 from Canada thi year, against 168,371 and 41,453 cwt respectively last year. The total importa tion of hams was 474,577 cwt. in 1899 an 421,149 in 1898. Of this the United State sent 447,463 cwt., and Canada 26,466 cw this year, against 415,764 cwt. from th United States, and 4,872 cwt. from Canad a year ago.

All countries sent 360,981 cwt. of chees in the first quarter this year, as compare with 373,057 cwt. last year. Of this Canad sent 48,318 cwt., as compared with 93,74 cwt. last year, a decrease of 48 per cent.

That Canada's export trade in butter ca stand a good deal of development is man fested by a comparison of Britain's tot imports with the quantity received fro Canada. In the quarter this year, 884,95 cwt. were imported, against 830,980 cw last year. Of this, Denmark sent 366,96 cwt., against 353,258 last year ; Australasi sent 172,259 this year and 139,155 a ye ago, while Canada contributed 6,065 cw this and 6,555 cwt. last year. Thu Canada's share of Britain's import butte trade was less than one per cent., but th is much better than it was a few years ag

NO DOMINION INSOLVENCY LAW.

AND so another session of the Dominion Parliament is to pass without an insolvency law being placed upon the statute book.

Not even a bill is to be introduced. Mr. Fortin had given notice of his intention to introduce the bill which was before the House last session, but Thursday morning's papers announced that he would not do so.

To allow another session of the House to pass without enacting an insolvency law is little short of disgraceful.

Mr. Fortin's bill has received the hearty approval of the leading boards of trade in the country, and also of the Dominion Travelers' Association. The amendments which have been made in the bill since last session have even mollified the bankers. But still there is to be no law.

THE CANADIAN GROCER does not blame Mr. Fortin. He has shown a great deal of persistence in regard to the matter.

The onus for the failure of the bill to come before the House rests upon the Government. This is obvious from a statement made in the House on Tuesday by the Premier. Here are his exact words :

I have been in communication with Mr. Fortin, who has a bill on the order paper respecting insolvency. I understand that legislation has been introduced into several of the Provinces, which, up to this time, have had no law respecting insolvency or respecting the distribution of assets of insolvent estates. I am in conference with Mr. Fortin, and if, as I understand, such legislation has been passed in the Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, the Government will not favor any legislation in the subject of insolvency this session.

It was a question from Mr. E. F. Clarke that drew out this statement.

As a statement it is decidedly unsatisfactory. The fact of the matter is the Government is afraid of the question. It knows just as well as it does that two and two make four that an insolvency law is needed, and to "understand that legislation has been introduced into several of the Provinces" is merely trying to crawl through a knothole to evade performing a duty.

Nova Scotia did away with the iniquitous references over a year ago and New Brunswick, as the Premier says, has made some improvement. But what about the condition of the insolvency law in the other provinces? What about Ontario, for instance? The Legislature of that Province seems to be about as much afraid of the insolvency question as a burned child is of fire. It has experimented in the past, and the courts have clipped its wings. Of late years it has not evinced any disposition to experiment with the "pesky thing."

The written constitution of the country delegates to the Parliament of the Dominion the duty of dealing with insolvency, and this duty it should manfully take up. Until it is taken up we cannot expect a uniform law which is the desideratum the business men of this country are seeking. And to expect this uniformity by the enactments of the seven Provinces and the one Territory comprising the Dominion of Canada, is as unreasonable as it would be to expect an equal number of men to have uniformity of opinions.

Then, there is a duty we owe to the business men of Great Britain, with whom we profess to be so anxious to trade. They have again and again pointed out the disadvantages under which they labor in doing business with Canada, owing to the defective character of the insolvency laws of the country. This is again and again being reiterated by the newspapers in Great Britain.

When the Government inaugurated the Preferential Tariff in favor of British goods it popularized itself with the great majority of the business people in both Canada and the United Kingdom, but the absence of effective insolvency laws nullifies to a great extent the advantages accorded by the tariff.

In the matter of tariff we give British goods a preference, but in the matter of insolvency law we practically discriminate against British goods.

TORONTO'S BUILDING ACTIVITY.

In March and April building permits were granted in Toronto for $402,160 worth of buildings, as compared with $334,940 last year, $175,445 in 1897, and $114,325 in 1896. During the week ending May 18 permits aggregating $164,720 were issued, which makes a record week. The activity this represents may be gauged by the fact that the total value of permits issued in 1896 was less than four times, and that of 1897 less than six times, the value of those issued during this one week.

The great bulk of the buildings for the erection of which permits have been taken are for factories, and for private residences costing from $2,500 to over $7,500.

The activity of building operations should help to make this summer's business a most satisfactory one to the merchants in the "Queen City."

THE EGG SITUATION.

Late advices from England warn Canadian picklers that the condition of the British market does not warrant the price they are paying at present for the stock they are "putting down." The sources of supply are increasing to such an extent that the large dealers in London and Liverpool anticipate a material reduction in prices this year.

As a result of this warning, some picklers have stopped operations until they can get their supply at a basis of 9c. outside.

The local demand is good, so it may be some time before the views of these dealers can be carried out, but, as they state that more than the figure named cannot with safety be paid, it is likely prices will be, sooner or later, forced down to the point desired, particularly if there is a continuance of the conditions now prevailing abroad.

LESS LIVE LOBSTERS SHIPPED.

From the first of the year up to May 10, there were but 1,936 crates of live lobsters shipped from Halifax to Boston, as compared with 4,737 crates in the same time last year.

The reasons for this decrease are that the catch has been smaller than usual, and that the prices have ruled so low that shippers are canning most of the lobsters taken rather than ship them alive. It is expected that the catch will increase from this out, but, as prices are still low, the shipments may not be increased to any material extent.

DEATH OF SIDNEY WALKER.

Sidney Walker, for the past ten years a well-known figure in Toronto wholesale grocery circles, died at St. Michael's Hospital on Wednesday. He was at one time in the tea brokerage business with Mr. T. G. Williamson, and was subsequently in the employ of other brokers on "the street." Deceased had a great many friends.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, May 18, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade is just now what might be termed between the seasons. Naturally, therefore, there is not a great deal of business being done, although, for this time of the year, the volume is fairly good. Prices, too, are much about the same as they were a week ago, so that nothing interesting has developed in this particular. The canned goods trade is, on the whole, quiet, although there have been some good shipments to the Northwest during the past week. As far as prices are concerned, they are practically unchanged. Coffees are quiet and fairly steady as to price. Sugar is quiet and unchanged. Syrups and molasses continue quiet. The tea trade is quiet and without any particularly striking features. Currants are much as before. There is still quite a little interest being taken in Valencia raisins, on account of the high price ruling outside. Prunes are in good demand and firm as to price.

CANNED GOODS.

There have been no new developments in the canned goods trade during the past week. Although the packers are apparently maintaining their agreement not to quote futures until June 1, there have been some transactions during the week between independent packers and wholesalers. There was one sale in which 5,000 cases were concerned at 95c. f.o.b. the factory, or nearly equal to 90c. Toronto. There are still retailers who are offering to wholesalers what they consider surplus stocks, and there has been some business done in this way during the week. The prices asked are, as a rule, rather lower than the packers who are holding any tomatoes are willing to take. The packers who have tomatoes, will not, it is said, accept less than 80c. One thousand cases changed hands this week at that figure. Two dealers have, during the past week, shipped between them 3,000 cases consisting of canned tomatoes and corn, to the Northwest. The prices obtained are private. The price of tomatoes to retailers is, as a rule, 85c. The range is, however, from 80 to 90c., the inside figure being for seconds.

Canned fruits continue in active demand, particularly peaches and plums. Some houses have done a particularly large business in plums. Peaches in 2-lb. cans are scarce. A round lot of canned pumpkins, consisting of nearly a carload, changed hands on Monday.

There is not a great deal being done in canned meats, as repeat orders have not yet begun to come in.

COFFEES.

The wholesale trade is doing a fair business for this time of the year in coffees, but the outside markets are dull and unchanged. The European markets were steady Saturday, according to latest cables. Deliveries of coffee in Brazil are light.

SUGARS.

The local market has been without any particularly striking features during the week. The volume of business is light, and prices are unchanged at last week's quotations. This week's cables report an improved market for beet sugar, while prices on Monday advanced ¾ to 1½d. In New York last week raw sugars declined ⅛c., but there was no change in refined. The decline was due to pressure of some parcels urged for sale, but this week the raw market in New York is strong in tone. The total stocks of sugar in Europe and America at the end of last week, according to Willett & Gray, were 2,188,362, against 2,194,825 tons the previous week, and 2,557,829 last year. The price for granulated sugar in Toronto is now $4.78 for Montreal and $4.73 for Acadia. Yellows are quiet at from $4.18 upwards.

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The syrup market continues quiet with prices unchanged. Advices from the British West Indies continue to report firm markets, and the New Orleans market is, as before, firm.

TEAS.

There have been no particularly new developments in this line during the past week. The trade locally is rather quiet, although some fair lots of Ceylon tea have been sold for importation from London. Mail advices from London, under date of May 5, state that the small quantity of Indian tea brought to auction sold steadily at the previous week's rates. It appears that very little tea now remains in importers' hands in London. The official telegram gives exports of Indian tea to the United Kingdom for the second half of April as 699,000 lb., against 354,000 lb. last year, and from April 1 to April 30, 772,000 lb., against 410,000 lb. for same period in 1898. The advices state that in regard to Ceylon tea, a further slight fall in prices was noticeable, although competition was strong and bidding general. "Although teas for prices," says Gow, Wilson & Stanton's tea report, "are 2d. per lb. above quotation of 12 months ago, the decline in the price of better grades has been so severe that the week's average is only ½d. per lb. over the corresponding week last year." The official wire gives exports to the United Kingdom for April, as 8,000,000 lb., against 6,000,000 lb. last year, while the exports from January 1 to the end of April were 31,000,000 lb., the same quantity as last year.

NUTS.

Advices from abroad report that the market is strong for Valencia shelled almonds. While this has had no effect upon the local market, reports from New York state that quotations there are a shade higher in consequence.

RICE.

Trade is active and the market steady. The demand is principally for the low-priced descriptions of rice.

SPICES.

Cable advices from Singapore report a stronger market. Cloves are also advised firmer.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—The condition of the local market remains much the same as before. Cables from Greece state that the market is quiet, while the mail advices to hand report that, although the crop is doing well, there is still some danger of injury by peronosperous.

VALENCIA RAISINS—There have been considerable local inquiries and buying during the past week, owing to the higher prices existing for importation. Off-stalk are practically out of this market, and prices generally are firm.

PRUNES—The demand for prunes continues brisk, with prices ruling firm.

GREEN FRUITS.

The demand for oranges has materially fallen off, and an easy feeling is noted, as stocks are rather heavy. Lemons, on the other hand, are decidedly firm, and a few days of warm weather will likely result in an advance in prices. Bananas are none too plentiful, and are likely to continue firm. There is a fair demand for ordinary Canadian apples at from $2.50 to $4. Fancy spies are worth from $5 to $5.50, and some extra choice barrels have brought as high as $6. Egyptian onions are easier, a decline of 25c. being noted. The feature of the market this week has been the arrival of car lots of strawberries. These have come in so plentifully that the price of quarts fell to 8 to 12c. on Tuesday. Though the 8c. figure, which was accepted for inferior qualities, was an unusually low price for imported fruit, it is not likely that the price will advance above 12c. before the native crop is gathered. On the other hand, the low figures of Tuesday may be repeated. Pineapples, too, are arriving in carload quantities, and have been sold as low as 7c., though 9 to 12c. is the general price. Cocoanuts are moving steadily at unchanged figures.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Notwithstanding the cool weather this week, prices keep easy at 11 to 11¼c., a decline of ¼c., as compared with a week ago. Late advices from Great Britain state that prices are ruling lower there than they did a year ago, and, as a consequence, some picklers have quit operations until prices come down to a figure that gives a hope of profit, present figures being considered above an export basis. If these operators can carry out their views, a decline of 1c. may be expected in the near future.

POTATOES—There has been a decline of 8c. this week, the price for cars on track, Toronto, now being 78c. From 80 to 85c. is paid for bags on the street market.

BEANS—There is no change, hand-picked selling freely at $1 to $1.10; medium grades at 85 to 90c.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—An easy feeling is noted in the dried apple market, jobbers refusing to pay more than 4½ to 5c. outside. In a jobbing way, a steadier feeling is maintained, 5½ to 6½c. being asked, according to quality. Evaporated apples are moving quietly at 9c. outside, and 9½ to 10c. in a local jobbing way.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Prices are well maintained. A quiet movement is reported. We quote syrup as follows: Imperial gallon tins, $1 to $1.10; wine gallon tins, 85c. Maple sugar is quoted at 9c.

VEGETABLES—There is no change in prices. All spring vegetables are arriving more freely. We quote as follows: Rhubarb, 40 to 60c.; greenhouse radishes, 30 to 50c. per dozen bunches; native spinach, $1.50 to $2 per bush.; green onions, 5 to 10c. per doz.; asparagus, 30 to 60c. per doz.; celery, $1.25 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 30c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz., $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 35 to 50c. per bag; beets, 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips, $1 per bag; carrots, 30 to 50c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.40 per bag; butter squash, $1.75; Hubbard squash, $1.75; red cabbage, 40c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Though butter is not coming in as freely as it had been, and though the arrival of grass butter has caused an advance of 1c. per lb. in the price of dairy, the market is still demoralized, as the accumulations of fodder stuff have to be cleaned up in the face of the fact that better grass butter is coming in in increasing quantities. Creamery is steadier. Some shipments have been made to the West, and as both the local and export demands appear firmer, the feeling here is more hopeful. Prices are practically unchanged.

CHEESE—The increasing arrival of new cheese has resulted in a reduction of ½c. in the price of this class of stock which is now selling at 9½ to 10c. Old cheese is firm at 11 to 11½c.

FISH.

Fresh-water fish continue to arrive in liberal quantities. Speckled trout and frog legs are now offering. We quote: Erie fresh whitefish, 8c.; North Shore whitefish, 7½c.; North Shore trout, 7c.; speckled trout, 30c.; perch, 4c.; pike, 6c.; frogs' legs, 35c.; eels, 6c.; bullheads, 4c.; herring, small, 4c.; herrings, large, 4½c.; halibut, 10c.; steak cod, 7c.; salt water fresh haddock, 5c.; B C. salmon, 17c.; shad, 35c.; Labrador herring, $4 per bbl. and $2 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 9 to 10c. per box; Halifax herring, $1.50 to $1.65 per box; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; boneless fish, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; boneless fish in 1-lb. blocks, 5½ to 6c.; codfish, 6oc. to $1.25; haddies, 8 to 9c. per lb.; lobsters, 15c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—There is no change, red and white wheat remaining steady at 69 to 70c. outside. There is little coming to the street market except oats, which continue to ar

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The feeling has strengthened considerably. Cowhides are ¼c. dearer. We quote cowhides: No. 1, 8¼c.; No. 2, 7¼c.; No. 3, 6¼c. Steer hides are worth ½c. more. Cured hides are worth 8¾ to 9c.

SKINS—The feeling is easy in consequence of free offerings. We quote: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c. Sheepskins are coming in slowly at 90c. to $1, and lambskins at 20c.

WOOL — A decline of 1c. is noted in fleece, which is now selling at 13c. Unwashed is easy at 8 to 8½c.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, May 18, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE week in wholesale grocery circles has not been a specially noteworthy one. A fair volume of trade is moving, but without any striking characteristics. Sugar is steady, as last noted, and the strength in Barbadoes molasses is maintained, the fact leading to rather more inquiry from retailers who wish to contract for future delivery. Spices, coffees and rice continue firm, and there has been rather more doing in tea, especially Ceylons and blacks, than was the case last week. There has been another large auction sale of green fruits, and the final and concluding cargo, that of the Bellona, will be put up at auction on Friday of this week.

SUGAR.

Demand for sugar has not been particularly brisk during the past week, and trade has ruled rather quiet locally. Prices, however, on refined sugar are unchanged, as last quoted. The raw situation has not reflected much change from that of a week ago. Cables from London state that cane is dull and without demand, Java being quoted at 13s. and fair refining at 11s. to 11s. 9d. Beet has been firm, and a shade firmer lately in London, present month's delivery being quoted at 11s. and next month's 1½d. advance on previous quotation at 11s. 1½d. In New York, raw has ruled steady—fair refining, 4⅛c.; centrifugal, 96 test, 4⅝c.; molasses sugar, 4c. Refined has been steady to firm there also.

SYRUPS.

There has been nothing striking to report in regard to the syrup market, and prices are unaltered at a range of 1¾ to 2¼c. as to quality at the factory.

MOLASSES.

The strong situation noted in Barbadoes molasses in last week's market report has been fully maintained during the past week, and, in addition to an active movement between trades, jobbers report that retailers are manifesting more disposition to place orders, and are disposed to contract ahead with more freedom. Jobbers, however, owing to the tendency of values are not inclined to book sales ahead to any large extent, except with the proviso that they are subject to advances should they ensue. Nothing special has been reported from the Islands lately, except that the strength already noted continues.

CANNED GOODS.

This market has not contributed anything specially noteworthy during the past week. Demand is moderate for all kinds of goods in this department, and the easier feeling in tomatoes noted previously continues, though no further quotable change has actually resulted. Corn remains about the same, and some beans have been placed this week. There is nothing to report either in the case of salmon, lobsters or other fish.

RICE.

A good jobbing demand has been noted for rice, and prices are steady all round.

COFFEE.

There has been a quiet trade in coffee, a few lots of Santos, Rios and Maracaibos changing hands at prices quoted last week.

SPICES.

The firm tendency both on black and white pepper is fully maintained. Actual spot business is extremely light in all sorts of spices at present.

TEAS.

There has been rather more business in tea since last report, particularly in Ceylons and blacks, a feature in relation to the latter being the higher prices obtainable on outside markets than is possible in Canada. As a consequence, several good sized lots have been moved. Local inquiry for Ceylons has been good, and some good import orders have recently been placed fi this description of stock. Cables from Japa note more activity in the market, but the has been little doing in this kind of t locally for some weeks back.

GREEN FRUITS.

The main feature of the week in gre fruits has been the sale of the ss. Marnock cargo of 48,985 packages of oranges a lemons, which took place last Monda Lemons sold fairly well: Finest, $2.50 $3.25; choice, $2, and poor to fair, $1 $1.50 per box. Messina oranges were rath weak, half-boxes fetching 50c. to $1.60, a boxes, 75c. to $6.25. Sorrento orang were rather steadier than the former, at ; to $3.15 per box, while Palermos were l at 50c. to $1.30. All the leading Toront Ottawa, Hamilton and London firms h representatives present, and buyers we present also from Boston, New York, C cago, Baltimore and Philadelphia. Abo 50 per cent of the offerings went across t line, the remainder being distributed Canada. Large receipts of United Sta berries are on the way here, several c loads being expected before the close of t week, and fruit is expected to rule che Bananas, pineapples, etc., remain about t same.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was no material change the situation of the egg market. The mand continues good and trade is acti with prices steady at 11 to 11¼c. for choi and at 9½ to 10c. for No. 2 per d Receipts were 1,377 cases.

MAPLE PRODUCT—A fairly active tra was done in maple product, and pri rule firm. We quote as follows: Syr in wood, 5¾ to 6c. per lb., and 65 to 70c. per tin. Sugar sold at 7¾ to per lb.

HONEY—The market for honey was q and without any new feature to note. quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. s tions, 8 to 9c.; dark, 6 to 7c.; wh extracted, 7 to 7½c., and dark, at 4 to BEANS—The demand for beans is sl and the market is quiet. We quote: Cho hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; prim 85 to 90c.

PROVISIONS.

There was a fair local demand for smok meats, and considerable business is repor in lard for export account. Pork rema quiet and prices for all lines are steady. quote: Heavy Canadian short cut m pork, $16; short cut back, $15.50; selec heavy short cut boneless mess, $16.50, a heavy long cut mess, $15 per barr pure Canadian lard, in pails, 7 to 7½ per lb., and compound refined at 5½ 5¾c. per lb. FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN—There was an improved demand for all lines of grain from foreign buyers, but the volume of business transacted was not large as bids were too low in many cases for holders here to accept. Business on spot was quiet and the tone of the market for oats weak, prices showing another decline of ½c. per bushel. Sales early in the day were made at 36⅛ to 36¼c., but at the close of the market holders would have accepted of bids of 36c. afloat. A sale of 5,000 bushels of buckwheat was made at 61 to 61½c. There was a stronger feeling in the market for Manitoba wheat, in sympathy with the advance at American centres, and sales of No. 1 hard were made at 70½ and 71c., prompt delivery afloat Fort William.

FLOUR—There was no important change in the situation of the flour market. There was some demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba grades, and a sale of 1,000 sacks was made for shipment to Glasgow. Locally, a fair business was done at steady prices. We quote as follows: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $4.10; strong bakers', $3.70.

MEAL—The demand for meal was limited, and the market is quiet. The feeling is easier, owing to the recent decline of 1¼c. in oats, but prices for meal up to the present show no change, rolled oats being still quoted at $3.80 to $3.90 per bbl.

FEED—An active trade continues to be done in feed, there being a good demand from both local and Ontario buyers at firm prices. We quote as follows: Ontario white wheat bran, in bulk, $16 to $17, and shorts $17 to $19 per ton; Manitoba bran, $16; shorts, $18, and mouille, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

HAY—In baled hay, business is active and prices firm. We quote: No. 1, $6.50 to $7; No. 2 extra, $5.50 to $6; clover and clover mixture, $4.50 to $5 per ton.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—The cheese market ruled steady with nothing striking to report. At the wharf Monday morning 300 cheese were offered from the sections down the river and sold at a range of 9 to 9¼c. On spot, good to fine cheese is quotable at 9½ to 9⅝c. The cable was unchanged.

BUTTER—Butter was rather steadier in its tendency, the local inquiry being fair for good to choice creamery at 16¼ to 16½c. But the supply of this description is limited and prices range down below 16c. Exporters complain that they cannot afford to pay over 15½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

According to cables the first steamers from Japan have 1,000 packages of new crop tea, 700 being for Canada and the balance for the United States.

Barbadoes molasses continues firm at the advance noted last week.

The ss. Bellona's cargo of green fruit, the final lot, will be sold on Friday afternoon.

Settlements of tea up to the beginning of last week in Japan were 12,000 piculs, against 12,700 for the same period last year.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., May 18, 1899.

THE past week has been a quiet one, somewhat relieved by the landing of two large cargoes of Porto Rico molasses, which were largely shipped to outside dealers by the importers direct from the wharf. There is little of particular interest, values showing little change. In teas, values are a little easier, but, after the sharp advance, this is only to be expected. The nearness of the new offering also affects the market. Our merchants are particularly well pleased with the past year's business. In chemicals, prices are rather higher, chiefly because of higher freight. The direct steamers are not now coming here. Cream of tartar is a light stock and some quite low figures are heard, but, on the whole, the market is steady.

OIL—Business is quiet. This is the season of demand in paint oils, but dealers have been disappointed in getting stocks, and are behind with orders. Prices are very firm, and demand is good. Season of big sales in lubricating oil is over. Prices ruled low and sales were large. Burning oil has good sale for the season. Prices are unchanged. The prospects are for active competition. The Sun Oil Co. have secured a site for their warehouse and have promised to sell at lower prices than are now ruling. They will bring their oil here in tank steamers.

SALT — For the season, stocks are very light in Liverpool coarse. While imports during the winter and spring were large the salt went quickly into consumption. Prices tend higher. In rock salt, some fair shipments have been received, but they were to fill special orders, general demand being very quiet. Factory-filled has an even sale at unchanged prices. Canadian moves freely. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 40 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—There is a good demand. Some 300 cases of tomatoes have been sold here by Montreal holders. This has at least prevented an advance, which holders here were hoping for. Some small quantity of corn was also sold here, but at full figures. In peas, prices show no change. Salmon have better inquiry. Stocks are not large. Gallon apples move freely at rather better figures. Peaches are firmer, but other fruits have light sale. Some American evaporated milk has been received. In canned meats, prices are firm, with improved sale. Deviled meats are quite low. Tongues, particularly ox tongues, are high. Deviled meat is one of the few lines in which the American packers are able to compete successfully with the Canadian.

GREEN FRUITS—In oranges and lemons dealers have been buying from Montreal from the cargoes lately arriving there. Prices are quite firm, particularly oranges. Bananas are also rather higher. They have a large sale. Pines move slowly at even figures. In rhubarb, the native now supplies the demand. Prices keep quite high, but will soon decline with increased receipts. In strawberries, importations are not large owing to light sale. In Californian oranges the market is about bare. Apples are about out of the market.

DRIED FRUITS—This is a quiet line. There is not one thing in the whole list which shows any life, and, with the increased receipts of small fruits, there is likely to be little change for the better. Raisins are dull. In evaporated peaches importation was light, but the price has almost cut off the demand. Currants move in a quiet way. Dates and figs are very quiet. Evaporated apples are light stock, but season of best demand is about over. Dried apples are quiet. In onions, prices are rather easier. There is a good sale. Peanuts are quoted higher. Demand is good.

SUGAR—Prices are rather higher, particularly for granulated. There is a good steady sale. There is very little foreign sugar on the market, except American. Some West Indian sugar has been received, but the demand is not active.

MOLASSES—This is the strong point in the grocery trade. Our market is quite well supplied. Receipts of Porto Rico up to date have been larger than usual, so that all demands have been well supplied, and this prevents excitement. Barbadoes is not a large stock, and dealers are not inclined to buy at the present high price at the Island.

PRODUCE—Butter is dull. Such Ontario butter as has been received has not given satisfaction as regards quality. Receipts of new butter have been quite large. Price is low and buyers backward and very particular about quality. Eggs keep easy, with fair receipts. In cheese, receipts of new are light; prices are firm. In old cheese, the market has been largely supplied from the cargo of the steamer from Portland that was wrecked off Yarmouth some time ago.

FISH—New dry cod have been received more freely, but stock is still very light, and though tending lower, prices show no change. Pollock are still scarce, and there are no pickled herring. There are still some pickled shad offered at easy figures. Smoked herring are easier. Fresh fish have chief attention. Gaspereaux keep a good price. There is a fair catch. Some 2,000 bbls. shore herring have been packed. A few shad are being taken. These are a fish for which there should be a better demand. Salmon are still scarce. We quote as follows: Large and medium dry cod, $4; small, $2.50; pickled shad, $3.50 to $5, as to quality; haddies, 5c. per lb.; smoked herring, 6 to 6½c.; smoked alewives, 90c. per 100; kippered herring, $1 per box; halibut, 6c. per lb.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; gaspereaux, 60c. per 100; alewives 70c. per 100; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; shad 15c.

PROVISIONS—In barrelled meats this is the quiet season. Beef is low. The warm weather is affecting the sale of smoked meats. Prices show no change. Lard is firmer, but supplies to hand were bougl very low.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—The quanti of flour brought to St. John and reshipped- at least, that is stored and reshipped- grows less each year. The low freight rat offered to outside points are the caus freight to many of the Nova Scotian poir being as low as to St. John. Values a easy, but there are signs pointing to high figures. In oatmeal, local prices are abo the same as millers are asking. Sale du Oats are high. Cornmeal is rather low and moves freely. Beans are dull, a selling out of store as low as they can landed. Feed is high, and even hay sho improved price, though still low. Peas a barley high. We quote as follows: Manito flour, $4.65 to $4.75; best Ontario, $3.90 $4; medium, $3.70 to $3.85; oatmeal, $4 $4.10; cornmeal, $2.20 to $2.25; mi dlings, $21 to $22; oats, 41 to 42c.; har picked beans, $1.10 to $1.15; prime, $1 $1.10; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $ split peas, $4.10 to $4.20; round, $3.25 $3.40; pot barley, $4.10 to $4.25; hay, to $7.50; timothy seed, American, $1. to $2; do., Canadian, $1.80 to $2.: mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.: alsike, 7½ 8c.; red, 6¾ to 7½c.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, May 15, 1899.

THERE has been very little change in the market since last writing. Business continues fair, and prices in most lines are maintained steadily.

BUTTER—Little, if any, Manitoba creamery has been offered for straight sale, most of it is being consigned to the B.C. branches of local houses. Prices, based on Eastern creamery, will be about 17 to 18c. factory. Dairy butter has dropped, as anticipated, about 2c. per lb. Separator-made bricks are worth about 18c.; fresh sweet rolls, in cloth, 13 to 15c. There is a complaint from the buyers that a good lot of medium dairy is offered for which there is absolutely no demand.

EGGS—Supply is good. Jobbers are buying at 10½c. and selling at 11½c.

CURED MEATS — The market has not changed since last week, but the feeling is firmer. A good deal of buying has been done this last week. One house purchased 4 cars of Canadian and 3 of American. We quote: Hams, smoked, 11c.; bellies, do., 11½c.; backs, do., 11c.; shoulders, do., 8½c.; dry salt, long clear, 8c.; extra short clear, 7¼c.; backs, 9c.; shoulders, 8¼c.

CEREALS—Are without change as to price or state of market.

RICE—Indian rice is a little cheaper, but the difference is so small as practically to leave the price here unchanged.

DRIED FRUITS—Raisins, Valencia, are higher and very firm. Layer, $2; fancy off-stalk, $1.80; Californian muscatels are unchanged, but the market is very firm.

MAPLE SYRUP—A fairly large stock has arrived from Quebec and the Eastern Townships. The price asked is from $1.10 to $1.20 per gal.

EVAPORATED FRUITS — Apples are still scarce. Dried apples show a very slight easement in price, but figures are still too high for much business to be done.

GREEN FRUIT—Market is well supplied. One house received 1,000 boxes of choice Messina lemons yesterday. These goods are November cut. The prices asked are $3 and $3.50 according to size. Oranges have gone up 50c. in southern and 25c. in this market, and a further rise will probably go into effect early next week on account of icing charges; we quote $4.25 to $4.50, according to quality. Bananas have been somewhat scarce in this market for the past week, but new stock of Port Limons arrived to-day, which are quoted at $2.50 to $2.75 per bunch, according to quality. Strawberries have dropped rapidly and are now $3.50 for 24 quarter-cases. Cherries are going slowly at $2.50 per 20-lb. boxes. Pie plant is arriving freely from Minnesota; the stock is fine and the price 2½c. per lb. Southern tomatoes have arrived and are quoted at $7 for the six-basket crate. New asparagus is in and selling at 60c. per doz.; the quality is choice. Egyptian onions are quoted at 3½c. per lb.

"We hold a large stock of Valencia raisins, fine off-stalk, selected and layer, at standard packs, and our prices are at the lowest notch," say The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

"Yes," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "we stick to what we say, viz.: That in spite of advance in Indian and Ceylon teas we are giving the same value in 'Circle' tea we did last year."

This week's special offerings in canned goods by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited include gallon apples, French red kidney beans, golden wax beans, gooseberries, damson and lombard plums, red cherries and Bartlett pears.

"'Salada' Ceylon tea is sold to grocers on exactly the same conditions as it is sold by them to the public, viz., bring or send it back in whole or part, and money will be refunded in full should it not prove better value than any tea hitherto used," write the company.

SALMON CANNERS' DIFFICULTY.

A Vancouver despatch of May 14, says: A new phase in the salmon canning operations has just cropped up. Every indication points to the run of sockeye being large, but if it is, canners will be unable to cope with it, as they are exceedingly short of tinplate. Not a single box of tinplate can be bought on the Pacific Coast. Across the line it has been very scarce, and as stocks were fairly large here they have been drawn upon with the result that the market is now depleted. Puget Sound took most of the material, and operations there this year will be on a gigantic scale. Quite recently 3,000 boxes of tinplate were shipped south. Local canners are practically relying on the cans left over from the poor season of last year. Their stocks are not large. The uncertainty as to regulations was the cause of the canners not making preparations until long after the usual period.

VISIT FROM A PICKLEMAN.

Mr. J. D. Graves, of The H. J. Heinz Co., pickle manufacturers, Pittsburg, is in Canada this week in the interest of his firm, and has visited Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton, etc. The Heinz Co. is considering the advisability of starting a station at Montreal, as well as continuing those opened at Toronto and Hamilton, for salting down Canadian vegetables for pickling purposes.

CANNED GOODS BY WEIGHT.

In the House of Commons on Tuesday, Mr. Ellis gave notice of an Act to amend the Act respecting canned goods. The object of the amendment is to restore the provision placed in the Act in 1884 and repealed the following year, requiring all packages to have legally marked on them the weight of their contents, and imposing a fine and confiscation for non-compliance with the Act, which is to come into force next year.

GROCERS DISCUSS ROADS.

At a special meeting of The Hamilton Retail Grocers' Association, a resolution was passed approving of the expenditure of $150,000 on the streets of that city, as proposed by the city council. They recommend that no asphalt pavement be made, because it is dangerous to horses, as well as costly to make and to keep clean. Their opinion, as expressed in the closing paragraph of the resolution, is "that stone will make the best, cheapest, safest and most durable pavement, and will be more easily keep damp, as street-watering will not injure stone as much as many other materials used. Having all the stone necessary at hand, if utilized, it will give employment to a large number of the laboring class. We will get, thereby, miles of good roadways throughout the city, which will be easily repaired and always reliable"

IMPROVED COFFEE MILLS.

Chase & Sanborn, St. Francois Xavier street, Montreal, are just completing improvements which will double the capacity of their coffee mills at Montreal. On Saturday morning, May 13, the street was blocked for over an hour while the enormous new flywheel was being unloaded from a G.T.R. float.

THE DROUGHT IN CEYLON.

Before quitting Ceylon the other day, Mr J. N. Christie expressed the opinion that the late drought would not prove to have seriously affected the tea output for the present year, but said it was early in the year to form an opinion. Three months had passed in which the flush had not been very heavy, and he did not think the output would exceed the estimate, although he would not say it would be less. He had visited the estates in which he was interested, and was very pleased with the condition in which he found them, which was more satisfactory than he had expected taking into consideration the drought.—Planting Opinion, Madras.

BUSINESS BEFORE PLEASURE.

Fussy Man (hurrying into newspaper office)—I've lost my spectacles somewhere and I want to advertise for them, but I can't see to write without them, you know.

Advertising Clerk (likely to be business manager some day)—I will write that ad for you, sir. Any marks on them?

Fussy Man—Yes, yes. Gold-rimmed lenses different focus, and letters L.Q.C. on inside. Insert it three times.

Advertising Clerk—Yes, sir. Five dollars please.

Fussy Man—Here it is.

Advertising Clerk—Thanks. It gives me sir, great pleasure, very great pleasure, to inform you, sir, that your spectacles are on the top of your head.

Fussy Man—My stars! So they are. Why didn't you say so before?

Advertising Clerk — Business before pleasure, you know.—New York Weekly

GORMAN, ECKERT & CO. - Defendants.

TO THE PUBLIC.

TAKE NOTICE that in an Action, entitled as above, pending in the High Court of Justice for Ontario, Canada, the Honorable Mr. Justice Meredith on the 2nd day of June, 1898, directed that a Judgment should issue containing a PERPETUAL INJUNCTION restraining the above named Defendants, their Servants, Workmen or Agents, from infringing the Plaintiffs' Trade Marks registered in pursuance of the Trade Marks Act of 1868, or from selling any Mustard not manufactured by the Plaintiffs in any tin, package, or wrapper (label), having printed thereon any imitation or colourable imitation of the Plaintiffs' Trade Marks or any word or words so contrived as to represent or lead to the belief that the Mustard contained in such tin, package, or wrapper, was the manufacture of the Plaintiffs. AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that by the said Judgment the said Defendants were enjoined to destroy or deliver up to the Plaintiffs all labels, wrappers, blocks, dies, or plates which offend against the said Injunction ; and to pay certain damages therein fixed together with the costs of the Action.

CAUTION.

Similar goods to those manufactured by J. & J. Colman, Limited, of 108 Cannon Street, London (England), occasionally make their appearance on the Market, displaying a Trade Mark liable to be confounded by the Public with their well-known Trade Mark of a Bull's Head and also closely resembling J. & J. Colman's goods in get up, presumably with the intention to deceive the buyer and consumer. Such goods are generally of an inferior quality. J. & J. Colman, Limited, would be grateful to members of the trade having any goods brought to their notice which appear to them infringements on J. & J. Colman's rights if they would at once communicate with them. Traders may rely upon their communications being treated in the strictest confidence.

PROVISION-SHOP "BOLTERS."

"I have been robbed more than a dozen times since last August, and I shall have to obtain one of those doors such as jewelers have, so that I can, from behind the counter, and with one movement of the hand, lock the front door at any time."

In these words a man who, in the vicinity of all manner of large warehouses and works, keeps a provision-shop that supplies hundreds of men with little necessaries began his tale, and he continued :

"There is a regular gang which robs men like myself, and it has worked with astonishing success in London during the past few months. At the noon dinner-time and at tea-time, I am handing out provisions as I can to mechanics, warehousemen and so on. Just when the rush is over, a man, most artfully got up to resemble a workman who has just knocked off and has come to buy food for himself and mates, comes in and orders about 2s. worth of food—bacon, cheese, bread and the like—and the lot being put in a basket he brings. 'That will be how much?' he asks, handling some money. I tell him the sum, and then his eye suddenly lights on some article at the back of the shop, and he says : 'Oh, I've forgotten ; hand over two of those.' I turn to do as bidden, and then the fellow is out of the shop like the wind.

"It is done so quickly and artfully that, as I tell you, every man in my line in London has been robbed over and over again in this way. One man not far from Fleet street was robbed twice in one day in this manner, and there is said to be a boast at a certain low lodging-house to the effect that a little knot of its inmates have had a free meal every day for weeks through successful provision-shop 'bolting.'"

A Hamilton despatch states that the promoters of the new company organized to fight the vinegar trust, who are representatives of wholesale grocery houses in Hamilton, Toronto, and London, intend manufacturing pickles as well as vinegar. It is stated the company will rent one of the premises formerly occupied by one of the firms in the trust.

GATHERED IN TORONTO RETAIL CIRCLES.

Private Brand Canned Goods.

I see one of the large departmentals of Toronto city has begun to make a feature of canned goods and jams put up under its own private label. Tomatoes, corn, peas, cherries, strawberries, pears and peaches are included in their list of canned goods. Strawberry, black currant and red currant are the jams they show. The departmental in question has for some time been selling a private brand of hams and bacon, and is also handling a package tea of the same brand. The idea of private brands is not a new one in the city, as I have made mention of retailers who adopted the idea last fall. It has been found a good one, though, and is likely to become a feature of grocery retailing in the near future, especially with firms with sufficient capital to buy their canned goods in large quantities. What effect it will have on the smaller concerns is hard to estimate.

Closing Early.

Notwithstanding the fact that some College street grocers have returned to the old system of late hours, the early-closing movement is progressing. The latest converts to the movement are some of the Yonge street grocers, who have notices up that on June 1 their stores will close at 7 o'clock, except Saturday evening. As most of the Queen street grocers, both east and west, are closing early, and those on Spadina avenue intend to commence on Monday next, and as these streets are the principal evening promenades of the city, the grocers on other streets cannot now give as a reason for not closing that the position of their stores is such that the passing throng brings them so much business in the evening that they cannot afford to close down. If the Yonge and Queen street merchants can afford to close down, I am truly sorry for the grocer on any other street that cannot. It would be a good idea on the part of the early-closing committee to supply those in sympathy with the movement with a good card reading: "We close at 7 (or 6, or 8 o'clock, as the case may be), so that our clerks and ourselves may enjoy the evening with you." Then, instead of leaving the windows dark and uninviting, the early-closer might make a good advertisement of his windows by dressing them and lighting them up, and placing the card where it would greet the passer-by. Another good card could be made to read: "We serve our customers so well in the daytime that we can close at 7 o'clock to take a rest. We need it and enjoy it." The public have a heart, and, though it is covered by a somewhat thick veiling of indifference, a straight manly appeal to them will not fail. Besides, what if your competitor does earn a dollar a week by keeping open till 9.30 o'clock? Those who have closed for years look upon the extra dollar as a will o'-the-wisp that they are glad they stopped chasing.

Campers' Supplies.

The demand for campers' and summer cottagers' supplies will soon be a factor in the grocery trade. Already, cottagers are moving to the Island and to the various beaches and resorts in proximity to the city. Nearly all these people are supplied with their groceries by one or another of less than a dozen grocers, who make this trade part of their regular summer business. To retain this trade, a grocer has to supply most of his customers with fresh meat and vegetables as well as groceries, so a good deal of time is lost buying these goods. Then, a vehicle has to be sent out for orders and for delivering, all of which means considerable expense. Yet, those grocers who are used to this trade consider it a profitable department, and have no intention of giving it up. One of them, at least, is looking farther, and is planning to get a slice of the trade of the "Americans" who spend their summer in the Muskoka district. The popularity of this district is steadily increasing in the United States, and, as this Toronto grocer thinks he can do as well in the way of supplying these visitors as can be done anywhere, he is thinking out the best way to reach them. Nearly every country town in Ontario (and, I suppose this is true of the other Provinces as well) boasts a summer resort of its own at some nearby lake or river. Some have two or three such resorts. All of these need supplies, and, in many cases, it would, I think, be a good investment for some grocer in the town to pay weekly or semi-weekly visits to these resorts with a supply of the provisions most in demand, or, better, to send a clerk on a bicycle to take orders, and deliver by rig the following day. The only question would be one of amount. If there was enough trade got it would pay; if not, it would be wasted effort. It is worth looking into, though. THE RAMBLER.

SUGAR PRICES AND BOUNTIES.

In the course of an exhaustive paper o the sugar question read before the Roya Statistical Society, London, England, Mr George Martineau devoted the concludin section to the question of prices as affecte by bounties : In examining in detail th fluctuations during the low-priced period o the last fourteen years, he showed, firs that though prices had frequently been force down below the cost of production, suc violent reactions had resulted from thes times of artifical and exceptional depressio that, on the average, the price of sugar ha been above the cost of production durin that period ; and, secondly, that cane sug could, under natural conditions, be supplie at a price substantially lower than th average price of the last fourteen year Finally, in reference to the frequent asse tion that confectioners and other similar i dustries depended for their success on th maintenance of bounties, Mr. Martinea showed, by analyzing the table of the year consumption of the United Kingdom sin 1872, that the rate of increase of consum tion had been less during the low-pric years 1886-97 than it had been during t previous period, 1872-85. The conclusio to be drawn from the paper appeared to that production was stimulated by bountie that cane sugar can be produced cheap than beetroot ; that the frequent unnatu depressions in value caused by artificia stimulated over-production, though d astrous to producers, have on the avera conferred no exceptional benefit on co sumers ; that cane sugar can be profital produced and sold in this country at a pri materially lower than the average price the last fourteen years of alternate depr sions and reactions ; and that under free a open competition the world would cease be dependent on the vicissitudes of t European beetroot crop. —British Tra Journal.

PREPARATION OF TEA IN RUSSIA.

The "samovar" is the utensil used only for boiling the water. They are usually made of brass or copper, but there are also silver samovars, the inside being lined with another metal. In the middle there is a kind of chimney or fire receptacle, around which fresh cold water is poured into the samovar. Burning charcoal or wood is thrown into the chimney, and it usually takes about a quarter of an hour before the water begins to boil, this being announced by a volume of steam from under the cover. Then the boiling water is poured upon the tea in the pot, and the latter placed on the top of the samovar to keep warm, as tea-cosies are unknown in Russia. The infusion is made very strong, but only about a fifth or a quarter of a glass is filled with it, the rest being filled up with the boiling water. A slice of lemon or milk is added according to taste, and sugar is put into the glass, or used "v prikusku," as described above. There is no "respectable" household in Russia without one or more samovars. The utensil is turned out by the million. Tula, the Russian Sheffield, is particularly famous for the production of this article. The samovar is in use three or four times a day, in some houses indeed it is kept boiling the whole day long. The samovar may be really termed the Russian hearth and fireside. Around it the family and guests assemble drinking tea and chatting for hours. Its steaming and cheerful humming are as music to the Russian ear, accustomed as it is to the sound from earliest childhood. Even when leaving their native soil for far distant lands, when luggage has to be reduced to a minimum, the indispensable samovar is rarely left behind, and in the new countries of their adoption it forms frequently a melancholy link with the past.—Home and Colonial Mail.

A PLEASED SOAP MAN.

Mr. J. E. Ganong, manager of the St. Croix Soap Manufacturing Co., of St. Stephen, N.B., manufacturers of "Surprise" soap, visited Toronto last week, and was much pleased with the outcome of business. Mr. Ganong stated that he noticed a distinct improvement all over Canada, and reported that they were running their factory to its fullest capacity. People would be surprised to know that in such a small place as St. Stephen there is such a large and complete factory, both in its equipment and the amount of business it turns out.

The St. Croix Soap Co. do a business from coast to coast, and have agencies in Newfoundland and the West Indies, and branches at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

POUND PACKAGE DATES.

The latest development in the pound package dried fruit business is the packing of Hallowee dates in one pound boxes. Every grocer knows the objection to keeping dates in the old manner of package. The stickiness of the fruit is such that it is generally necessary to wash the hands after weighing some out for a customer. Their good eating qualities have made them a favorite with the clerks, so that both time and fruit was lost by the old package. The system of putting them up in neat 1-lb. cardboard boxes, which are daintily lithographed, does away with both these objections, and should result in increased sale this fruit by grocers. Walter Northro Toronto, is putting up these goods as t "Daisy" brand dates.

TOBACCO FIRM'S NEW BUILDING

The Empire Tobacco Co., Granby, Qu bec, long ago found their premises getti too small for them, and gradually a quietly have been enlarging them until t day their premises occupy almost dout the size originally intended. Even y however, they are cramped for room, a other extensions will have to be commenc in the near future.

These new buildings will be used prin pally for storing and carrying their la stock of Canadian leaf, and are fitted-up the most approved style. The growth their premises necessitated more ste power, and three new boilers have be added, two of which will be in constant u whilst the third will be held in reserve, case of accident to any of the others. Th other machinery has been enlarged and the most modern machinery installed, a to-day they have the largest and b equipped factory in Canada.

To keep up with their rapidly increasi business their staff of travelers has be constantly enlarged, and now there is part of the Dominion that is not thoroug looked after.

They report business good with incre ing sales each month. Their Canadi chewing tobaccos have taken a firm h on the general public. All their brands selling well, but "Free Trade" seems take the lead. They have lately secu the services of an expert from the South States, and will shortly put some new bra on the market which they predict will great sellers. Their business for April was the largest in their history.

3 Safe Sellers

You remember the old motto, "Be sure you're right, then go ahead"—it pays to look before you leap. When you lock up money in goods of problematical value then the wheels of business begin to clog. That's when you begin to accumulate "dead stock," and dead stock eats up profits very, very fast.

There are three safe sellers that you can't go wrong with—Benson's Prepared Corn, Silver Gloss Starch, and Benson's Enamel Starch. But you must see that the name of the makers (the Edwardsburg Starch Co.) is on every package you buy from your wholesaler. "Edwardsburg" makes you absolutely safe—for forty years the favorite.

There's a vast amount of difference in Teas.

Some are pure and cleanly, others are not. Some will please your customers, others will vex them. Some will make friends and bring new business to your store, while others will drive away what trade you already have. The "trade-winners" are, of course, the ones you must have. They are grown in Ceylon and India. These are the only countries that can produce them, their climates being peculiarly adapted for their cultivation. They need a warm, damp climate. They get it in Ceylon and India. They are cultivated under the direct supervision of British overseers. They are manufactured and cleaned by machinery, instead of the uncleanly hand treatment they receive in other countries. To have a good tea trade you must have a pure, cleanly, finely-flavored stock, to have this you must have "machine-made," to be "machine-made" they must come from

CEYLON or INDIA.

They're so good they can't be better.

Expenses vs. Profits.

Don't be discouraged—"it is always darkest before the dawn." Now try a line of good Cigars to retail for 5 and 10 cents—it is surprising how the profits you will make from them help to bear the burden of the expense account in running the store. Good Cigars as are easy to handle—you can secure the good-will of the man of the house if you buy the line of Cigars that he wants, and Cigars that he can depend upon for unvarying quality. I believe that my 10c. "Pharaoh" and my 5c. "Pebble" exactly fill the bill. Write for samples of

SIMPLE BOOKKEEPING SYSTEMS FOR GROCERS.

THE following is a further contribution of short essays on bookkeeping received by The Grocery World in its ize competition :

By Miss Mary C. Ingham.

Here are samples of the books we use in ır bookkeeping. We use only the four ›oks, and we feel that our accounts are ry accurate and easily understood. We ıt all items on the ledger. Pass books ıd itemized accounts make this necessary a grocery store, as a day book is so soon led that one soon has too many to look er in case of an error. Our cash book plains itself. We can always tell the nount on our books, which is a splendid ing for a merchant to know.

In the back part of our bill book we keep e expenses for each month, so that at any ne we can tell just about how our business ands. We find this a satisfactory system. Here is a section of the day book :

John B. Jennings. Dr.
To 50 lb. Pills flour		1	30
1 lb. Un. Japan tea			60
1 lb. R. & J. coffee			35

1 bottle mustard			10
4 qts. beans			28
25 lb. buk. flour			65
2 lb. lard			20	1 33

Here is a page from the cash book :

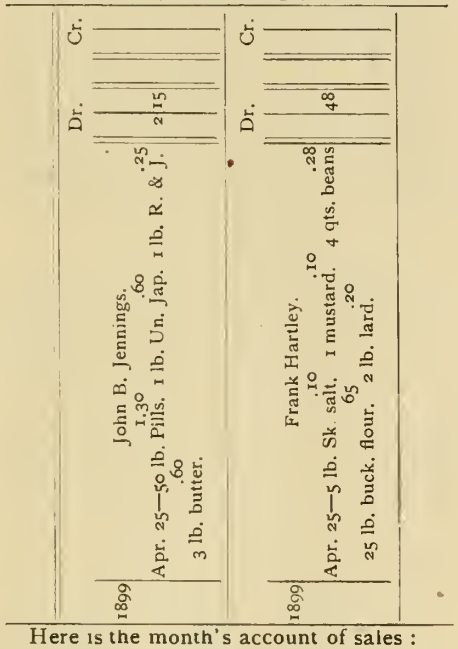
Here is a section of the ledger, the entries given in the day book being posted :



Here is the month's account of sales :

Sales. April, 1899.	Outstanding	Rec'd on Act	Debit.	Cash.	Total.

Here is the way the bill book is kept :

4	Githens, Rexsamer & Co.	147	50
4	Berry, Lohman & Rash	48	37

This is the way we keep expense account. The following represents the total expenses for April, say :

C. Bills.	Prod.	Barn.	F. Ct.	Sund.	Rt & Wg.	Total.

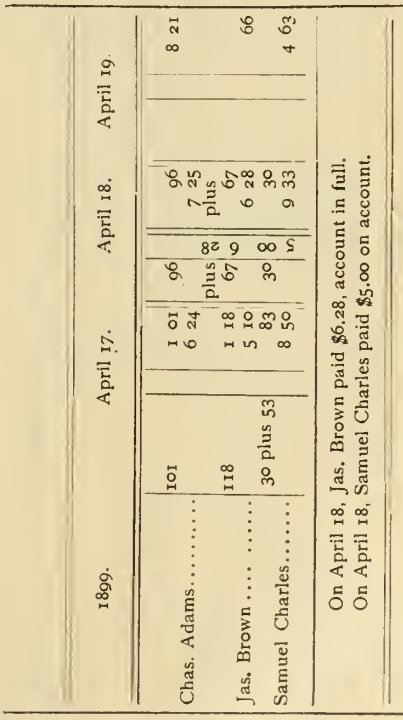
By George Forester.

I inclose herewith a system of bookkeeping that I have had in use for over five years, and find it satisfactory in every way :



I had a book made to order, ruled like the above, containing 300 double pages.

THE RISING SUN STOVE POLISH AND THE SUN PASTE STOVE POLISH

MORSE BROS., Proprietors, Canton, Mass.

For sale by all Wholesale Grocers; also the McClary Mfg. Co., London, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Toronto.

each double page answers for one week's business.

The charge slips enclosed are arranged in pads of 50 with a carbon sheet to each pad. I do not itemize in the customer's pass book, but enter only the amount on the slip. I give the original to the customer and file the duplicate from which I charge to the book first mentioned. If the pass book is not brought when the purchase is made I mark the slip N.B., which means "no book;" when I charge the amount of the slip I mark a plus sign over it to show that the amount is not in the pass book. See slip of James Brown, of April 18.

I have 62 envelopes in my desk, numbered from 1 to 31, in two sets, one envelope containing all slips of that date. If a customer disputes any amount in the pass book I can produce the duplicate. I have very few accounts running over 30 days, so I keep 60 to be on the safe side.

By this method a customer's account is always made up, and the merchant can tell at a glance what each customer's bill amounts to. By adding the totals he can learn the amount of his credit account. If the merchant himself enters the amount of the slips, as I do, he can examine each credit sale and correct errors, if there be any. If a merchant wishes, he can charge the amount of slips on hand at any time during the day, and not wait until evening. Most of my credit sales are made in the forenoon, so, about 2 o'clock, I charge all on hand, and when evening comes I do not have many to charge. It does not take me more than 15 minutes each day to enter the charges and make the transfers.

By Joseph W. Pratt.

The "Simplified Account File," made by Stull Bros., Fremont, O., is only 4½ x 9 inches and 4¾ inches high. I consider this account file the best method of bookkeeping for the average-sized grocer. It occupies but a small space. When a bill is paid it is removed from the file and given to the party who pays. In keeping books one may forget to mark the account paid. Two weeks may roll by, and the storekeeper asks the party once more to pay the account. Possibly the gentleman may feel insulted. If such is the case, the storekeeper, no doubt, will be one customer short.

With the "Simplified Account File," when the bill is paid it is given to the party who pays, thus closing up the account. If the bill does not appear on the file the storekeeper may know it has been paid, provided it has been put down in the first place. Thus, storekeeper and customer can get along together very agreeably.

By George F. Lee & Co.

I will give you our bookkeeping system, which I think is very simple and not much work. We use a cash register and slips. All our slips go in the register during the day. At night we go to the register and take out the slips. The register tells how many slips we should have, and each clerk knows how many he has used during the day, so we are sure to have them all. The next day the bookkeeper numbers all slips with a continuous numbering machine, and, after posting them, he stacks them away with about 2,000 in a pack. If he wants a certain number he can put his hand on it at once. You will see on the small piece of paper how we post. On the ledger, giving only date and number of slip.

This is supposed to be the ledger:

	John Smith.
1899 April	17-1526	4 50

1526.
Customers will please Report any Failure to Deliver Checks with Goods.

GEORGE F. LEE & CO.

Name.....John Smith. April 17, 1899.
Address.....

Sold by	1	Dep't	Am't Rec'd
	1 bbl. Flour		4 50

You will see that everything goes throu the register and tells us at night how ma customers during the day, total of how mar credit, how many, and cash, how many; sale or change every time register is opene It shows transaction of business and regist our register as customers. This may lo like a great deal of work for a bookkeep but we think not. We have used coun books for 20 years, and find this mu better, easier and less open to mistakes, a bookkeeper only has one name before h at a time—on a counter book he has 15 20.

THREE YEARS UNDER THE CA SYSTEM.

I had a few minutes chat with M Michael Naughton, of Naughton Bro general merchants, Richmond Hill, Monday. Naughton Bros., who have be in business 30 years, adopted the cash s tem three years ago.

"We are," he said in reply to an inqui "well satisfied with our experience. To mind it is the only way we can compete w the department stores. Out in Richmc Hill, which is 17 miles from Toronto, feel pretty keenly the competition of th department stores. They now send th delivery wagons out to our town three tin a week. The only help for us is to get do to the cash basis and be as up-to-date possible. The cash system is gradua being adopted in Richmond Hill. Atkins & Switzer, one of our largest firms, adopt it last November."

"Did your firm experience any difficu in introducing the cash system?" I ask

"No."

"Did you follow any special course adopting the system?"

"No. We just advertised in the lo papers what we purposed doing. There one little difficulty we have, by the way, a that is with customers who, after getting goods they order, say they will pay us in week. They do not always pay us i week. FOOLISH SENTIMENT.

THERE is too much sentiment in business. The man who is sentimental in business rarely reaches a high pinnacle of success—he worries himself and his neighbors too. He makes mountains out of mole hills. He is like the chronic dyspeptic who looks at life through blue glasses. He is oversensitive when he should not be sensitive at all because sentiment has no part in the life of the energetic, successful, pushing man of business who believes that "business is business" pure and simple.

It comes to our notice that many grocers, who have excellent standing in the towns in which they live and do business, take it as a personal affront when they are asked for references as to their credit by some wholesaler from whom they wish to buy goods and who has no means of determining as to their credit, other than that of a simple request to the grocer to give him (the wholesaler) some information that will protect him in opening a credit account.

In nine cases out of ten, the average wholesaler or manufacturer in Canada is always glad to give credit to those who are entitled to it, because every transaction in life is based on credit. Cash is only the adjusting medium. Mercantile life depends upon credit. Nations cannot exist without it. There is no man or body of men in the world who do not ask for credit constantly. And they get it, if they are entitled to it. If a stranger came into your store and asked for credit, would he get it? Place yourself then in the position of the wholesaler whom you approach for the first time and ask for credit. Place yourself outside of that circle of your business acquaintances who know that you always pay your bills promptly, and who are willing, yes, even anxious, to sell you goods on time. That is the position in which the wholesaler finds you whose letter you receive asking you for references as to your credit—can you blame him? Should you be sensitive because he makes the request? Wouldn't you do exactly the same thing yourself?

Try to understand credit. Prove that you are loyal, faithful, honest—prove it with the idea in mind that you are not compromising your dignity in doing it. "Foolish Sentiment" in business is often the stumbling block in the path which leads to success. Cultivate credit and always bear in mind that, by increasing your credit, you are increasing your capital. What your neighbors know about you and what the outside world knows are two widely different matters. Let the world know about you, if they take enough interest to ask—but don't be sentimental about it. The successful man is he who can use the circumstances surrounding him, whether they be favorable or unfavorable, to a profitable end.

FLOUR HIGHER IN B. C.

The Province, Vancouver, May 10, says: "Local flour and feed merchants to-day announce an advance of 20 cents per barrel in all grades of oatmeal. At the back of this announcement there is rather an interesting trade story. For some weeks past it has been known that the supply of oats across the border is very light, and prices have advanced steadily.

"Heavy orders will have to be filled for the north shortly, and American dealers have recently been asking for quotations from British Columbia merchants with a view to having the orders filled here.

"This in itself has had a stimulating effect on the market here. It now leaks out that the supply of oats held on the Coast is not large, and higher prices followed the inquiries from Seattle and other points on the Pacific Coast. A local dealer speaking of the advance in oatmeal to-day said: 'It is perfectly legitimate, as the supply of oats here is short, and many tons will be required in the north before the new crop is ready. I look for another advance in both oats and oatmeal shortly. There has been no attempt to corner the market.'"

5. A firm in Scotland, which claims to be in touch with the principal users of wood hour, asks for addresses of Canadian firms who are prepared to quote prices and submit samples.

THE COST OF DOING BUSINESS.

At the recent meeting of the Missouri Retail Stove and Hardware Dealers' Association the following question, "What is the cost of a keg of nails sold on a $2 base?" brought out a variety of answers, differing as the cost of freight and the cost of doing business differed. Mr. Cole submitted the following estimate, supposing the dealer has his own deliveery rig, a man to drive it and his own team : Horse feed and driver, 1½ per cent ; advertising, 1 per cent ; insurance, ⅓ of 1 per cent ; clerk hire and your own salary, 6 per cent ; rent, 2½ per cent, the gross cost of doing business being 11⅓ per cent, which would make the nails cost $2.22⅔.

PROFIT IN LOST NOTES.

"It is a fact that, to many minds, no doubt, must be very curious, that the Bank of England has always had a pretty steady source of profit in the loss and destruction of its banknotes," says The London News. "What it has gained of late years in this way we are unable to say, but, during a period of 50 years preceding 1832, the bank had made a clear profit of £1,330,000 from outstanding paper never likely to be presented for payment. When the destruction or the irrecoverable loss of a note can be proved—as in the event of a fire or wreck it can—the bank, of course, will always pay the money it represents, and, even when there is doubt about it, the cash is paid, on security being given for indemnifying the bank should the note ever be presented. The £60,000 worth of paper—or £20,000, as it appears to have been reduced to—taken from Parr's bank will, therefore, not represent a loss unless the crisp little billets have some day to be honored at the Bank of England counter. In that case, the cash paid in exchange for them will have to come out of the coffers of the plundered bank."

PARTIAL COLLAPSE OF THE EARLY CLOSING MOVEMENT.

THE early closing movement, which was inaugurated by the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, and helped along by the Clerks and Drivers' Association, has made two retrogressive steps.

A few weeks ago, a committee of clerks waited on the grocers of Queen street west, and, a few days later, the grocers of Spadina avenue. They prevailed to such an extent that a written agreement was signed by the Spadina avenue grocers, and an whereby the Queen street west men were to close at 7 o'clock.

UNDERSTANDING WAS REACHED

The Queen street agreement included every grocery store of any size from Soho to Bathurst Street, except the cooperative store, in which is a grocery department. Those further west had promised to close, but the agreement was broken, and to-day late hours are again the rule. The history of the rupture is told in three interviews which a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER had with interested parties.

John Butcher, 300 Queen street west, expressed himself as a believer in 7 o'clock closing. "We," said he, "were one of the first two to close at 7 o'clock. Next night Brown Bros., Clancy Bros., and the rest followed suit. We all closed at 7 o'clock till Thursday the following week, when Brown Bros. opened up.

THIS WEAKENED THE REST, and now we are all open till we feel like closing."

John Guay, 318 Queen street west, was one of the first early closers in his district. When it was understood that the Queen west grocers were going to close, he decided to try it. "We closed for two weeks," said Mr. Guay; "then some of the other fellows started to open, so we opened, too. The fact of the matter is, the fruit season is so near that so much business would be lost from this on, that we would all lose money if we closed at seven. The of early closing as if it were something that every man should do, whether he lost money by it or not; but I often have travelers call on me at night. I have known them to call as late as 11 o'clock. I would like to close early, but I don't want to lose my customers."

Brown Bros., 486 Queen street west, gave early closing a trial, as their competitors were doing it. They advertised that they intended closing at 7 o'clock, while, previously, they had been closing when they wished, often not till 10 or 11 o'clock. They kept to this resolution from Tuesday one week to Thursday the next, then decided that, as the cooperative store would not close its grocery department, neither would they. "You see," said Mr. Brown, "we are not for glory or fun, as we could not afford to close down while the cooperative was open. Besides, some of the small stores were open. We intend closing at 9 o'clock, except on Fridays and Saturdays. And we open at 7.30 instead of 7 o'clock in the morning. We may, in this way reduce the hours of labor till we close at 7 or 8 o'clock. We give our clerks two nights a week off. At present, there is little hope of our closing at 7 o'clock."

The Spadina avenue agreement was signed by all the grocers on the avenue, but has been broken already by one signer.

As a result of this break, Wm. Moore & Son, 402 Spadina avenue said: "We will NEVER SIGN SUCH AN AGREEMENT AGAIN.

We will close if our neighbors do. In fact, we have not yet stopped closing, for we will close at 7 this week at least. But it is aggravating for a grocer to rigidly keep to such an agreement and find that his competitor, who also signed it, is publicly breaking it. We believe 7 o'clock is the right hour to close, and that the grocery trade throughout the city would be benefited by closing early. But, when, because one small store on another street opens, I see my neighboring competitor's knees weaken, and his good resolutions broken, I wonder if the grocery trade deserve shorter hours."

At Mr. Moore's advice, R. B. Powell was visited. "We had an agreement," said Mr. Powell, "but Bush, on College street, kept open, so I opened right up. I think early closing a good thing, but the grocers won't keep to it. I sign petitions and agreements often, but every time they have been broken.

I WON'T CLOSE

if my competitors don't."

So far as Spadina avenue and Queen street west are concerned, with the exception of one or two independent merchants like W. Moore & Son, early closing is a dead letter.

On Queen street east the more important grocery stores are closing, most of them at 8 o'clock.

Wm. Radcliffe, 348 Queen street east, is closing at 7 o'clock. "I am of the grocers in the east to show that thoroughly believe in early closing. Seve o'clock is the right hour to close. It is no right or just that any man should have t work the long hours that grocers and thei clerks have to. They do not get out of lif what they should. If the grocers had mor sense and courage there would be no diffi culty in closing at 7 o'clock. I hope thos in the east will keep to 8 o'clock at th latest. I am going to give 7 o'clock a goo trial. You know we did close one year at o'clock, and found the year one of the mos profitable in my business."

CLOSING AN HOUR EARLIER THAN THE RES

J. D. Kelly, of Kelly Bros., Queen stree east, chairman of the early closing com mittee of The Retail Grocers' Association when asked his opinion of the present con dition of affairs, said: "The policy of ou committee from the first has not been tha of getting up agreements, or making radica changes. There is something of about an agreement which causes some me to sign it with the intention of breaking it o the merest pretence. Then, when a groce who keeps open till 10 o'clock, star to close at 7 o'clock, he makes suc a big change that it takes more dete mination to keep to the new hour tha most of them have got. Though man of the grocers on Queen and Spadina di not keep closed very long, the movement steadily gaining ground. Our plan, yo know, is to convince grocers individual that they can close earlier. In this wa work is being done, and constantly we he of one or another who has started to close 9 o'clock instead of 10 or 11 o'clock, at instead of 9 o'clock, or at 7 instead of o'clock. And the people of Toronto a beginning to think of the hours their groce have to work. The movement is pr gressing."

CANADIAN GOODS FOR FRANCE VIA ENGLAND.

CANADIAN goods consigned to merchants in Great Britain are frequently, as a good many are aware, reexported to other countries. Among the countries to which these reexported goods go is France, between which and Canada a commercial treaty exists, and under the provisions of which certain goods the product of the Dominion entering the French republic are assigned the privileges of the minimum tariff.

As the English merchant disposes of, to various buyers, the Canadian goods consigned to him, the sales he makes to customers in France seldom, if ever, comprise the whole of the original shipment, hence the certificate of origin which accompanies the whole consignment is no longer of effect. With a view, however, to getting over the difficulty, the English merchant has been in the habit of making out a certificate himself for the particular part of the consignment going to France, certifying that the goods comprising it were of Canadian origin. The French authorities have, however, refused to accept these certificates, declaring that goods, in order to enjoy the privileges of the minimum tariff, must be accompanied by certificates delivered by the authorities of the country of origin.

The British Chamber of Commerce in Paris took the matter up with a view to securing a way out of the difficulty, and, according to the last monthly circular of the Chamber to hand, its efforts have not been abortive.

It has not succeeded in inducing the French Customs authorities to accept the certificate issued by the British merchant, but a letter which the Chamber has received from the director of Customs at Paris states that "when importers into France can show only a collective certificate, it has been admitted that each shipment into France should be accompanied by an extract upon stamped paper of the collective certificate, showing the number of parcels or cases, the marks and numbers, the weight and description of merchandise." These extracts are to be certified as correct by the local chiefs of Customs of the ports where they are made.

By this means, not only will fraudulent practices be prevented, but the Customs officials in France will be able to identify merchandise comprising the shipment, whether it be the whole or part of that in the original consignment.

The British Chamber of Commerce in Paris is entitled to the thanks of Canadians as well as that of the English merchants directly affected.

MR. ASHDOWN FOR THE SENATE.

A press despatch from Winnipeg says it is rumored that Mr. J. H. Ashdown, of that city, is to be appointed to the Dominion Senate in the place of the late Senator Boulton.

It is to be hoped the rumor will turn out to be a reality.

Mr. Ashdown's business qualities are his recommendations.

He went to the West some years ago from Toronto, and has built up in Winnipeg one of the most successful wholesale hardware houses in the country.

The qualities which enabled him to make his business successful are qualities which will enrich the Senate.

The Government has, on the whole, been wise in its appointments to the Senate lately, most of those appointed being men who have earned for themselves reputations as capable and successful business men. By appointing Mr. Ashdown it will further exhibit its wisdom.

TRUCKLING TO BARGAIN-HUNTERS

THE bargain-hunter is an evil genius in business, but too many merchants encourage rather than discourage him in the pursuit of his hobby.

Instead of throwing him off the scent by holding up to his attention goods of quality they keep him on the scent by persistently holding up to him goods of poor quality.

It is not price, but merit which ought to sell goods, and, as it pays the merchant best when he is doing business on this principle, it is obviously shortsighted for him to follow a contrary course.

Instead of pushing low-priced, push the high-priced goods. Keep the latter going and the former can be depended upon to take care of themselves.

Merchants who keep hammering away at quality will eventually earn a reputation for quality. Truckling to bargain-hunters can no more bring this about than can good characters be acquired by companioning with the disreputable.

EXPORTS OF INDIAN TEAS.

The Indian export tea trade continues to increase. Exports from Calcutta during the season 1898-99 aggregated 154,065,244 lb., compared with 148,293,367 lb. in 1897-98. In 1896-97 the figures were 146,512,840 lb.; in 1895-96, 133,821,555 lb.; in 1894-95, 125,445,777 lb.; in 1893-94, 123,600,507 lb.; in 1892-93, 112,547,462 lb.

The quantity exported during the past season was distributed as follows: Great Britain, 135,402,527 lb.; Australia and New Zealand, 6,293,950 lb.; America, 3,232,027 lb.; other countries, 9,136,740 lb.

While the quantity of tea exported to Great Britain steadily increases year by year, it is worthy of note that the greatest increase is with other countries, Australia and New Zealand.

The quantity sent to Great Britain in 1898-99, for instance, was 10.50 per cent. larger than in 1897-98, while the increase to America was 30 per cent. and to "other countries," 73 per cent. The exports to Australia and New Zealand were rather smaller than in 1897-98.

THE SUGAR AGREEMENT IN DANGER.

THERE is danger of a collapse of the sugar agreement which has existed between the wholesale houses and the refineries since October 8 last.

About 9.30 on Tuesday morning, an official telegram was sent out by the president of the Dominion Guild suspending the equalization rate system, but stating that while domestic and foreign sugar would thereafter be sold on the open market the usual terms and discounts would still obtain. About three hours later, however, another message was received by the various members of the Guild, notifying them that negotiations had been opened with a view to the continuance of the agreement, and asking, therefore, that the old prices be in the meantime maintained.

Still later in the day, a preliminary meeting was held in Toronto, representatives of the wholesale trade being present from Hamilton as well as those of the former city. In Montreal the local wholesalers also held a meeting, being in session from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., but without arriving at an agreement, and granulated is now selling there at $4.50 and yellows at $3.75 upward.

Whether the equalized rates will be revived remains to be seen. A few days will decide. At present the prospects are not very bright, particularly in view of the fact that one wholesale house has become disaffected.

The cause of which the present difficulty is the effect is the war that is being waged by the Sugar Refining Company and the independent refineries in the United States, and the consequent employment of Canada as a dumping-ground.

For some months the importation of sugar from the United States has been a subject of irritation to the wholesale grocers in Canada, as they, on account of their agreement with the refineries, handled nothing but domestic sugar.

As the sales of United States sugar increased their sales naturally decreased. Ultimately, therefore, with a view to being put in a better position to compete with the imported product, they proposed a revision of the agreement with the refiners.

Under the equalized rate system, which went into operation in October last, the wholesalers obtained a rebate from the refiners which earned for them a profit of about 4 per cent. When it is considered that it takes at least 5½ or 6 per cent. to conduct a wholesale grocery business, it is obvious the profit on sugar under the equalized rate system did not contribute a great deal to the cost of doing business. But the equalized rate system prevented the demoralization of the sugar trade. Consequently, the wholesalers desire its continuance.

Small as the profit of 4 per cent. is, the wholesalers, in their negotiations with the refineries, offered to accept a reduced rebate that would mean a profit little better than 2 per cent., on condition that the refineries would reduce their price on sugar to a sufficiently low figure to enable them (the wholesalers) to meet the competition of United States sugars.

The reply of the refineries was in effect, that as the margin between their selling price of the refined article and the cost of the raw product was already too small, they could not comply. Then followed the suspension of the equalized system rate already noted.

It is to be hoped the negotiations now pending may not prove abortive, for a demoralized sugar market is satisfactory to no one—refiners, wholesalers, or retailers.

Had the Dominion Government complied with the joint request of the wholesalers and refiners for a countervailing duty on bounty-fed sugar there would not now be the threatened demoralization of the Canadian sugar trade. The competition which the makers and the dealers in sugar in Canada are subjected to, on account of the war among the refiners in the United States and the rebate on exports which aids them in making Canada a dumping ground, is unfair, and warrants the Dominion Government taking some action to at least miminize its influence.

A merchant has sometimes got to keep his temper in order to keep his trade.

VALENCIA RAISIN PROSPECTS.

The prospects for a good yield of Valencia raisins are bright. The weather during April was good, and, according to latest advices, the conditions in this respect continue favorable. Unless something unforseen takes place it is expected that the crop will be earlier and better than last year.

THE NEGLECT OF BUSINESS LEGISLATION.

ALTHOUGH the Dominion Government was not the author of the insolvency bill which was withdrawn last week, yet it was responsible for its withdrawal. The statement of the Premier proves that.

Great as is the need of an insolvency law covering the Dominion, the fate that Mr. Fortin's bill has experienced is no surprise. On the contrary, the surprise would have been had it become law.

To say nothing of the home demand for the law, there was the necessity for it in order that the Dominion might be put right in the eyes of exporters and others in Great Britain, a great number of whom look upon the negligence of the Dominion Parliament in this respect as little short of dishonest.

But business men may want. Governments, either Liberal or Conservative, do not, as a rule, comply with what business men want.

One railway company can put an army of politicians to flight, but one politician can, as a rule, withstand many business men.

Such a condition of affairs does not bode well for the commercial interests of the country. But all the fault does not lie with the politicians.

The trouble is the business men of the country have been more wedded to their respective parties than they have been to their business. They know a certain course should be taken by those in power, but because of their supineness the desideratum is seldom forthcoming. They advance their arguments, but do not back them up by substantial force. They bring out their cannons, but they load them with neither shot nor shell. And politicians, like soldiers are not afraid of unloaded weapons.

When the business men of this country have strengthened themselves by weakening their party ties, they will be able to present such a front to whichever party may be in power that when they want a thing they will get it, be it an insolvency or any other necessary law.

Until then they should either stop parading or put ball in their cartridges.

MOLD IN BUTTER.

AT THE recent meeting of the Butter and Cheese Association, of the Montreal Board of Trade, Prof. Robertson, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, discussed at some length the problem of mold between the parchment paper in which butter is packed and the butter, and also with the mold in cheese cases. He dealt with its cause and effect, and the best methods to be adopted for its prevention.

After an exhaustive series of experiments, conducted under his own supervision in different creameries, he had come to the conclusion that the most efficacious method of combating the evil, and one that he had perfect faith in, was by the use of formaline in conjunction with brine. He stated that if the parchment papers were soaked before being used for packing purposes in a solution composed of 1¼ ounces of formaline to 1 gallon of brine it will be found to be an absolute preventive of any vestiges of mold. Formaline is not in the least poisonous, almost odorless and tasteless, and has absolutely no ill effects upon the butter.

Prof. Robertson also emphasized the efficacy of formaline vapor. Anything kept in this vapor will remain free from mold for an indefinite period. It must not be imagined from this, however, that formaline preserves butter or meat ; it does not. Prof. Robertson laid particular stress upon this fact.

In the general discussion which followed, t was pointed out that one of the greatest roubles which butter and cheese merchants ave to contend with at present is that the utter so frequently tastes strongly, from 1 nch to 1½ inches deep all around the case, f wood sap. This was due to the fact that he boxes were constructed of green wood. t was suggested that the Government be equested to issue a general circular to reameries, advising the use of dry wood in he manufacture of boxes.

In reply to questions, Prof. Robertson aid that they had done no careful work yet n the way of trying to prevent mold in egg ases. He kept a good many eggs last ear by small lots to test the relative keepng qualities of fertile and unfertile eggs, and e found no difference at all. The eggs ere kept from July until last week, when they were cooked, and he could not detect any discernible difference either in color, odor or amount of shrinkage. He had eight different lots, which was a fair average for getting information from. He did not want to explode a theory that was not ready to be exploded, but he found no difference between fertile and unfertile eggs.

MOLASSES EXCITED.

THE Barbadoes molasses market continues excited at primary points, the latest cable on Monday noting a decline of 1c., making the first cost 16c. This is an advance af 4c. per gallon, the opening price on new crop molasses being 12c.

At this time last year new molasses was selling at 12 to 13c., having opened slightly under those figures.

Last week the market was highly excited, sales being reported at 17c., and even higher than that. It is evident, however, that these figures were due more to speculation than legitimate demand, as this week's decline attests.

Naturally, the feeling on spot in Canada is firm as a consequence of these high prices at primary points, and the Wholesale Grocer's Guild late last week advanced their price 2 to 3c. per gal., as will be noted in the regular market reports.

Letters from the Island state that the weather has been favorable to reaping—hot and dry—but rain would be very acceptable for the plants. It is fortunate that planters are obtaining high prices for produce, as the crop is very disappointing. We hear of one estate, already finished, having made less than half its average crop. The shipments to date amount to 6,512 hogsheads sugar and 6,353 puncheons molasses ; at same time last year, 11,529 hogsheads sugar and 11,920 puncheons molasses.

It is easy to turn beets into sugar, but it is difficult to turn deadbeats into cash.

CURRANT CROP OUTLOOK.

The deficient rainfall in Greece last autumn and winter naturally had its effect upon the currant gardens, but, according to the latest advices from that country, the conditions are more favorable, and the crop is progressing favorably. At the same time, however, it is anticipated that the yield will be comparatively small.

Lumsden Bros., wholesale grocers, are now comfortably settled in their new warehouse, the Smith & Keighley building, No. 9 Front street east. ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, May 25, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade during the past week has been, on the whole, quiet. Canned goods have been going out fairly well at steady and unchanged prices. Coffees are in moderate demand and firmer. In teas, there is very little doing. Sugars are dull with the outside markets fairly steady. Syrups and molasses are both quiet. In spices, pepper is advised firm and ginger weak. The foreign dried fruit market is fairly active for the season.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no material change in the situation since last week. The tone of the market in regard to canned tomatoes is, if anything, rather healthier than it was a week ago, and the ruling price is 85c. Corn is steady, at 95c. to $1, and peas are still quoted at 70c. upward. Quite a few canned fruits are still going out, but the demand is not as brisk as it was during the previous couple of weeks. There is not a great deal being done in canned salmon. The same thing may be said in regard to lobster.

COFFEES.

A fairly good trade is being done by wholesalers in Rio coffee, but other descriptions are quiet. Prices of Rio coffee are firm and range from 7¼ to 10½c. per lb.

SUGARS.

The jobbers were on Tuesday morning notified of the suspension of the agreement under which sugar was sold at a fixed price, Guild terms and discounts, however, to be continued. Shortly after noon, however, another telegram was received from the president of the Dominion Guild stating that negotiations had been reopened with a view to an agreement and asking that in the meantime prices be not changed. Our quotations, therefore, remain unchanged at $4.78 for standard, Montreal, and $4.73 for Acadia. Very little business is being done by either refiners or wholesalers.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Trade continues quiet in both syrups and molasses. Latest mail advices received in Toronto from New Orleans, in regard to molasses, state that the market is strong, while stocks on hand are being rapidly reduced.

SPICES.

Mail advices received in Toronto from London, England, under date of May 11, state that everyone there believes that higher prices will shortly rule on pepper, and especially the black descripton, as supplies from the east continue to be comparatively small. Advices received on Monday note a decline of 2s. 6d. in the price of Jamaica ginger.

NUTS.

Mail advices report that the market for Tarragonas and Formegettas continues firm, although quotations are without change. The New York Journal of Commerce states that Brizal nuts are easier there on account of expected larger arrivals than those of last year.

TEAS.

Mail advices from London, England, under date of May 12, stated that sales of

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

Indian teas were becoming small, and that, with the demand good, prices were maintained at the previous week's rates. In regard to Ceylon tea, the advices said: "Twenty-two thousand three hundred and ninety-six packages were brought to auction, against 21,065 last week, the quantity proving quite as much as buyers were prepared to take. The market was somewhat irregular, teas under 8d. occasionally showing a slightly easier tendency, while medium Pekoes and broken Pekoes were very frequently ¼d. to ½d. per lb. cheaper."

The China black tea market has opened, and advices state that while in some districts prices are high than last year, in others they are lower.

Cable advices from Japan state that the demand has improved and that the leaf has somewhat recovered from the low prices which ruled at the opening of the market.

On the Toronto market business is quiet in all kinds of teas, there being little done by either brokers or wholesalers. There have been a few transactions in China green teas during the past week.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—The market is quiet, but steady. Advices from Greece state that the new crop is progressing favorably, although it is expected, owing to the deficiency in rain last autumn and winter, that the yield will be comparatively small.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Wholesalers report a good demand, particularly for selected raisins. Arguimbau, of Denia, Spain, reports that the outlook for the Valencia raisin crop is good.

PRUNES — The demand is not as good as it was, although a fair business is still being done, particularly in Californian raisins. Mail advices state that the crop of Turkish prunes promises to be large.

DATES—Advices from the primary market state that the first shipments of Hallowee dates will be made about the end of September or first of October, and the second tide shipment a fortnight later.

GREEN FRUITS.

Though strawberries are arriving in cars every day, the demand is so healthy that all receipts are well cleaned up at from 10 to 12c. for the bulk of the arrivals, though inferior stuff has been sold as low as 9c. and even 8c. The general quality of receipts is improving. Pineapples are in liberal supply, though the demand is fully up to receipts. Prices are steady at 8 to 13c., some extra large ones bringing as high as 15c. Cocoanuts are selling steadily at unchanged prices. Onions are quiet. There is a fair movement of Canadian apples, which are firmly held at from $2.50 for common varieties to $5 50 for fancies. Bananas are moving well. Some overripe stock arrived last week, causing considerable loss, but this has been cleared off, and a steadier feeling is manifested. Prices are unchanged. Messina lemons have advanced 25c., though the demand is moderate. The large movement of strawberries and pineapples has caused the demand for oranges to fall off till at present there is little doing. Messina boxes are done, and half-boxes are quoted at $1.75 to $2.00.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Though local demand is so near to the receipts that export pickling houses, who state that the market should be 1c. lower, have been unable to bear prices down, for to-day the feeling is as firm, and the price as high as have been noted for some weeks, 11 to 11½c. being the ruling figures here.

POTATOES—The feeling is weak. Offerings are so large that a decline of 8c. has followed the drop in prices last week, the price now being 70c. for cars. The street market is also weak, farmers selling on the market at 70 to 75c.

BEANS—Prices are unchanged. Demand is fair. Hand-picked are worth $1 to $1.10; medium grades, 85 to 90c.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—There is little doing. An inquiry from the Northwest has been received for a car lot or more at 5c. at any point in Ontario. Local jobbers will not pay more than 5c. Toronto for large lots, but in a small way they are quoting 5½ to 6c. as a selling price. Stocks of evaporated apples are very light, so the local jobbing trade, though it is quiet, is likely to absorb holdings. Not more than 9c. outside would be paid, but for the local jobbing trade 9½ to 10c. is asked.

MAPLE PRODUCT—No change. Demand quiet. We quote syrup as follows: Imperial gallon tins, $1 to $1.10; wine gallon tins, 85c. Maple sugar is quoted at 9c.

VEGETABLES — Rhubarb, radishes, and spinach are arriving much more freely, causing a reduction in prices. We quote as follows: Rhubarb, 20 to 30c.; radishes, 15 to 25c. per dozen bunches; spinach, 75c. to $1 per bush.; green onions, 5 to 10c. per doz.; asparagus, 30 to 60c. per doz.; celery, $1.25 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 30c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz., $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz. bunches; turnips, 50 to 60c. per bag; beets, 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips, $1 per bag; carrots, 30 to 50c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.40 per bag. Imported vegetabes are arriving in liberal quantities. Cabbages are selling at $4 to $4.50 per crate; peas at $1.75 to $2.25 per bush.; cucumbers, at $3 per bush.; tomatoes, at $4 to $4.50 per crate.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The quality of dairy large rolls that have been coming forward has been quite inferior. Though an improvement is beginning to show itself, poor stuff is still offering. Some good pound prints are offering, but the best dairy stuff is coming in pails and tubs. A little grass creamery is offering. The feeling regarding both dairy and creamery is easier, dairy tubs being 1c. cheaper, and creamery prints and squares ½c. cheaper.

CHEESE—New cheese is offering freely. The quality is improving, so that old cheese is not sought as eagerly, and, as a consequence, the latter has declined ½c. New cheese is worth from 9½ to 10¼c.; old, from 10½ to 11c.

FISH.

Restigouche salmon is commencing to offer at 35c. per lb. Shad is done. North shore whitefish is 1c., speckled trout, 5c., and large herrings ½c. cheaper. We quote: Erie fresh whitefish, 8c.; North Shore whitefish, 7c.; North Shore trout, 7c.; speckled trout, 25c.; perch, 4c.; pike, 6c.; frogs' legs, 35c.; eels, 6c.; bullheads, 4c.; herrings, large, 4c.; halibut, 10c.; steak cod, 7c.; salt water fresh haddock, 5c.; B. C. salmon, 17c.; Restigouche salmon, 35c.; Labrador herring, $4 per bbl. and $2 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 9 to 10c. per box; Halifax herring, $1.50 to $1.65 per 100; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; boneless fish, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; boneless fish in 1-lb. blocks, 5½ to 6c.; ciscoes, 60c. to $1.25; haddies, 8 to 9c. per lb.; lobsters, 15c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOOD

GRAIN—A decidedly firm feeling is man tested, owing to higher markets both in th United States and Great Britain. Som holders are not offering, in the anticipatic of higher prices. On cars outside, 70 71c. is offered. The local street mark shows some activity in wheat and oat We quote this market as follows: Whea white, 73 to 73½c.; red, 74c.; goos 66c.; peas, 63 to 65c.; oats, 36 to 38c.; ba ley, 44 to 46c.; rye, 52 to 54c. No. 1 ha Manitoba has advanced 1 to 2c., and is no quoted at 82 to 83c., Toronto.

SKINS—The easy feeling has resulted in decline of 1c. in veal hides. We quote: N 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 9c. per lb.; No. 2, 7 dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 2c Sheepskins are coming in slowly at 9c to $1, and lambskins at 20c.

WOOL—Prices are unchanged. Fleec is easy 13c., and washed at 8 to 8½c.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, May 25, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has presented nothing striking in the matter of changes since last report. Demand for sugar is reported as disappointing, while molasses continues to advance at primary markets. Tea was moderately active, and there is some inquiry from jobbers for dried fruit, especially raisins. Spices are dull, but firm. Coffee displays no change, and there has been an active business in green fruits of all sorts.

SUGAR.

The local sugar market is featureless, and refiners report that demand is very disappointing for the season. Prices show no change from those quoted a week ago. Abroad there has been some advance in the raw sugar market, and prices for beet show an advance of 2¼ to 3d. May, 11s. 1½d., and June, 11s. 2¼d.

SYRUPS.

There has been no improvement in the syrup market, and demand is slack at 1¾ to 2¼c., as to quality, at the factory.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market continues excited, and, as a result of continued advance at primary markets, the jobbing price here was advanced 2 to 3c. to 37c. car lots, and 38c. for single puncheons. Demand for new stock has been good, but the volume of business transacted is small, owing to the difficulty of filling orders. New York houses are offering Antigua stock in this market at 33c., and sales have been made at the price.

CANNED GOODS.

The chief movement in canned goods has been in corn, round lots of the vegetable being actively inquired for, and buyers had to advance their bids from 87½ to 90c. before they could get any stock, while small lots are held firm at 95c. Tomatoes are easier and have been offered here at 2½c. decline at 80 to 82½c. Peas rule quiet and steady at 80c. The new pack salmon season has not opened out yet, and business in spot goods is quiet.

DRIED FRUITS.

A fair inquiry has been noted for dried fruits during the past week, and, as supplies are limited, the tone of the market is rather firmer and prices have an upward tendency. Some sales of Valencia selected raisins have been made to jobbers at 5c., but holders are now asking wholesale grocers 5¼c. for this grade of stock. Fine off-stalk have sold at 3½ to 4c.

RICE.

There has been a fairly active trade in rice, and values are steady, as last quoted.

COFFEE.

Business in coffee is quiet, the demand being only for small lots, chiefly for Rio at 7 to 9c., and Maracaibo at 11 to 12c.

SPICES.

Demand for spices has been rather slow, but the tone of the market still holds very firm. Cables on pepper are very strong, both in black and white stock. Nutmegs and pimento are also very stiff.

TEAS.

The chief news of the week has been the demand for Pingsueys, and some large sales are reported to New York and Chicago buyers in this market. Ceylons are quiet and firm. Cable advices from Japan reported an active tea market, settlements so far this season amounting to 32,000 piculs, against 28,000 piculs last year. Prices were reported slightly easier, and the demand, it was stated, has been largely speculative, as neither Canada nor the United States has been an extensive buyer.

GREEN FRUITS.

The past week has been an active one in green fruits, and a good trade was done in all lines of goods. There is a very good demand for oranges at $2.50 to $3.75, and lemons, also, command a good sale, at $1.50 to $3.25 per box. Bananas have been in limited supply, and prices have been well maintained at $1.60 to $1.75 per bunch. Strawberries are a glut, and sell as low as 7 to 10c. Pineapples range from 8 to 17c, and tomatoes are stiff, at $4.50 to $5 per carrier.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Demand was fair, and prices firm at 11 to 11½c. for choice, and at 9½ to 10c. for No. 2 per doz.

MAPLE PRODUCT—There was no change in maple product. We quote: Syrup, in wood, 5¾ to 6c. per lb., and at 65 to 70c. per tin. Sugar sold at 7¾ to 8c. per lb.

HONEY—The market for honey was quiet and steady. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 9c.; dark, 6 to 7c.; white extracted, 7 to 7½c., and dark, at 4 to 5c.

BEANS — The demand for beans continues slow. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

PROVISIONS.

Quiet, at steady prices. We quote as follows: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $16; short cut back, $15.50; selected heavy short cut boneless mess, $16.50, and heavy long cut mess, $15 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 7 to 7¼c. per lb., and compound refined at 5½ to 5¾c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

There was no new feature in the local grain market. There was some demand for Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat, and a sale of 15,000 bushels was made at 73¾c. afloat Fort William. Oats were quiet at 36 to 36½c. afloat, and peas at 74c.

FLOUR—Business in flour was somewhat quiet, but the tone of the market was steady. We quote: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $4.10; strong bakers', $3.70.

MEAL—The demand for rolled oats was slow, and prices were unchanged at $3.8[illegible] to $3.85 per bbl.

FEED—The feed market was without any new feature. The tone is firm under a good demand. We quote as follows: Ontario white wheat bran, in bulk, $16 to $17, and shorts $17 to $19 per ton; Manitoba bran, $16; shorts, $18, and mouille $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

HAY—The demand for baled hay is fair at firm prices. We quote: No. 1 $6.50 to $7; No. 2 extra, $5.50 to $6 clover and clover mixture, $4.50 to $5 per ton.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE — The cheese market is unchanged. Bids in the country range from 9¼ to 9½c., according to quality and locality. The bulls say it is only a question of time, when the short supply of old cheese will have its effect. As it stands, there is a difference of ¼ to ½c. between the old and new makes. In the country, exporters are bidding all the way from 9⅜c. up for the first half of May make, and finding few sellers.

BUTTER—The butter market is steady. Exporters are in the market for anything under 16c., but sellers refuse to talk business at the price bid, as they have all the demand they want in a local way for choice creamery at 16c. and over. In northern New York they bid 17½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Frank Magor & Co. have secured the agency for Reiss & Brady, New York and Bordeaux, France, preservers of French vegetables, sardines, etc., and are now showing a fine line of samples of these goods. Mr. Magor reports business good in all lines, and says his new line has been well received by the trade.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., May 25, 1899.

OUR dealers are inclined to complain somewhat, demand for goods not being as active as is expected at this season. There is a reason which is perhaps, sometimes overlooked, and that is, that travelers get out much earlier in the year than formerly, and the volume of business done in the late winter is very much larger than a few years ago. If you do it one time, you cannot expect to do the same business again. In markets there is little of interest. Fish continue very scarce particularly dry fish. In molasses, this is a quiet market alongside of Montreal. Of course, our output is much smaller, and we do not depend on Barbadoes, as they do west; in fact, the big end of the business is now Porto Rico. In tapioca prices are higher, with flake well above pearl. The latter, however, has the demand. Quantity imported here is small.

OILS — There is but a limited business, paint oils being the only line which is in season. The new company have their office open, but, owing to freight rates, have made no reduction in prices. This will come, they say, when they begin to bring their oil in tank steamers, which they will do as soon as their new warehouse is built. They claim the railway favor the Standard people in the matter of rates.

SALT—There is a steamer here with a large lot of English salt, chiefly coarse. In the lot there are some 12,000 sacks, and as the market is quite bare a quick sale is expected. In coarse salt, every effort is made to sell from the ship's side as profits will not admit of extra handling. No further arrivals are expected for some time. Prices are rather firmer. In factory-filled there is a quite an active sale. Canaadian salt has good demand at even figures. There is some demand for the cheap fine in barrels. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 40 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to 3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—There is a good sale in all lines. Corn is very scarce, and is quoted higher. There is but a fair stock of tomatoes, and they are firm. The demand for these two lines is maintained rather better than for peas. Fruits have a better sale than usual. This is noticed particularly in pears. Two-pound peaches are scarce, but threes are plentiful; prices are firmly held. Gallon apples move freely at rather better figures. Canned meats have an improved sale; prices, while firm, show no change. New canned haddies are offered. While the advance in tin should be a reason for higher figures, there is no change from last season. The goods are chiefly sold west. New herring and sardines are also offered; these are growing industries. Clams have a steady sale. Oysters are a light business. Some American salmon have been received; they are the first to come on this market for a long time.

GREEN FRUITS—This is an active line. Bananas have been somewhat scarce with a large demand. Prices are quite high, though there is always cheap fruit offering that is all right for immediate use. In oranges, Messinas have the call, there being very few Californians here. Prices are firm. Stock is quite good. Lemons are firm and there is a good sale. Pines are rather lower with limited business. In rhubarb, native is being freely received, and is now quite low, but still tending downward. Stock coming to hand is good. Strawberries have better sale at rather better figures, but large business is not done till native berries come.

DRIED FRUITS—There is little business. Currants have quite a steady sale at rather easier prices. Raisins are firmer, and in outside markets cheap grades are about sold up. In local market there is no change and at present but very light business. Prunes seem easier; no doubt because of the lighter sale. There is a fair stock here of both Californians and foreign. Dates and figs have but a very light sale, particularly the latter. Dates are firm in price. Evaporated apples are scarce and sale is now light. Very few dried are moving. In onions, price is low; fair stocks held. Quality is good, particularly Bermudas, but the lower price of the Egyptians give them the market. Peanuts tend higher.

SUGAR—While there has been no change in price there is a tendency to lower figures, and an increased effort on the part of Montreal refineries to do business here in granulated. In yellows, quite a quantity of American arrived during the week, but, at present, local refinery is rather underselling them. There is a good steady business.

MOLASSES—This continues a line of much interest, though perhaps not increasing interest. There are fair stocks, though chiefly Porto Rico. In Barbadoes, holders have been quite willing, though having no very large quantities to offer, to sell at prices offered by Montreal buyers. Halifax has also sold quite freely in that market. These sales have been made at figures below what the goods could be replaced at present. Our trade would not be surprised to see lower prices rule at the Island, but are not dependent on that grade. Some nice quality St. Croix has been received and sold at quite low figures. Some nice values in New Orleans are offered, but at this season are not favorites here. Syrup is very dull.

PRODUCE—In eggs, receipts have been lighter. Prices have advanced, and the outlook is for firm figures even at the higher figures. Prince Edward Island will not consign to this market. In butter, prices tend easier, and best grades are scarce. Some Ontario received has disappointed importers and the most of the new butter yet to hand is not desirable. In cheese, rather firmer figures rule. New is more freely offered. Cheese of local manufacture is coming to hand.

FISH—In dry cod price is again marked up. Receipts of new fish are light and market bare. The high prices have led to the hurrying of the fish to market, and there is fault found that the fish are too wet. Some pollock have been received and good prices obtained, but stock is very light. There continues to be no pickled herring, but a few shad are offered. The one dull spot is smoked herring, which we have to mark lower. There seems to be a continued oversupply. Boneless fish have but little attention. Fresh fresh are active. Gaspereaux keep high, and are marked up. The catch continues quite small. Smoked and kippered gaspereaux have a good sale. The latter are preferred to the kippered herring. Fresh shad are easy in price. There is but a fair catch. Halibut are rather higher in price ; season is getting late. Fresh haddock are lower, as are finnan haddies. There are very few salmon as yet. We quote as follows : Large and medium dry cod, $4 25 ; small, $2.75 ; pickled shad, $3.50 to $5, as to quality ; haddies, 4½c. per lb. ; smoked herring, 5½ to 6½c.; smoked alewives, 90c. per 100 ; kippered gaspereaux, $1 per box ; halibut, 7c. per lb.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; gaspereaux, 75c. per 100 ; shad, 8 to 10c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c. ; pollock, $2.50 per 100.

PROVISIONS — There are but light stocks held in barrelled meats, and there is little business reported. Beef seems rather firmer. Mess pork is relatively high as compared with clear. Smoked meats show but a light business. Lard is firmer.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — Manitoba flour has been marked lower, and is now nearer Ontario in price than for a long time. This has been expected as it has been relatively high. In Ontario grades there is no change, but a higher tendency is manifested. Oatmeal is rather easier, though as yet no change in price is reported. Oats are scarce and full prices asked. Cornmeal is easier at the old figures. Sales are large. Beans are steady, but business is dull. Yellow-eyes are scarce. Barley and split peas are still high. In hay, there is a fair sale at rather better figures. Seeds have not sold as freely as usual. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.65 to $4.70; best Ontario, $3.85 to $4 ; medium, $3.60 to $3.75; oatmeal, $4 to $4.10 ; cornmeal, $2.25 to $2.20 ; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 41 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1.05 to $1.10 ; prime, 95 to $1.00 ; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2 ; split peas, $4.20 to $4.25 ; round, $3.25 to $3.40 ; pot barley, $4.20 to $4.25 ; hay, $7 to $7.50 ; timothy seed, American, $1.50 to $2 ; do., Canadian, $1.80 to $2.25; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7½ to 8c.; red, 6¾ to 7½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

J. T. Logan, soap manufacturer, is in financial trouble.

Merrett Bros. have a large cargo of Liverpool salt landing.

A cargo of salt was received at Richibucto this week via barque Valona.

John Sealey received some nice dulse last week, the first of the season.

The board of health have made strict regulations regarding the sale of milk in the city.

Hall & Fairweather received a shipment of extra Californian prunes, 90-100, in 25lb. boxes this week.

Some apples, sent from Kentville, N.S., to England in March, netted $230 for 35 bbls., an average of $6.75 per bbl.

A. L. Goodwin received several cars of oranges and lemons from Montreal this week, part of the cargoes lately sold there.

W. H. Myles, of the North End retail Grocery, is in financial difficulties. Some of the city wholesalers are considerably interested.

C. & E. Macmichael received, last week, a shipment of "Meteor" fancy Alaska salmon, the first American canned salmon to come to St. John in years.

Mr. Rose, of Rose & Laflamme, Montreal, called on THE GROCER during the week. He was on his way home from Halifax. Mr. Rose has many friends here. While not particularly on a business trip, he succeeded in picking up some nice business in molasses, both in Halifax and St. John.

Band & Peters offer something new in the grocery line, called grape nuts, which are made from entire wheat and barley, so heated as to transfer the starch into grape sugar.

Mr. G. Wetmore Merrett, of Merrett Bros. & Co., has gone west to overlook some gold mining property in which he is interested and which has proved very valuable.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG. May 22, 1899.

THE weather is fine and warm and business is very fair. Seeding is nearly complete in many districts. Great preparations are being made at the local parks for suitable openings on May 24. There is an attempt here to introduce American starch of lower grades, but the St. Lawrence and Edwardsburg factories have dropped their prices to meet this competition, and will go even lower to keep out these goods. The better grades of starch are not affected. There has been quite a slump in soap during the week. The local factories have met the cut from the East and gone one better. Soap is now so low here there is practically nothing in it for jobbers but the feeling is, nevertheless, unanimous among the wholesale trade that this is the fault of the East, and they will fill orders from the local factories at narrow margins rather than encourage imported soap.

DRIED FRUITS—Somebody has reported the Ontario market price of dried apples at 5c. Winnipeg merchants, on the strength of this, have been making inquiries everywhere in the East for these apples, but cannot secure a pound at this figure. One jobber stated that he would willingly take 10 cars if he could get them at this price but, though the price was quoted as a regular market, not a single house in the East is prepared to sell at that figure. Apricots are still too dear to dip into deeply. Peaches are reported only a fair crop, and are very firm, with indications of a further advance. Prunes are firm, with a fair demand and no change in prices.

CEREALS — Pot barley has declined a shade ; first-class is quoted at $2.25. Rolled oats are just a shade lower, owing to American goods being urged on the market here. An actual quotation is a little hard to obtain.

CURED MEATS—Are higher and the market is very firm. Hams are quoted at 11c, breakfast bellies, 11½c.; shoulders, 8½c, spiced roll, 9c.; dry salt, 8c. The demand is good.

BUTTER—Market is in a very poor condition and is glutted with a low grade of dairy butter. Separator-made bricks are worth from 14 to 16c. Other dairy 11, 12 and 13c., according to quality. Creamery, 17 to 18c.

CANNED GOODS--Several carloads of tomatoes have changed hands, but the price is the same and is likely to be fully maintained—$2.25 for choice brands running down to $2.15 for those of lower grade. Corn is very stiff at the former price of $2.30 for ordinary and $2.50 for St. John Valley. In canned fruits, the indication is that peaches will be higher. Strawberries, report has reached this market that Ontario has but half a crop and the quotation given by eastern houses would mean $4.20 per case laid down here. If this news proves correct it will mean a small sale of these goods here.

SUGAR—Is very firm, and the price will go higher. Present quotations are 5⅜c. for granulated, 4¾c. for No. 1 yellow, lumps, 6½c., and powdered, 6c.; extra ground, 6½c. The rise is in sympathy with the American market, which is particularly strong.

GREEN FRUITS—There has been a great run on strawberries during the week, and price has touched the lowest point for some years, viz., $2.75 per case. It is expected, however, that this will not continue and that next week will bring higher figures. In the meantime, Winnipeg housekeepers have not overlooked the opportunity, and a great many cases have been canned. Oranges are running low in the market and prices are going higher; $4.75 and $5 are quoted this week, but some extra fancy "Lion" brand stock to arrive next week will sell at $5.50. Lemons are plentiful at $2.75 to $3 75, according to keeping qualities. Bananas have been somewhat scarce in the market, but their absence has not been felt owing to the supply of strawberries. Pie plant is selling at 1½c. per lb. Pineapples are quoted: 36's at $2.50 and 30's at $3. The quality is very fine. Florida tomatoes are $7 for the 6-basket crate. Some remarkably fine tomatoes, grown in St. Boniface forcing-houses, are on the retail market. They are ready sellers at 40c. per lb. These are the first home-grown tomatoes to make their appearance so early in the year. Asparagus is worth 60c. per doz. Lettuce, radishes, cress and cucumbers are plentiful.

A NEW VINEGAR COMPANY.

The Ontario Government has issued a charter of incorporation to the following: Alexander Turner, G. E. Bristol, St. Clair Balfour, J. T. Glassco and H. C. Beckett, of Hamilton, as The Imperial Vinegar and Pickling Company of Hamilton. Share capital $30,000.

MONTREAL GROCERS' PICNIC.

A WELL attended meeting of the Montreal Grocers' Association was held in their rooms, Monument National building, on Wednesday evening, May 17, President Scanlon in the chair.

The business of the evening was the selection of a place to hold their annual picnic as well as choosing the date.

Letters were read from the proprietors of Otterburn Park and Bout-de-Lisle, asking that these places be selected. A report was also presented by J. P. Dixon in favor of Iberville, and a general discussion ensued, after which it was unanimously resolved that the picnic be held at Iberville on Wednesday, July 19, next.

The following committee was then appointed to draft a circular to be sent to the wholesale trade in reference to prizes and subscriptions, and to look after this matter generally, viz.: E. Chartrand, V. Raby, E. W. Farrel, N. Lapoint, A. D. Frazer, J. P. Dixon and President Scanlan.

As there was no other business to be attended to the meeting adjourned.

Among the prominent grocers present were: Pres. Scanlon, J. B. Valliers, J. P. Dixon, M. De Repentigny, V. Raby, E. W. Farrel, E. Chartrand, J. Johnson, A. D. Frazer, E. Manning, Connor and Willison.

WILLOW BASKETS.

The question is sometimes asked why some willow baskets soon become brown and discolored while others keep white so much longer, says an exchange. Those that discolor are made from willow from which the bark has been removed by steaming. The imported baskets, made where labor is not such a big factor in cost, are woven from willows that have been peeled with knives, and these hold their clean white color to the close of their existence, which is a much longer period than that of the domestic product. If one only knew how to distinguish "t'other from which," now!

TO BUTTER AND CHEESE DEALERS

Editor CANADIAN GROCER.—In view of the approach of the new season's business in butter and cheese, we beg to suggest that, in view of the unsatisfactory nature of the business, it would be desirable for, and advantageous to, the producers of each alike to have a board in Montreal, in order to afford an opportunity for inspection and acceptance or rejection on the same day that the sales are made. To this end, we are prepared to assign the second flat of our warehouse, thoroughly furnished and adapted for the purpose, without charge, to all salesmen of butter and cheese who will send their names to us. We will be glad to represent as many as cannot come or send representatives, and will attend to all deliveries and collections strictly on banking terms, providing first-class storage accommodation according to the condition of the season. Our storage and commission charges will be light.

Yours faithfully,

NEEDS TWO CAPITALS.

THE merchant who trusts out his goods must employ twice as much capital in the business as if he did a cash trade, says Outfitter. We say twice; it may be thrice or four times. It depends on how much he trusts out.

A credit business may be a profitable business. It is not a safe business, or is safe only in a small minority of cases. It is almost certain to involve losses. Let a man be ever so careful and strict in his scrutiny of the character and resources of those he trusts when he begins a credit trade, he is all but sure to become lax and easy. It is almost impossible to maintain a rigid standard. Everybody is liable to be mistaken and to be imposed upon. The bars once down you are bound to be overrun with plausible and irresponsible risks.

How many cash businesses do you know of that failed?

How many where credit was given?

What is the proportion between the two?

How much cheaper can you sell if you give no credit?

How much more ready money will you have with which to take advantage of bargains?

Will you not sleep better, be freer from care, enjoy your life here on earth somewhat more?

"But I won't do so much business, perhaps won't make so much money."

"Ay, that's the rub. It's the anxiety to let no customer escape, to do all the possible business. That's just the point where the ambitious but speculative man needs to put the check on himself. Let him deny himself in the one respect of granting risky credit or all credit, and he can find other ways of pushing the business that will eventually enable him to satisfy his ambition.

Buying and selling for cash, he can undersell those who get trusted and trust. Having thus unequaled advantages, he can press them home to the buyers through persistent advertising, backed up by liberal methods in all respects but credit-giving. Possessing ordinary business ability and fair conditions, such a man should never know the distresses which haunt and finally destroy so many retail merchants.

THE POOREST SOME GOOD.

Newspaper advertising is sometimes very weak, but everybody understands by this time that the poorest ad. must do some execution, says Merchants' Review. The difficulty is that when the inquiring advertiser seeks advice in order to make his ads. do superior execution, he often discovers that the experts disagree as to the best way of putting an ad. together. Some ad. doctors condemn the use of extraneous matter, such as is commonly employed in captions for the purpose of attracting the reader's eyes; others argue that without introductory matter of a foreign character an ad. in a crowded paper has not much chance of being noticed, or if noticed, of being read. Illustrations, if selected with judgment, enable the ad. writer to get down to business at once, but the great point in framing an ad. is to bear in mind the purpose for which it is to be published.

VISIT FROM A VINEGAR MAN.

Mr. F. W. Woodman, representing Purnell, Webb & Co., vinegar manufacturers, Bristol, England, is making a brief stay in Canada, and is calling on the merchants in Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, Montreal, etc.

"Our business in Canada," said Mr. Woodman to THE CANADIAN GROCER, "is gradually increasing, and I might say that our firm is, on the whole, satisfied with the results. Although my trip is principally for pleasure, I have secured quite a few orders and promises of others."

In addition to ordinary malt vinegar, Purnell, Webb & Co., make a specialty of a pickling vinegar which is already spiced. It is having a large sale in England, and should eventually find a good market in Canada.

BACK FROM GREAT BRITAIN.

Mr. J. L. Watt, of Watt & Scott, commission merchants, Toronto, returned on Saturday last from a seven weeks' trip to Great Britain. He had a pleasant trip. "Business," he said, in reply to a question, "is still good in Great Britain."

"Do you think the merchants there are taking more interest in Canada than they were two or three years ago, when you were over there?"

"I do; I am sure of it," was Mr. Watt's emphatic reply.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. McDonald, formerly of the firm of McDonald & Aylsworth, Picton, Ont., is in Toronto this week. McDonald & Aylsworth recently sold out to W. A. Carson, formerly of the Belleville Canning Co. The du for the same period increased by nea $2,733,000.

"Vancouver, Nanaimo and Westminst merchants having generally acquiesced the proposal to close their places of busine at 7 p.m. during the summer months, a give a Wednesday half-holiday, a moveme in the same direction has been start here," says The Victoria Colonist. TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

SULTANAS have sold more freely, and holders continue to show their confidence in the immediate future of this fruit by holding firmly to their ideas of value; at the same time retailers show no disposition to depart from the hand-to-mouth principle, and the wisdom of this is manifest, for the slightest signs of a speculative demand would certainly tend to advance prices very considerably.—Produce Markets' Review, London, England.

London warehouse returns to the end of April show stocks of but 231 tons of Valencia raisins and 1,728 tons Sultana raisins, compared with 803 tons of the former and 2,283 tons of the latter at the corresponding date last year.

Arrivals of Valencia raisins at Liverpool from the beginning of the season to May 4, amounted to 4,428 tons, or 448 tons more than for the corresponding period last year.

From the commencement of the season to May 4, there arrived at Liverpool 449,035 packages of Sultana raisins, compared with 582,021 packages for the same time a year ago.

CANNED SALMON IN LONDON.

A London, Eng., trade paper of May 13, says; "Although there has been a better demand for salmon during the past week, sales are not quite so heavy as compared with last year. This is not to be wondered at, as prices all round are not so attractive, and retailers show some disinclination to pay the higher rates asked, and naturally do not anticipate their requirements. On the other hand, holders are generally firm in their ideas, and it does not seem probable that buyers will obtain better value by waiting. There are still a great many inquiries for half-pound tins of flat salmon, and the arrival of the Celtic Race, which contains the bulk of this pack is anxiously looked for."

THE CURRANT SITUATION.

The cargo of currants per Benmore, which has been on the market during the week, has not greatly improved the assortment of qualities available for the grocery demand. The fruit in this steamer consists mostly of provincials and of Amalias of rather ordinary quality; anything really good is conspicuous by its absence. It is certain that a small quantity of better grade currants still exists in Greece, but, with a strong market in that country, holders show little disposition to consign their fruit here, preferring to hold it there until they can effect sales. As their pretensions are somewhat high as compared with the prices ruling in the London market, high enough at least to offer little inducement to buyers to purchase the fruit for shipment, business is rendered somewhat difficult; and, in consequence, currants, which if now in England would meet with a ready sale, and at the same time stimulate trade by improving the assortment available for buyers to choose from, remain practically useless in the warehouses of the Greek holders. As it is the general practice under ordinary circumstances for growers of Gulph and Vostizza currants to send forward their produce with the utmost haste to English markets, and then to press it for realization with a precipitancy which has often proved to be greatly injurious to their own interests and to those of the market generally, it would appear that their excessive caution in the present circumstances is misplaced. If the holders of the small quantity of good currants still remaining in Greece would exhibit, under the present favorable conditions, a little of that confidence in the English market which they so freely display under circumstances much less propitious, it would appear that great benefit would result both to holders and distributers. Under all the circumstances it is not surprising that the trade passing is somewhat small, and this state of things is aggravated by the pressure for sale of provincial currants at prices lower than those at which they can be at present replaced in Greece.—Produce Markets' Review, May 13.

CALIFORNIAN DECIDUOUS FRUITS.

According to The San Francisco Trade Journal fruit inspectors report that the crop of all kinds of deciduous fruits will be largely in excess of 1898. It adds: "Even apricots will be several times larger, for in many localities where the outturn last year was very light or a practical failure the crop promises to be good this year. Ventura County is cited as an example. In 1898 the total crop did not exceed ten carloads, whereas it is estimated at over 6,000 tons this year. As the season advances more fruit is found than had been claimed."

DRIED FRUITS ON THE COAST.

Reviewing the dried fruit situation on the Coast, The San Francisco Trade Journal says in its last issue: "The spot supply of every kind, outside of prunes, is practically cleaned up, leaving order-fillings to jobbing lots. In prunes, the market is dull, but, so far as can be learned, there is no disposition to shade prices by sellers. The light call for these is said to be due to the trade here and at the east having stocked up well under belief that values were comparative low, and, until these are worked off to low proportions, the demand is expected to light, but holders see in confirmed repo of a crop shortage in Europe a good out for both old and new. In new seas futures, there is more or less hesitancy, w buyers slow in making bids on any varie So far as we can learn, choice apricots w open somewhere at around 7½ or 8c., b as the season advances, lower prices m be made. The same remarks apply choice peaches."

ABOUT CACAO SHELLS.

UNDER the above heading Mr. Brui ing Wageningen, in a letter to Indische Mercuur, relative to the h of the cacao bean, says:

"The cacao shells, which in the techni working-up of the cacao seeds fall off, p sesses little value from an industrial po of view; they are useful for few purpo and serve now and then for the adulterat of agricultural foodstuffs and inferior cho late. It is evident that the amount of h in a lot of cacao seed is not entirely ini terial to the manufacturer.

"By the kind intervention of the firm f A Driessen, of Rotterdam, I was affor the opportunity of examining fifteen origi samples of various origins, and to ascert the amount of husk in them.

"The results obtained are comprised the following table:

Name as regards origin	100 gram seed consist of Kernels. Per cent.	Shells. Per cent.	Ave weig a se unhus Gra
Java cacao	92.9	7.1
St. Thomas cacao	92.3	7.7
Surinam cacao II	91.4	8.6
Trinidad cacao	90.9	9.1
Para cacao	89.8	10.2
Porto Plata cacao	89.5	10.5
Hayti cacao	88.6	11.4
Bahia cacao	88.4	11.6
Puerto Capello cacao	88.1	11.9
Surinam cacao I	88.1	11.9
Machal-Guayaquil cacao	88.0	12.0
Aribba Guayaquil	87.0	13.0
Carupano cacao	86.8	13.2
Caracas cacao	86.6	13.4
Grenada cacao	86.6	13.4

"From these figures it appears evi that not unimportant differences exist tween the amounts of husk of diffe varieties of cacao."

KEEP YOUR TEMPER!

Be good-tempered. It pays, in every way. It pays, if you are an employer ; it pays, if you are an employe. It is profitable, in every walk of life. And this is taking the most selfish view. You owe it to others to be good-tempered. You owe it to your manhood, to your womanhood, to your own self-respect. Only a coward by nature will be ill-tempered at home ; only a fool will be so abroad. In making others comfortable, you are making things agreeable for yourself ; you are gaining and keeping good-will, which may be of value and help to you hereafter ; you are accumulating a capital of popularity and good report, which may be used to advantage, perhaps, at a critical time. Good temper is a great factor in success.—Business.

There must be some reason why Blue Ribbon is fast supplanting all other packet teas in Canada. No doubt intrinsic merit has most to do with it, but we attribute much of our success to the fact that Blue Ribbon is a Grocers Tea. It pays the dealer to handle it, and he knows he will never be asked to sell this tea on any other than a profitable basis.

Blue Ribbon Tea Co'y - 42 Scott St. Toronto

MACHINE-MADE CHINESE TEAS.

THE Overland Times, of Ceylon, in its issue of April 27, says: "Mr. G. L. Ackworth, formerly chairman of The South Indian Districts Planters' Association, and a well-known proprietory planter in South India, had something of interest to tell our reporter in an interview which the latter had with him while he was passing through Colombo recently on his way to Madras * * * Mr. Ackworth refers to a probable large increase in the shipments of China tea to Great Britain during the coming season, to be attributed to the increased value of Indian and Ceylon teas, especially the commoner kinds, this being due to the policy of 'starving the market' which has been so successfully followed by Ceylon, and to a smaller degree and involuntarily, by India. But, as we have already said, we are not afraid of a few more million lb. of China tea being absorbed by the London Market, to take the place of the Ceylon teas finding an outlet in continental and other markets, while of the possible improvement of the manufacture of Chinese teas by the introduction of machinery we are exceedingly sceptical. This possibility has been foretold for several years past now, and was put into practical operation, as we know, near Foochow, by a European company, the result being a dead failure; various excuses have been made for this want of success, such as difficulties of transport, the impossibility of getting the Chinese to fall in with European methods, the cost of skilled labor, and also the one to which Mr. Ackworth refers—the unsuitability of the leaf treated for curing by machinery. But we believe the difficulty lies deeper than this, and is the outcome of circumstances which, we also believe and hope, will never be got over, even should the opening up of China lead to the influx of European capital and intelligence into the tea districts of China.

"The especial qualities of China teas which some people set such a value on are the result of careful hand-treatment of the skilled, though conservative Chinese tea-grower, and, if this treatment is exchanged for the Indian and Ceylon method of curing by machinery, it is quite likely that the leaf will be spoiled rather than improved, and Chinese tea lose the hold it has been able to maintain in Russia and other Continental countries. At all events, there is no logic that we can see in expecting that it must necessarily resemble Indian and Ceylon-made tea. The Chinese tea bushes are different, the leaf is different, and the soil in which the tea bushes grow is different; and none of these things are likely to be changed—certainly not the last. So that we think the machine-made Chinese tea, which is to reverse the revolution in the tea trade of the last fifteen years, is a bogie which need not alarm us."

SCALES FOR GROCERS.

The speedy recognition of the value of computing scales by Canadian retail merchants has compelled L. A. Davidson, Canadian agent for The Money-Weight Scales Co., sole distributers for The Dayton Computing Scale Co., Dayton, Ohio, to remove into larger premises, so, offices and warerooms have been opened at 104 King street west, Toronto.

The new premises are handsomely decorated and well lighted, and display to advantage the two dozen varieties of scales which are shown on oak tables and stands.

The scale which has proved the readiest seller to grocers is the No. 2 improved standard market scale, which is made in white, oriental yellow, aluminum, full nickel and olive, and is highly ornamente and finished in gold.

Another favorite with grocers is the tea spice scale, which is made in two sizes, 1 lb. or 28-lb. This is a beauty, being bras triple-plated nickel. The accompanyin cut shows the scale.

A feature of both the market scale ar the tea and spice scale is a ball-bearir swivel base, which enables the scale to l turned in any direction, so it can be us from either side of the counter.

The standard and hanging butcher scal made by this firm are just as suitable for t provision counter of grocery stores as f butchers' use. These scales, like the tea spice scale, are made of brassed triple-plat nickel, with maroon and black trimmin The above scales have full jeweled Siberi agate bearings.

The latest, as well as the most ingeniou scale made by the Dayton company is th automatic provision scale. Its advantag will be readily recognized by provisi dealers generally. By placing goods the weighing pan, their weight and valu instantly indicated. The weighing pan made in eight different styles, suitable weighing every article sold over the p vision counter.

Mr. Davidson extends to the trade cordial invitation to inspect these sca when in Toronto, or to write for illustrat booklet describing the 48 varieties made the firm he represents.

QUAINT DUTCH SIGNS.

THE signboards that hang out from the doors of little shops in small Dutch towns are often very ancient affairs. In Viaardingen one sees such places, where ready-made starch, hot water and fire are sold ; and, although to-day all persons read and write, in the past centuries this was not the case with such people, who did washing and other everyday work. Therefore, the signboard was indispensable to the ignorant, and many such signboards still hang, though the owners of the shops are advertised with their wares in the approved nineteenth century manner. A little place where starch was sold had a large bowl painted on the sign, with a well starched frill beside it. Hot-water shops have a kettle set over roaring flames, and for "fire" they show a turf burning brightly.

In Rotterdam, a curious signboard, bearing the date of 1628, presents Jacob lying under a tree, while, between him and a large milk can with a pile of cream cheese beside it, the famous dream of Jacob descends in the form of a crude ladder very like the steps of a chicken-house. On it are two angels. One, nearly down, politely offers a hand to the smaller angel, which follows him. The big angel points with his unoccupied hand to Jacob. The smaller angel has an eye on the cream cheeses, his interest in them being so apparent that he loses footing in his voyage down the ladder, and has the attitude of "clutching at a straw."

Cobblers also seem to have been fond of Job as their patron saint, for many signboards represent him. You frequently see the letters D.G.I. (De Geduldige Job) over their doors, where hard work and drudging is done. In Dokkum the following verse expresses in a rather philosophical manner the feelings of the cobbler worker :

Joh was a most patient man,
Who would be like him, can—
But better not.
For he who sits within this cell,
Must slippers, boot, and shoes mend well ;
A toilsome lot,
And payments oft forgot.

Over the door of a fish dealer in Vlissingen, who, in the olden days was also evidently a teacher of the catechism, you read :

Here we sell salt-water fish, just caught,
And will teach you also to do as you ought.

In Rijswijk a sign read thus :

Here we shave, wash, and cure sick dogs,
And also make good sour-kraut !

—New York Times.

ORANGE MARMALADE.

An exchange gives the following recipe for orange marmalade : Take eighteen fairly large Seville oranges, pare them very thin, then cut them in halves, and save their juice in a clean vessel, and set it covered in a cool place; put the half-oranges into watter for one night, then boil them very tender, shifting the water until all the bitterness is out, then dry them well, and pick out the seeds and strings as nicely as you can ; pound them fine, and to every pound of pulp take a pound of double-refined sugar ; boil your pulp and sugar almost to a candy height. When this is ready, you must take the juice of six lemons, the juice of all the oranges, strain it and take its full weight in double-refined sugar, all which pour into the pulp and sugar ; and boil the whole pretty fast until it will jelly. Keep your glasses covered, and it will be a lasting wholesome sweetmeat for any use.

THE WEATHER AND TEA FLUS

Varying reports reach us from the districts as to the probable results of the weather. In most places it seems to be thought that enough rain has fallen, and that the wet weather, so far from doing go is now retarding flush. In other distri however, it is stated that enough rain is not yet fallen to make up for the droug but there is a general concensus of opin that the result will not be felt, at all ev this month, and that shipments will proba be under estimates. Up to May 11, on a trifle over 2,000,000 lb. had been ship and there is not likely to be very m freight before May 24, after which, h ever, a good deal of tea will be sent a from Colombo. The original estimate April was 8,250,000 lb., and it is thought that about 8,250,000 lb. will Next month, however, there are likely t very large shipments.—Times of Cey Colombo.

41 Years.

Forty-one years is a long time to maintain one position in the Starch business in Canada, namely—at the head. During that time competition has invited a lowering of prices at the expense of quality, but we believed then and believe now that "quality" in Starch as in everything else, is the corner stone of a successful business.

We have kept abreast of the times. We have always tried to improve even on our best efforts of the past.

and "Benson" are so closely identified with the Starch business of Canada that the names have become household words. It is your privilege of course to experiment with "new things," but it costs money and loses trade for you. The housekeepers of Canada have confidence in the names "Edwardsburg and Benson"—41 years have proved it with

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

A word about

VENICE WAFERS

EXACT SIZE

They are a variation of our "FLORENCE" wafer, to which we recently drew attention. Made in the same flavors, Raspberry, Lemon, and Coffee, they are only half the size, being less than one inch wide. Their convenient size and shape make them very popular; particularly suitable where dainty "stand-up" teas and suppers are being served. When sending in your next order, include a case of "VENICE" wafers.

A Profitable Policy

Absolute cleanliness, unremitting care, scientific knowledge, modern processes controlled by us alone, all of this unites to make our business policy a profitable one. But it means more than that—you share the profits to-day as you always have—the prices we quote remain the same.

"Fair profits and no misrepresentation"—that is our business policy. It pays us to do business on this basis. It is a profitable policy—we find it so.

ABOUT TEA.

The tea plant thrives best in a warm, damp climate. Ceylon and India both have just such a climate, very warm with an abundant rainfall. This in itself would insure good tea from these countries, but it, combined with the exceptional quality of the soil and the care with which the cultivation, the picking, the firing, the packing, etc., is attended, produces the best, the purest, the cleanliest tea on God's Green Earth. The grocers in this country, as well as in many others, have come to the unanimous conclusion that to do a good tea trade they must handle Ceylon and Indian Teas, as everyone who knows anything at all about tea knows that they are the best, the healthiest, most economical and best flavored. Thousands of dollars are being spent in advertising them throughout the country. Do you want to share in the benefit of this? You might just as well.

BUY THEM. SELL THEM.

They're so good they can't be bettered.

A Link in the Chain.

Confidence begets success. Don't overlook the value of the good-will of the man of the house. You please the woman, but her husband pays the bills—obtain his confidence on the quality of the Cigars you sell and you add another link to the chain that binds the family to trade with you.

Payne's Cigars

have stood the test of Time and that is the only honest proof of worth and value. The "Pharaoh" for a 10 cent line and the "Pebble" for a 5 cent line are the links in the chain that win a man's confidence, and keep him trading at your store!

SIMPLE BOOKKEEPING SYSTEMS FOR GROCERS.

THE following is a further contribution of short essays on bookkeeping received by The Grocery World in its ize competition :

By Durham Bros.

We use two books for each account. We ep one—the day book ; the customer the ier—the pass book.

Each book is 6⅝ x 4 inches in size, with leaves, or 48 pages, with a blotter leaf ween each leaf.

When a person wishes to settle, both ks must balance. When they do this, dit is given, and the account is thus con- ued until the books are full, when new s are made out.

We number them 1, 2, 3, etc., as they filled. We file the day books and the tomers the pass books, as they become .

ur books are double ruled, have leather ks, and are substantial, never being n out before becoming full. We inclose af from our day book, which has a ple account on it :

The cost of our books, printed and ready for use, is 8 cents, or 16 cents for each account.

By F. Schmidt.

I will here try to give a description of what we think is one of the best methods of bookkeeping for the average-sized grocer.

Inclosed find a sample of the way we keep the account of our order routes. Our boys, when taking orders, always make a duplicate of their order with carbon paper. (Inclosed find copy of an order and duplicate.)

When slips are turned in, the order is put up from duplicate copy, each clerk putting his own mark opposite the article he gets ready. This duplicate is always in our office for future reference. If any mistake is made we can soon see which clerk put up the article.

After the clerks are done putting up the orders, all the bookkeeper has to do is carry out the price of meat, which had to be weighed, add up the bill, with balance, and carry amount in column, as shown in sample book.

We can do this bookkeeping for 35 to 40 bills in 20 to 30 minutes. This is the best labor-saving system we ever had in our 18 years of grocery business. All orders are taken at our store on duplicate copy, and we only charge the total in our ledger, as per sample copy.

The books used in the Schmidt system are as follows. Here is the pass or order book ;

We inclose a leaf taken from one of the books we are using in our retail department, and we have found it quite a labor-saver. We use a carbon paper between the sheet, and in this way we send the original to the customer and keep the duplicate for our own file, which is used as follows : We have two cabinets, one for use for tickets, which are not expected to stand long, and the other we use for the monthly bills. For the monthly bills we use envelopes for each customer's name and as soon as the statement is made out and added we seal the envelope and put the amount on the back, just above the customer's name. We also put on the date the statement is rendered.

The loose tickets which are paid daily and weekly are used in the cabinet just as the monthly bills, only we do not put any date or amount on the back of the envelope. At first we used only one cabinet, but we find it saves time to use two, as we are constantly overhauling the loose tickets, and the monthly tickets are not used so often.

Here is the duplicate slip used, the upper half being shown :

By Angle Bros.

We will try and explain what we think is the simplest and most satisfactory plan of bookkeeping, both to our customers and ourselves, that we have ever tried. It originated with one of our clerks.

Most all grocers have experienced that annoyance in settling up pass books at the end of the week or month (which are usually busy days) to find that one or more articles are not on the pass book, because some member of the family has failed to bring the book. Then you have to begin at the ledger and go back over the day book for, perhaps, 100 pages or more to find the missing article. Now, we find that this is all overcome by simply keeping a duplicate pass book, in which we itemize each sale, carefully dating same, so that should a customer fail to bring his book the grocer can see at a glance the next time the book is brought, by comparing the two books, that one or more articles are not on the customer's book.

This does away with the day book, journal and ledger, and yet the account is always itemized.

The duplicate books can be kept on a ledger back of the counter or on the desk, laying them upon a slant, with the name of the customer at the top of each book.

STORE CLERKS.

IT has, no doubt, been observed by many people, says The New York Enquirer, that the difference in store clerks is as conspicuous as a walking sign could well be, and as varied as the goods which they sell and try to sell ; and while there is room for a number of distinct qualifications of ability, there is sufficient subject matter derived for a brief discussion, in condensing the numerous characteristics of this craft, into three common classes, viz : The Ordinary, The Indifferent, and The Practical.

The ordinary clerk is one who generally reports for duty at the last minute, and regards his position in the light of an automatic machine, or an everyday routine, without the slightest consideration for his employer. He chats with his next counter neighbor upon social topics, and feels disgruntled when a customer calls for his services before he gets through with his conversation ; his capacity is medium, and his ambition may well be compared to a small stationary engine which puffs in a perfunctory manner, but unable to get up sufficient steam for the execution of good work, and yet in his own lofty estimate of self-accomplishments, his mind becom vague, obscure and puzzled, when he overlooked in the line of promotion.

The indifferent clerk is as dry as mummy, both in ideas and demonstratior and often owes his place to mere chanc cheerfulness and courtesy is to him or h an unknown quantity ; he executes l functions in the same manner as his loo and actions display, and gets rid of l cnstomers as soon as possible. The goo done up by this clerk are generally crush and crowded into a piece of wrapping-pap —which is often too small—in a haphaza way, and the twine often opens before t goods reach their destination. It was or the other day I saw a lady in a street c with a package of this description, and s made the remark to her companion that s would never go into ——— & Co.'s st again, because, after they sold you t goods, they did not seem to care how th wrapped them up, or how you got th home. This is the inevitable result of indifferent clerk, whose carelessness oft causes a depreciation of figures on t proper side of the ledger or balance sheet his employer.

The practical clerk is wide awake ; takes a pride in his profession ; he is e courteous, affable, willing and obliging; takes a keen interest in his counter, as w as his employer ; he is a close student human nature, and seeks to please patrons ; he studies the peculiar whims a fancies of his customers, and is a diplon in any emergency. If his patience is tr by a cranky customer, he avoids friction hiding his chagrin behind his good natu and wins the plaudits of all with whom comes in contact. This same practi clerk is a success to himself, as well as his employer. He can command a g salary when others often fail. Merit a effort place his services at a premium. often attains to a high position and respor bility, and frequently becomes member head of a firm, and takes his place in front rank as a successful business man.

LADY STARCH TRAVELERS.

THE Bee Starch Co., of Stanstead, Que., are thoroughly alive to the importance of the Canadian market for their goods, and never let an opportunity pass to bring their goods before the buying public. They are now spending a considerable amount of money in putting up signs and posters in all the towns and cities of Quebec and Ontario.

They are introducing a decided innovation in the way of canvassing the retail trade. Commencing next Monday, two bright and pleasing young ladies will be employed by this firm in Montreal as city travelers. The city will be divided into two districts, and each one will have her territory, and in this way they hope that ere long every grocer in Montreal will have this brand of goods on their shelves. Should this prove a success in Montreal the system will be extended to other cities.

This is probably the first Canadian firm to regularly employ lady travelers.

A SODA FIRM'S DIVIDEND.

Brunner, Mond & Co., Limited, Northwich, England, the large soda manufacturers, have this week announced a dividend of 30 per cent. on their ordinary stock for the past year, in addition to which is carried forward £111,000 sterling. This is 5 per cent. more than their last dividend, and the amount carried to reserve £30,000 more than the previous year, which is a marvelous result considering the severe foreign competition and condition of the chemical trade generally, and further establishes the superiority and preference for Brunner, Mond's products over all others. The Canadian agents for Brunner, Mond & Co. are Winn & Holland, Montreal.

STARCH.

As shown by the price list of the Edwardsburg Starch Company in last week's issue, there have been several reductions in the price of starch. The most important item is the change in the second grade of corn starch, whereby the trade can have the standard brand (Canada Corn Starch) of this Canadian factory at a price to compete against any of the miscellaneous, anonymous brands of corn starch which are being put upon the market. There are one or two other changes to preserve the balance of prices.

Application is to be made for the incorporation of The St. Eustache Canning Co., St. Eustache, Que.

TRADE CHAT.

The Imperial Vinegar and Pickling Co., of Hamilton, Limited, has been incorporated.

Edward Gander, grocer, St. Catharines, Ont., has retired from business. He states that he may go west and start in business there.

Mr. Chas. William, clerk in Wm. Robinson's store, Selkirk, Man., has gone to Plumas, Man., to take charge of a store there.

On Monday R. C. Teasdale, grocer, Terauley street, Toronto, gave his driver $73 with which to buy provisions at the wholesale houses. The horse and rig were found at the Union depot at 10 o'clock that night, but Mr. Teasdale and the police are still looking for the driver and the money.

The Boiestown, N. B., merchants, find their business seriously interfered with by pedlars of many nationalities. No less than a dozen made the town their headquarters one day last week. They are anxious to meet the stream drivers on their way down. The drivers, when they get this far, generally are paid their wages and invest quite largely in the goods carried by the itinerant vendors of "shoddy" and other inferior wares.

LIME WATER AND WATER GLASS EGG PRESERVATIVES.

AN investigation was commenced at the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, last September, to determine the value of water glass, compared with lime water, as an egg preservative.

Water glass, known chemically as silicate of soda, is a fluid quoted at about 60c. per gal. It is highly caustic, due to excess of soda, so is more disagreeable to use than lime water.

The investigation consisted in immersing perfectly fresh eggs for varying lengths of time, from a few hours to six months, in (a) lime water and (b) 10 per cent. solution of water glass. After the treatment, whether for a few hours, days or weeks, the eggs were placed with untreated eggs, which were used for a check in a rack within a drawer in the laboratory, until the close of the experiment, March 30. 1899. All the eggs were at a temperature from 65 to 72 deg. F. throughout the trial.

The testing consisted in breaking the eggs into a glass and noting the appearance of the "white" and yolk, whether the yolk was stuck to the shell, size of air-space, odor, etc. The eggs were then poached and again the odor, appearance, etc., noted.

The results, or conclusions reached by the test were favorable to the use of lime water in preference to water glass.

In no instance were any bad eggs found, but in all cases where the eggs were not kept covered throughout the period of the test with the preservative solution, shrinkage of the contents had taken place, as shown by the larger air-space, the less globular form of the yolk, and in many instances by the adherence of the yolk to the shell. The eggs treated for seven days and less with lime water showed somewhat less shrinkage than those treated a similar length of time with silicate of soda.

The white in all the preserved eggs was very faintly yellow, which tint became deeper on boiling. No offensive odor was to be perceived from any of the eggs when broken, but in all instances a faint but peculiar musty or stale odor and flavor developed on poaching.

When used continuously, lime water and water glass are equally efficacious in preventing shrinkage. They may also be said to give practically the same results as regards both external and internal appearances, flavor, etc., of the eggs preserved. Since water glass (silicate of soda) is more costly and more disagreeable to use than lime water, lime water must be admitted the more practical preservative.

It is probable that no preservative will prevent the loss of flavor possessed by the fresh egg, but those which wholly exclude the air (and thus at the same time prevent shrinkage from evaporation) will be the most successful. Continuous submergence is evidently better than treatment for a few days.

Lime water may be made by putting two or three pounds of good fresh lime in five gallons of water, stirring well at intervals for a few hours, and then allowed to settle. The clear supernatant fluid can then be poured over the eggs, which have been previously placed in a crock or water-tight barrel. Some preservers add a pound or so to the lime water, but the Ottawa authorities express the opinion that this is unnecessary, and probably leads to the imparting of a limey flavor to the eggs by inducing an interchange of the fluids within and without the eggs.

The all-essential points to be remembered are: 1. That the eggs to be preserved shall be perfectly fresh, and, 2, that they shall be covered with the preservative fluid.

TRADE FOLLOWS THE ADVERTISER

Advertising reflects the intelligence of a business house and pictures the character of the goods in the mind of the purchaser. The public, in the present great variety of utilities, is made aware of an article and its merits before a demand for it is created. A Chicago concern, according to Iron and Steel of that city, last year started in the manufacture of what would have proven a salable article properly handled, but the company's enterprise stopped with the equipment of the machinery plant and well appointed offices. With bright quarters, good prospects and an ample supply of fine cigars the manager proceeded to pile up a product that every hardware jobber and dealer would have willingly pushed into sale, had they been informed of the opportunity. A few thousand circulars sent out failed to start trade, and $21,000, the extent of the capital of the company, was lost and an assignment made, and the public is yet unaware of the existence of the goods. The perfect factory, luxurious offices nor fine tobacco smoke would move them, and the manager was without resources. This mistake is constantly being made by hundreds of concerns that are never heard of after their incorporation. Also many patented articles that would prove valuable, if pushed, stop here. Manufacturing an article and creating a demand for it are two separate and distinct parts of business, yet there are many men who manage both parts successfully. To turn out a product and not sell it means bankruptcy. To try and sell it before a demand is created is nonsense. Inform the trade of the merits of your goods, with a few hints of your business policy, if you like, and if the goods really possess merit, they will find successful demand. Produce good goods and advertise to make them known and sales will follow.

THE MONTREAL FRUIT SALE.

LAST Friday, at the Montreal Fruit Auction Company's salesroom, Mr. Potter, sold the cargo of Mediterranean fruit ex ss. Bellona. The attendance was not a all equal to the ss. St. Marnock's lot, as the quality and condition of the cargo did no attract so many United States and Western buyers. There were many small lots, and not in prime condition, so that the sale dragged in a rather tiresome manner, that must have been trying on the auctioneer, I lasted from 1.30 until 6.30 p.m. Lemons were weaker, as there were very few lines of sound fancy fruit. Prices ranged from 50c. to $1 for fair; $1.50 to $1.75 for choice and $2.10 to $3.05 for fancy, the extreme price for Sorrento fruit, while Maori's ranged from $1.40 to $3.85. Sorrento oranges worked between $1 and $2.85 for boxes and $1 to $1.75 for half-boxes, with Messinas, in boxes, $1 to $2.

The principal New York buyers were Parsons & Lumsden.

Hart & Tuckwell, McGill street, gathered in the largest share of the offerings, perhaps the bulk of the sound lemons, and fancy oranges. Richard Barry was also a very active and liberal buyer, also Dawson, of Toronto; Dixon, of Hamilton, and H. A. Brown, of Ottawa. Other buyers well to the front were Vipond, McBride & Co., J. J. Vipond, J. T. McBride, Vipond, Peterson & Co., T. S. Vipond & Son, G. Laird, H. Legarde, Shea, and others of the Montreal trade, also P. Lapierre, of Quebec, while MacPherson, of Winnipeg, was again on hand, and secured some of the good lots. "Larry" Contencion, of New York, took a hand in bidding up some of his fellow receivers' fruit, and put spirit in the sale. Messrs. Gatto and Minaldi, and the latter's energetic son, "Felix" came on from New York to look after their fruit. Frank Freeman, of New York, and others whose names were not learned, filled up the balance of the seats around the "Fruit Receivers' Board" table. "Jack" Callaghan, of Hart & Tuckwell, with Mr. Coates, of the Reford Company, took good care of the importers' interests.

Before the cargo sale began, auctioneer Potter sold a carload of bananas, good green stuff, at from 80c. to $1 per bunch. In the morning also two carloads of American strawberries, good stock, were sold at a range of 8¼ to 14¼c.

There is also a very active business every morning at the G.T.R. fruit shed, St. James street, where the Montreal Fruit Auction Company sell carloads of Norfolk, Baltimore and other strawberries. There was a splendid lot Monday morning, yet the prices should have been higher, but the weather and the market, like the lawyer, make a glorious uncertainty. The prime fruit brought as high as 12¼c. and the general average for good stock was 10½ to 11¼c. Lower grades sold down much lower. Joseph Brown & Son sold a carload at auction. Hart & Tuckwell sold a large quantity. John Caldwell & Co. sold a lot of really fancy stock at top prices at private sale.

OUR APPLE TRADE IN DANGER.

JUDGING from the discussion which took place in the House of Commons a few days ago, legislation to provide machinery for the inspection of apples for export may be expected during the present session.

It is time there was some such legislation. The quality of Canadian apples is unsurpassed, but the quality of the honesty of some of those who pack them is about as poor as it can be. And whether their number be many or few they are sufficiently numerous to do a great deal of harm to an important industry. That the industry is important may be gathered from the following table, showing the exports during the past ten years:

	Quantity in bls.	Value.
1889	771,971	$ 1,528,449
1890	378,475	993,163
1891	451,197	1,390,436
1892	691,276	1,445,452
1893	1,187,673	2,731,254
1894	287,313	808,889
1895	853,369	1,821,710
1896	567,745	1,417,571
1897	1,665,139	2,503,637
1898	439,538	1,783,511
Total in 10 years...	7,284,696	$15,424,072

From the above table it will be seen that the exports of apples during the last ten years have aggregated 7,284,696 barrels, valued at $15,424,072.

Placing each barrel on end and side by side, the 7,284,696 barrels exported during the past ten years would reach over 2,759 miles. Placed on their side and end to end they would stretch about 3,500 miles, or nearly one thousand miles farther than from Quebec to Liverpool.

To protect this trade and insure its expansion, instead of contraction, as the present dishonest methods threaten to do, it is obviously the duty of the Government to provide the ways and means of detecting fraudulent packing, and of punishing those guilty of it.

BUSINESS IN STRAWBERRIES.

Large dealing in Southern strawberries has been one of the prominent developments of the green fruit market at Montreal this spring.

Two years ago, when Vipond, McBride & Co. first brought in a few carloads of this fruit they were laughed at by the majority of the trade. Last year, however, from a total of 12 carloads, the Montreal imports of these fruit just doubled, and this spring for the past fortnight from two to five carloads daily have been sold at public auction. They have averaged about 8 to 13c. per quart, as to quality.

Some of the cars netted the shippers nothing after the costs were paid, but, in other cases, the consignments paid handsomely.

The result of this comparatively new departure in the fruit trade is that consumers get fresh berries on their tables three weeks earlier than if they had to wait for the domestic fruit, in equally as large quantities, and, consequently, at about the same price.

NEW BRUNSWICK BUTTER FOR ENGLAND.

A shipment of creamery butter has been made to England and Scotland by a creamery in Carleton Co., N.B., and the results are anxiously awaited, particularly the verdict in regard to quality.

Should the shipment prove satisfactory it may lead to a largely increased output of creamery butter in New Brunswick.

RECIPE FOR PRESERVING EGGS.

In a recipe credited to The American Agriculturist, which was recently reproduced in THE CANADIAN GROCER, was this sentence: "Take 2 gallons of water, 12 lb. of unslacked lime and 4 lb. of salt, or in that proportion, according to the quantity of eggs to be preserved." The article, it might be stated, was not reproduced directly from the columns of The American Agriculturist, but from an exchange that had taken it from the latter journal.

The week after the article appeared in the columns of THE CANADIAN GROCER, a subscriber wrote stating that there must be a mistake in the figures, as two gallons of water to all the other ingredients would only produce a paste.

A letter was accordingly addressed to the editor of The American Agriculturist asking for an explanation. This week, a reply was received from the poultry editor of that journal, in which he says: "The article of which you speak must have been adopted from the accompanying article of Nellie Hawks, published by our paper some months ago. You will see that in reprinting they changed 24 to 2, which decidedly affects the value of the recipe."

The accompanying article, which the poultry editor of The American Agriculturist refers to in his letter, reads as follows:

"The recipe given below is very good for preserving eggs, although it takes considerable work to prepare it. Into 24 gallons of boiling water put 12 lb. of unslacked lime and 4 lb. of barrel salt. Stir frequently for one day. The next day dip off the clear liquid and put it into stone jars. Dissolve the following ingredients in one gallon of boiling water and add to the above liquid: Five oz. common baking soda, 5 oz. cream of tartar, 5 oz. saltpetre, 5 oz. borax and 1 oz. alum. Drop the eggs into this brine every day, as gathered. Eggs greased with fresh lard and put down in salt keep well. Use cracker boxes, or others of about that size, as these are light enough to be easily handled. Turn the box half over two or three times a week."

He who in business takes thought for the morrow does not need, as a rule, to be much concerned about the morrow.

THE SUGAR AGREEMENT REVIVED.

ALTHOUGH the efforts that were being made when we went to press last week to revive the equalization rate system for selling sugar have been but partially successful, they have been a great deal more so than was thought possible.

The agreement has been revived and is again in operation, although there are three or four wholesale houses that have not yet subscribed to it who were parties to the arrangement which existed up to the 23rd ult. The houses are: H. P. Eckardt & Co., Toronto; Hudon, Hebert & Cie., Chaput, Fils & Cie., and J. A. Mathewson & Son, Montreal. One or two firms doing business in other places are also said to have refrained from subscribing. H. P. Eckardt & Co. withdrew from the agreement on May 22, the day before its temporary suspension.

While not at present subscribing to the instrument, it is believed that some of them at least ultimately will. Should they not do so, opinions are divided as to what will be the ultimate outcome of the new agreement.

The agreement, as it stands to-day, is the same as that which previously existed, except that the rebate given to the wholesaler by the refiner is now only 3 per cent. As, however, the former gives his customer a discount of 1 per cent., it follows that his actual profit is only 2 per cent. under the present, instead of 4 per cent. as under the old conditions.

With a net profit of about 2 per cent. there was obviously not much of an incentive for any wholesale house to subscribe to the agreement. And, on account of this, there were others besides those named who were on the point of withdrawing, but it was felt that, while from the standpoint of profit there was no inducement to subscribe to the equalization rate system, yet it was the opinion that to withdraw would not insure the making of more money, while the agreement, if it did not insure an adequate profit, would at least tend to steady the market.

Those who are not participating in the equalization rates will now, of course, sell foreign as well as domestic sugar, but the reductions which have been made in the latter have, as a rule, placed the price of Canadian sugars below that at which it would cost to import the product of the United States refineries.

On granulated sugars the reduction is 10c. per 100 lb., and on yellows there is a decline of from 15 to 30c. per 100 lb.

St. Lawrence and Redpath granulated are now quoted at $4.50 in Montreal, and $4.68 in Toronto, and Acadia at $4.50 to $4.63, respectively. Yellows are quoted at $3.70 up in Montreal, and $3.88 up in Toronto.

Willett & Gray's Sugar Trade Journal in its issue of May 25, in commenting upon the suspension of the agreement, says: "A notable feature of the week is the opening up of the Canadian markets to American refined sugars, by the dissolution on Tuesday of the trade arrangements long existing between the 'Guild' of Canadian grocers and the Canadian refiners, by which all limits of purchase and sale prices are removed, and grocers will buy, wherever they can buy cheapest, at home or abroad. The American Sugar Refining Co. will find herein a place for their surplus production. The independents are not disposed to compete for this trade, on account of the difficulties of drawbacks, etc. * * * This will prove an important new feature in the business of The A. S. R. Co. of much advantage."

When that appeared in The Sugar Trade Journal the agreement had not been revived. With the revival of the agreement and the sharp reduction in Canadian refiners' prices, the conditions in this country are, of course, not so favorable for United States sugars.

It is to be hoped that the new arrangement, incomplete as it is, will be sufficiently influential to prevent the demoralization of the sugar trade in Canada, for cutting among wholesalers is sure to lead to cutting among retailers.

DECLINE IN MOLASSES.

The molasses market, in its course lately, justifies the advice given in these columns some time ago that buyers would be wise to thoroughly investigate before they accepted the excited reports that came from the Island this spring.

At the close of last week, the first indication was forthcoming of a reaction from the excited condition due to speculative operations, when prices declined to 15c. per gal. first cost at the Islands.

On Wednesday of this week, prices were again cabled 1c. lower, at 14c., which makes a total decline of 3c. per gal. from the top price at primary markets.

As a consequence of this intelligence, the members of the guild at Montreal, who marked up their prices last week, have again reduced them 2c., to 35c. for car lots and 36c. in single puncheons.

Round lots are offering in the Montreal market now at 33c.

PRICE OF NEW SEASON'S SALMON

QUOTATIONS on new season's canned salmon for future delivery have been received in Toronto by the representative of at least one cannery on the Fraser river. They are, however, practically nominal, and no attempt appears to have been made to do business.

The figures are about 75c. per case above the figures ruling last spring.

Advices from the Coast are of a somewhat conflicting character, some saying that the pack is expected to be large and others again just as firmly declare to the contrary.

The Province, Vancouver, in a recent issue said that: "Every indication points to the run of sockeye being large, but if it is," declared that paper, "the canners will be unable to cope with it, as they are exceedingly short of tinplate. Not a single box of tinplate can be bought on the Pacific Coast. Across the line it has been very scarce, and as stocks were fairly large here they have been drawn upon, with the result that the market is now depleted. Puget Sound took most of the material, and operations there this year will be on a gigantic scale. Quite recently 3,000 boxes of tinplate were shipped South. Local canners are practically relying on the cans left over from the poor season of last year. Their stocks are not large, and, even if the run of fish is large, the pack will not be extensive. The uncertainty as to regulations was the cause of the canners not making preparations until long after the usual period."

Another difficulty, according to The Province, is in regard to labor. It takes it seems about 6,000 men to supply the canneries with fish, and, it is held, that the registration clause of the new regulations will preclude that number of men being employed.

CALIFORNIA RAISIN CROP CONTROLLED.

THE California Raisin Growers' Association, which was formed at the beginning of last season to control the price of their produce and to supervise the packing of the raisins so that the market should not suffer from dishonest methods of putting up the fruit, is stronger this year than last, when it controlled 90 per cent. of the crop.

The method by which the association controls its output is well devised. The growers cure the raisins, and deliver them to the packing-houses at specified points throughout their district, and at prices contracted for by the association. The raisins are then sorted and packed in boxes. The contracts with packers provide that the packing shall be done according to the rules and regulations established by the association, and under the personal supervision of the association's inspectors. The packers are paid so much per ton for packing and are allotted a certain percentage of the crop which they agree to buy and pay for at set prices, and they are allowed to sell for a certain sum. The amount of profit which they make is therefore regulated. By this arrangement there is no inducement on the part of the packer to put up inferior quality raisins, as he cannot make anything by doing so.

The association's control does not stop with the packer. As some difficulty had been caused by brokers cutting commissions and prices, the association insisted on contracts with the United States brokers, which made such cutting impossible. The Canadian trade was not included in this arrangement, as the association wanted to meet the competition of European fruit. This year, however, Canadian as well as United States brokers will have to make association contracts.

However, as the association has been able to advance prices, because of superior packing and cooperation, from a figure that yielded the grower 1½c. in 1897, to 3c. in 1898, the commissions of all dealers should be more remunerative than in past seasons.

Mr. M. T. Kearney, president of the association, in a newspaper interview the other day, said in regard to crop prospects: "Two or three months ago, there was promise of a larger crop than we had last year; but, about a month ago, we had a series of frosts, which, in my judgment, will reduce the output 20 per cent. from what we anticipated would be the crop of this season. There seems no probability that the crop this year will exceed that of last, which was 35,000 tons. With a very active demand for grapes for wine purposes this season, the prospect is that such prices will be offered for wine grapes as will induce raisin growers to sell for that purpose rather than make raisins, so that there is a probability that we will not have as many raisins to sell as we had last year. There is a marked increase in the demand for sweet wines and for grape brandy, which is causing a corresponding demand for our muscatel grapes." He also stated that four seeding plants, with a capacity of 25 cases per day, are being erected in Fresno, Cal., the centre of the raisin industry. These will double the seeding capacity of last year.

TO PUSH CEYLON TEA IN AMERICA

Mr. Alex. Thomson, one of the partners in the firm of Whittall & Co., Colombo, Ceylon, arrived in Toronto on Friday last. He was accompanied by Mr. R. Blechynden, who, until lately, has been representing in the United States and Canada the Tea Planters' Association, of India.

Mr. Thomson is an Englishman who has for a number of years resided in Ceylon, but this is his first visit to the North American continent. His mission just now is to establish a branch business in New York for the purpose of looking after the firm's interests in the United States and Canada. He has succeeded in his purpose, and has been fortunate enough to secure the services of Mr. Blechynden as manager.

Speaking of the prospects of the tea industry in Ceylon, Mr. Thomson considered they were gradually brightening, chiefly on account of the improvement in prices. The production of tea in Ceylon this year was estimated at 125,000,000 lb., an increase of 5,000,000 lb. over that of last year. While it was estimated that the United Kingdom would take 3,000,000 lb. less than last year, other countries were expected, between them, to take 8,000,000 lb. more. Regarding the maximum quantity of the tea Ceylon was expected to yield in the years to come, Mr. Thomson said it was calculated that it would never exceed 130,000,000 lb.

NO NEED OF AN INSOLVENCY COMMISSION.

AT a meeting of the executive committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, held in Toronto a few days ago, a resolution was adopted favoring a national insolvency law, and suggesting that the Government appoint a commission to confer with the representatives of the different manufacturing, commercial, banking, and transportation organizations with a view to drafting an insolvency bill that would be satisfactory to those interests.

The motive of the executive in asking for a commission is, doubtless, commendable, but the same cannot be said of the means it is proposed to employ to secure the desired end.

The discussions and the conferences that have taken place during the last few years, when insolvency bills have been before Parliamentary committees for analysis, have established the views of the financial and commercial interests in regard to this question. And what is known is known. Voyages of discovery are only made to discover something or some place that is not known.

To depute a commission to discover what the idea of the different interests concerned were, would be deputing it to discover what is already known.

What is wanted, in order that a national insolvency law may be obtained, is not a commission, but a sufficient number of men whose first concern is the commercial interests of the country, and whose concern for party is at least no better than second.

Whatever the business men of the country need, whether the Government be Conservative or Reform in its complexion, can only be obtained, as a rule, by the presentation of a strong front by those interested.

For some reason or other a national insolvency law is something of which both the present Government and its predecessor appears to be afraid. Both have acknowledged that there was need of it, but neither have had the courage to create it.

They have had the courage to run the risk of displeasing the business men of the country. But that is not surprising.

During the last administration it was known as a rule that the business man who was a Conservative would be a Conservative even when his demands were not complied with, and that he who was a Liberal would be a Liberal still. The present administration knows the same thing, hence, whatever it may do in other respects, it does not depart from the policy of its predecessors in its tardiness in dealing with questions which the business men from time to time submit to it for consideration.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, June 1, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE most important feature of the local wholesale grocery trade during the past week is the reestablishment of the equalized rate sugar-selling system, particulars of which are given elsewhere. As far as the wholesale trade generally is concerned, the volume of business is not large, for, while a good many orders are being received, the quantities, as a rule, wanted are small. In no one line can activity really be said to obtain. Canned goods are, perhaps, the nearest approach to it. The canned goods market is steady, at unchanged prices. Coffees are meeting with a fair demand. Sugars are quiet and 10 to 30c. per 100 lb. lower than a week ago. There is very little doing in either syrups or molasses. In spices, the feature of the situation is the strength of the pepper market. Currants and Valencia raisins are meeting with a fair demand at steady prices. The demand for prunes is gradually diminishing.

CANNED GOODS.

The members of the Canadian Packers' Association met in Hamilton on Tuesday and Wednesday, but up to the time of writing no report of their proceedings has been received. To-day (Thursday) the limitation for the withholding of quotations for future delivery agreed upon by the association expired. As far as can be learned the following are the figures which the packers will quote for future delivery: Tomatoes, 75c. per doz.; corn, 65c.; peas, 65c. for ordinary and 70c. for sifted; pumpkin, 65c. There is not likely, however, to be any business done at these figures for a while at any rate, as they are above buyers' views.

The condition of canned tomatoes remains steady. A couple of lots of seconds of last year's pack changed hands this week at 75c., but holders of the leading brands are quoting 77½c., and one small lot sold at 80c. The ruling price to retailers for the standard brands is steady at 85c. Corn is steady at 95c. to $1. Peas sell at 70c. upwards. Business in canned fruits is light. Canned meats are meeting with a fair demand. The movement of canned salmon is small, but, with the advent of warmer weather, an increased trade is naturally looked for. One or two canneries on the Coast have sent out quotations for next season's pack, but they are purely nominal, and no business has resulted, as far as can be learned. These nominal quotations are about 75c. higher than the opening figures last year.

COFFEES.

Local wholesalers report that the demand for green Rio coffees is fairly good, but in other kinds there is very little doing. The crop movement of Rio coffee has been running a little larger during the last few days, but prices remain fairly steady.

SUGARS.

Since the last review of the market the efforts to reestablish the equalized rate system have been partially successful, the refineries having practically accepted the proposition of the wholesalers as outlined in last week's issue. Further particulars will be found in our editorial columns. Largely as a result of the revival of the agreement there has been a sharp reduction in prices. Granulated is 10c, and yellows from 15 to 30c per 100 lb. lower. Montreal granulated is now quoted at $4.68 and Acadia at $4.63 per 100 lb., while No. 2 yellow is down to $3.88. The difference in the price of Nos. 2 and 3, yellow sugar is now only 5c. per 100 lb. instead of 10c. The volume of business is light. The outside sugar markets are quiet, but steady. According to Willett & Gray, of New York, all raw sugars that were offered there last week were readily taken by refiners. The offerings were comparatively limited, and some holders were inclined to store for a little advance. Total stock of raw sugar in Europe and America at the end of last week is given at 1,973,456 tons, against 1,998,696 tons the previous week and 2,339,006 tons the corresponding week last year.

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Prices are steady in regard to both syrups and molasses, but, generally speaking, the market is quiet and featureless.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The movement is fairly good in rice, particularly in the cheap domestic kinds. There is a steady demand for tapioca at 4¼c. per lb.

SPICES.

The pepper market continues strong, and carraway seed is a shade dearer. Cochin ginger is advised 2s. cheaper.

NUTS.

The Tarragona almond crop is reported to be almost a complete failure, as far as the blossoming of the trees is an indication. The filbert crop is estimated to be 30 per cent. smaller than that of last year, which was also a short one.

TEAS.

The first shipment of new season's Japan tea reached the Toronto market on Monday. The shipment was a small one. The quality in both cup and leaf is good, and rather better than that of the first shipment last year. The price is, however, lower. But cables received this week state that the market is active, with prices tending upwards, showing that there is a continuance of the conditions noted last week. The next direct shipment of Japan tea is expected in Toronto about June 12.

Mail advices from London, England, under date of May 19, state that, with further diminution in the quantity of Indian tea brought forward, there was a distinct improvement in the demand, the auction passing steadily at prices fully up to the previous week's rates. In Ceylon teas, the week's auction was comparatively heavy, probably owing to the pressing forward of some teas in view of the Whitsuntide holidays. The market, however, stood the strain well for all teas under 7½d. per lb., which were readily disposed of at firm prices. Rates for teas over this figure were slightly easier.

Teas of all kinds are quiet and featureless in Toronto.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday stated that the market in Greece was stronger for the better grades, with prices slightly higher. Some good orders for importation have been placed during the past week. Local wholesalers report a good demand, especially for cleaned currants.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Wholesalers are experiencing a good demand, especially for selected raisins, prices for which are firm.

Your Customers Want It.

It Retails at 5 Cents a Bar.

PRUNES—The demand is falling off, although a fair business is still being done.

EVAPORATED APRICOTS—Prices are high at 18 to 20c., and very little business is being done.

GREEN FRUITS.

Imported strawberries are the leading fruit on the local market. From one to two cars per day are readily consumed at from 10 to 12½c. The demand for pineapples is brisker than jobbers anticipated, with the result that shipments which arrived early in the week and were expected to last through it were almost cleared by Wednesday, and a shortage is now noted. Prices are steady at 8 to 12c. The demand for cocoanuts is quieting down. Prices are unaltered. There is a fair trade doing in Mediterranean sweet oranges, at an advance of 75c. in prices. Navels are done. A few Messina half-boxes are still offered at unchanged prices. The Canadian apples in storage will soon be exhausted. As high as $6 is asked for fancy red spies. Poor stock could be bought at $2.50 to $3, but the waste would make these more costly than the fancies. Bermuda onions are about done. Egyptians are moving slowly. Lemons are decidedly firm, and holders state that a few days of hot weather will bring advances in prices. A good, steady demand for bananas is noted.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The quality of all dairy butter coming forward is improving, with the result of an advance of 1c. per lb. in the price of choice packages, whether in rolls, prints, or tubs. There is still a quantity of inferior tubs, some of which had to be cleared of at 7c. and 8c. per lb. There is a good local demand for creamery, but there is neither export or shipping demand. The feeling is easy, with a decline of ½c. in prints and squares.

CHEESE—Old cheese is practically done. New cheese is coming in freely at 9½ to 9¾c., but what has arrived, so far, has not been firm enough for export. It is expected soon. The local consumption is up to the usual mark at this season.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Instead of going down, as some picklers insisted eggs must, an advance of ½c. is noted this week, and picklers have been forced to put down their purchases at ¶ to 1½c. above what some of them claim should be paid. The market is firm at present quotations, 11½ to 12c. per doz.

POTATOES—The easy feeling continues, another decline of 2c. being noted. The price for cars on track to-day is 68c. On the street market, sales are made at from 70 to 75c.

BEANS—The feeling is firm and the demand moderate. Hand-picked are worth $1 to $1.10. Medium grades are selling at 85 to 90c.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—There is practically nothing doing. The local demand is dull, and, though inquiry from the Northwest is noted, stocks are so light that nothing is doing in this way. Local jobbers quote from 5¼ to 5½c. Evaporated apple stocks are also light, and, though the demand is dull, prices are steady at 9½ to 10c.

VEGETABLES—Further reductions have been made in the price of rhubarb, spinach and radishes because of the increase in receipts. New beets and green cucumbers are offering, the beets at 50 to 75c. per doz., and the green cucumbers at $2.50 to $3 per doz. We quote: Rhubarb, 15 to 20c.; radishes, 15c. per dozen bunches; spinach, 40 to 60c. per bush.; green onions, 5 to 10c. per doz.; asparagus, 30 to 60c. per doz.; celery, $1.25 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 30c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz., $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz. bunches; green cucumbers, $2.50 to $3; new beets, 50 to 75c. per bag; parsnips, $1 per bag; carrots, 30 to 50c. per bag; onions, Danvers, $1.40 per bag. Imported vegetables are arriving in moderate quantities. Cabbages are selling at $4 per crate; tomatoes at $3.50 to $4 per crate.

PROVISIONS.

In sympathy with the strengthening tone on the British market, the provision market here shows a decidedly firm feeling. Packers state that their smoke-houses are taxed to their fullest to meet current requirements. Prices are stiffening, an advance of ¼c in the price of long clear bacon and ½c in hams and backs being noted this week. Plate beef is 50c per cwt. dearer. Otherwise prices are unchanged, but firm.

GRAIN—A decidedly higher range of prices has set in, holders asking 72 to 75c. outside, which shows an advance of 5c. per bush. in the past two weeks. The local street market is firm, wheat advancing, and other grains unchanged. We quote this market as follows: Wheat, white, 74½ to 77c.; red, 74 to 77c.; goose, 66 to 67c.; peas, 63 to 65c.; oats, 36 to 38c.; barley, 44 to 46c.; rye, 52 to 54c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat has again advanced 2c., now being quoted 84c., Toronto.

FLOUR—All Ontario and Manitoba grades are dearer. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.10; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.75 to $3.80; Ontario patents, $3.75 to $3.80; straight roller, $3.45, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Prices are unchanged. The demand is moderate. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.75 in bags and $3.85 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $4; pot barley, $4.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES -- A firm feeling is noted, with an advance of ¼c. in cured hides. We quote cowhides: No. 1, 8¼c.; No. 2, 7¼c.; No. 3, 6¼c. Steer hides are worth ½c. more. Cured hides are worth 9c.

SKINS—There is no change. Feeling is easy. We quote: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 9c. per lb.; No. 2, 7c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c. Sheepskins are coming in slowly at 90c. to $1, and lambskins at 20c.

WOOL—The feeling is steady. We quote: Fleece, 13c., and washed at 8c.

SEEDS.

A good trade is reported, with prices unaltered. We quote at Toronto as follows: Canadian salt, carload lots, $1 per bbl., and

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 1, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THERE is a fairly good movement of business to report in general groceries this week, though it is not of very extensive proportions. In sugar an attempt has been made to arrive at a renewed agreement for a modified scale on refined sugar, but the refusal of three leading jobbing houses to join rather militates against it. Refiners have, however, placed prices at such a level that it will be difficult to profitably lay down any United States refined sugar in this market in competition with the domestic article. There has been another decline in molasses at primary points, but no changes to note on spot; in fact, values are firmer. Inquiry from the Pacific Coast buyers for canned vegetables has led to some good trading direct. On spot the easy feeling continues in tomatoes and peas, still lower prices being noted, but corn is firmly held. United States buyers have again bought Pingsuey teas freely, and other branches of groceries furnish no specially noteworthy feature.

SUGAR.

While some of the jobbing houses here have renewed in a modified form the agreement to observe a uniform scale for selling sugar, three of the leading houses have not yet come in and the result is a rather unsettled feeling. At the reduced prices that refiners are asking, however, it will be difficult to import any United States refined sugar into this market and successfully compete with the domestic article. The new refiners' price on yellows is $3.70 to $4.25, as to grade, and granulated, $4.50 per 100 lb. In England, the market is weak and inactive for raw cane sugar, Java being cabled at 13s., and fair refining, 11s. 9d. Beet is also weak with business at lower prices, May and June delivery being ¾d. lower at 11s. 1½d.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in syrups, and demand continues exceedingly slow. Prices rule steady, however, at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb. at the local refineries.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market continues weak, and cables received this week note a further decline in the first cost at the Island to 15c. This makes a drop of a full 2c. per gallon from the top point. On spot, there has been no change in values, previous quotations being maintained. Trading in round lots of material, however, is less brisk, on the basis of 36c., though it is claimed that some offers have been made at less money. In single puncheons, 37½c. is asked. A few lots of Porto Rico are offering, but we do not hear of any important business. Quite a lot of New Orleans stock is coming in, as a result of the high figures prevailing for Barbadoes, and it is selling in a wholesale way at 21 to 22c.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been more inquiry since last report for canned tomatoes, corn and peas, and sales have been made by packers of several carloads for shipment direct from the factory to the Pacific Coast. On spot, the easy feeling in tomatoes continues the leading feature, which is attributed to a desire to effect a clearance of old packs before the time approaches when new crop will be ready for the market. Offers have been made recently at 77½ to 80c. per dozen, which is a decline of 2½c. Peas are offered at 67 to 70c., which also represents a considerable drop, while corn, on the other hand, is firmer, no round lots being obtainable here under 90 to 92½c.

RICE.

An average demand for the season is experienced for rice, and there is no change in prices to report.

COFFEE.

There is nothing new to report in the coffee market, demand being slow and prices generally steady. The only business in green coffee, in bags, in a round way, consisted of a few lots of Maracaibo at 9½ to 11c., as to grade, and some Santos and Rios at 7½c.

SPICES.

This market has reflected a rather lifeless appearance during the past week, but values are firmly held, in sympathy with strong foreign advices.

TEAS.

Continued demand from United States buyers for Pingsueys has been the leading feature of the tea market, and several round lots of these teas have been turned over on this account at much better prices than could be obtained from the home demand. Ceylons continue scarce and firm here and easier cables from abroad have not influenced feeling here in any way. Japanese advices report the market there strong and advancing, but on spot but little movement is noted in this description of teas.

GREEN FRUITS.

The numerous fruit auction sales this week have attracted the usual attention, and clearances were effected, but generally at lower prices than were realized at previous sales. In the regular market, trade has been fairly active in most descriptions of fruit. The supply of apples is now very limited, and prices are firm at $3.50 to $5 per bbl. Oranges show no change, and lemons are selling well at steady prices. Bananas command a good sale as last quoted, while pineapples, despite a more liberal supply, exhibit no alteration. Strawberries are one of the leading features, receipts from the South being heavy, but they have been well cleared up at a range of 5 to 12c. per quart as to grade.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was no change in the situation of the egg market. The demand from local buyers continues good, and the market is active and firm at 11 to 11½c. for choice, and at 9½ to 10c. for No. 2 per doz.

MAPLE PRODUCT—The tone of the market for maple product is firm owing to continued light supplies. We quote: Syrup, in wood, 5¾ to 6c. per lb., and at 65 to 70c. per tin. Sugar sold at 8¼ to 8½c. per lb.

HONEY—The market for honey is still quiet, and prices are nominally unchanged. We quote as follows: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 9c.; dark, 6 to 7c.; white extracted, 7 to 7½c., and dark, at 4 to 5c.

BEANS—Business in beans was slow and of a jobbing character. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

ONIONS—In moderate request and steady at $2.75 to $3 per bbl.

HOPS—A few lots of Canadian have sold at 18 to 20c., as to quality.

POTATOES—Market quiet and steady at 67½ to 68c. for best, and 57½ to 60c. for Inferior.

PROVISIONS.

There was an improved demand for smoked meats and lard, and a moderately active trade was done at steady prices. We quote: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $16 ; short cut back, $15.50; selected heavy short cut boneless mess, $16.50, and heavy long cut mess, $15 per barrel ; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 7 to 7¼c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 ½ to 5¾c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN — Business on spot in grain was exceedingly quiet, owing to the fact that foreign markets have not responded to the full advance recorded at American centres lately. The market here for oats was sick and weak, prices showing a decline of ½ to 1c. per bushel. Holders were asking 35½c. with buyers at 35c. afloat. Peas are inclined to be strong, and prices are quoted at 74½ to 75c. afloat. In sympathy with the advance in Chicago, Manitoba wheat was strong, and closed 1½c. per bushel higher than on Saturday.

FLOUR—Owing to the steady advance in American and Manitoba wheat of late a stronger feeling has developed in the flour market and prices for Manitoba grades were marked up 10 to 20c. There was also an improved demand from local buyers, and a more active business was done including sales of some round lots of strong bakers' at $3.80, and patents at $4.20. We quote: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4 ; straight rollers, $3.35 to $3.45; in bags, $1.60 to $1.65 ; Manitoba patents, $4.20 ; strong bakers', $3.80.

MEAL—The meal market continues quiet, and, in sympathy with the weakness in oats, prices have a downward tendency, but, up to the present, no actual change has been made. Sales are slow, and rolled oats are nominally quoted at $3.80 to $3.85 per bbl.

FEED—A fair amount of business was transacted in feed, and the tone of the market is steady. Ontario white wheat bran, in bulk, sold at $15.50 to $16, and shorts $16.50 to $18 per ton ; Manitoba bran, $16 ; shorts, $18, and mouille, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

HAY—There was a good demand for baled hay, and the market is fairly active at unchanged prices. We quote: Choice No. 1, $7 to $7.50 ; No. 2 at $6, and clover at $5 to $5.50 per ton.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—The cheese market continues to decline, the dealing at the wharf Monday morning being a notable example in this respect. Offerings were 1,400 boxes, and they sold at 8⅛ to 8¼c., which is a decline of ⅛ to 1c. per lb. on the price realized last Monday. Lower prices were accepted for Ontario makes also, a line of Belleville white goods changing hands at 9c. The buyer in this case had the order in hand for some time, and by holding back saved fully ½c. per lb. The public cable also fell off, being quoted 6d. lower, both on white and colored, at 50s. 6d. and 47s. 6d. respectively.

BUTTER—There was hardly as much snap to the butter market as distinguished it last week, but prices were not quotably altered. For finest creamery 17c. was paid, but exporters cannot concede this figure, as 16½c. is all that their limits will permit in the majority of cases. At country points, however, full prices were paid on Saturday, sellers realizing, owing to competition between buyers, 16¼c. and over at delivery points.

MONTREAL NOTES.

There has been another decline at Barbadoes of 1c in the first cost of molasses.

United States buyers have again been free operators in this market for Pingsuey teas.

Cables from Japan report an advance of ½c per pound on tea, with a strong active market.

A modified scale of prices on refined sugar has been agreed to by some of the jobbers here, but others still hold back.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 1, 1899.

THERE has been a fairly active week's business, although the holiday somewhat interfered with trade. The very destructive fire in that part of the city known as Indiantown, or the north end, being that part of the city facing on the river above the falls and where the river steamers all land, burned out the entire water front, including the steamer warehouses, all the larger stores and a very large number of dwellings. The loss was the greater as the stocks carried at this season are large, and will greatly put back business in that part of the city, as the river trade was just opening up in good shape. In markets, flour tends higher and sugar is rather easier. Canned goods are firmly held. Prices show little change. Much depends on the lumber business, and some anxiety is felt for the drives on the upper St. John. Freights are keeping up, and this is much appreciated.

OIL—This is the quiet season in all lines. There is a steady sale, but no large business. Paint oils keep high, and stocks are light. Other oils show no change in price. New cod oil will soon be on the market. St. John is quite a receiving point.

SALT—In English coarse, stocks are light and prices are firm and rather higher. The large cargo, spoken of last week, was largely shipped to outside points direct from the steamer. There is a good demand. Fine salt has a better sale, Canadian being largely used, though the country store still draws its supply of bulk fine salt from the English factory-filled. They retail it by measure and not weight. For table use the Canadian has the demand, though some American and English bottled salt is used. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 43 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—Some interest is being taken in new goods, but it is still too early to get reliable information. It is said some prices have been quoted, but the greater number of canners refuse to do so. Stocks here are light, and all lines are more firmly held. Tomatoes have recovered from temporary easier tendency, though higher figures are not looked for. Corn tends higher. In salmon, full figures are asked, and a further advance is not unexpected. There is considerable call for gallon apples, which are firmly held. Blueberries are scarce. All fruits show good sale. Kippered herring and haddies are now offered. Prices are the same as last season. Lobsters are very high.

GREEN FRUITS—Dealers are very busy, while the local stock of bananas is larger than when we gave our last report. Prices are firm and tending higher. The demand at this season is large. Oranges find but a fair sale. Much of the stock offered is but fair, being small, but it is for those who do not wish to pay a big price. Lemons find a fair business at firm prices. In pineapples, there have been very liberal receipts, and prices are lower, with but fair sale. Dealers do not expect to make money in pineapples. They do not turn over quickly enough. Strawberries show increased sale, and prices are rather lower. Rhubarb is low, and finds a large demand.

DRIED FRUITS—Raisins are firmer, but in this market little change is made in price, as dealers in many cases have fair stocks and are anxious not to carry any over. Seeded move slowly at this season. Currants have a fair sale at even figures; stocks not large. In prunes, local prices are low; in fact, are as low as the goods could be replaced at. Holders are finding stock moving but slowly. In imported apricots and peaches little is doing. Evaporated apples are scarce, but sale is light. The high prices are firmly held. Onions keep low and sell freely, except Bermudas, for which dealers will not pay the price. In Brazil nuts some dealers are buying, higher prices being expected. Peanuts, particularly fancy grades, are higher.

SUGAR—The effort towards lower prices has not resulted satisfactorily to dealers. In granulated, however, the American is not being sold to the wholesale trade, and in yellows there are now better values in Canadian. Sales are good. There is quite a stock of American sugars here.

MOLASSES — There is little change in the position here. Our market has not shown the interest manifested west, and values are lower here than in Western Canada or the United States. Stocks are not large, particularly Barbadoes. This grade is easier at the Island, though the season there is largely over. Some St. Croix, which has been received this season, has given splendid satisfaction, and is offered rather lower than other grades. Porto Rico is the favorite. Little New Orleans, or syrup, is now moving.

PRODUCE—Eggs hold their price and tend higher. Our local market is keeping below outside points. The advance is rather earlier than usual. Those who preserve eggs are somewhat disappointed, and, if prices advance, it will affect the quantity put down. Butter is good and shows a rather better market. But little creamery is being handled. Much of the new dairy being received is unsatisfactory. Cheese is firm. New is being more freely offered, local made being now in the market. Old cheese still sells well.

FISH—Fresh fish have chief attention and the interest is in shad. Catch has been good, and fair prices rule. The quantity shipped to American points is not large, as, except roefish, prices are too low. Halibut are higher, but are about out of season. Gaspereaux are a fair catch, and the price holds quite high. Dry cod, while there is no change, tend easier. But few pollock are offered. Smoked herring is dull, and there is little moving in finnan haddies. Kippered herring and gaspereaux have a good sale. Pickled fish is dull. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $4 to $4 25; small, $2.75; pickled shad, $3.50 to $5, as to quality; haddies, 4½c. per lb.; smoked herring, 5½ to 6½c.; smoked alewives, 90c. per 100; kippered gaspereaux, $1 per box; halibut, 7 to 8c. per lb.; fresh haddock and cod, 2c.; gaspereaux, 75c. per 100; shad, 8c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $2.50 per 100.; salmon, 20c.

PROVISIONS — Prices tend higher, though there is but limited sale in all lines, but lard stocks held are light.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED—In flour there is an undecided feeling among the trade, but there is little doubt higher prices will rule. Some round lots have been bought. Already some millers have advanced their prices. Oatmeal is firm, but is selling low in the local market. Oats are somewhat easier. Cornmeal is marked lower, and sells very freely, being cheap feed. Mill feed is still high, and scarce. Barley has but a small sale, dealers only buying from hand-to-mouth, owing to the high prices asked. Boiling peas have very little sale. Beans are dull, buyers holding off for lower figures. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.65 to $4.70; best Ontario, $3.85 to $4; medium, $3.60 to $3.75; oatmeal, $3.95 to $4.10; cornmeal, $2.10 to $2.15; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 41 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1.05 to $1.10; prime, 95 to $1.00; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2; split peas, $4.20 to $4.25; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $4.20 to $4.25; hay, $7 to $7.50; timothy seed, American, $1 50 to $2; do., Canadian, $1.80 to $2.25; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7½ to 8c.; red, 6¾ to 7½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Prince Edward Island oats are being shipped to the West Indies.

Owing to the high price of canned lobsters, the shipment of live ones to American ports is much smaller than usual from Nova Scotia. The catch was light.

While Canadian vessels can trade between Porto Rico and American ports, they are not allowed to carry freight and passengers from American ports to Porto Rico.

The wholesale flour trade feel very keenly what they consiaer the discrimination in freight rates against them. There is no doubt the low rates quoted to St. John for export have very much hurt the local business. The freight rates to many bay and Nova Scotian points are as low and even lower than to St. John, so that where a large trade was done, at present our merchant:

GUELPH, ONT.

have lost it. It is said Halifax merchants are allowed to bring a car for export and then warehouse it, shipping it as they wish, but not using it for local business. Our dealers feel they should have the same right, and with united effort no doubt they could get it.

Early closing is growing in favor. It is a right move, and, through the summer, should be more general, and every effort should be made to extend it to the retail grocers. The retail hardware clerks now have it. In Richibucto, the stores will close every Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock.

The extent of the fire in the north end of the city on Thursday, May 25, can be judged from the following: Number of buildings burned, about 250, of which 200 were dwellings, some 300 families being rendered homeless. The total loss is put at rather over $500,000, with about $220,000 insurance. Grocers were particularly large losers.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, May 29, 1899.

THE last few days have seen an almost continual fall of warm rain, which will be a help to pasturage, which is short for the time of year. Seeding is just about completed throughout the Province, and in many districts the wheat fields are quite green. Pasturage is becoming more abundant and everything now points to a successful season.

EVAPORATED FRUITS — Continue high and firm. Apricots have again advanced, and are now quoted at 19 to 19½c., according to grade. Nectarines are out of this market, owing to high prices. Peaches are very firm; so are prunes. Prunes are quoted at 5½ to 9c., according to size and quality. Pitted plums are in good demand at 8½ to 9½c.

DRIED FRUITS—The raisin market is steady with normal demand. Valencia off-stalk, $1.50; fine off-stalk, $1.65; selected, $1.75; layers, $1.85 to $2; Californian 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 4-crown, 7¾ to 8c. Currants, barrels, 5 to 5¼c.; half-barrels, 5¼ to 5⅜c.; cases and half-cases, 5½ to 5¾c.

CANNED GOODS—No change is reported in this market. Sales are normal and prices firm.

CURED MEATS—The market is firm with no change in prices for the week. Hams, 11c.; breakfast bellies, 11½c.; backs, 11c.; shoulders, 8½c.; dry salted long clear, 8c.; extra short clear, 7¼c.; backs, 9c.; shoulders, 8¼c.

BUTTER—Creamery butter, in sympathy with Eastern creamery, is quoted at 16 to 16½c. f.o.b. factories. The supply is increasing, the offerings for the week being quite large. The quality is very satisfactory, though the flavor is not so full as is usual at this time, owing to the backward state of the pasture. Dairy butter is very low; 10 to 11c. is all that is paid at country points, and dealers are not anxious for it even at that price. Separator-made dairy bricks are quoted at 14 to 15½c.

CHEESE—Very little is yet offering. One factory has sold its April make for delivery next week at 10½c per lb. This is looked upon as an outside figure, and the probable opening price will be 8 to 9½c.

EGGS — Are again a little higher and 11c is quoted to-day. The increase is attributed to two causes. First, the farmers are too busy to bring them in, and second, an egg evaporating factory started this week and this has increased the demand.

GREEN FRUITS—Bananas on this market are rather green for city trade and the retail market is short to-day on this account. Prices are firm. They are still quoted at $2.50 to $2.75. Strawberries, contrary to all expectations, have not advanced. They are quoted to-day at $2.75 per case. Hood River berries will arrive on Monday or Tuesday, and it is anticipated they will show a slight advance. Navel oranges are growing very scarce, and some of the sizes are quite out of market. Choice stock is worth from $5 to $5.50 per case. Cherries are short. There are none on the Minneapolis market and the supply here is very limited; $2.75 and $2.50 per box of 20 lb. is the quotation, though there is nothing in them for the jobber at this figure. Pineapples are scarce to-day, but a new supply will arrive Monday. Quotations are: 24's, $3.50; 30's, $3, and 36's, $3.75. New Californian cabbage has arrived, and is quoted at 10c. per lb. New potatoes are also on the market, quoted at $3 per bushel. They retail at 3 lb. for 25c. Cucumbers are 75c. per dozen. New tomatoes, in 6-basket crates, $7 per crate.

A TRUE WHISKY STORY.

One of our best grocers uptown, one day last week, found that a barrel of whisky had been lifted bodily from his stock. Search and inquiry everywhere failed to find the goods or any trace of them.

Finally he advertised a reward of $25 for the return of the whisky. Within a few hours a stranger, whom the grocer took for granted to be a detective, came in and told him that he could get his whisky for him.

And so he could, for very shortly a truck with the barrel on was backed up to the store and unloaded on the sidewalk. The $25 was paid and no questions were asked, the grocer figuring that he had saved money on the transaction.

Later the grocer said:

"John, get that whisky down into the cellar and bottle about four dozen bottles for Mrs. Smith, who wants them this afternoon."

John did as he was bid, but within a short time came rushing into the presence of the proprietor. He had a tin cup full in his hands and cried out, "Try that."

It was water, and nothing else. The thief had removed the whisky and substituted water, returning the barrel, for which he had no use and received $25 therefor.

Now the question arises, how much did the thief make and what was the loss of the grocer?—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

A HANDSOME GROCERY.

PHILPS & WATSON, St. John, N.B., have opened a grocery and provision store in that city. The store, which is 30½ x 90 feet, was designed by Mr. Philps for the trade. In convenience and beauty of arrangement The Sun says it is amost perfect. Large and airy, the light streams through the largest area of plate glass in the Provinces, and by night the store is completely illuminated by 100 incandescent lamps on many different switches. The art glass signs at the top of the windows are especially beautiful, and are pronounced the finest piece of lead work in St. John. Frank Reardon, of Halifax, is the maker. The windows are all lined with bevelled glass mirrors, set in handsome grille frames.

As one enters over the tiled doorway, the large rounded cigar stand is the first thing to meet the eyes. Shelved with plate glass and glass front, the case is both serviceable and attractive. Among the features which are the result of Mr. Philips' inventive genius the 18 roll-top coffee canisters are especially noticeable for their convenience and unique appearance. Every canister in the store is built with a roll top.

In the centre of the building is the fruit stand, consisting of a number of wire baskets, diminishing in size as they range to the top of the centre pole. In the rear end of the store is a large butter cooler, with space for six tubs and a ledge for prints and rolls. Back of the cooler is the freezer, with a capacity of 100 lb. of butter and 5 tons of ice. To the side of this are 10 bins, containing sugar, flour, etc., in which these articles may be kept on view and yet free from dust. Back of the grocery is the market department, with bins for vegetables, and a large meat refrigerator, with a double sheet of glass set in the side. The ice capacity is 10 tons, and the refrigerator is 8 x 12 ft., and will hold six carcases of beef, besides other smaller meats.

The stock of fish is kept in a separate refrigerator, underneath plate-glass tops. The cellar beneath the building is a splendid one for storage purposes, being large and perfectly dry. It is needless to say that the goods are in harmony with their surroundings.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Wm. H. Weston, grocer and tea merchant, of London, Ont., has begun business as a manufacturer's agent and commission merchant.

Mr. T. C. Leonard, of Detroit, representing Kingsford's Oswego starch, was in Toronto this week. Since Mr. Leonard was in Canada last, he met with an accident which narrowly escaped causing serious results. While boarding a street-car, in Detroit, the car suddenly started. Mr. Leonard was thrown on his back, and, his foot catching in the steps, he was dragged some distance and rendered unconscious. He was confined to his home for two weeks, and, but for a lame back, appears to be none the worse for his mishap.

Mr. Arthur R. Sharpe, representing Rowntree & Co., Limited, York, England, was in Toronto a few days ago, on his way to the Coast.

Mr. Henderson, of the Windsor Salt Works, was in Toronto last week. He returned three weeks ago from a six weeks' trip to Great Britain, and his only regret is that he did not stay away longer.

AMONG TORONTO RETAILERS.

Good at the Top; Bad at The Bottom.

How a merchant, a grower or a manufacturer can reason out that it pays to deceive a customer or consumer is a mystery that I have tried to solve, but cannot. Yet, many of them do so reason, or, if they do not think it pays, they must do business in a peculiarly blind fashion. I bought a box of strawberries the other day from a grocer. His store was convenient to my home; it was well and cleanly kept, and the grocer was quick and affable. In fact, I concluded that I would buy a good deal of what I needed from him, instead of getting it at one of the down-town grocers as I had been doing. But when I got home it was found that while the berries at the top were good those underneath were decidedly bad; in fact, some of them were molded. Should I have turned the box upside down to see what they were like? Possibly; but I had got into the habit of trusting the grocer, and found that so satisfactory that I concluded to continue to patronize my old friends down town. Instead of gaining a customer this grocer lost the possibility of one by the sale of that box of fruit. I take the ground that when I buy an article, unless I am told it is inferior, that it should be up to the regular standard, and, as I know grocers who take this view, I do not intend to patronize grocers who take the ground that they can sell anything as good unless they are asked if it is bad. This, of course, would be without point if my case were a solitary one, but I believe almost every man or woman takes the same ground. There are customers who want to examine everything before they buy, but the majority want to find a man they can trust, and, when found, they do trust him. Here will be found the cause of the remarkable success that some grocers have made in order business. Honesty always pays. THE RAMBLER.

WILL THE REFINERS AGREE?

The N.Y. Journal of Commerce, of Saturday last, had the following: "Rumors are still being given circulation that a compromise of the sugar refiners' war is under consideration and will soon be announced. There is good authority for the statement that if such a compromise is under consideration it is without the cooperation of any of the practical refining interests. In other words, any compromise negotiations that are under way—if any are—are between interests who have purchased in the open market the control of the Sugar Trust, and, among practical sugar interests, the idea that such a control has been secured does not receive serious consideration.

"The present Sugar Trust management, it may also be stated on good authority, is not seeking, and will not accept, a compromise. It knows, it is stated, of other compromises that would immediately be required just as soon as its present rivals had been bought up. Therefore, while the present management is in power, it seems a safe assertion that the only compromise that would be acceptable would be the surrender of the outside interests. This surrender is not expected. The Sugar Trust is still selling refined sugar on long guarantees, and, as the difference between the price of raw and refined sugar is so slight, the Trust is not making money. A gentleman well acquainted with the Trust's policy said yesterday that, as the company was not making money, the management did not believe in paying dividends out of the surplus, and he expected developments at the dividend meeting next month."

AMENDED TOBACCO REGULATIONS

An Order-in-Council has been passed whereby Section 2 of the regulations respecting the manufacture of tobacco, cigars, and cigarettes from foreign and domestic leaf tobacco and in combination, established by the Order-in-Council of July 21, 1897, has been amended by reducing the percentage of both foreign and domestic leaf tobacco that shall be used in each description of manufactured tobacco, cigars, or cigarettes produced from 25 to 10 per cent.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND TAX.

Mr. A. H. Ellis, representative of Henderson & Potts, Halifax, was one of nine travelers who were ordered to stop doing business in Newfoundland a short time ago. The Newfoundland Government have passed a law charging commercial travelers $100 for a license. Mr. Ellis and the eight other travelers returned from the Island, and the hotels, railroad, etc., lost considerably by the policy.

THE RAGE FOR CHEAPNESS.

INTELLIGENT people no longer subscribe to the "cheap goods make cheap men" doctrine, and yet it is possible to have too much cheapness, says New York Merchants' Review. If cheapness were always accompanied by merit in the goods, that is to say, if "cheap things were really cheap, the present tendency in so many branches of trade would be praiseworthy instead of censurable. But it is the wrong kind of cheapness that is the aim of grocers when the market reporters note a demand for teas "for price," seconds tomatoes, corn and peas, low-grade salmon and jellies that are a triumph of the chemist's art. That kind of cheapness is to be condemned for various reasons, but principally because the consumption of inferior food is bad for the digestion and general physical condition of the public, and because a reliance upon "cheap" goods is one of the worst mistakes a grocer can make.

It may appear paradoxical to censure the grocer's rage for cheapness and at the same time admit, as we now do, that there is a considerable class of people who, in the attempt to appear more prosperous than they really are, sacrifice the stomachs for good clothes and fine houses and furniture. Everybody knows people of this class, which is perhaps more numerously represented in democracies than in countries where rank is defined by law. While admitting that there is a demand for "cheap" goods, we hold the grocers and department stores responsible for fostering and stimulating it.

Two courses are equally open to the grocers who have many "bargain-hunters" among their customers. Always giving the customers what they ask for, the grocers can either encourage the consumption of finer goods, gradually raising the standard of quality, or they can encourage the consumption of poorer goods.

Our contention is that the distributer too often makes the fatal mistake of choosing the downward course.

We say "fatal" because we have so often observed the evil effects of ministering to the lowest tastes of the consumers of groceries—observed them in good neighborhoods and in poor neighborhoods—and we have never yet seen success follow the worship of cheapness which would not have been much better if other things than cheapness had been considered by the retailer.

AUSTRALIAN BUTTER IN AFRICA.

Under date of Cape Town, February 27, 1899, Consul-General Stowe submits the following statistics relative to the butter trade of Australia and South Africa: "The largest consignment of butter in one vessel (700 tons) which ever left Australia recently sailed in the Austral for England. The India had also on board 438 tons, so that in one week, Melbourne has earned the credit of sending out the largest shipment of fresh butter which ever left any port in the world. Including a small consignment for Cape Town, the shipment comprised 54,000 boxes of butter. As an experiment, 800 dozen eggs were included among the produce for this port. The value of the butter and some 20,000 rabbits on board for England was $676,443.50. I call attention to this for the reason that my efforts to induce the producers of the United States to ship butter has met with but little success, although, as mentioned in a recent report, butter has arrived in South Africa from the United States under Australian marks. The total import of butter into South Africa (with the exception of Portuguese territory) for 1898 was 5,782,017 lb., against 5,901,455 lb. for 1897, showing a decrease."

NAP LASTED TOO LONG.

A popular grocery clerk employed in a Lynn grocery store was the victim of an incident, Saturday evening, which has caused him to be the object of much curious questioning by his many friends and customers. As is his custom, he went to his home on President street early Saturday evening to get his supper, and hitched his horse outside the house. After a light lunch, he reclined on the lounge for a few moments, but, as he was very tired he immediately fell into a deep slumber. Time sped on and the store was piling up with goods to be delivered during the evening, and the proprietor and the other clerks were wondering what had become of Walter. It got to be 10.30, and still no wagon returned, and another horse was hitched up and hurried to the house of the absent one, after going all about Glenmere. There, patiently stood the horse, and, after considerable loud rapping at the doors and windows, a face appeared, with half-open eyes and wondering looks. After being brought to a realization that there was about two hours' extra work to be done in an hour, two grocery teams careened about Glenmere and many of the residents were frightened out of their wits at hearing loud raps at the door about midnight, and found the long-lost boy standing there with the groceries. The clerk now realizes that, although he is a "freedman," he is not free to take a two hours' nap early Saturday evening.—N.E. Grocer.

TORONTO GROCERS TO PICNIC AT COBOURG.

A special meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held on Thursday evening, last week, in St. George's Hall, Elm street, Toronto, to decide where their annual picnic will be held this year. President Johnson was in the chair, and a good representation of members was present.

The excursion committee, which was appointed to secure information regarding boats, rates, etc., submitted the towns of Oshawa and Cobourg as the most desirable points for this year's trip, and the Garden City as the most suitable boat available.

After a representative of the Garden City had been heard, and the matter had been discussed at length, it was decided by a majority of two to visit Cobourg this year. It was decided to charter the Garden City for July 26th.

Since the meeting, the Cambria, a larger vessel than the Garden City has been offered at a lower price than was asked for the services of the latter vessel. At a meeting of the executive, held on Wednesday evening, it was therefore decided to call another meeting of the association to decide which boat will be chartered.

The fare will be $1 for adults and 50c for children.

A HOG ALWAYS.

It happened on a crowded car. A seedy-looking man, very much the worse of liquor, rose to give his seat to a lady, when a robust man slipped into the vacant seat, leaving the lady still standing. "Sa-a-y, you—you fellow, you," said the boozy but chivalrous individual, as he swayed too and fro hanging to a strap. "I—I'm drunk, I know, but I—I'll get over it, I will; but you—you're a hog, and you'll never get over it in—in this world—no, sir, never!" And the other passengers agreed with him. Our Dumb Animals.

CANNED GOODS FUTURES.

The members of the Canadian Packers' Association have agreed to extend the time for not quoting futures until June 10. It was, it will be remembered, originally intended to limit the period to June 1.

It is expected that the prices at which futures will be offered will be 75c. for tomatoes, and 65c. for corn, peas, beans and pumpkins.

A LIMITED BISCUIT COMPANY.

The biscuit manufacturing firm of Christie, Brown & Co., Toronto, has been turned into a joint stock company, with W. Christie as president, R. J. Christie as vice-president, R. Harvey, manager and C. E. Edmonds, secretary-treasurer. The capital stock is $500,000 in shares of $100 each.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

FUTURE evaporated apples are reported to be firmer owing to advices to the effect that the recent frosts have damaged the crop, and to-day sellers did not seem inclined to entertain bids of less than 6¾c for prime wood dried, for October-November. Chops, it was stated, could be bought at 2⅛c, but at this figure no business has yet resulted.—New York Journal of Commerce, May 25.

The estimated stock of currants in bond in Liverpool on May 9 was 2,367 tons, compared with 3,671 tons at the same date last year. To May 9 there had arrived in Liverpool for the season 21,993 tons, against 20,754 tons for the corresponding period last year.

CANNED GOODS IN THE STATES.

In canned goods there is reported to have been a good business done by jobbers the past week in tomatoes, peas and corn, for both prompt and future delivery, futures particularly receiving attention. The outlook for the Baltimore pea pack is said to be uncertain, the cold weather having retarded the growth of the vines and the setting of the peas. So far comparatively few peas have been packed in Baltimore owing to the light receipts of green stock, but next week liberal arrivals of the latter are expected by the packers. The canned salmon situation is interesting, but the retailers do not seem to take much stock in it as yet. Offerings of Sockeyes at $1.10 for talls have had an unsettling influence, but it is understood that few sales have been confirmed at that figure and that the packers generally decline bids of less than $1.20, and, according to a telegram from San Francisco this morning, a pool is being formed to hold the fish up to this price.—New York Journal of Commerce, May 29.

LIGHT PACK ON THE FRASER.

A telegram received Saturday from San Francisco stated that a pool is being formed to hold Puget Sound salmon at a $1.20 basis. Financial arrangements, the report says, have been made to advance packers $1 per dozen. It was also stated that British Columbia bankers were offering to advance Fraser River canners $4.50 per case. All indications, the telegram said, point to a very light pack on both the Fraser River and Puget Sound.—New York Journal of Commerce, May 29.

SALMON ON THE COAST.

In its issue of May 19, The San Francisco Trade Journal thus reviews the salmon situation: "All kinds of reports are current regarding Columbia River salmon, which makes it hard to tell the true state of affairs. The conflicting reports, coming as they do from that river, lead us to believe that the combine is trying to confuse outside canners and their agents, while the outsiders are doing the same with the combine, but, from all we can learn, both sides have placed about as much as they care to of chinook until conditions become more settled, so as to form a fairly correct idea as to the outcome. It seems a safe proposition to say that fully 200,000 cases of chinooks have been sold, and, with this the case, it is not reasonable to suppose that prices will be advanced to the basis of $1.30. The sales of steel heads are said to foot up well. The run of fish on the Columbia has increased, but it is still light. The traps and and wheels have not done very well so far, but when the volume of water in the river increases these will make freer catches. There is a good run for the season of blue-backs, which sell on the basis of 3c. per lb. From Puget Sound, our advices continue to note active preparations for the coming season. About every company packing is said to be preparing for a large pack, for there will be quite an increase in the number of traps and also of boats. It is hard to get definite information as to sales, which leads to the conviction that the more conservative do not wish to contract largely ahead; besides this, the trade last year bought futures freely, and, acting on these purchases, were left in the lurch, owing to the pack not materializing, which makes them more conservative, unless reasonably assured that purchases will be delivered. The run of fish on the Sacramento river was very heavy yesterday; over 2,000 had to be cleaned and brought to this city and put into cold storage. Preparations are being made for a big pack on the Fraser river and the northern rivers. No prices have been made on Alaska by either The Alaska Packers' Association or The Pacific Steam Whaling Company. The spot market is cleaned up on 1898 Alaska. This is the first time for seasons that this has been the case. Last year at this time there was a large stock."

NEW JAPAN TEA.

Smith, Baker & Co.'s circular, dated Yokohama, May 4, says: New Tea—Taken as a whole the arrivals to date are a thoroughly democratic lot. The usual fancy parcels of choicest teas are not among them, nor are there any mixtures of disreputable character; but there is unmistakable evidence of want of care and expense in cultivation and preparation, in view of which the stiff demands of the growers are

SMYRNA FIG CROP.

Late advices from Smyrna are to the effect that the coming crop of figs will be about 38,000 camel loads, against 12,000 camel loads last year. The average crop is about 70,000 loads. Packers are said to be ready to contract for Fall delivery on the basis of about 10½c for ordinary to fair layers.

SOCKEYE SALMON IN THE UNITED STATES

Persistent rumors of cutting of prices on new pack sockeye salmon have had a decidedly unsettling influence upon the market for future goods. Traced to their source, these reports were found to be due to the efforts of some irresponsible brokers to make sales. Whether or not sales have been made at anything less than the association prices is questioned by those who are in a position to know. Speaking of the situation as it exists to-day, a prominent commission merchant said : "The cut in prices has been made by certain brokers who are not of the highest standing by any means, and their methods of offering the goods is in itself suspicious, inasmuch as they refuse to name either packers or brands, and in one instance, at least, where their proposition was accepted they failed to confirm the sale."

At the meeting of The Puget Sound Packers' Association, held at Seattle on May 15, the following-named canneries were represented : Fidalgo Island Packing Co., Geo. T. Myers & Co., National Packing Co., Rosario Straits Packing Co., Anacorstes Packing Co., Ainsworth & Dunn, Aberdeen Packing Co., and The Pacific Northwest Packing Co.

It is understood that all these canneries agreed to the prices established at this meeting, and also to a special form of contract to be used in making sales this season. It is further stated on reliable authority that a committee from the Puget Sound Packers' Association waited upon some of the members of the Pacific American Fisheries Company, presumably for the purpose of getting the latter to work in harmony with the first-named organization. A prominent director of the Pacific American Fisheries Company is quoted as saying that as soon as the directors can meet in Chicago the board will take action and will undoubtedly vote to become members of the Puget Sound combination. In the meantime it is stated that the Pacific American Fisheries Company will not cut the association prices and decline to accept orders for buyers' label.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

FIRM OUTLOOK FOR PEANUTS.

A Virginia firm has issued the following in regard to the peanut situation, dated May 22nd : "Last November it was the general opinion that we had a full average crop of peanuts, and we think this was correct, but the demand has been unprecedented, and it now looks like there will be a dearth before the season closes. We have canvassed the various producing sections and market centres and find small supplies. These are very firmly held and cannot be bought at prices that will justify cleaners working them into hand-picked goods and selling them at to-day's quotations. The bull element seems to control the situation now, and there are very few, if any, bears. Predictions are being made that cleaners will be compelled to charge 5c per pound or more for fancy hand-picked before the season closes."

CATALOGUES, BOOKLETS, ETC.

BOECKH'S BRUSH CATALOGUE.

A prominent buyer of a leading St. John firm, in conversation with a traveler of a large western manufacturer, speaking of the various catalogues issued by different firms, said a nicely bound, printed and illustrated book, and the quality of paper used, goes a long way in showing the class of goods a firm manufacture. While he was thus speaking he had the latest illustrated catalogue of Boeckh's brushes before him, and doing a little figuring on some of the pages, was possibly the reason of speaking in such high terms of Messrs. Boeckh Bros. & Company's new list.

SALT FOR THE FARMER.

R. & J. Ransford, salt dealers and manufacturers, Clinton, Ont., have issued a small booklet that should be useful to users of salt, and should help to increase sales of it to farmers and gardeners. It is known that salt is a good fertilizer, but few recognize its real value and know how and when to use it. This book is calculated to teach these points, and should be a good thing for a grocer to give to his farming or gardening customers.

SPICED VINEGAR FOR PICKLES.

It was stated in last week's issue that Purnell, Webb & Co., the vinegar manufacturers, of Bristol, England, were makers of a spiced as well as ordinary malt vinegar. The following from the Bristol Times and Mirror is therefore timely :

"Competition and a growing demand for a pure malt spiced vinegar induced Messrs. Purnell, Webb & Co., Redcliff Vinegar Brewery, a few years ago to add this article to their well-known list. It is brewed in precisely the same manner as their ordinary plain vinegar from the finest selected malt and grain, after which it passes through vats in which the best, most pungent, and aromatic spices are carefully blended ; the result is an article well matured, bright tasting and smelling more like a high-class sauce than the ordinary malt vinegar. As it saves all cost of spices, the time and trouble of preparing the liquor for pickling in addition to being a guaranteed malt vinegar, it is not surprising that it finds a ready and increasing sale. Besides the consumption in England, Messrs. Purnell Webb & Co. have sent good shipments of this pure malt spiced vinegar to Canada where it is greatly appreciated, and is sold in such remote places as Winnipeg and Vancouver City, B. C."

This vinegar is sent out in 50-gallon hogs heads, casks free.

MORALITY AND CREDIT.

By W. A. Joyce.*

THE subject assigned to me must necessarily be considered as both broad and narrow. From the broad view we are obliged to consider all the surroundings and conditions of the case before us, and, in considering the subject generally, it depends solely upon our ideas of morality. For, if we judge from our own standard, we now and then need some for many of us are very lax in our idea of morality, and what is considered immoral by many men, is not by others thought of for a moment. We are, therefore, obliged to consider every element surrounding the case in question, and carefully draw our own conclusions. The short definition of the word "moral" is given "as manner of living as regards right and wrong." There are many different degrees of living, and it depends wholly on our own education and training as to what we consider thoroughly good or grading down to thoroughly bad. Marcus Aurelius says: "He who does wrong does wrong against himself; he who acts unjustly acts unjustly to himself, because he makes himself bad."

CAREFUL SELF-CULTIVATION,

The credit man must learn to, and try to be, right himself. Then he can be better to judge others, and in judging others be careful.

BE NOT BIASED

or prejudiced, nor consider for a moment the nationality or religious views of the subject seeking credit, for often in those cases you are easily misled; often from appearances one cannot tell the underlying character and ability of the person under consideration. It has often been said "that it is very hard to tell just how a singed cat will appear." We must learn to use reason, be tranquil, and still be active. Appearances are disappointing.

In speaking of the nationalities, the Jew is often unjustly censured. It is true, we find many of them who, in their anxiety to become rich and successful, resort to many plans which, perhaps, other nationalities do not, as a rule, resort to. At the same time we must acknowledge that some of our leading tradesmen are Jews, and, as a rule, they are shrewd and self-protective. We seldom find them, in fact rarely, a subject of charity, and where they become on a fair footing or standing, they are very often the with which to trade.

The credit man must necessarily meet all kinds of people. The busybody, the ungrateful, the arrogant, the selfish, the deceitful, the envious and the dishonest. With all of these he has to use his very best judgment, and learn to study their several and separate characteristics. Of the grosser immoralities which need watching, in my judgment, is first and greatest of all—extravagance. Codben says the world is composed of two classes, "those who have saved, and those who have spent."

EXTRAVAGANCE LEADS TO HIGH LIVING, and continually grows upon a man until unable, practically, to retract. It leads to intemperance and dissipation, and in many cases to licentiouness, and finally and almost surely in every case, to dishonesty. We find, in looking over the usual grades of the ordinary tradesman, that he commences life in a modest manner, proceeds along his daily life in a modest manner, proceeds along his daily life, gradually improving his condition, but in the meantime his expenses are more than keeping abreast of themselves. His family's social affairs demanding more of his attention, and often it leads until the expense account far exceeds the profit account as shown. It is too late to retrench, and finally, by the aid of some unscrupulous attorney, or the advice of some friend who has had the same experience, the tradesman, for the first time, demonstrates a trait of dishonesty. Then comes something for the future which must necessarily be saved in a dishonest manner, a settlement is effected and the tradesman and his family reappear upon the scene and still living among their friends and neighbors in the same extravagant manner.

In looking over this subject, one cannot help but think that, from childhood to old age, the sin of dishonesty is constantly before us. The little child in its daily studies is soon taught to dishonestly obtain help in its lessons from its companions, and many a mother unconsciously teaches a child to become dishonest by carefully training them to continue at an unusually youthful age until the railway employes will stand it no longer.

There is another subject on the question of morals which I cannot help but touch upon. We often find men applying for credit who appear extremely religious; that is to say, by continually talking about the same, and contrasting themselves with others who are not among the elect. Those men, beware of; not always, but very often, their religion is a mere cloak, and experience will surely teach you that the religion for business men to follow is their everyday action to their neighbor.

THEY PARADE THEIR RELIGION

Two Are Better Than One.

Different people have different opinions, and while the articles may be equally valuable, yet one person will prefer the one, and another person will prefer the other.

In order, then, to suit all tastes, to meet all requirements, and to be in a position to supply any demands that may be made upon us, we have made arrangements to operate the works heretofore managed by the North American Chemical Co., at Goderich—manufacturers of the celebrated brand of salt so long and favorably known to the trade as "RICE'S PURE SALT." Thus, we can supply "COLEMAN'S" Salt or "RICE'S" Salt.

These two makes of Dairy and Table salt stand at the head of the list! There are none better!

These Ceylon and Indian Teas are machine-made --- this guarantees purity, cleanliness and healthfulness, which are absolute necessities in good tea. If they're not machine-made they have not these properties.

METHODS NEW.

That boy of mine at Saize,
Has some powerful funny ways,
With ideas highfalutin,
Like most folks now-a-days.

He keeps harpin' now on System,
On Money-Weight and such,
Says scales that I used in startin',
Was costing him too much.

He's gone and got the finest
That them Dayton folks turn out;
Says they're savin' him the nickles,
Without the slightest doubt.

Well, there's some mighty changes,
And it aint for me to say
That John should run his business
In my old fashioned way.

If there's something in a system
That will save him overweight;
And he's sure it saves him money,
I say don't hesitate.

If kickin' out old methods,
And puttin' in the new,
Is going ter help my boy along,
I say amen; dont you?

SIMPLE BOOKKEEPING SYSTEMS FOR GROCERS.

THE following is a further contribution of short essays on bookkeeping received by The Grocery World in its prize competition :

By G. A. Swoboda.

The best results under the system here submitted can be obtained when a merchant solicits, also when several are waiting their turn for a settlement, or when a limit is to be placed on an account. I do no soliciting, only when a person comes and makes satisfactory arrangements to open an account. To show your readers what it has done for me over the old system would probably not be out of place. My old way was to call upon the trade, enter the order upon the order book, then, in most cases, copy upon the customer's pass book, or else send a duplicate bill. From the clerk's order book was called off and entered upon the counter book. From this it was posted to the ledger, and the pass books checked from that ; then the ledger and pass book had to be added up.

A great many times the drivers would bring in orders for articles that the customers had forgotten. These would seldom be on their pass books, besides losing their duplicate bills ; always had a great deal to look up. Then there were the mistakes in copying which also occur.

Now, from the order book three or four of us had to put up the orders, which was not convenient, besides getting on the same order, thinking it was our check mark. Under the new way we call on the customers (all have pass books under this system ; they ask for them, wishing to limit their accounts themselves, the same as in trading with cash). The solicitor or customer enters the order on the pass book only, the clerk simply seeing that the proper date is placed on the book to avoid any order being put up again that might not have been added up on the pass book.

The pass books are brought to the store, and each of us takes a book, puts up the order, adds up the amount and places the total of the bill in a drawer of the register and places book in the box with the order which marks the order, each book having the street and number upon it also. When settling we look over the pass book to see if it is added correctly. If any error, it shows for itself, and can only be in the addition, as every article gotten without the book is entered the very next time the book comes to the store and it is fresh upon the mind of the customer. No squabbling; no worry about it. This system is The Eureka Register Co., Elmira, N.Y. It is a cabinet containing from 50 to 200 or 300 tin drawers. These are numbered and also have a place for a card to be used for the customer's name. The drawers have lids, which are so arranged that when you pull a drawer open this lid raises up, and any slip that is placed under this lid (upon which you enter any article that is gotten without the pass book) is the first thing you see. They have a coupon pass book with enough leaves in front to itemize the articles purchased. The coupons are for the merchant to tear off and put in the drawer of the customer. I found it took time to pick out the coupon with the last or largest amount on the margin, being the total of the bill ; besides, the books are not good enough ; would hardly last long enough to be used up, and the coupons fill the drawer too fast. I use duck-covered pass book, and place the name and number upon it ; then I number each right-hand page through the book to save time in finding the customer's number, which gets dim on cover when used much. I use a printed slip in the drawer, which is dated and the number or name also put on it. Upon this is placed the amount as shown on the pass book after each order or purchase. Remember, the pass book is always added up. The customer gets the itemized bill ; I keep the total amount. To find a number quickly I pasted stickers upon the edges of the ledger on the upper and left-hand sides. If I want No. 47 I start at No. 4 sticker, go to No. 7, as per top sticker and have 47 ; this is handy on account of the number of the register not being plain enough. I have a 200-drawer register and desk combined, and also use an index :

My system requires no bookkeeping whatever, or, at least, not in the sense that most bookkeepers understand the term.

It is as follows ; My clerks, in the store as well as those outside soliciting orders, are provided with a duplicating pad. When an order is secured it is put down in duplicate ; the original and its duplicate are not separrated until they reach my hands. After the order is put up ready for delivery, the original slips pass through my hands again, prices are filled in and footed up, then the original slip, which is in bill-head form, is attached to the goods for which it is a bill and delivered with the goods. If the goods are paid when delivered, the clerk receipts the slip and reports the payment upon his return.

The duplicates are placed in a box kept for that purpose, and once a day they are all filed away in a tin box containing a series of strong paper pockets or compartments, arranged to run from No. 1 upwards. Mine contains 250 compartments. Every tenth pocket has a tag at its upper end, giving the number of that particular one, and serving as a guide to locate the numbers between; all the other pockets have the number printed on the inside near the top. Each pocket contains a card (blue ones I use) upon which I write the number of the pocket and the name of the customer to whom I have assigned that pocket. In filing away the duplicate slips, I place the new slip always to the right of the preceding ones in its pocket; in that way, all the slips will be found in consecutive order to the right of the blue card. My slips are always pink, therefore the blue card is always in evidence. At the end of the week or month, as the case may be, when the customer is expected to make a payment, the slips are all taken out of the file and a statement made by giving the date of the slip, its number (all the slips are numbered) and the total; all the totals are footed up, and that constitutes the bill.

The customer is, of course, expected to keep his or her slip, so that when he receives a bill he can easily and quickly find any mistakes.

In some rare instances, a customer, having lost the slips, will want a detailed bill, which can be very readily made out from the duplicate slips. After the bill is made out, each slip charged on the bill is checked, to show its having been so charged, and the total of the statement is written on the face of the last one, also the date of the statement. The slips are then replaced in the pocket, but this time on the left of the blue card, and all facing to the left, the outside one having the amount and date of the last statement. This information can be arrived at instantly by simply taking out the bunch of slips, or even without taking it out, by holding the pocket open wide enough to look in.

In this way any new slips coming into the pouch will be to the right of the blue card, and always separate from those already entered on a statement. When goods are delivered to a customer in the store and charged, the original slip is always given to the purchaser with the goods, the duplicate going through the same procedure as in the case of a delivery by wagon.

If a customer makes a payment on account, a yellow slip is made out, giving the amount of bill, amount of payment and balance, if any, and name and date, of course.

This slip, with the money, is placed in a cash register, and in due course finds its way to the file pocket of the customer.

In some cases a customer prefers a pass book to a weekly or monthly statement. In such instances the order is also made out in duplicate in the pass book, and the duplicate kept for filing. Some customers only send their pass book at intervals, when making a payment. In such cases the book is made up by entering the totals of the duplicate slips.

When the slips in a pocket become too bulky they are taken out, tied or pinned in a bundle, and placed in a box kept for that purpose, thus constituting a record of the business done with that customer. About twice a year the box receives an overhauling, and all the paid slips that are over three months old are burned up. There are no books kept whatever; the duplicate slips constitute an incontrovertible record; mistakes are usually discovered at once and easily rectified at any time. Customers got so accustomed to receiving a slip with every purchase that they will wait for it, and thus contribute towards preventing the forgetfulness or the hurry of a clerk from failing to make a charge.

Such a thing as a customer disputing an account is so rare that we do not remember an instance of the kind.

My slips are all printed, and come from the factory ready for use, carbon paper attached—50 double slips in a pad, and cost about 3½c. a pad in lots of 100 pads or more. The expense is very light, while the saving in trouble and bookkeeping is immense.

If any of the brethren of the craft wish for more light on the subject let them "fire" their questions at me, and I will endeavor to answer them. I should mention that I have an index, arranged in alphabetical order, of all my customers' names, their pocket numbers running in order with their relative position on this alphabetical index, thus, all names beginning with A are in the first pockets beginning with No. 1, and so on. I have the index made out in typewriting, therefore it is all in a small space, and is pasted on the cover of the box containing the pockets. Each name has the number of its pocket printed beside it on the index. It works so simply that I frequently allow my 12-year-old daughter to earn her weekly "pin money" by filing away the slips. We usually have about 200 as a day's accumulation, and she files them away in less than an hour, very rarely making a mistake.

DEATH OF MR. ROBERT COX.

C. E. Colson, of Montreal, has had a cable telling him of the sudden death of Mr. Cox, at Aix-le-Bains. Mr. Robert Cox was head of J. & G. TORONTO GROCERS TO PICNIC AT HAMILTON.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held on Monday evening, this week, to consider the destination of their annual excursion and the boat to be chartered. President Johnson occupied the chair, and a good representation of members was present.

It will be remembered that, at the last meeting, it was decided to charter the steamer Garden City to take the excursion to Cobourg. At that meeting the Garden City was the only boat known to be available.

The day after the meeting it was learned that the Cambria, a larger steamer, could be had at a lower figure than that asked for the Garden City. This, combined with the fact that only a few of the members had voted in favor of or against the Cobourg trip, caused the executive to ask for the meeting, which was called for Monday evening.

It was soon evidenced that several of the members considered the meeting should not have been called, for the first motion made was that the communications from the owners of the Cambria be not discussed. This was voted down, but after they had been read and discussed, it was almost unanimously decided to file them.

It was then moved that the motion to go to Cobourg be rescinded. After a warm discussion this motion was passed.

This was followed by a motion that the excursion be to St. Catharines; this, by an amendment that Hamilton be the point of destination; after this came an amendment to the amendment that Niagara Falls be visited. The last amendment was withdrawn before the vote was taken, and Cobourg was substituted.

The difference of opinion regarding the relative value of the various points was decidedly marked, and the discussion was one of the warmest that has taken place in the association meetings for some time. The objection to Cobourg was the long, and, in the opinion of some, the tiresome voyage entailed. The objection to the nearer points was that as excursions to these points are frequent, and as the tickets would necessarily be cheaper than to Cobourg, the risk of financial loss is greater, as the cost of chartering the boat is the same to the nearer points as to the farther one.

The amendment to go to Cobourg was defeated by one vote.

Then the advocates of St. Catharines joined forces with those in favor of Hamilton, so that when the amendment that the latter place be visited was put, it was carried by a large majority.

Messrs. Hawes, Kelly, Stewart and Panter were appointed to visit Hamilton to see what arrangements could be made for having sports, games, etc. It was decided to charter the Garden City, on condition that this steamer could take the excursion to one of the Hamilton wharves. The fare decided on was 75c. for adults, and 40c. for children.

As the matter now stands, the association has decided to go to Hamilton on July 26 on the Garden City. The boat is to leave Toronto at 8 a.m., and Hamilton at 7.30 p.m.

Before the meeting adjourned a letter was read from The Southern Fruit Growers Association, St. Catharines, stating that the association had passed the following resolution: "Resolved, that this association favors the establishment of an early-morning market for the sale of fruit in the city of Toronto, and pledges its members to support the scheme." This communication was received with enthusiasm.

THE DRUMMER vs. THE SALESMAN

By S. C. Guthrie, a Commercial Traveler.

I HAVE noticed lately where the newspapers are using, and one of the prominent speakers at the T.P.A. convention, t Springfield, used, the word "drummer" s an appellation to suggest a salesman, ays a writer in Interstate Grocer. To my ind those that use this word err. There no similarity in the words, nor is there a ossible suggestion of one in the other.

The drummer is one who beats a drum, ther in the drum corps, the orchestra or ie Salvation Army. It is a profession that equires neither thought, special mental bility or capacity. Muscular force, comned with the rhythm of sound, makes him first-class drummer.

The salesman is an entirely different per-n. He must be born—not made. He ust be fitted for his calling, which requires uch. He must be honest, persevering d charitable. Suffering and distress ould at all times appeal to him. Did u ever notice that an appeal for charity a railroad train containing salesmen ways met with a prompt response? He ust have push, character and energy. is disposition must be pliable and as stic as a rubber ball. He must bear the rdens of all, his employer as well as his customer, between whom he must always stand ready to champion justice and right. No man is bound by a higher standard than a salesman, who moulds not only his own prosperity, but that of his house; and, if a successful salesman, has a large influence in shaping the success of his customers. His life is an ever-changeable strife, restless as the ocean, and yet his wish and aim is always for that peace and quiet which comes from a home association.

We should see at every jobbing point an organization of salesmen to increase their influence for betterment and to weed out the dishonest and disreputable of their class, that they may have the proper recognition among the business world of which they are so important a part.

The rollicking salesman seldom gives any sign of the profound thought of his nature. Everyone laughs at the salesman's jokes and his smiles, but seldom realizes the care that is perhaps gnawing at his heart and wearing away nerve force. His business is to sell goods and if amusement is a necessary condiment, he uses it to its fullest extent; but there is a stronger innerself that belongs to him and that never can be bought or sold, viz.: love for his wife, baby or sweetheart; and at last, when the order book is filled and he has his orders to come in and settle accounts for the last time—as he enters the "Golden Gate," Saint Peter, in the language of the poet, will say:

Gabriel, give him a seat alone,
One with a cushion, up near the throne;

Call up some angels to play their best;
Let him enjoy the music and rest;
See that on ambrosia he feeds—
He's had about all the hell that he needs;

It isn't just hardly the thing to do
To roast him on earth and up here too.

A SPONTANEOUS SMOKE.

Mr. Hooper King had about seven tons of tobacco stored in a large barn in the suburbs of Chatham until the other day.

The heavy rains of the past week seem to have found their way into the barn and overheated the tobacco, for, in the early morning one day recently, the tobacco was discovered on fire, and, in a short time, all the contents of the barn were consumed. This is probably the biggest spontaneous tobacco smoke that has ever taken place in Canada.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION IN CANADA.

TECHNICAL education as a means of inducing greater skill in the industrial arts is meeting with an increasing number of advocates in all commercial countries. While in Canada it has not received the attention it has in certain other countries, Germany particularly, yet the efforts put forth in Canada in this direction, and the results that have been achieved, show that this country has by no means been asleep in regard to this matter.

In the council room of the Toronto Board of Trade is an exhibit of some of the specimens of work done by pupils in the technical schools of Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton and Whitby. Covering the four walls of the room are pen-and-ink sketches, water-color designs for carpets, linoleums, cathedral windows, public and private buildings, drawings of engines from models, etc. On the long table which adorns the council-room are specimens of modeling in clay, wood carving and painting on china. The exhibit is most creditable, and those who have not yet seen it should make an effort to do so.

The exhibit was opened on Tuesday, when a convention representing the different boards of trade in Ontario was held in the rotunda of the Board of Trade building for the purpose of discussing the question of national technical education. President Kemp occupied the chair.

The chairman, referring to technical education, said that in Canada they seemed to have and machinery for turning out doctors, lawyers and professional men, but when it came to the practical work of equipping those who desired to follow an industrial calling they seem to be sadly deficient.

Mr. H. Cockshutt, of Brantford, said technical training was a necessity in Canada at the present time as much as in any country in the world, and no time should be wasted in grappling with the subject. In Brantford they had considered the question from several aspects, including the desirability of introducing it as an adjunct to public and separate school elementary training; the desirability of establishing two or more purely technical central schools for the Province, and technical night schools for mechanics, free of charge. As regards the ways and means, they held that the responsibility rested with the Government.

Hon. Geo. W. Ross followed. He said that the young people of the country were disposed to prepare rather for the professions than for industrial pursuits. He did not know that the schools were altogether to blame for this; the social conditions had, he thought, a great deal to do with it. He referred to the provision in the School Act giving boards of trustees the option of introducing manual training in the schools, and agriculture in the case of rural schools. The city of Kingston was the only case where the former provision had been taken advantage of. There were only very few instances where rural school trustees had ordered the teaching of agriculture in the sense that it could be taught in schools. He now proposed to take if Parliament would assist him, and he believed they would, and make the teaching of agriculture in such schools compulsory. The optional teaching of domestic science had only been taken advantage of in isolated cases. The system of apprenticeship, once so generally followed, had almost ceased to exist, and there could be no doubt that many men and women in Canada were entering trades and callings for which they were hardly fitted by their training. In Britain and old-world countries a greater amount of skilled labor was being employed than ever before, labor trained not only by experience in workshops, but in technical schools. This had not been reached without heavy expenditure. The city of Berlin alone spent 200,000 marks annually for such training, and Britain £1,500,000 sterling directly as a nation, besides the amounts paid by municipalities.

While dealing with this point, Mr. Ross said that Canada exported a vast quantity of raw material which should be manufactured in Canada, and imported goods which should be made in the country from the material so exported. In the last 20 or 30 years, he said, thousands of Canadians had been compelled to seek work in the United States. But increase in manufacture from raw material, to workmen, and education in agriculture would go a long way to put a stop to this. Dealing then more particularly with the subject of technical training, he laid down the principle that it should be based on a first-class elementary education. Up to a certain point, the training in Canada went as far as that of Germany, and there halted. He thought that when a boy of fifteen or sixteen years of age had passed the public school course he should be passed on to the technical school, there to study the elements of all branches that contribute to the industrial wealth or education of the country. That would be the first step in the direction of the end desired to be reached.

SOUND TECHNICAL TRAINING

A technical school in Toronto, to meet the wants of the people of the county, should be largely under local control. Such schools of necessity betook largely of their local surroundings. It might be under the management of the board of trade or a joint committee of the city council and board. It should be aided by the Local Government, and he had no hesitation in saying that such a school would be aided by the Local Government. In Hamilton, a manual particularly, was being aided to the extent of $1,500. What amount would be given to the Toronto school he could not say, but it would be reasonable and proper. Above all things, they would require at the head of such a school a broad-minded, practical man, who thoroughly understood the theory and practice of technical schools. The fact that they would have to look abroad for such a one and perhaps for two or three assistants, should be no barrier to the project. Money should be carefully but freely expended in equipment; they could not afford to starve such an institution. On such lines as these he believed they could establish a system of schools that would be a credit to the Province and a great aid in building up its industries. The Education Department would, he hoped, be able to co-operate with the board of trade and city council so far as a Toronto school was concerned, and thus lay the foundation for the system of technical schools which the Province and country needed.

Mr. C. Ross, of Ottawa, deplored the lack of industrial training in Canada. No one, he thought, doubted the necessity of it, but what they were chiefly concerned about was the method of commencing the work. So far as he was personally concerned, he held that the system should be a national one. He referred to Belgium and Switzerland as countries whose prosperity was due, in a large measure, perhaps wholly so, to technical training. During the course of his remarks he expressed the opinion that the large influx of foreigners into Canada would result in more evil than good to the country.

Mr. Preston, of Brantford, did not think the question was one for the Dominion. They would accomplish much more in far less time by taking the question up in a Provincial way. In conclusion, he asked Hon. Mr. Ross if the Government were prepared to give financial aid to school boards, municipalities, or boards of trade who undertook to establish a training or technical school; whether the Government would give aid to technical night schools and on what basis such aid could be given.

Hon. Mr Ross replied that he would not, and he did not think the Government would support any system which did not provide for night schools. The other questions he had answered, so far as he was able, in his address.

Mr. R. Y. Ellis suggested that the meeting appoint a representative committee, who should discuss the question particularly in regard to ways and means. A further general meeting could then be held, and some action taken on the committee's report.

Mr. John Hoodless, of Hamilton, expressed the opinion that technical training should be commenced in the public schools, along with the academic branches of education. Such a course had been found most beneficial in the United States schools.

Principal A. W. Burt, of Brantford, was opposed to any idea of separating the technical from the academic training. He was heartily in favor with the proposal for technical education. The present high school system, he considered, was not very helpful in the way of aiding pupils to follow industrial pursuits.

The following resolution was carried: Moved by Mr. Burton, seconded by Ald. Lamb: "That this meeting most heartily endorses the movement in favor of a broader and more thorough technical training in all its branches in this country, and pledges itself to forward the movement by all means in its power, and that the chairman do appoint a small committee as a nucleus." The chairman appointed the following committee: Messrs. J. D. Allan, W. H. Burton, Ald. Lamb, A. M. Wickens, T. A. Hastings, Toronto; T. H. Preston, Brantford; W. F. Cockshutt, Brantford; John Hoodless, Hamilton; C. Ross, Ottawa; O. G. Anderson, Woodstock.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.

The California Fruit Grower, of May 20, says regarding the raisin situation on the Coast on that date: "At association prices the raisins on hand move slowly. The cheap, low-grade goods have cleaned up and the seeders have purchased a considerable quantity of 3 and 4-crown, but, unless the trade steps in, there will be several hundred carloads carried over, though possibly not more than half as many as were in 1898. The association has fixed the price of second crop Muscatel grapes for wineries at $10 per ton, and growers have been advised to hold for that figure. It is the impression that the crop will be late owing to damage to vines by frosts. But all the vines were not damaged. Some districts were not touched by frosts. Reports from Liverpool, England, speak of an entire absence of stocks of Valencia raisins in that market. Extensive, active preparations are on foot for the handling of the crop in the Fresno district. Seeded raisins will cut a large figure in the situation this fall. The capacity of the seeding plants will be about double that of last season."

IMPERIAL CHEESE FOR MILNER.

A. F. MacLaren & Co., of Toronto and Stratford, manufacturers of MacLaren's Imperial Cheese, are in receipt of an order for a supply of their Imperial to go to Sir A. Milner, K.C.B., Government House, Cape Town. The order also calls for another supply on the 1st of July.

Evidently Sir A. Milner does not want to miss having a dinner with Imperial cheese.

A cable order has also been received this week from one firm in Scotland for one hundred cases of "Imperial." The shipment was sent forward on Wednesday.

ANOTHER TURN IN MOLASSES.

THE course of prices on Barbadoes molasses this spring, and the character of the advices received from the Island, have been about as confusing as anything well could be.

Early in the spring, reports were of a highly bullish character, and all sorts of fancy prices were predicted.

Readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER were advised to accept these reports with due discrimination. Subsequent events have proved the soundness of this advice, as prices, which had advanced to 17c. first cost, owing to the speculation, afterwards fell back to 15c.

Last week we had occasion to note a still further reaction, but more recent cables to hand this week show that this decline was not actually established, as this week offers of 14c. were refused in several instances, nothing being obtainable under a first cost of 15c.

The change in the temper of the market at the Island is attributed to the fact that supplies have been found to be lighter than expected. One report, in fact, stated that the quantity of stock unsold at the end of May did not amount to 5,000 puncheons, and that planters in many cases refused to negotiate, as they had all the engagements ahead that they could handle.

This latest shuffle in the primary market, has, of course, tended to increase the indecision that has prevailed lately among buyers, as a result of the frequent fluctuation in values.

While a business man should take an interest in politics he should be careful not to mix up politics with business.

AN ACCOUNT-KEEPING MORAL.

A retailer in Toronto was a short time ago asked by a customer for his bill. The bill was hurriedly made out. In handing it to the customer the retailer stated that as all the items had not been entered from the day book into the ledger something might have been omitted from the bill. Should that be the case, however, such omitted amount could be paid afterwards. The customer assented and paid the account as set forth in the bill.

Sure enough, it was subsequently discovered that an item had been omitted, but when this was pointed out to the customer the latter refused to recognize it, and not only that but has now no further dealings with that retailer.

The retailer has thus lost a customer as well as a small account.

The moral is so obvious that it need not be specified.

GRADING EGGS BY MACHINERY.

A machine has been invented in Manchester, England, that will grade automatically 120 eggs in ten seconds, and, at the same time, give the operator a good opportunity to candle each egg.

The machine consists of a dark cabinet for the operator, through which a belt, composed of parallel rows of spools, each holding an egg, and each revolving so that the operator can examine the eggs against the light without as they pass.

The eggs then emerge at the side of the cabinet opposite where they were fed in, and are graded by a series of bars placed at different height from the belt or chute, which hold back all eggs of the size they are adjusted for.

U. S. APPLE CROP PROSPECTS.

According to The American Agriculturist, which has completed its preliminary investigation into the prospects for the apple crop in the United States, there is a likelihood of a bigger crop than usual this year.

The severity of the winter, which so affected peach orchards in many localities, seems not to have hurt apples materially, while the spring was sufficiently free from severe changes in temperature to enable the fruit to bloom well.

In several sections, "Baldwins," one of the leading varieties, show light bloom, but, though the crop of this apple possibly will be under the average, a fair yield may be looked for. "Spitzenburgs" are also under the average in some sections, but "Greenings," "Ben Davis," "Nonsuch" and "Hubbardson" are likely to be generally about the usual yield.

Other fruits also promise fairly well. While not uniformly favorable, the general drift of testimony points to a propitious start in plum, cherry and pear orchards, possibly less so in the last named than in the other two. Some damage is indicated to quinces, but not serious. Peaches, however, are likely to be a short crop, the severe winter affecting the trees in many districts.

JAPAN TEA GETTING STRONGER.

Cable advices to hand this week from Japan indicate that the market for new season's tea continues to gather strength, prices now being about $1 per picul above the figures ruling at the opening of the market.

Yokohama mail advices, under date of May 16, state that the settlements up to that date were 5,000 piculs more than for the corresponding period of 1898.

Buying has been active, and particularly on United States account, although from what can be gathered from local brokers a good many orders have been placed by Canadians, and wholesale houses in Toronto questioned the report that they have sold more Japan tea to arrive than they had up to this time last year.

If we could borrow money as easily as we do trouble, a good many of us would have more of this world's goods than we now possess.

THE CANNED GOODS AGREEMENT.

THE members of the Canadian Packers' Association are again to try the efficacy of uniform prices for bringing about a more satisfactory condition of affairs in the canned goods industry. This matter was finally decided upon at the meeting held in Hamilton last week.

The new selling price goes into operation on Saturday, when futures will be quoted as follows, in round lots: Tomatoes, 75c. per dozen; peas, corn and pumpkin, 65c. per dozen. Some of the packers who are not in the association have also agreed to keep these prices.

How the agreement will work remains to be seen. The old agreement, which collapsed about three or four years ago, after twelve months of experience, did so chiefly because the best-known brands sold while those not so well-known remained on the packers' hands. With this experience before them, the packers have no doubt provided, or, at least, assayed to provide, safeguards in the present instance.

One of the safeguards in this respect is a provision in the agreement which allows the subscribers to it to sell carload lots direct to the retail trade at an advance of 5c. per dozen over the price to the wholesale trade. This will, it is claimed, give the smaller packers a chance to keep their goods moving.

As a further aid in this respect it is said that some of the smaller factories have already made large sales of futures to other and larger packers in the association. It is estimated that in all about 80,000 cases, or about half the estimated pack has been sold in this way.

One source of irritation at the meeting last week, and one which caused a great deal of warm discussion, was the fact that some of the packers, knowing that prices were to be fixed prior to the meeting, made large sales of futures at 67½c. per dozen.

At the prices fixed for futures there is likely to be little or no business done for some time to come, at least, they being so far above the views of wholesalers, and as there will be no new canned vegetables except peas on the market for some months there is really no necessity for buying at present. If the agreement puts a stop to speculative dealing in futures months before the goods are on the market it will not have existed in vain, whatever the outcome may be as to prices. One of the banes of the canned goods trade in Canada is the insensate haste to take orders for futures even before the seed has sprouted.

THE CEYLON TEA SITUATION.

A CHAT WITH AN AUTHORITY.

MR. C. ARTHUR LAMPARD, of Harrisons & Crasfield, London; Crasfield, Lampard Co., Colombo, and Lampard, Clarke Co., Calcutta, is spending a few days in Toronto this week. Mr. Lampard has been in England about 18 months, and is now returning to the Orient by way of Vancouver. He intends to spend the next four years in India and Ceylon. The particular object of his visit to this continent is to gather, from a personal observation, what methods are being employed to push Ceylon tea here. In pursuance of this object he has already visited some of the commercial centres in the United States and in Canada.

"In my opinion," he said in answer to a question, "the best thing for us to do is to advertise liberally and leave to private enterprise the pushing of the tea. We have already got the cities pretty well. What we want now is to get the people in the country to drink Ceylon tea. At present, however, the people in the country largely use Japan and green tea, and it is always more difficult to turn these to Ceylon and Indian tea than it is those who use black tea. This is quite natural, as the change from China black to Ceylon tea is not as marked as the change from green to Ceylon and Indian tea. When I went to Russia, some 10 years ago, to introduce Ceylon tea I was told that the Russians would never take to our tea. As they were black tea drinkers, I thought different. Well, I sold them 200 packages, or about 20,000 lb.; today they take 8,000,000 lb."

"Are you going to see much expansion in the acreage of Ceylon tea?"

"As far as the finest teas are concerned I think not. You know the finer and the better flavored teas are grown on the higher elevations. The higher you get up the mountain sides the better do you find the tea. Well, practically all the land on the high elevations has been taken up. On the low lands, however, there is room to expand the plantations, but, on the low lands, only low-grade teas can be produced. By utilizing the low lands, the total yield of tea in Ceylon could be increased, I should think, to 150,000,000 or 160,000,000 lb."

"The yield for the present year is estimated at 125,000,000 lb.," I interjected, "and some estimate that the maximum yield in any year will not exceed 130,000,000."

"Yes, I know," replied Mr. Lampard, "but I think those who estimate that 130,000,000 lb. will be the maximum are not taking into consideration the possible increase in the acreage in the low-lying districts. As far as this year's yield is concerned, I think it will be nearer 128,000,000 than 125,000,000 lb."

"What is your opinion in regard to the future of prices?" I asked.

"Well, my opinion does not accord with that of a good many others. But I am confident I am right. I think that we shall see a lower range of values than at present exists, from the very fact that the conditions now obtaining will lead to an increased yield. For instance, we now pick a bud and two leaves. Well, it is a simple matter to pick another leaf. Then there is the fact not to be overlooked that a high price on Ceylon tea will mean an increase in the attention to China tea."

OMAR.

FOOCHOW TEA MARKET OPEN.

The Foochow tea market has opened, and, according to advices to hand this week, the conditions are not uninteresting.

Common teas are at least 7½ per cent. above the opening price of last year, while the crop of Saryunes is about 20 per cent., and that of Packlungs 33⅓ short, compared with 1898. The quality of these teas is, however, good.

REJECTED TEA.

During May 8,602 packages of tea aggregating 347,874 lb. were rejected by the inspectors at New York. There was not one pound of either Indian or Ceylon tea among the rejected, although 1,879 packages of 107,519 lb. of these teas were passed.

A THREATENED DANGER TO CANADA.

THE sentiments expressed in the resolution of the Council of the Montreal Board of Trade to the effect that the absence of an insolvency law will have an unfortunate effect upon the commercial future of this country are well-founded.

A nation can no more live within itself and be successful than can an individual. The fact that one nation has a surplus in this and that article, which another is deficient in, proves that. In other words, nations must trade with each other if they would be anything.

And if they must trade with each other it is obvious they should have commercial laws whereby this international trade may be carried on with safety. Where such laws do not exist business is bound to be handicapped.

This is exactly the position of affairs in Canada to-day, particularly as far as British trade with this country is concerned.

Under our Customs tariff we give British goods a preference of 25 per cent. of the duty; but the persistent neglect of the Government to pass an insolvency law is a barrier to that expansion of trade which we profess, through the tariff, to be desirous of encouraging.

This condition of affairs reminds one of the game of running the gauntlet. Canada professes a desire to increase her purchases of British goods, but, in order to get that trade, we ask the British exporter to run the gauntlet of inefficient commercial laws and assume the risk of getting a few hard knocks. A good many are running this gauntlet, but a great many are refusing to do so.

The London, England, representative of this paper, and those who are brought into contact with the British exporting class, repeatedly come across manufacturers and merchants who refuse to do business with Canada as long as an insolvency law is wanting.

It is quite true that some British exporters have lost money in Canada, which might have been prevented had ordinary precaution been exercised. But precaution cannot fulfil the office of the law any more than the law can fulfil the office of caution. They may and should cooperate, but that is all should be expected of them.

If a bridge is unsafe, it is not enough that those responsible for its safety put up a sign, "Caution." The law demands that they make it safe.

It is not enough that we tell the British exporter to be cautious in doing business with Canada. We should make it, by the creation of efficient laws, safe for him to do business.

The reason Canada has not a national insolvency law is not because the business men of this country do not want it. They do want it; and the way they have importuned successive Governments in regard thereto demonstrates it beyond all question.

But, while the business men of this country want an insolvency law, they are partly responsible for the fact that we have not one.

They have barked at each successive Federal Administration because the desideratum was not forthcoming, but they have never bitten. And they have allowed the party muzzle to be fastened on so that they might not bite. When they have thrown aside the party muzzle and demonstrated that they will bite, irrespective of whatever party may be in power, if the just demands of the business men of this country are not complied with, then may they expect their resolutions and their importunities to become effective, until then, never.

A USEFUL BOOK FOR GROCERS.

A LIVERPOOL, England, grocer has compiled and published a book that will be appreciated by the best class of grocers everywhere. The compiler is J. T. Law, Liverpool; the book, "Law's Grocers' Manual." This work contains almost 850 pages devoted to information that every grocer should know. The chief feature is an encyclopædia of the various articles handled by tea and provision men, chandlers, fruiterers, bakers, confectioners, and general grocers. The descriptions of these articles include the history, characteristics, and use of each, thus proving of infinite value. Besides this, there are about 70 pages devoted to general information, such as is part of a thorough business man's education. This includes the various tables of weights and measures, foreign money values, interest and discount tables, stock terms, abbreviations, etc. As this book is filled from front to back with information that every grocer, wholesale or retail, should know, it is more than worth its price, $1.35, post free to Canada. It can be secured from J. T. Law, 2 Salisbury street, Liverpool.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, June 8, 1899.

GROCERIES.

SUGAR is the most interesting feature of the local wholesale market this week on account of the unsatisfactory condition of prices, induced by the competition between those selling under the fixed rate and those who are not. Partly on account of summer freight rates, prices in Toronto are 8c. per 100 lb. lower than a week ago. Some houses report a fair demand for sugar, but others again report the opposite. Next to sugar, the canned vegetable market is the most interesting. There is a fair demand for small lots at last week's prices, although a slightly nervous feeling appears to be again developing in regard to tomatoes. Corn is as firm as ever. New asparagus is being offered, and some transactions have taken place. Coffee is rather quieter than a week ago. There is not, on the whole, much being done in teas, but cables from Japan state that the market continues to gather strength. In foreign dried fruits the conditions are much the same as they were a week ago.

CANNED GOODS.

As per agreement, the canners who are members of the association, as well as some others who are not, will again begin to offer futures. In the despatches to the daily papers it was stated that prices would be advanced 5 to 10c. per doz., but the figures which have been supplied the brokers do not reflect any such advance. In fact, they show no change whatever, 75c. being the price to be asked for tomatoes, and 65c. for corn, peas, and pumpkin in round lots to the wholesale trade. According to the agreement all packs are uniform at these figures. For some time, at any rate, there are likely to be no transactions at these prices, the wholesalers declaring that at this stage of the campaign, at any rate, they will pay no such figures. Old pack tomatoes, in round lots, are being offered by holders at 75c., but we hear of no transactions. Owing to the fact that a little uncertainty obtains as to the future, a slightly nervous feeling has again developed during the week, and this in spite of the fact that there is an increased demand from retailers for small lots of tomatoes. The ruling price to retailers is 80 to 85c. per dozen. The position of corn is as strong as ever, with 95c. to $1 per doz. as the ruling price. With the near approach of new pack goods, peas are a little easier, although the ruling quotation is still 70c. upwards.

New season's canned asparagus is offering and delivery will probably be made next week. Packers' prices are 5c. per dozen higher than last year, and wholesalers are quoting $2 40 per dozen.

Canned salmon is beginning to move a little better. Canned meats are meeting with a fair demand, and some houses have already been compelled to reorder.

A fair quantity of canned fruits is still moving, particularly for shipment to the northern part of the Province.

COFFEES.

The demand for green coffee on the local market has eased off during the past week and the volume of business is light. Quotations are about as before. The movement of the Brazilian crop has been moderately large. It is estimated that the world's visible supply of coffee decreased about 190,000 to 200,000 bags during May.

SUGARS.

The sugar situation, as far as the Canadian market is concerned, has not improved during the past week. Those who refused to become parties to the agreement, not only continue to do so, but they are cutting the price of domestic sugar as well as selling foreign sugar. The equalized rate price in Toronto is 8c. per 100 lb. lower than a week ago. It is not due to any change in the refiners' prices, which are as before, but is due, in the first place, to the fact that sugar is now being shipped from Montreal by boat instead of by rail, and it is, in the second place, due to some concessions which the wholesalers themselves have made. The fixed price f.o.b. Toronto for Montreal granulated is now $4.60, and for Acadia $4.55. Yellows are quoted at from $3.80 for No. 2 to $4.35 for Phœnix f.o.b. Toronto. Wholesalers outside the agreement are quoting 1c. less. Foreign granulated is quoted at $4.55, and yellows at $3.75 up, f.o.b. Toronto. The demand for sugar is, on the whole, light, although a house here and there reports a fair trade. Representatives of the refineries report business dull.

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is very little doing, and the warm weather practically puts a stop to the importation of molasses.

SPICES.

Advices to hand note a continued firmness in Singapore pepper. Locally, the spice market is quiet and featureless.

TEAS.

This week's cables note a further strengthening of the tea market in Japan, prices there now being $1 per picul higher than at the opening of the market. According to mail advices, the settlements at Yokohama were 5,000 piculs more than last year. These latter advices also state that, while the cup quality of the tea is good, the leaf is ragged. The representatives of some Japan tea houses report they have booked a good many orders for importation. Others, again, report they have not done a great deal, although they have had a number of inquiries. Some, at least, of the wholesale houses have booked more orders for future delivery than last year up to this time. A few transactions in last season's Japan teas have taken place during the past week.

China green teas are moving a little more freely. There is practically nothing doing in China black teas. The Foochow market has opened, and the quality of the tea is much about the same as last season. As far as prices are concerned, common teas are at least 7½ per cent. higher than last year, while packlungs are about one-third short. The market for Indian and Ceylon teas remains in much about the same position as a week ago. Mail advices from Colombo, under date of April 29, state that the total shipments from January 1 to date were 33,067,178 lb., against 34,665,849 lb. for the same period last year. The quantity sent to America was 856,272 lb., against 559,137 lb.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Local wholesalers are experiencing a steady demand, especially for cleaned currants. There is a dearth of news from the primary market.

VALENCIA RAISINS—A good business is being done in selected fruit, but in other kinds there is not much doing. The disposition to get rid of fine off-stalk appears to be getting more marked.

PRUNES — Trade is still fairly active in prunes, and, while it is perhaps not as brisk as it was, it is probably relatively better than in any other line appertaining to the wholesale grocery business.

GREEN FRUITS.

The market is rapidly assuming its summer appearance. Canadian apples have all been taken out of storoge, and are practically done. Oranges move but moderately. The sale of lemons has been greatly increased during the recent hot spell. As lemons which were not put in storage are well cleaned up, the storage stocks will soon have to be called on. When this is necessary, the low prices ruling for inferior qualities will cease, as no goods of this class were put in storage. Prices will likely advance for all grades in a few days. There is a good movement of bananas, supplies being sufficient to meet the big demand noted. There is a moderate sale of Egyptian onions at $2, a decline of 25c. Bermuda onions are done. Strawberries continue to arrive from the South in moderate quantities, and are selling freely at 10 to 12c. Some Canadian berries arrived this week, and were easily sold at 8c. for inferior stock to 15c. for some fancy boxes. Next week the native berries are expected in abundance. Pineapples are scarce and prices are higher, 11 to 13c. being frequently paid for good stock, though poor stuff has been sold under these figures. Californian fruits—peaches, pears, plums and apricots—are expected in the course of a week or so. The Scott street fruit market will likely be opened on Monday next.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Notwithstanding the firm attempt made by some of the picklers to reduce prices, the market not only holds its own, but an advance of ½c. has been made necessary this week, and 12c. is the present ruling price.

POTATOES—The market continues easy, a decline of 1 to 3c. being noted for cars on track, Toronto, which are now selling at 65 to 67c. per bag. On the street market 70 to 75c. is paid.

BEANS—There is a moderate movement at firm prices. Hand-picked are worth $1 to $1.10. Medium grades are selling at 85 to 90c.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—There is practically nothing doing. Dried apples are offering in a jobbing way at 5¼ to 5½c.; evaporated at 9½c.

VEGETABLES—Asparagus and spinach are 10c. cheaper this week. Celery has declined 25c. Danvers onions are done. New beets and carrots are offering at 40 to 60c. per doz. bunches. Native cucumbers are coming in nicely at 40 to 60c. per doz. We quote: Rhubarb, 15 to 20c.; radishes, 15c. per dozen bunches; spinach, 30 to 40c. per bush.; green onions, 5 to 10c. per doz.; asparagus, 30 to 50c. per doz.; celery, $1.00 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz., $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz. bunches; green cucumbers, 40 to 60c. per doz.; new beets, 40 to 60c. per doz. bunches; parsnips, $1 per bag; carrots, 40 to 60c. per doz. bunches.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER — The improvement in quality and the steady demand has effected an advance of ½c, in all packages of dairy butter, though receipts are large. Some jobbers quote an advance of ½c. on creamery prints and squares; others state that values are unchanged. The feeling is firm, however.

CHEESE—As receipts continue to increase buyers are becoming more cautious, desiring to bring prices down to what will be a safe figure to stock up at. From 7¾ to 8¼c. has been paid at cheese boards this week, the ruling figure being 8⅛c. The ruling jobbing price is 9c.

PROVISIONS.

An unusually brisk trade is reported in all provisions. Prices are firm, in sympathy with the steady feeling in the British market. There is no change noted in prices.

FISH.

Bluefish are in this week. They are selling at 8 to 9c. per lb. We quote: Fancy mackerel, 20 to 25c.; Oregon salmon, 15c.; B.C. salmon, 17c.; Restigouche salmon, 25c.; Erie fresh whitefish, 8c.; North Shore whitefish, 7c.; North Shore trout, 7c.; blue fish, 9 to 10c.; speckled trout, 25c.; perch, 4c.; pike, 6c.; frogs' legs, 35c.; eels, 6c.; bullheads, 4c.; herrings, large, 4c.; halibut, 10c.; steak cod, 7c.; salt water fresh haddock, 5c.; Labrador herring, $4 per bbl. and $2 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 9 to 10c. per box; Halifax herring, $1.50 to $1.65 per 100; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; boneless fish, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; boneless fish in 1-lb. blocks, 5½ to 6c.; haddies, 8 to 9c. per lb.; lobsters, 15c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Though the views of Toronto buyers are so high that they are paying 1 to 2c. more than last week, holders outside have weakened and are taking 72c., whereas, last week 75c. was frequently asked. The feeling is firm, with advances looked for. The Toronto market is active. We quote as follows: Wheat, white and red, 77 to 78c.; goose, 67½c.; peas, 62 to 64c.;

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 8, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE general grocery situation has not furnished any radical change during the past week. The situation in sugar is still unsettled, as the outside firms still refuse to subscribe to the agreement. In molasses, the first cost at the Islands has been once more advanced. There has been some movement in Valencia raisins from first to second hands, and supplies of these are light. Canned goods have contributed a fair degree of activity without any striking change. Rice, coffee, spices and tea were generally featureless. Green fruit supplied a moderate degree of activity with few changes, and produce is much as it was last noted.

SUGAR.

The foreign market for raw, which ruled rather weak during the past week, has steadied within the past day or so. Cables from London state that the market is steady for cane, but with little business doing, Java being quoted at 13s. and fair refining 11s. 9d. Beet was reported quiet but values were rather firmer, present month's being named at 11s. 1½d. and next month's shipment 11s. 3d. In New York, raw has been held rather higher lately at 4⅛c. for fair refining and 4⅝c. for centrifugal 96 test, with molasses sugar 4c. The local market for the refined article is still in an unsettled position, as recalcitrants are still obdurate and will not subscribe to the understanding. In the meantime, refiners are not supplying any of them with sugar, but, as they seem to be pretty well stocked up, the outsiders seem to be able to supply customers' wants without any bother. So far, they do not appear to have cut under the agreed price, but there is no telling how long they will refrain from doing so.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market is entirely without new feature, prices being nominally unchanged at 1¾ to 2¼c, per lb. at the factory.

MOLASSES.

There has been another shuffle in the price of molasses at the Island, the first cost, which was quoted lower last week at 14c., being again worked back to 15c., by cable received this week. There is a fair demand for the season of the year, and in many cases country dealers exhibit a marked desire to place their orders for future supplies ahead, as far as the fall months. Some Porto Rico stock has been offered, but we hear of no transactions, while in Ontario agents report that they have placed New Orleans stock at 22 to 23c. The Guild price on Barbadoes here is 35c. in car lots and 36c. for single puncheons.

DRIED FRUITS.

There has been a fair volume of business noted in dried fruits from first to second hands during the past ten days or so, particularly in Valencia raisins, supplies of which in both sections are well reduced. Sales of off-stalk are noted at 3½ to 3¾c, fine off-stalk, 4 to 4¼c, and selected, 4¾ to 5c. These prices were for round lots between traders, jobbing parcels necessitating an advance.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a fair degree of business noted in canned goods. Demand has been chiefly for peas, round lots of marrowfats selling at 65c. and Early Junes at 67½c. A few fair-sized lots of beans have changed hands at 77½c. Corn is firm in a wholesale way at 90 to 92½c, and tomatoes about steady at the recent decline, round lots of standard Ontario pack being offered at 77½ to 80c. Advices from the Coast on salmon, received here, state that the prospects for the pack on the Fraser river are poor, an extremely small output being expected, in fact, a pack of about the same dimensions as that of last season.

RICE.

An average movement is reported in rice, and the market is without any new feature, prices being steady.

COFFEE.

Business in coffee is slight and prices remain much the same on the small trade passing. Some Maracaibo at 12c., low grade Santos at 8c., and Jamaica and Rio at 7½ to 9c. was the only business reported in green coffee in bags.

SPICES.

There is little change in the spice market demand being slow. Pepper abroad continues very firm, especially black. Prices generally are as last quoted.

TEAS.

The tea market has been quiet during the past few days, and little business of importance is noted. Ceylons have moved in round lots at steady prices. Cables from Japan state that new crop is offering at 14, 15 and 16c., as to quality, c.i.f. overland. The Foochow market is reported to have opened upon the basis of 12c. for United States standard tea.

GREEN FRUITS.

There has been a seasonable trade in the various descriptions of green fruits. There are very few apples on the market, and what are held here are firm at $3 to $5.50 per bbl., but there is very little demand for them. Oranges are unsettled, owing to the wide range in quality. Good oranges are considered very desirable property, as the receipts of Californian stock this season are expected to be light. Lemons are in limited demand at $1.25 to $1.50 for common, and $2.25 to $3 for fancy, per box. The receipts of pineapples have been light, and prices rule steady as demand is also limited. Strawberries have been offered quite freely, the first arrivals of domestic berries coming to hand this week. At this writing, prices on this fruit range from 9 to 10c., as to grade. Bananas are firm, but the demand for them is less active.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand for eggs to-day was better, and the market is more active, with a large volume of business doing. The tone is steady, and prices unchanged at 11 to 11½c. for choice, and 9½ to 10c. for No. 2 per doz.

MAPLE PRODUCT—The market for maple product is quiet owing to the light offerings. We quote: Syrup, in wood, 5¾ to 6c. per lb., and at 65 to 70c. per tin. Sugar sold at 8½ to 9c. per lb.

HONEY—The demand for honey was slow and business quiet. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 9c.; dark, 6 to 7c.; white extracted, 7 to 7½c., and dark, at 4 to 5c.

BEANS—There was nothing new in beans. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 65 to 90c.

PROVISIONS.

There was an improved demand for smoked meats, and a more active trade was done at steady prices. Lard met with a fair sale, but pork continues quiet. We quote: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $16; short cut back, $15.50; selected heavy short cut boneless mess, $16.50, and heavy long cut mess, $15 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 7 to 7¼c. per lb., and compound refined at 5½ to 5¾c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

FLOUR—The feature of the flour market to day was the strong feeling that prevailed in spite of the weakness in the American wheat markets, and millers advanced prices 20c. per barrel for Manitoba grades. There was considerable inquiry from over the cable for these grades, but millers at present are inclined to hold off, as they have confidence in the future. The local demand was good and trade active. We quote: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.35 to $3.45; in bags, $1.60 to $1.65; Manitoba patents, $4.40; strong bakers', $4.

GRAIN—There was no change in the situation of the local grain market. There was a moderate demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba wheat, and, as cables were higher, some business was done. Bids for American clipped oats from London were also higher, but there was no inquiry for Canadian. On spot a sale of 8,000 bushels peas was made at 75c. afloat. Oats were quoted at 34 to 34¼c. afloat.

MEAL—There was no change in the meal market, prices of rolled oats being quoted at $3.80 to $3.85 per bbl.

FEED—There continues to be a steady demand for feed from outside points and the market is fairly active. We quote as follows: Ontario white wheat bran, in bulk, sold at $15.50 to $16, and shorts $16.50 to $18 per ton; Manitoba bran, $16; shorts, $18, and mouille, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

HAY—There was no change in the market for baled hay. The demand is good and prices firm. We quote: Choice No. 1, $7 to $7.50; No. 2, $6, and clover, $5 to $5.50 per ton, on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—The cheese market continues heavy, lower prices having been accepted this week both for Ontario and Quebec makes. For the former the range now is 8 to 8¼c., a decline of ¼ to ½c. per lb., and the latter 7⅝ to 7⅞c., a similar decline. It is difficult to say whether the market has touched bottom or not, but it is not unlikely that the lower prices may bring out fresh demand, especially as reports from Great Britain last week noted small stocks at the chief distributing points.

The butter market is steady under a good demand both from exporters and local jobbers. The two have competed against each other in the country lately for creamery, with the result that as high as 16¾c. has been paid for it at factory points, which is equivalent to 17c. Montreal. On spot, however, creamery has sold at a range of 16½ to 17c. as to grade. Dairy butter, in tubs is nominal at 14 to 14½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The first arrivals of new Canadian strawberries were offered this week.

A small pack of canned salmon on the Fraser river is predicted for this season.

A small crop of Californian oranges is predicted for the current season, and oranges are considered good property to hold.

Cables note another shuffle in the price of Barbadoes molasses at the Islands, where the first cost has been marked up again to 15c., which is equal to 33½c. Montreal.

Cables state that the visible supply of raw beet sugar is placed at 2,020,000 tons.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., June 8, 1899.

THE past week has shown a good general business. Nothing of particular interest except, perhaps, the advance in flour, has developed. The steamer from Montreal arrived during the week; her first trip for the season. This service, which started last year, has proved fairly successful. It is claimed that one of the large millers of Manitoba flour has somewhat of an advantage over his competitors because of this service. There seems to be but one objection standing in the way of a much larger business being done, and that is, that some of the goods arrive in bad order, packages being much discolored. In tea, there is but a quiet business. The decline in prices has affected the sale to some extent. Stocks held are not large. Cheese markets are opening at about last year's prices, except low grades, which are higher. There have been quite large arrivals of English rice, prices being low, and there is quite a quantity bought to arrive this month.

OIL—In burning oil there is no change, and but a light business. Paint oils move freely. Linseed oil has advanced quite sharply. Turpentine holds its high price, and there is every possibility of still higher figures ruling. In lubricating oils everything is quiet.

SALT—The stock of Liverpool coarse is quite light, but sale is but fairly active. Eastern Maine demand, which is often supplied from here, is at present being supplied from Boston, where our importers have cargoes landing. There is also a cargo landing at one of the northern ports of the Province. This relieves this market. In American salt none is now imported, except a small quantity in packages for table use. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 43 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS — Dealers are showing more interest in futures, and from their manner it would seem they expect a firm market. Some fair offers have been made, but packers do not seem to be ready to make contracts, but expect to be almost immediately. From information received it looks as if tomatoes would open at quite a stiff figure. It is thought there is a combine in price. If this is so it means all the business here will be done by one or two packers, and that the others will lose the sale of their output. In local market, stocks are light, particularly corn, which has advanced in price. There is improved demand for all meats, including boned chicken and turkey. Canned meats have been advanced by American packers. In blueberries the market is bare. There is a demand at a fair price. Lobsters are very scarce.

GREEN FRUITS—Business is active. The main sale is bananas, which keep high. This market is almost entirely supplied by one Boston house and through our importers here. In no other fruit does there seem to be such a monopoly. Oranges have but a fair sale, at even figures. Lemons are offered very low and move freely. There was an auction sale of fruit this week, something new for this market. Some three cars were offered. Strawberries are more freely received and are marked lower. Rhubarb is very plentiful and is low. Pines move, but in a small way, at quite full figures.

DRIED FRUITS—There is very little of interest at outside points. Raisins, particularly Californian, are higher. There is, however, little change here, as season is late and fair stocks are held. If Californian raisins are going to hold this market, they will have to be sold lower than last fall's price. Prunes are easier, but show no change in price; demand is light. Currants are light stocks. Figs are dull and selling low. Holders of stock are losing money. Dates are firm. Onions show no change. There were quite large receipts of Bermudas during the week. Peanuts are again quoted higher.

SUGARS — Fair sales are reported and prices tend easier. There is considerable American sugar held here in both granulated and yellow, but no late sales are reported. There is some little foreign granulated.

MOLASSES — This is a quiet market at present, while stocks are light dealers are inclined to let matters take their course rather than stock up at high figures. There is a fair quantity of Porto Rico here. Some American importers are offering, but their ideas are about those of the trade here. In syrups there is nothing doing.

PRODUCE—Eggs are marked higher, and have been very scarce. Only nearby eggs are coming in as other markets have been higher than ours. There is a fair sale. It is thought the outlook is for firm figures. Butter shows a rather better market; quality of receipts is better, but there is still room for improvement. Prices keep low. New cheese now has the demand; prices are easier and small and twin cheese are in request.

FISH—In dry cod, price, while still high, is rather lower. There are fair receipts. Pollock are also lower, but stock is small. There is still no pickled herring, and but few are wanted. The few pickled shad move but slowly. Smoked herring low, kippers hold their price. In fresh fish, gaspereaux are about over; they hold quite high; run has been but about two-thirds as large as usual. Shad are plentiful, and are lower. Salmon are being received more freely, but are still quite high. Local caught fish are considered better than those from the North Shore. Lobsters are scarce here and small. Fresh cod and haddock quite plentiful, and prices easy. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $4 to $4 25; small, $2.25; pickled shad, $3.50 to $5, as to quality; haddies, 4½c. per lb.; smoked herring, 5½ to 6½c.; smoked alewives, 90c. per 100; kippered gaspereaux, $1 per box; halibut, 7 to 8c. per lb.; fresh haddock and cod, 2c.; gaspereaux, 75c. per 100; shad, 8c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $2 per 100; salmon, 16 to 18c.

PROVISIONS—In mess pork, stock held is largely domestic, and prices are higher and above those on imported clear. All pork products tend firmer. Beef is firm, but sale is light. In lard, prices are higher. Stocks held are, for this season, fair.

FLOUR, FEED, AND MEAL—In flour, prices are marked up. Millers are firm at the advance, and look for higher figures. In oats and oatmeal very firm figures are quoted. Prices in local market are very near to present cost. Cornmeal is low, and, with millfeed scarce and high, has a large sale. Beans are quiet. Pot barley and split peas are rather easier, but blue peas hold their price. In seeds, the season has been a light one, and though about over, fair stocks are held. There is little or no change in price. Hay is dull in this market and keeps low. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.75 to $4.80; best Ontario, $3.85 to $4.10; medium, $3.60 to $3.75; oatmeal, $3.95 to $4.10; cornmeal, $2.05 to $2.10; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 41 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1.05 to $1.10; prime, 95 to $1.00; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2; split peas, $4.20 to $4.25; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $4.20 to $4.25; hay, $7 to $7.50; timothy seed, American, $1 50 to $1.75; do., Canadian, $1.80 to $2.25; mammoth clover, 7½ to 8c.; alsike, 7½ to 8c.; red, 7¼ to 7¾c.

The quantity of molasses received by this month's steamer was small, there being only 16 casks of Barbadoes and 25 of Trinidad. There were 325 bags of Demerara sugar and 200 from Trinidad; also a large quantity of cocoanuts and Bermuda onions.

Boston reports large receipts of fresh mackerel and lobsters, and good prices are obtained. During the past week about 1,000 bbls. of the former were received and sold at about 12c. each. There are rather over 200 fish in a bbl. On one day 50,000 lobsters were received from Provincial ports. The average price obtained for live lobsters is about 12c.

TRADE CHAT.

Over 25,000 grain cars have been despatched from Midland, Ont., elevators already this season.

Crops in the Portage la Prairie, Man., district are looking well, the wheat especially presenting a fine appearance. Oats and barley are not yet all in.

In spite of the cold, backward weather, farming in Prince Edward Island is well advanced, and many have all the grain in and potatoes well under way.

James Robertson, manager of the Hudson Bay Company's store, at Portage la Prairie, Man., has secured a position in the Winnipeg store of the same company.

T. H. and Wm. Slack, of Peterboro', Ont., have gone to Victoria, Alberta, where they will increase the depth of the Government oil well from 1,640 to 2,000 feet.

The farm produce, sold on the Guelph market in 1898 exceeded that of 1897 by over $675,000. The cattle shipped from the "Royal City" last year were worth $275,000; the live hogs, $160,000.

The Cape of Good Hope, South Africa, is starting to ship apples to England. As this country is in the Southern hemisphere, their apples will reach the Mother Country just when Canadian and other Northern apples commence to deteriorate.

On the Brockville cheese board last week 5,292 boxes of cheese were offered; 2,815 boxes of white, and 2,427 of colored. A few boxes were sold at 8c. for colored, and 8 1-16c. for white, but most of the salesmen held for 8¼c. The board is to be incorporated.

From Montreal, 85,183 boxes of cheese have been sent to Britain up to May 30, this year, as against 57,395 boxes in the same time last year. From New York, 32,553 boxes were sent this year and 32,194 last. The increase from Montreal was 27,788 boxes; the increase from New York, 359 boxes.

The exports of Canadian butter from Montreal have more than doubled this year as compared with last, the figures being 15,102 packages this year and 7,141 packages last. The shipments from New York have decreased over 40 per cent., the amounts being 4,234 packages as compared with 6,028 packages last year.

The Vancouver World says: "It is now generally understood that there will be established in Vancouver in the near future three or four branches of eastern and western wholesale grocery houses and a couple, or possibly three, wholesale dry goods establishments. The future possibilities of Vancouver as a commercial metropolis are daily becoming greater."

A board of trade has been organized at Elkhorn, Man. The officers are: President, F. W. Clinghan; vice-president, C. F. Travis; secretary-treasurer, G. Silvester. A pamphlet, including a map of the district adjacent to Elkhorn, and description of the land in five townships, is to be published for advertising purposes. A large hotel and other buildings are being erected there at present.

A GOOD WINDOW DISPLAY.

"A funny thing happened to me when I was working for a firm in Chicago," said a window-dresser. "I had a big window on Clark street that seemed as if hoodooed. No matter what I put there, it appeared to be impossible to attract attention, and the manager began to grumble because he never saw anybody looking in. I used to lie awake nights racking my brains for new schemes. One day, when I was feeling pretty blue, I told our negro porter to clear everything out preparatory to making a big display of a special line of shirts. He was a fat, black fellow, and I guess he must have been out at a cakewalk the night before, for he fell fast asleep in a chair in the middle of the window. I was on the point of waking him up, when I happened to notice how ludicrous he looked. His head was on one side, his enormous mouth wide open, and his limbs relaxed in the oddest postures; in short, he was a perfect picture of a lazy rascal in happy slumber. That gave me an idea. I didn't say a word, but, grabbing a piece of pasteboard, I dashed off a sign, 'Dreaming of Our Dollar Shirts,' and stood it quietly against his knees. Then I gently rolled up the curtain. Well, the hit that window made is the pet tradition of the store. People blockaded the sidewalk, and you could hear them laughing a block away. The funniest part about it was, that nobody supposed it could possibly be the real thing. They thought it was a clever piece of acting, or else a wonderful wax figure. I stood around with my heart in my mouth for fear the noise would arouse him. It didn't, however, and he snored away until nearly 4 o'clock. Then he woke up with a start, and was so surprised he came near jumping through the plate glass. The spectators howled, and that night the house raised my salary. I tried to work the same scheme afterwards, but it was a failure. The darkey couldn't pretend worth a cent." New Orleans (La.) Times-Democrat.

CHEWING GUM COMBINE.

Articles of incorporation were filed on Friday at Trenton, N. J., of the American Chicle Company, better known as the Chewing Gum Trust. The incorporators are: Samuel B. Lawrence, John B. Summerfield, Henry C. Everdell, Armitage Matthews, of New York, and J. C. Young, of Jersey City.

The capital of the new company is $9,000,000, of which $3,000,000 is in 6 per cent. cumulative preferred stock and $6,000,000 in common stock. The company is to include the following concerns: Beeman Chemical Co., of Cleveland; W.J. White & Son, Cleveland; Kiss-Me-Gum Co., Louisville; J. P. Primley, Chicago; S. T. Britten & Co., Toronto, and Adams & Sons Company, of Brooklyn. Of the last named company the new company is to take all the capital stock outstanding except a small quantity of the par value of $1,350 out of a total capital of $1,000,000. The Audit Co. of New York has certified, after an examination of the books of the concerns manufacturing chewing gum covering periods of from three to ten years, that all the concerns show an average annual net profit in excess of $560,000, exclusive of the net earnings of S. T. Britten & Co., which are stated by them to be $4,000 yearly for the past five years.

AMONG TORONTO RETAILERS.

Early Closing.

The early closing movement has lots of vitality. The collapse of the 7 o'clock agreement on Queen street west has not disheartened the advocates of the scheme in that neighborhood. They have secured the signatures of all the Queen west grocers to an agreement to close at 9 o'clock, which is an hour or two better than has been the case there for some time; also to close on Wednesday afternoons. On Thursday last, June 1, J. F. Morrish and F. S. Roberts, 276 and 290 Yonge street, began to close at 7 o'clock. The action of these merchants has been perfectly independent, some of their competitors on the other side of Yonge street keeping open till 10 o'clock. Both of them told me they had decided to close at 7 o'clock for the purpose of showing their belief in and sympathy with the early closing movement. A. F. Barker, 302 Yonge street, has for some years closed at 8 o'clock, finds it pays, and if he makes any change it will be to a still earlier hour. There is no question but that the feeling is growing among the grocers that their hours are longer than they need be or should be.

The Grocers' Excursion.

From what I can judge, I think more than usual interest is being taken in the retail grocers' excursion this year. The success of the last two picnics may be largely responsible for this, but the fact that the association has made its influence more practically beneficial to the trade has also something to do with it. A suggestion has been made that the grocers close down on the excursion day, and make it a holiday, not only for the proprietor, but for all his help. The suggestion is good, but one which would be useless unless concerted action were taken to make the day a recognized grocers' holiday.

THE RAMBLER.

LACK-EASE IN ADVERTISING.

The trouble is with most merchants that they try to write an ad. with "guff" which has done long service. They use talk which has been working overtime since 1842. Talk easily and naturally if you can. Any man who does business in his shirt sleeves and who wears the lowest kind of easy collars is uncomfortable in a high collar and a tight pair of shoes. So with his advertising. He may be easy and voluble when a lady comes into the store, but if he attempts to write an ad. he immediately freezes up, and the effect is as though he tried to play the flute in a pair of boxing gloves.

The effect is the same as in acting. It is the artist's art to be natural—the amateur thinks "to act" means to roll his eyes, breathe hard, drag his toe when he strides, and say: "Ha! I have thee in me power." Some men write ads. that wear velvet pants with lace—never a suggestion of the wide-awake little store where people would like to trade if they should ever become acquainted.—Interstate Grocer.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, June 5, 1899.

THE week has been uneventful, so far as general groceries are concerned. The close of the carpenters' strike has increased retail trade somewhat. The wholesalers report business very fair, the demand steady in all staple lines, but collections are a little slow. Owing to the rather late spring farmers are still busy and have not hauled in much of the held wheat. There will be probably some little rush after June 15. The amount of wheat held, however, is not as large as has been generally supposed. Flour has been advancing. The Ogilvie Co. are now quoting Hungarian patent at $2; Glenora, 80c.; Manitoba strong bakers', $1.50. The Lake of the Woods people have not yet advanced to this figure and are still quoting patent, $1.90; strong bakers', $1.70; Algoma, $1.35, and XXXX, $1.10. The market has been very active all the past week.

SUGAR—The market is weaker than it was last week. Standard granulated is quoted at 5⅛c., and bright yellow is also lower.

DRIED FRUITS, ETC.—Currants, raisins, figs, evaporated fruits, spices, teas and coffees all show no change for the past week. The produce market, on the other hand, has experienced considerable change.

EGGS—Have advanced. The demand is increasing, and the supply for the week has been somewhat light. 11c. net cash f.o.b. Winnipeg, or 13c. on commission basis, are the figures quoted.

BUTTER—Dairy butter is a drug on the market. Almost all receipts are going into storage per shippers' account, and this will continue until a satisfactory outlet is found for the butter. Manitoba dairy butter is now in excess of the British Columbia demand, and will have to be bought on a basis of Montreal prices. This means 9 to 9½c. All the creameries are now at work, and the turn out is from 500 to 1,500 lb. per week per factory. Sales are reported at 16 to 16½c. point of shipment. The quality so far is excellent, and full grass butter will be on the market by the end of this week.

CHEESE—The position of cheese has not changed since last week. Owing to an earnest effort on the part of the Dairy Superintendent, cheese will not be offered this season until it is cured. As many factories did not start until the second week of May there will be little cheese offering before the 15th of June, but when it comes on it will be a very superior quality.

CURED MEATS — There has been no change in this market. Prices are firm and trade good. Hams, 11c.; breakfast bellies, 11½c.; backs, 11c.; shoulders, 8½c. Dry salt, long clear, 8c.; extra short clear, 7¼c.; backs, 9c.; shoulders, 8¼c.

GREEN FRUITS—This market is very active. The trade in strawberries has been unprecedentedly large owing to the low prices. The quotations are $2.50 to $2.75, according to quality. Cherries are quoted at $2.75, but the supply is short. Florida pines, 24's, $3 per dozen; 30's, $2.50; 36's, $2.25. Florida tomatoes are very fine this season; the 6-basket crate is worth $3.50. New cucumbers, $1.30 per dozen. Pie plant, 1½c. per lb. Lettuce, radishes, cress, parsley, mint, onions, 30c. per dozen; asparagus, 75c. per dozen; Californian cabbage, 7c. per lb.

MONTREAL RETAIL GROCERS.

THE regular monthly meeting of the Montreal Grocers' Association was held in Monument National Hall, 220 St. Lawrence street, on Thursday evening last. Present: V. Raby, J. P. Dixon, S. Demers, N. Chartrand, M. DeRepentigny, E. W. Farrell, J. B. Deschamps, C.H. Pitt, P. O'Brien, T. A. Vincent, A. O. Galarneau and others. In the absence of the president, Mr. N. Raby, 1st vice-president, opened the meeting.

Moved by J. P. Dixon, seconded by P. O'Brien, that Martin Elliott be admitted a member of this association.—Carried.

Moved by J. P. Dixon, seconded by M. DeRepentigny, that we have a banquet at our picnic this year as usual.—Carried.

P. O'Brien, chairman of the banquet committee, asked for railway passes to Iberville in order to visit the ground and choose a suitable place for erecting the tent for the banquet. He also asked Mr. DeRepentigny, chairman of music and dancing, and E. W. Farrell, chairman of games, to accompany him.

Mr. O'Brien submitted a tender received from Mr. McCarry, caterer, offering to furnish the dinner on the grounds at $1 per head; he engages to furnish everything, except the tent.

After discussion, Mr. O'Brien was requested to interview several caterers and ask them to make a tender that will cover everything, including the tent, etc.

The question of police protection was referred to next meeting.

The treasurer reported having received donations in cash to the amount of $212 to date; also a number of prizes.

The meeting adjourned till Thursday, 15th June.

A TRAVELER'S HEROISM.

Editor GROCER,—All along the country fences hang the caterpillar nests. Soon they'll burst, scattering round their million pests.

Thousands of butterflies will grow, causing death to cabbage plants and such. Farmers wonder why they don't get rich.

A commercial traveler got up Sunday morning at 5 o'clock, climbed a tree many feet high, and, at the risk of his life, cut off a branch with one of these caterpillar camping tents. It contained, by actual count, 2,350,504 and several thousand fractions. He did a Christian act, and if others would follow his example, there would be less evil in the world.

I am told by a very enlightened and thoroughly informed commercial traveler of our city that he knows for a fact that it was a commercial traveler who was the good Samaritan, mentioned in Scripture, who looked after the poor, helpless man by the wayside and took him to the inn and gave him a good, square dinner.

Another good traveler said that the caterpillar pests were not half as bad as the trading stamp and coupon nuisances, which are playing havoc among merchants, both those who have them and those who have not. Clerks' and drivers' wages are affected seriously.

Oh, Legislature! raise your hand, and drive this evil from our land, and you'll live to bless the day.

Yours, etc.,
TRADER.

PACK OUTLOOK IN BALTIMORE.

Under date of May 27, Thos. J. Meehan & Co., of Baltimore, write: "We are having the most discouraging and peculiar pea market that the writer (T. J. M.) can remember. The packing of new peas began about ten or twelve days ago, and, up to that time, there was no discouraging news whatever from the growers. All of the packers are prepared to put up their usual quantity, but, instead of the receipts increasing every day, they have actually fallen off, and to-day the receipts of peas on the wharf were about the lightest of any day so far. Last year, the best quality peas sold at an average of $1.75 to $2 per bbl. This season the price opened at $2.75 per bbl., and steadily advanced to $3.20 per bbl., which was the price paid to-day. The outlook is for very much higher prices for the canned article."

PICTURE OF COLMAN'S WORKS.

Mr. R. S. McIndoe, Toronto, who represents J. & J. Colman, Limited, brought back with him from his recent visit to England, a photograph showing the company's extensive works at Norwich, England. The works stretch along the river Wensum a distance of about three-quarters of a mile, and the photograph which Mr. McIndoe has with him, showing these works, is fully two yards long by 12 inches deep. It is a curiosity in the way of a photograph and Mr. McIndoe highly prizes it.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN

ADVICES have been received from a number of packers to stop offering Columbia river salmon, which would seem to indicate that the packers are not able to take care of all their orders promptly. Sales have been heavy and the run of fish not so good as anticipated.

Advices by mail from Bordeaux say that as the packing of French peas progresses it is found that the frost did more harm than was thought after the first reports, especially as affecting quality.

The Fruit Buyers' Union, of New York, give the following statistics of receipts of Havana pineapples for the season to May 31, 1897, 76,600 bbls.; 1898, 23,302 bbls.; 1899, 56,874 bbls.

CANNED SALMON IN LONDON.

The demand for salmon shows no material improvement, and buyers continue to operate with the utmost caution. In spite of this, the principal holders are firm and seem perfectly satisfied to wait rather than make sufficient concession in prices to induce business. The Celtic Race has arrived during the week, the bulk of her cargo consisting of half-pound tins of flat salmon, but some little time must elapse before any deliveries can be made.—Produce Markets' Review.

EXPORTS OF SINGAPORE SPICES.

J. W. Phyfe & Co. report the following telegraphic advice of exports from Singapore and Penang during the last half of May, 1899: To United States, black pepper, 550 tons; nutmegs, 15 tons; to Great Britain, black pepper, 380 tons; to Continent, black pepper, 150 tons. Total exports since January 1: To United States, black pepper, 1899, 1,680 tons; 1898, 1,045 tons; 1897, 2,350 tons; nutmegs, 1899, 136 tons; 1898, 120 tons; 1897, 79 tons; to Great Britain, black pepper, 1899, 1,010 tons; 1898, 2,240 tons; 1897, 2,870 tons; to Continent, black pepper, 1899, 770 tons; 1898, 1,060 tons; 1897, 1,100 tons.

THE UNITED STATES CANNED SALMON SITUATION.

The San Francisco Trade Journal, of May 26, reviews the canned salmon situation as follows: "The high prices asked for sockeye on Puget Sound cause buyers to hold off. It is thought that lower prices will rule when the canning season opens in July next. So far on the Columbia both outside canners and the combine have sold all the fish they care to until they can calculate better on what the prospective pack will probably be. When warm weather sets in and the water in the Columbia and upper tributaries begins to rise the run of fish ought to increase while the weight ought to average more to the fish, but if the rise in the river should be as high as the deep deposits of snow on the mountain ranges warrants expecting, traps and wheels are in danger of being washed away or else made useless for a while. There has been an active movement in outside Oregon chinook and silversides at our quotations. At the present rate of sales it will not be long before the canners on the outside rivers in Oregon will withdraw. Free sales are reported of Sacramento river on the basis of our quotations. The spring season on the Sacramento river will end this week. The pack is fair, but would have been largely in excess of last year's spring pack had the Black Diamond cannery not been destroyed by fire. From the Columbia river our advices regarding the run of fish are conflicting and unreliable. From best obtainable information the pack to date of outside canners on that river is in excess of that put up during the corresponding time in 1898. What has been done by the combine is hard to say, but it seems to be the prevailing opinion that they have not put up as many proportionately as have the other canners. On Puget Sound preparations continue to be made for a big pack. There will be a large increase in the number of boats and also in the number of traps."

LEMONS IN SIGHT.

According to the statistics compiled by the Fruit Buyers' Union, the total stock of imported lemons in sight on May 31 consisted of 269,150 boxes, including 228,000 boxes and 3,800 half boxes of Palmero, 34,100 boxes and 3,300 half boxes of Messina, 2,000 boxes of Sorrento and 500 boxes of Rodi. The total visible supply of oranges at the same date was 9,100 boxes, of which 6,600 are Sorrento and 800 boxes Rodi, to which is to be added 2,900 half boxes of the former and 500 half boxes of the latter.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

CALIFORNIA ORANGE SHIPMENTS.

Total shipments of Californian oranges from the beginning of the season to May 27 amounted to 9,265 in 1899 and 12,286 cars in 1898, a decrease of 3,021 cars this season, according to information furnished to the Fruit Buyers' Union, New York, from reliable sources. For the week ending May 27, but 164 cars were shipped from the Coast, against 257 cars for the corresponding week last year.

ATTRACTIVE WINDOWS.

The editor of The Southern Grocer tells a trite truth in a happy manner as follows: "We once heard a minister of the Gospel use this illustration in discussing men as they appear and as they really are: 'You cannot judge what is in a house by feeling the weather-boards.' Yet the world does judge by outward appearances. This holds good of a store as well as a person—more so of a place of business, in fact, for where the exterior is dingy, shabby, and dirty, it is not to be reasonably expected that the inside is bright, clean, and attractive. In the minds of the people, the quality of the goods is associated with the character of the place in which they are kept."

The gentleman from the Sunny South is undoubtedly correct. A man often finds a fair stock of merchandise in a country town in a building that looks out-of-date and out of repair. But all the same the man who is careless of the appearance of the building he does business in, who neglects to brighten it up, to use a little paint and make his windows attractive, cannot be counted on to keep a neat, clean store, nor to properly arrange and display his stock. The store front and the windows are pretty safe indexes of interior conditions, and the stranger, at least, will decide accordingly, regardless of what customers and old friends may think.—Interstate Grocer.

HONEY AS A PRESERVATIVE.

E. D. Howell, in The Bee Journal, gives a recipe for canning fruit with honey, which is as follows:

"We have used it two seasons, and like it. We put the fruit into a tight-covered kettle in the oven of the stove, and cook until tender, then add the honey and bring to a boil on top of the stove, and put into cans and seal while boiling hot. Juicy fruit like peaches, pears and berries, need no water added, as the honey makes enough syrup. Dry fruits, like quinces and apples, need a little water to cook them tender.

"We use the best white clover honey for peaches and fruit that is not very sour. One-fourth of a pound of honey to a pound of fruit is about right for us; but the best plan is to sweeten to taste. I think the fruit keeps better than that canned in sugar.

"I had for my breakfast this morning peaches canned in September, 1897. They were as good as the day they were put in the jars, and we think them much better than fruit put up with sugar. We have put up in honey apples, blackberries, peaches, and quinces. All keep well and are very fine. We drain the liquid out of the honey that granulates coarse, and use the dry sugared honey for making candy, and in various ways for cooking, etc.

"Don't cook the honey in with the fruit. The less you boil the honey the more of the honey flavor the fruit will have."

THE MAN WHO THINKS.

A Chicago business man, of more than local reputation, says that his greatest trouble through his commercial career has been in his search for the employe who thinks, remarks Michigan Tradesman. The average holder of a position goes through his routine of duty in a stupid "dumb driven cattle" manner, absolutely refusing to think things out for himself, and thus possibly improve in method the system attending his individual line of duty. An employer very soon learns to regard an employe with interest who continually asks questions concerning his work, who seems to concentrate his mind upon his task, however insignificant, who seems to think and enjoy thinking and working. That man's talent does not long remained folded in a napkin, but speedily gains for its owner value received, and for it's owner's employer the peace of mind that can only come to a man of large business responsibilities through the honest, conscientious services of his force, through men who think.

THE STOCKING OF NEW GOODS.

A CHAT WITH GROCERS THEREON.

THERE are so many new articles offered for sale to grocers nowadays, that a good deal of caution is necessary in order that a dealer shall not find himself loaded up with a line of new but inferior stock. I had a talk with three old, experienced grocers on this point to-day.

To Mr. Henry Swan, of Swan Bros., 162 King east, I put the question, "What method do you follow in stocking new goods?"

He replied, "When we were young and innocent we were in the habit of taking a traveler's or agent's word in regard to the selling quality of new goods offered for sale. We have learned a lesson or two, however, and now we make large allowances for enthusiasm on the part of travelers. The fact is, we never introduce a new article unless our customers have asked for it. Even then we are cautious about stocking up, for often a customer takes a fancy to some new package, which would not win general favor, and which they would soon not want any more of."

"You say, 'our customers.' Does that mean you only get what customers, who regularly deal with you, ask for?"

"Indeed, yes; for sometimes a manufacturer or agent of a new article will send out touters (or whatever they call them) who ask the various grocers if they keep it in stock, just to make them think there is a demand for the goods. We pay no attention to such people. Unless there is a legitimate demand for an article we don't stock it."

"Do you ever have stock left on your hands?"

"Yes; with all our caution we sometimes find we have been deceived. See those cans of plums. I bought them for first-class, but found before many had been sold that they were inferior. We, therefore, reduced their prices and are now selling them at a material cut to get rid of them. We never recommend anything we find to be second grade. A customer who buys an article at a price under our regular figure does so on the understanding that he is getting inferior goods. If he pays full price we consider he has reason for complaint if everything is not of the best."

"Do you mean you know the quality of the various package goods you keep?"

"Yes. A grocer should know the quality of every article he sells, whether it be proprietary, package goods, or staples. Our customers depend on us, and when we make a mistake we soon hear about it. Then we rectify the error, if possible."

"Do your customers ask you for the particular brand of goods they prefer?"

"No. We, and all of our clerks, know the preferences of each of our customers. It means work and thought. But one need not go into the grocery business expecting to make money without such work. This causes our customers to depend on us so entirely that it would be a mistake to experiment with them with new goods."

J. G. Gibson, 525 Yonge street, expressed his method of introducing new goods very briefly: "When a traveler offers me some article which is new to the market, I give him an order for one case, one dozen, one box, or whatever the package may be. But, before the traveler has a chance to thank me for the order, I add that I want the goods only on condition that if they are not salable they shall be returnable. If a manufacturer has confidence in his goods, he will take this risk. If he won't, I won't."

"How many take the risk?"

"About half of them take it with me. Then, about 50 per cent. of the goods given us to try prove salable. I would recommend every grocer to follow this plan."

Mr. Robert Barron claimed to be very conservative in this matter. "I have found," said he, "that I can take no man's judgment as a safe thing, so I depend entirely on my own."

"When an article is offered you, what do you do?"

"I examine it, and if I think it is a good thing, I give it a trial; if I don't consider it a seller, I let the other fellow try it. I always try to get the new things that are good as soon as possible."

"Do you look for new goods?"

"Indeed, yes. Whenever my family, my customers or any of my friends go away, and bring me word of something new that they considered good, I send for a sample. In this way I get articles that I may never get in the ordinary course of trade."

"Could every grocer do this?"

"Well, to a certain extent. My trade is essentially high-class; some dealers have not this class of trade, so would not have sale for most of the articles I get in this way. But, if they look sharp for new goods suitable to their trade, and use caution in buying, they will get many a good thing that their competitors are missing."

THE BEST COFFEE.

A dangerous criminal was about to be executed in Calcutta. While his last toilet was going forward an Englishman who had just landed begged five minutes' conversation with him, which was granted. All that was heard of the interview was the final remark of the criminal. He called after the visitor: "Five thousand dollars to my heirs? You understand?" When the hangman was prepared for his sad duty, the culprit claimed the right to say a farewell word. Lifting up his voice he roared aloud to the assembled multitude: "All you who listen hear my dying statement: The best coffee is the coffee of Messrs. Chicory, Chewem & Chocker, of Calcutta and London!"

THE INSOLVENCY AGITATION.

At the council of the Montreal Board of Trade, Thursday, June 1, the metal and hardware section submitted the following resolution : "That this association regrets that there has been no legislation at this session of Parliament in the passing of a bill for the equitable distribution of the assets of insolvents throughout the Dominion, and respectfully requests that the council of the board of trade would so express itself upon this subject,"

Mr. Wm. McMaster, managing director of the Montreal Rolling Mill and chairman of the insolvency legislation committee, reported that a letter had been received from Mr. Fortin stating that, being unable to secure Government support to his bill, he had no alternative but to drop it. Some strong expressions were used in regard to the stand of the Government.

The council then adopted the following resolution with respect to the Government's action in declining to support the passing of insolvency legislation during the present session :

"That, in view of the earnest representations of the commercial communities of this country in favor of insolvency legislation, strengthened, as they have been, by frequent unfavorable public and private references in Great Britain to the lack of such legislation, and to the iniquitous character of some of the Canadian Provincial laws governing assignments, the council of the Montreal Board of Trade expected that the Government would, at this session of Parliament, secure the passage of a bill for the equitable distribution of an insolvent's estate, that expectation being greatly strengthened by the circumstance that the commercial and banking interests, in their anxiety to secure such legislation, had agreed to compromise their divergent views on certain points of Mr. Fortin's bill, introduced last session.

"That the council, therefore, learned with keen disappointment of the Government's decision not to support the adoption of insolvency legislation at this session of the Dominion Parliament, and the council hereby expresses its conviction that if the Government does not take early opportunity to insure the passage of an insolvency act, the absence of such a law will have a most unfortunate effect upon the commercial future of this country, and that, as in the past, Canada will continue to suffer in the opinion of other countries whose laws secure justice to the creditors of an insolvent debtor"

UNFERMENTED TEAS.

In his annual report to the Indian Tea Association, the late commissioner, Richard Blechynden, who has been an indefatigable and intelligent student of the tea requirements of the United States, speaks as follows relative to unfermented tea :

"Some samples of unfermented or Oolong teas, made in India, were sent to me early in the year. They were found so suitable for the market, and firms were so ready to give immediate large orders, that I have had to revise the opinion I formerly had as to the impossibility of Indian gardens preparing suitable teas of this class. I now believe that there are certain districts in India where Oolong teas of a character to command ready sale can be made, and that if such teas are produced there is practically no limit to the business that could be done. I have dealt with this matter at length in another place, so will confine myself here to adding a warning, so that the same stumbling-block which our black teas encounter every day may be avoided. I refer to the inequality of the tea It does not appear to matter what tea finds favor here, as soon as one lot of it is sold and orders are ready for more of exactly the same tea, there seems an impossibility of supplying them. In filling the repeat order the leaf or liquor, or both, differ from the original, and there is no firm in business on this market which will guarantee to duplicate any given sample of tea exactly. This is one of the most serious obstacles to the expansion of the trade. More than two years ago I urged careful consideration being given to the question of blending tea in Calcutta for this market as the one possible means of supplying a standard article Now that there is a question of manufacturing a special tea, I feel it my duty to make this point very clear, as the success of the enterprise will depend in a great measure on supplying exactly the tea ordered—not a tea which resembles it, or which may even be thought better. The experience of what was done in the London market cannot be taken as a guide, condltions being different If a tea (black or green) is found acceptable here, means should be found to supply that identical article. The cost of holding the tea and blending until the standard is reached will not be lost."

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU . . . .

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

SUGAR AND FRUIT INDUSTRIES IN JAMAICA.

A CHAT WITH A JAMAICAN.

I HAD quite an interesting chat a few days ago with Mr. F. C. Duncan, of Mandeville, Jamaica. Mr. Duncan is an old Toronto boy, and is at present sojourning in the "Queen City," chiefly with a view to the promotion of trade with Canada in Jamaican fruits. Mr. Duncan has been in the Island for several years. He is a young man, evidently yet being some distance from middle life. In stature he is away up—six feet three, at any rate. All things being equal, he would rather live in Canada than in Jamaica, but, for financial reasons, he prefers the latter country—at least for the present.

I "sounded" him a little on the sugar industry in Jamaica, and in reply, he said: "The sugar industry is in a most hopeless condition. It is saddening, in traveling over the Island, to see the large sugar factories falling into decay and the cane plantations going to ruin. They are trying to make a little out of the factories by selling the copper and machinery as scrap."

"What is the opinion in regard to the possible revival of the sugar industry?"

"Well," replied Mr. Duncan, "a few think it is possible that it may be revived to some extent, but the majority of people think that the industry is dead and beyond revival. The hope of the people is now in the fruit industry. One thing against the sugar industry is the poor condition of many of the sugar plantations, some of them not having been fertilized for 150 years."

"What are the prospects in the fruit line?" I ventured.

"Well," replied Mr. Duncan, slowly and deliberately, "I would say that for the next two or three years they are good."

"But why for only two or three years?" I interjected.

"Because of the threatened competition of Porto Rico and Cuba. At present, oranges in those two islands are practically not cultivated. They grow wild. But that is not likely to continue long with these islands in the possession of the United States. In fact, already American capital is undertaking the cultivation of this fruit. I might say that at present orange trees in Porto Rico are largely used as shade trees for the coffee plants."

"Then, of course," I remarked, "there is the tariff advantage over Jamaican oranges which those from Porto Rico and Cuba will have in the United States market."

"Certainly. And that will be a serious disadvantage for Jamaican oranges, bananas, and other fruit."

"But what about England? Could you not cultivate trade with that country?"

"Well, we have been. But the disadvantages are many. In the first place, the voyage is a long and a hot one. In the second place, there is the absence of a direct and regular service. Then, as far as bananas are concerned, there is practically no other market for them except the United States. In fact, the United States is the natural market for all our fruits. Jamaica is suffering a great deal for want of efficient steamship service. What are termed the regular boats are chiefly passenger boats, and their cargo capacity is relatively small. In consequence of this these vessels sometimes go away, leaving large lots of fruit on the wharves to rot. This is most discouraging to the growers and shippers."

"What about the Canadian market, Mr. Duncan?"

"I have taken some nice orders, and the trade with Canada is increasing, but the market in this country is so small, you know."

"What about orange cultivation in Jamaica?"

"Of course, most of the oranges in Jamaica are wild, but some attention is being paid to their cultivation. For instance, The Boston Fruit Co., with which I am connected, has 1,500 acres of oranges under cultivation in Jamaica. But, since the war between Spain and the United States, some of the Americans who were interested in fruit culture in Jamaica are turning their attention to Cuba and Porto Rico."

"Is the feeling in favor of annexation with the United States very strong in Jamaica?"

"It is. The business men are in favor of it; in fact, all the people on the Island are in favor of reciprocity. And, since Porto Rico became part of the United States, and Cuba practically so, the desire for a treaty with the United States has become all the stronger. Some people are in favor of annexation to the United States, but they are a small minority. It is the Americans who have been most enterprising in promoting our fruit industry, and the people know that. What irritates us a great deal," continued Mr. Duncan, "is the exaggerated and untrue reports which are from time to time printed in the daily papers of the United States regarding political matters in Jamaica. There were, for instance, the reports regarding the difficulty with the Governor and with the maroons. These were all grossly exaggerated."

Speaking of the fertility of the soil of the Island, Mr. Duncan waxed enthusiastic. "Jamaica has the most productive soil in the world," he declared. "Everything grows there, and with such spontaneity. It is wonderful!"

Finally our conversation turned to the coffee, which is also not in a satisfactory condition. "Prices for the finest grades of coffee are as good as they were 50 years ago, but the trouble is with the ordinary grades," explained Mr. Duncan. "Prices for the ordinary grades are so low that it does not pay to grow them. Our finest grades of coffee are exported to England."

"Are any new departures being made this year in regard to orange cultivation?"

"There are some Americans out there who are trying to improve the methods in regard to packing and handling the fruit, but it is pretty hard work. There is any amount of labor, and cheap labor, too, for we can get men at one shilling per day. But it is not intelligent labor; and that is where the chief difficulty lies."

The roads of Jamaica Mr. Duncan declared to be excellent. For bicycle riding they are ideal. "These streets in Toronto are like rocky roads to me after wheeling in Jamaica," exclaimed Mr. Duncan by way of illustration.

The establishment by the Bank of Nova Scotia of a branch in Jamaica, would, Mr. Duncan claimed, be a great convenience to the business men and fruit growers of the Island. "You see," he said, "the Colonial Bank only issued notes of £1 and upwards. The consequence was that we had to use a great deal of silver. This made it very awkward, particularly for those who employed a good many hands, the money to pay them their wages having to be drawn in silver. The Bank of Nova Scotia, however, issues notes of $1, $2 and $3 denominations."

VALUABLE DRUG CLERK.

"I am looking for something real nice for a young man," said the young and pretty shopper.

"Why don't you look in the mirror?" asked the gallant drug clerk, and she was so flustered that he managed to sell her four different things that she did not want before she knew what she was doing.—Michigan Tradesman.

DIRECT SOLICITING FOR TRADE.

FOR best method of securing new customers by direct solicitation, I give you an account of a plan followed by this store, writes F. H. Hendryx in Grocery World.

A purchase of ten barrels of tumblers, costing a trifle less than 21c. per dozen laid down in the store, was made. A circular was printed and distributed in every house in the town. The main points brought out in the circular were: "A tumbler bargain, one week only at 21c. a dozen—cost elsewhere 50c. Only one dozen sold to each person. We regret that with this bargain we cannot sell to the public in any larger quantities, but the stock to be had of these goods was limited and necessitated such restrictions in selling. At the price they are bound to go quickly. The early customer gets his tumblers."

Before the end of the second day every tumbler was sold. Not many people were disappointed. The quantity purchased was well gauged. There was a rush for these tumblers, in several instances two members of a family came together, and each purchased a dozen, and one of these became a permanent customer. Many and many a person came to buy tumblers who had never traded here. Some bought other goods than tumblers, and at least one new permanent customer was made.

This store does not carry glassware, therefore this sale did not cut into our future sales.

I believe in bargain sales of this kind, in which the goods are sold by competitors, and not carried regularly by the store making the bargain. There must be a snap and enterprise in the sale, and if pains are taken to show other goods and solicit other trade, new and permanent customers can be made by this means. Sometimes a good profit can be made, and again it seems best to suffer a slight loss.

Such sales can be varied from time to time, and regular goods offered; sometimes, slow-moving stock can be made to go. A rut, I think, must be avoided in these sales, as well as in anything else.

Another successful plan of gaining new customers was this: A year ago, the stores here tried early closing at 6 o'clock. One store signing the compact apparently didn't think it would be a "go." After a short trial, they opened up. Another grocery hired one of their clerks the very next day, and by that means took, in all probability, a dozen customers. Let me say that a considerable public agitation was made to raise a proper public sentiment before any of the stores closed at 6 o'clock, so the customers were ready to go with a clerk.

As this is not likely to be of much value to the majority of stores, this part of my article need not necessarily be in the competition.

TORONTO RETAILERS DISCUSS BISCUITS AND PICNIC.

THERE had been rumors to the effect that a warm time might be expected at the meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association which was held in St. George's Hall, Elm street, on Monday evening.

That something unusual was expected was evident when President Johnson took the chair, for the attendance was the largest in years.

F. W. Luttrell introduced a motion that a committee from the association wait on the biggest manufacturers asking them to reduce the price of the biscuits made to retail at 10c., as the margin of profit is too low. In the discussion that ensued, the general opinion seemed to be that, though the biscuit makers should be willing to sell the 10c. biscuits to the retailers at least ½c. cheaper than they now do, it would not be advisable for the association to make such a demand. The motion was defeated, but a personal effort will likely be made by some of the members to induce the manufacturers to reduce the price at least ½c.

The report of the committee appointed to visit Hamilton regarding a park in which to hold the annual picnic reported in favor of Mountain View Park, a pleasure resort on the mountain at Hamilton, suitable for games, sports, etc., as well as being a beautiful place for those wishing to spend the afternoon quietly. This park could be reached by street car and inclined railway connecting directly with the wharf that the boat would land passengers at. Either the Garden City or one of the regular Hamilton boats could be secured.

When the adoption of this report was opened for discussion, the cause of the large attendance was manifested. It will be remembered that at a meeting of the association, held some weeks ago, it was decided by a small vote to go to Cobourg. Last week this decision was rescinded, and Hamilton was chosen as the point to be visited, and the committee appointed to choose a park.

It was soon manifested that Hamilton was not satisfactory to some members, doubt as to the possibility of meeting expenses being strongly expressed.

These objections were somewhat strengthened by the sudden appearance in the doorway of the meeting-room of Miss Eddy, a Yonge street grocer's daughter, who merely remarked: "You're surely not going to Hamilton, are you?" and disappeared.

This was the first time the association listened to a female voice "in meeting," and they gallantly gave her vociferous applause as she departed.

However, notwithstanding this appeal, and the reasonings of those opposed to Hamilton, the verdict was that no further change would be advisable. Therefore, the report was adopted, and the excursion of the association this year will be to Mountain View Park, Hamilton, on the Garden City on July 26. The fare will be 75c. for adults and 40c. for children.

Though many of the members were in favor of a longer trip, the association loyalty is so strong that every effort will be made by all the members to make the trip a success.

Receipts at the Montreal Custom House last month were $684,375, which is $82,000 more than those of same month, 1898. In Toronto the receipts were $373,393, as compared with $307,026.

For a couple of years the corn millers of Halifax have been organized so as to make a uniform price from all the mills. The agreement was broken lately, and prices are being somewhat cut by some of the mills.

The first crop bulletin for the year issued by the Manitoba Government shows a gratifying condition of the growing wheat plant ; the area makes a very favorable comparison with that of last year, in spite of the late spring.

The farmers about Stouffville, Ont., who supply the pickle factory in that town, have contracted to deliver cucumbers at $16 per ton. From five to six tons per acre is considered a good yield. The cost of handling is about $30 an acre.

AN INGENIOUS SALESMAN.

At the banquet of the Chicago Shoe and Leather Men, some weeks ago, according to an exchange, a shoe salesman related an experience of one of his friends traveling for a Chicago shoe house. A new shoe store was to be opened in a small town in Illinois. The Chicago salesman heard of it, and took the first train for the town nearest to it that could be reached by rail. He arrived at this town about midnight, and thought he would drive over to see the merchant the next morning. A Boston shoe salesman was also at the hotel, and, suspecting the mission of the Chicago man, he got up early, and hired every rig at the one livery barn. The Chicago man got up just in time to see the Boston man starting out with his procession of teams. He hustled around to see if there was anything left, and the only thing on wheels was a hearse. He promptly hired this, and, loading in his trunks, he took another road, and drove at full speed to the neighboring town. When the Boston man came coolly driving in with his full procession, he found a hearse backed up at the door. Hastening in, he was surprised to find the Chicago man smiling at him over his order book, which already contained the bulk of the opening stock.

CANADIAN EGGS IN ENGLAND.

The egg trade with Canada shows no sign of declining. Imports are still increasing, and these eggs are already well-established in a good many markets, though London is still behind Liverpool and Glasgow. Contracts for the present season are now being made, and for both fresh and pickled eggs there promises to be a good business. English buyers, however, are not purchasing quite so freely as last year for future delivery, prices being higher than at this time last year. This will not stop eggs coming forward; but those not bought will be sent on consignment, as Canadians have no notion of relinquishing the trade, great quantities being now in process of placing in the pickling vats for next autumn's and winter's shipment to this side.—Grocers' Journal, London, May 27.

CLERKS WILL GO TO CHURCH.

The Grocery Clerks' Association of Montreal will meet at their hall, corner St. Elizabeth and St. Catherine streets, on Sunday morning next, and will march to the Church of St. Brigide, Maisonneuve street, where high mass will be sung at 10 o'clock. The association will be accompanied by the Ville Marie Guards and by the presidents of sister associations. A special sermon will be preached by the parish priest, and 400 loaves of bread will be distributed amongst the poor by the association. At 8 o'clock p.m., the members, accompanied by their wives and daughters, will sit down to an informal banquet in their meeting hall.

GRANGE SUPPLY COMPANY IN DIFFICULTY.

The Grange Wholesale Supply Company, Limited, of Toronto, is in financial difficulties, and payment has been suspended. The shareholders and creditors are being consulted, and the question is being discussed as to whether the capital stock of the company shall be increased and the business established on a more extensive basis, or whether the business shall be wound up.

The assets, in a statement which has been issued, are $27,151.27, and the liabilities $18,536.17, leaving a surplus of $8,615.10.

THE SMYRNA FIG CROP.

Mr. Joseph Solari, of Smyrna, is making a tour of the principal commercial centres in the United States and Canada in the interest of his father's business. He was in Toronto this week, and, in conversation with THE CANADIAN GROCER, stated that in both quality and quantity the Smyrna fig crop would be better than last year. The yield was expected to be 30,000 to 40,000 loads, against 12,500 loads last year. In his visit to the wholesalers in Toronto he was accompanied by Mr. E. Fielding, the firm's local representative.

TO BUY ESSEX TOBACCO.

A press despatch from Windsor, Ont., says: "Essex tobacco raisers have at last found buyers for their product. The Empire Tobacco Company, of Granby, Que., gave a contract for the erection of three large warehouses at Kingsville some time ago. The first was completed last week and immediately filled. The prices vary from 4 to 6c. per lb. Work is progressing on the other two buildings and they will soon be ready for the reception of a large quantity."

WILL MAKE A SPECIALTY OF CANADIAN FRUITS.

W. H. Anderson, who recently severed his connection with the Anderson & Coltman, Limited, has started in business at No. 3 Cross Lane, London, E.C., as broker in canned goods and general produce, under the style of W. H. Anderson & Co. At his new address Mr. Anderson will be in a position to place Canadian fruits or vegetables on the English market. He courts correspondence in regard to these lines.

POOR YELLOW SUGARS.

Editor GROCER.—The preserving season is upon us in earnest and very much to the disgust of the retail grocers and consumers all over the country it is an impossibility to procure such a thing as a nice serviceable yellow sugar. The refiners certainly should be ashamed of themselves, and the grocery trade should exercise their influence to such an extent as to compel them to meet the wants of the public. In Canada we get the best granulated sugar in the world, and there is no reason why we should not get the best yellows. When those nabobs in Montreal take it into their heads they can make yellows just as well as the regular class of goods. I think it will be a good thing for the retail grocers all over the country to take this matter up and represent it in a very strong manner to their wholesale friends.

Two years ago, very little winter butter was made in this Province, while last season, at Sussex, 920,000 lb. of milk were used, making over 40,000 lb. of butter, and there is in Carleton county another large creamery.

The Cowan block, Portage la Prairie, Man., is the largest business structure in that town, but the increasing business of the occupants, J. & E. Brown, general merchants, requires more room, and it is probable a large addition will be built this year. The new building will be added on the north side, two storeys high, with dimensions of 75 by 35 feet.

In an interview with The Record last winter, Mr. Archibald, of The Empire Tobacco Co., said that if the Government would reduce the percentage of American tobacco required to be used in blending with Canadian tobacco from 25 to 10 per cent., it would greatly help the Canadian grower of the Essex district. This has been done, and now Canadian manufacturers can use 90 per cent. Canadian tobacco in making plug tobacco, cigars and cigarettes.—Windsor Record.

STAPLE PRICES UNUSUALLY HIGH.

ACCORDING to Bradstreets, New York, the price of 105 of the principal staples at June 1, this year, averaged higher than at any period since April, 1893, the year of the panic.

The following table of approximate index numbers gives an idea how prices have run in recent years :

July 1, 1891.....	91,633	June, 1897.....	66,648
" 1892.....	80,629	July, 1897	66,937
" 1893.....	79,369	May 1, 1898.....	74,666
" 1894	72,270	June 1, 1898	74,885
" 1895.....	72,270	May 1, 1899	78,996
" 1896.....	65,952	June 1, 1899.....	79,873

These averages show that, taken as a whole, the condition of the market is much higher than in the last few years, though it does not yet come up to the high prices prevailing in 1891.

Of the 105 staple articles included in the calculation, there have been advances in the price of corn, rye, peas, beeves, sheep, beef and mutton carcasses, milk, eggs, hams, butter, cheese, mackerel, tea, molasses, raisins, salt, hides, hemlock, oak and union leather, Australian wool, jute, silk, printcloths, standard sheetings, ginghams, cotton sheetings, iron ore, Eastern, Southern, and Bessemer pig iron, steel rails and billets, tinplates, steel beams, silver, copper, lead, tin, bituminous coal, Connellsville coke, crude and refined petroleum, turpentine, nails, yellow pine, spruce and hemlock timber, borax, alcohol, quinine, hops, rubber, rock and phosphate. This includes over half of the whole, or 56 out of the 105 articles.

In the following 37 of the articles there have been decreases in value : Wheat, oats, barley, flour, hogs, beef, pork, bacon, lard, coffee, sugar, rice, beans, potatoes, peanuts, lemons, currants, cotton, Ohio and Pennsylvania wool, hemp, flax, quicksilver, anthracite coal, Southern coke, linseed oil, castor oil, olive oil, resin, tar, bicarbonate soda, sulphuric acid, opium, tobacco, hay and cotton seed. Twelve articles, glass, alum, nitric acid, ground bone, lime, brick, cottonseed oil, aluminum, codfish, bread, hogs, carcasses, and horses, are unchanged in value compared with a year ago. Of the advances the most notable are in iron and steel, live cattle and sheep, most groceries, hides and leather, manufactures of textiles, coal, coke, petroleum, building, and corn and rye.

On June 1, as compared with May 1, 1899, 36 of the 105 articles advanced in value, and 42 remained unchanged, thus showing a decline in only 25 articles. On the whole, therefore, prices tended upwards in June as well as in the year as a whole. Though wheat, oats, barley, hogs and potatoes show a decline in price from June 1898, to June 1899, the stiffening is attributed to the prosperity of the agricultural interests, for it was here that the first evidences of improvement in trade were noted. Three years (from 1896 to 1898 inclusive) of good demand and prices for agricultural products have resulted in such an active demand for and large distribution of both necessaries and luxuries from the agriculturists, that the general increase of business must be accredited to this cause.

SODA BISCUITS CHEAPER.

A reduction of ½c. per lb. in the price of soda biscuits is announced by the manufacturers in Ontario. This is the first change that has been made for over a year. Other kinds of biscuits are unchanged.

THE REASON CHEESE ADVANCED.

SOME weeks ago reference was made in our market reports to speculative short sales of cheese for forward shipment, it being intimated at the same time that when the date of delivery arrived that these transactions would have an important bearing on the standing of the market.

The advance in the price of cheese during the past week fulfils our forecast of the situation, for, as we expected, when the shorts commenced to provide for their wants, their kind competitors, by manœuvres which everyone in the trade are familiar with, bid prices up in the country.

It is understood that a large percentage of these short sales were made on the basis of a cost in Montreal of 8c.

As finest cheese, both Ontario and Quebec, have been costing more than that in the country, the inference is that these short contracts will be the reverse of profitable. It is understood also that cheese have been sold over the cable for even less money.

If this is correct, and the market maintains its present status, the losses will be still heavier. It is just possible, however, that after the forward contracts for early June shipment are filled, the demand may slacken, with the result of a reaction in prices, especially as the flush of the season is approaching when offerings at the different country boards are at their heaviest.

As cheese is selling to-day, it is one full cent per pound, or 70c. per box, above what it was costing last year. Last year, also, the large speculative operations of the Warringtons imparted a fictitious value, in a sense, to the cheese.

These circumstances, no doubt, led the people who sold short recently to argue that prices were bound to go lower, but they appeared to ignore the fact that the stock of cheese in Great Britain this summer is fully 50 per cent. below what it was at this time last year.

BUSINESS IN NEW SALMON.

Some large sales of new pack salmon for forward shipment were made in Montreal on Friday last, about 10,000 cases being placed on local and western account.

"Maple Leaf" brand was marked at $4.50, and for Lowe Inlet and similar brands $4 per case f.o.b. Coast was the stipulation.

CANADIAN EGGS IN ENGLAND.

The egg trade with Canada shows no sign of declining. Imports are still increasing, and these eggs are already well-established in a good many markets, though London is still behind Liverpool and Glasgow.

THIS is an extract from an editorial which appeared in The Grocers' Journal, London, Eng., May 27.

When the McKinley tariff went into operation, if there was one branch of the Canadian trade which promised to be killed, or at least terribly maimed, it was the egg export trade.

With the United States market free no effort had been made to cultivate an export trade in eggs with any other country. And, when a duty of 5c. a dozen was put on by Congress, everybody and everything directly interested, except the hens, became faint-hearted. In their dilemma people began to turn their attention to the English market, but the few who did this were laughed at by the many, who in effect declared there was "nothing in it."

For a while it looked as if the pessimistically inclined had good reason for their derision. But egg exporters in Canada gradually learned the peculiarities of the British market, and each year, ever since 1890, with one exception, has seen an increase in the shipment of eggs to Great Britain. The following table proves this. The first column shows the total exports in dozens to all countries, the second the quantity that went to Great Britain, and the third the quantity that went to the United States during each of the past nine fiscal years:

EXPORTS OF EGGS (IN DOZENS).

	Total in Dozs.	To G.B.	To U.S.
1890.....	12,839,660	3,600	12,825,735
1891.....	8,022,935	649,476	7,354,235
1892.....	7,931,204	3,987,655	3,918,015
1893.....	6,805,432	4,104,632	2,664,942
1894.....	5,141,586	3,449,243	1,611,881
1895.....	6,500,817	4,184,271	2,258,518
1896.....	6,520,678	5,587,725	894,989
1897.....	7,476,636	6,939,496	479,258
1898.....	10,369,996	10,280,466	38,643

The McKinley tariff went into operation on October 6, 1890. As the Canadiam fiscal year ends June 30, the egg trade of the first year given in the above table was not affected by that tariff. In fact, it was not until the fiscal year of 1891 was three months old that McKinley's pet bill went into operation.

Although the egg export trade of Canada has not yet wholly recovered from the blow dealt it by the McKinley tariff, yet it is evident from the above table that it is more than convalescent and is so near recovery that no doubts need arise as to the ultimate outcome.

The exportation of eggs to the United States is so nearly dead that the life that is left in it is of no value. The 38,643 dozen exported last year were only valued at $5,-029. The decrease in the nine years was 99.71 per cent. The increase in the exports to Great Britain, on the other hand, is nearly three thousand fold, while the total exports to all countries are only a little over 19 per cent. below what they were in 1890, the year before the McKinley bill went into force.

One would probably have to search the pages of history in vain for a parallel of the export egg trade of Canada during the past nine years. In that time an important trade with one country has been wiped out, while with another one of almost equal, and with promises of larger, proportions has been created.

JUNE DEAL IN CREAMERY.

The continued firmness of the butter market is certainly remarkable. Last week, when buyers paid 17c. and over for certain fancy creameries in the Eastern Townships in Quebec, the majority pronounced that this was the top price, and that we were bound to have a reaction.

Instead of a reaction the same buyers have steadily gone on accumulating their holdings of fancy creamery at full figures.

The only conclusion to be drawn from this steady absorption is that they consider June creamery good property at the money. Very likely, also, a large percentage of the recent purchases are destined for cold storage, to be taken out during the fall, and either sold to the local trade or exported.

Recent buying has been on behalf of both exporters and local jobbers, but in contrast to last year, when the latter dominated the market, the former now do so.

It is well known last year that several of the local jobbers made a good turn on their June deal, and it is quite possible that this fact has induced firms more centred in the export trade to do a little speculation this season on domestic account as well.

At present the outside price for finest creamery in Montreal is 17⅜ to 17½c, which is an advance of fully ¾c. in ten days.

A STRONG PEPPER MARKET.

Pepper appears to be in a pretty strong position. Notwithstanding the heavier shipments of black pepper from the Straits for the second half of May the market is as firm as ever, and it is anticipated, according to latest mail advices from London, that higher prices will prevail in the autumn.

This is the time in Singapore when the second crop comes in, and it is said to have been bought up by Eastern buyers.

Stocks, in bags, of all kinds of pepper on May 31, in the principal markets of Europe during the past three years, were as follows:

London.....	176,600	179,400	137,700
Holland.....	97,000	99,200	112,400
Hamburg.....	13,400	15,300	11,500
Havre.....	91,000	119,500	115,900
Bordeaux.....	1,900	1,400	1,300
Marseilles.....	3,000	3,900	4,300
Trieste.....	11,600	20,300	18,200
Total bags.....	397,500	439,000	401,300

The decrease in the stocks compared with last year is, it will be observed, nearly 9½ per cent.

GROCERY STORE BEAUTIFIERS.

THE grocer is indebted in a large measure to the lithographic printer for much of the possibility of making his shelves and windows attractive.

The individual beauty and the great variety of designs shown in labels on canned and bottled goods and other packages have made it possible for a grocer to give to shelves, which a few years ago were cold and uninteresting, an appearance of art and beauty.

This is even more true of the grocer's window, for here the dresser has opportunities to arrange the goods in any manner desired, and thus produce from the variety of designs and colorings even a more beautiful effect than is possible in his shelves.

In addition to the material benefit that is derived by having an attractive store, the grocer and his help will not fail to be influenced for good by the increasing taste and beauty shown in package labels. Taste and beauty never fail to exert a refining influence on mankind.

BOUNTY FOR CANADIAN BEET SUGAR.

A RESOLUTION was introduced in the House of Commons at Ottawa, on Monday, asking that the Government give a bounty for the encouragement of beet sugar manufacture in Canada, and that all machinery necessary for the equipment of sugar factories be admitted free of duty. The resolution was introduced by Dr. Sproule, and read as follows :

That, having regard to the large importations of sugar into Canada for home consumption, amounting to 236,670,038 pounds in the year 1898, at a cost of $4 863,956, and that it has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that the cultivation of sugar beet in the Dominion is not only feasible, but is being successfully adopted in many parts of the country at present; therefore, in the opinion of this House, in order to stimulate the farmers of Canada to engage in the growth of this valuable product, and also to encourage the establishment of beet root sugar factories, a bounty should be offered for all beet root sugar manufactured in the Dominion during the next ten years, and that the machinery necessary for such plant, not made in Canada, be admitted free of duty.

Whether this resolution will receive the support of the Government remains to be seen. The Minister of Agriculture showed that he, at any rate, was not favorably disposed towards it, and it is not the first time that he has evinced a want of faith in the possibility of the beet sugar industry being made successful in Canada.

The Dominion has not been unmindful of the industry. On July 22, 1895, Parliament gave its assent to a bill providing a bounty for beet root sugar produced in Canada. The bounty was to be 75c. per 100 lb., to expire on July 1, 1897. Time passed, no factory was started, and the statute expired by limitation. Attempts were made to have the time when the statute should expire extended, but they were abortive.

Last year interest was reawakened in the beet sugar industry, and the Government was again memoralized to give a bounty for the encouragement of the beet sugar industry. The Wholesale Grocers' Guild, of Toronto, interested itself in the matter, and, at a meeting held on May 3, 1898, passed a strong resolution in favor thereof. In this resolution the Government was asked to give a bounty on all sugar made in Canada from domestic-grown beet, the amount to be paid to be $1 per 100 lb. for the first year, 75c. for the second year, 50c. for the third year, and 25c. for the fourth and fifth years. The first year of payment was to be 1899, and the last year 1904.

It has been demonstrated beyond all question that Canada can produce sugar beets of good saccharine quality.

Analysis of beets grown on the experimental farm at Ottawa showed an average percentage of sugar of 14.94. Beets grown in British Columbia in 1897, and analyzed by a Dominion analyst, showed a percentage of from 10.4 to 16, and the beets had, in many instances, been improperly cultivated. In November of 1897, Professor Shuttleworth analyzed at the Ontario Agricultural College sugar beets grown in the vicinity of Owen Sound, and 37 samples gave an average of 14.75 per cent. of sugar. It has also been demonstrated that excellent sugar beets can be produced in Western Ontario. The average percentage of sugar in the beets produced in Germany is less than 14.

Hon. Sydney Fisher, the Minister of Agriculture, cast doubt upon the adaptability of Canada for beet root sugar production, and evidently based his opinion upon the fact that $2,000,000 had been lost in Quebec in trying to build up the industry there. But, because it failed in Quebec, it does not follow that there ne ed be failure elsewhere. Even in Quebec, however, according to those who profess to be in a position to speak authoritatively, better results should have been obtained.

In 1897 the plant which had done duty in the Farnham, Quebec, factory was removed to Rome, N.Y., where it has been a success. But obsolete methods and apparatus were discarded. In one particular alone the labor of 30 to 40 men was saved.

In assisting in the establishment of a beet sugar industry in Canada, the Government can do one of two things : It can start a small experimental factory and furnish it with up-to-date machinery, or it can give a bonus to be discontinued after a reasonable length of time. The latter seems to us the most desirable.

Canada can produce as good, if not better, sugar beets than Germany. That is an inducement. Besides this there is the duty of ½c. per lb. on raw sugar. Under these conditions private capital, assisted by a bounty, until the industry is established, ought to have sufficient courage to launch the industry. If capital, under such conditions, has not now the necessary courage, it is better to wait until it has. Or perhaps it is that we had better wait until a more convenient season.

But now seems to be the most convenient season that Canada has ever had for the starting of such an industry, and for this reason THE CANADIAN GROCER urges the giving of a bounty by the Government.

FIRM SALMON OUTLOOK.

WHILE it is early to speak positively as to what the ultimate condition of the coming canned salmon season may be, present indications are bullish rather than bearish in their character.

A letter which THE CANADIAN GROCER has just received from Malcolm & Windsor, Limited, Steveston, B.C., corroborates what has already been said in regard to the scarcity of fishermen on the Coast. "This has been brought about to a great extent," they say, "by the new fishing regulations issued by the Government to come into force for the coming season, and which are likely to hamper the operations of the industry in a very large measure."

Referring to the situation in England, the letter just quoted says : "The British Columbia salmon combination in England has lately fixed selling prices for the unsold portion of the 1898 pack and for the output of the 1899 pack shipped to the United Kingdom. These prices are equal to Canadian figures of $5 for talls and $5.80 for flats. The action of the English combination will have the effect of considerably strengthening the Canadian market, and high prices for the coming pack may be expected, more especially in view of the price fixed for the Puget Sound output, viz., $1.20 per dozen for talls. It is only natural to suppose that prices for raw material on the river will also be high."

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, June 15, 1899.

GROCERIES.

NO particularly striking features have developed on the local wholesale grocery market during the past week. Business is somewhat listless, and, consequently, not satisfactory. In no one line this week can activity be said to obtain. The members of the Packers' Association are again offering futures in canned goods, but no transactions are reported at the figures they ask. The movement in canned goods generally is light. The sugar situation is without change, although the outside markets are, as a rule, firm. The volume of business locally is small in sugar. Coffees are meeting with a steady demand from the retail trade. Very little is being done in either syrups or molasses. In teas, trade is quiet.

CANNED GOODS.

The agreement among the members of the Packers' Association in regard to futures went into operation on Saturday last. The minimum figures at which canned vegetables are to be offered for future delivery are, tomatoes, 75c. and peas and corn, 65c. Some of the packers are asking as high as 75c. for corn. No transactions are reported at any of the prices named, and wholesalers are not disposed at present to buy. One packer outside the agreement offered tomatoes for future delivery at 70c. delivered, Some of the wholesalers are quoting futures to the retail trade at 75c. The idea for old pack is 80 to 85c. per doz., but there is only a moderate demand. Corn is steady at 95c. to $1 per doz., with the demand fair. Canned fruits are quiet. There is a demand for gallon apples, and, as stocks are light, prices are rather higher, quotations now ranging from $2.10 to $2.25. Futures are being quoted at $2 by the packers, and standard 3's at 75c. Strawberries are being offered by the packers for future delivery at $1.35; yellow, egg and Lombard plums at $1.10; greengages at $1.20, and blue plums at $1. The demand for canned salmon, while improving on account of the advent of the picnic season, is, nevertheless, disappointing. The demand for canned meats continues to increase and is now described as fair.

COFFEES.

Local wholesalers are experiencing a steady demand for green Rio coffees at steady prices. The primary markets are, however, dull and weak, with delivery of Rio slow.

SUGARS.

No change has taken place in the sugar situation in Canada during the past week. The demand is dull, but the strength of the outside market gives a firm tone to prices. The cost of Canadian granulated is, at the time of writing, from 21 to 24c. below the price of the United States product. This, of course, interferes with the importation of the latter at present. Canadian and imported yellows are, however, on much the same parity. As long as the outside markets remain as they are, the possibilities are for an advance in the price of Canadian refined sugars rather than a decline.

In the United States, last week, refined sugars advanced ⅛c. per lb. and raws 1-16c. The cable on Monday reported beet sugar easy in London, with prices ¼d. lower. But this, apparently, had no influence upon the strength of the New York market, where holders of raws are not anxious sellers.

See pages 27 and 28 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

Locally, the fixed price of Canadian granulated is unchanged at $4.60 Toronto for Montreal refined, and $4.55 for Acadia; and for No. 2 yellow $3.80 is the figure, and for Phœnix $4.35. Foreign granulated, $4.55, Toronto, and yellows at $3.75 up.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business continues dull. Both the syrup and the molasses markets rule steady as to price.

SPICES.

The pepper market continues to gather strength, and still higher prices are, in consequence, looked for. Increased strength was given to white pepper early in the week by the cable advices.

TEAS.

A cable received in Toronto after THE GROCER went to press last week, stated that low-grade Indian teas were firm, while a rise for June and July was expected. The first sales at Calcutta have taken place, and the market opened strong, c.i.f. quotations for Canada being 15½c. per lb. for pekoe souchongs.

Mail advices from London, England, under date of June 2, state that at the auction sale there bidding for anything in Ceylon tea up to 7¼d. was keen, with rather dearer prices. Above this figure rates were maintained, but bidding was irregular, pekoes, and even orange pekoes, sometimes realizing hardly better prices than pekoe souchongs in the same invoice. In regard to Indian teas, the advices said: "The market reopened on Monday with a sale of 7,205 packages, of which 405 were new season's teas. The tone was distinctly firmer, lower grades being slightly dearer. The few new seasons were of somewhat poor quality."

On the Toronto market during the past week there has been quite a little buying for importation from London of Ceylon teas costing from 19 to 20c. here. The reason advanced for this is that these teas are showing relatively better value than the low-priced goods, which still remain high. Then, the quality of these teas is fine at this time of the year, whereas, those which will be shipped from Ceylon for the next couple of months, owing to the wet season, will be poor.

The Japan tea market has recovered from its recent easy turn, and latest advices give the total advances as equal to 1c. per lb. There has been a little business done during the week in new season's teas. Some bids have been made for old Japan tea, but holders would not accept them. Samples of new season's Japan tea representing shipments in transit are to hand this week. The strength of the market for new season's Japan tea is chiefly in regard to fine teas costing 18 to 20c. per lb. There has been a run on these and they are now difficult to secure.

Quite a brisk business in spot China green teas has been done during the week, some round lots having changed hands. The green tea market has not yet opened in China. The market has, however, opened for China congous. At the opening, prices were lower than last year, but heavy buying by Australia has caused an appreciation in values.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Wholesalers are experiencing a good demand for currants, and particularly for the cheaper grades, cleaned.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Quite a little business is being done between the wholesale houses, but there is not much buying this week by the retail trade. Trenor & Co. estimate that the quantity is somewhat in excess of last year.

SULTANA RAISINS—Reports from Smyrna state that the old crop of Sultana raisins is entirely exhausted, and that prospects for new crop are much better than last year.

FIGS—Mail advices report that the crop of Smyrna figs will be a great deal better than the very poor one of 1898.

PRUNES—Local wholesalers are doing a fair business, although the demand is slackening off. Crop prospects in both Bosnia and France, according to advices to Watt & Scott, are poor.

GREEN FRUITS.

The Scott street fruit market was opened on Monday, and is already a scene of bustling activity, especially in the mornings. The efforts made by the commission and retail fruiters to induce growers to send in their produce on the night or early morning trains have been largely successful, but still some stuff is coming in during the afternoon. Canadian strawberries are now arriving in large quantities, and prices are going down somewhat, though the quality of berries now arriving is much superior to that of those which came in earlier. From 8 to 11c. is the range of prices. Canadian cherries are coming in at $1 to $1.50 per basket, and gooseberries at 50 to 75c, Messina oranges are done. Sorrentos are selling at $4.75 to $5 for boxes and $2.50 to $3.25 for half boxes. Tomatoes are arriving in fair quantities from Florida, at $2.50 per 6-carrier case, and from Mississippi at $1.50 per 4-basket case. They sell readily at these figures. Pineapples are still somewhat scarce, and consequently prices are well maintained. Lemons are firm, but unchanged in price. They are in good demand. Bananas, too, are selling freely at firm, unchanged prices. Egyptian onion stocks are becoming depleted, yet, as the demand is slow, prices of inferior qualities have fallen to $1.50 per case. Good stock is still worth $1.75 to $2.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Receipts are falling off, and, as the demand continues active, prices are again up ½c., the ruling jobbing price today being 12½c Some dealers consider the conditions warrant ½c. more than this.

POTATOES—The market is easy, though prices continue at last week's figures. We quote cars on track, Toronto, at 65 to 67c. per bag, and on the street market 70 to 75c. is paid.

BEANS — There is little doing. Hand-picked are nominally worth $1 to $1.10. Medium grades are selling at 85 to 90c.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The demand is dull. We quote dried apples nominally at 5¼ to 5½c.; evaporated at 9½c.

VEGETABLES— Cauliflower is offering at 75c. to $1. No other change is noted. We quote as follows: Rhubarb, 15 to 20c.; radishes, 15c. per dozen bunches; spinach, 30 to 40c. per bush.; green onions, 5 to 10c. per doz.; asparagus, 30 to 50c. per doz.; celery, $1.00 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz., $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz. bunches; green cucumbers, 40 to 60c. per doz.; new beets, 40 to 60c. per doz. bunches; parsnips, $1 per bag; carrots, 40 to 60c. per doz. bunches. New cabbage are being imported at $1.50 to $2.75 per crate; wax beans at $1.75 to $2 per bushel hamper; green beans at $1.50 to $1.75 per bushel hamper, and cucumbers at 75c. to $1 per doz.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is a good demand for dairy prints and tubs. The receipts of really choice dairy are so abundant that the local sale of creamery has been somewhat reduced. Though no change in quotations is noted creamery is rather easier, while dairy has become steadier in the past week.

CHEESE — There is an excellent local trade doing. The feeling is steady at country boards, 7¾ to 8½c. being paid at Western points. The range of jobbing prices is 8¼ to 9c.

PROVISIONS.

There is a brisk local shipping demand for all smoked and dry salted meats. Lard is moving well, and barrelled pork is in fair request. Prices throughout are firm, though unchanged.

FISH.

Bluefish and B.C. salmon are off the market. Oregon salmon is 3c., and Restigouche salmon 8c. cheaper. Halibut has declined 2c., and steak cod, 1c. per lb. Mackerel is 5 to 10c. cheaper. We quote as follows: Fancy mackerel, 15c.; Oregon salmon, 12c.; Restigouche salmon, 17c.; Erie fresh whitefish, 8c.; North Shore whitefish, 7c.; North Shore trout, 7c.; bluefish, 9 to 10c.; speckled trout, 25c.; perch, 4c.; pike, 6c.; frogs' legs, 35c.; eels, 6c.; bullheads, 4c.; herrings, large,

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The wheat market keeps steady. Holders of Ontario winter wheat are asking 72c., and millers are bidding 71½c., and a fair amount of business is being done at the latter figure. The Toronto market is active, each day bringing large deliveries of wheat, and a fair quantity of oats and peas. We quote as follows: Wheat, white and red, 76 to 77c.; goose, 67 to 68c.; peas, 60 to 67c.; oats, 35 to 36c.; barley, 44 to 45c.; rye, 53 to 55c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat has advanced 1c., and is now selling at 85c., Toronto.

FLOUR—Buyers have manifested more confidence in the higher range of values now ruling, and the volume of business being done is increasing. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.10 to $4.25; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.75 to $3.80; Ontario patents, $3.75 to $3.80; straight roller, $3.45, Toronto freights.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES Deliveries continue good. Prices are steady. We quote cowhides: No. 1, 8¼c.; No. 2, 7¼c.; No. 3, 6¼c. Steer hides are worth ½c. more. Cured hides are worth 9c.

SKINS—Calfskins are firm. Lambskins are 5c. dearer. A good business is opening up. We quote: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 9c. per lb.; No. 2, 7c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c. Sheepskins are worth 90c. to $1, and lambskins, 25c.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 15, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE week has furnished a moderate trade in general groceries, and, as a rule, there have been no changes in spot values. Among the more interesting facts of the week are the closing of some contracts for new pack salmon. Sugar has not altered its position, though the tone is much firmer in New York. Molasses continues unsettled at primary points, but the fact has not influenced the spot situation in any way. Inquiry for dried fruits by jobbers has led to further business in Valencia raisins. Rice contributed nothing new, and the same can be said of coffees and spices. Tea remains much the same, while in green fruits and provisions a good seasonable trade was experienced lately.

SUGAR.

There is a good demand for sugar, and the tone is strong in sympathy with sentiment elsewhere, which is very firm, especially in New York. Both the firms inside and outside the agreement have been good buyers of sugar, and, so far as can be learned, the latter are not cutting prices to any great extent on the refined article. Cables from London state that the market for raw is quiet, with little demand for cane stock, Java selling at 13s., and fair refining at 11s. 9d. Beet is reported dull and rather easier, present month is ¾d. lower, the quoted price being 11s. 1½d., and next month 1½d. lower at 11s. 2¼d. On spot, refined at the mills is quoted at $4.50 for granulated, and yellows all the way from $3.70 to $4.25, as to grade. Firms outside the understanding may be selling below this basis, but, if so, are losing a tidy sum, as they don't get any rebate.

SYRUPS.

There is little change in the syrup market, which continues dull and featureless, prices ruling nominal at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb., as to quality, at the factory.

MOLASSES.

There has been another shuffle in the molasses market at the Island, cables this week quoting the first cost at 14c., which is a decline of 1c. on last week's basis. But though this is so the fact has had no influence on the spot market, nor is it likely to, for the reason that when offers were cabled on the new basis they were not closed with. Accordingly the spot market is unaffected so far by this cable intelligence, the Guild price remaining at 35c. for car lots, and 36c. in single puncheons.

DRIED FRUITS.

The firmness noted last week in certain lines of dried fruits is fully maintained. Inquiry has also been more active from jobbers, resulting in a fair amount of business in Valencia raisins, selected moving at 4¾ to 5c.; fine off-stalk, 4 to 4½c., and ordinary do., 3½ to 3¾c. Other dried fruits have contributed nothing new. These figures, of course, represent trading in straight invoice lots, and not for jobbing parcels.

CANNED GOODS.

The leading feature in canned goods has been the active demand for new pack salmon, sales aggregating 10,000 cases having been made on local and western account for future delivery. The price realized for "Maple Leaf" is $4.50, and for some Inlet, $4 per case f.o.b. Coast. Advices are not encouraging regarding the catch. Demand for other lines has been fair. Marrowfat peas have changed hands at 65c., and early Junes at 67½c. Tomatoes have moved in a small way at 77½ to 80c., and beans are offered at 77½c. Corn is held firm and 90 to 92½c. was asked this week for round lots.

RICE.

The rice market furnished nothing new. Demand is of the average character for the season, and prices are unchanged.

COFFEE.

There is a slow demand for coffee, the market ruling quiet and featureless. Maracaibo and Santos have changed hands at former prices, and there was nothing reported in other descriptions of coffee.

SPICES.

Business in spices rules quiet, and the firm tone is fully maintained. Some movement in nutmegs at 50 to 60c., mace 50c., and pimento at 12c. is noted. These figures were for transactions from first to second hands, and do not apply to jobbing business.

TEAS.

There has been little business done in teas on spot, but importers are placing a fair number of orders for new crop goods for future delivery. In last year's tea, sales of Japans from 13 to 16c., and greens from 12 to 15c. are noted. The firm feeling is fully retained in blacks and Ceylons, the very lowest grades of the latter, for instance, being quoted on the London market at 8½ to 9d.

GREEN FRUITS.

The weather lately has not been favorable to trade in green fruits, but, since the present week opened, the hot days have led to an increased demand. Apples continue quiet, a few bbls. changing hands at $5 to $5.50. Oranges still show a wide range, and are not quotably altered, except in the case of superior qualities of half boxes. Californian oranges are expected this week. Lemons are in fair demand at $1.25 to $1.50 for common, $1.75 to $2 for medium, and $2.25 to $3 for fancy. Offerings of pineapples have been limited, and rule firm at 8 to 15c. each, as to size and quality. Strawberries have been in lighter supply this week, and sell at 8 to 14c. Bananas are steady at $1.25 to $1.75 per bunch.

Monday afternoon, at the Montreal Fruit Exchange Company's warehouse, there was one of the most brisk sales of the season. A carload of bananas was the first on the programme, and sold up to $1.15 per bunch. The Missouri tomatoes, a splendid car of prime stock, consigned to Moquin & Cote, met with vigorous bidding, and they sold up to $1.20 per crate.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was no improvement in the demand for eggs. In consequence the market is quiet, with no new feature to note. Choice stock is selling at 11 to 11½c., and No. 2 at 9½ to 10c. per doz.

MAPLE PRODUCT—The market for maple product continues quiet, on account of the small offerings. We quote: Syrup, in wood, 5¾ to 6c. per lb., and at 65 to 70c. per tin. Sugar sold at 8½ to 9c. per lb.

HONEY—In honey, business was dull and prices unchanged. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 9c.; dark, 6 to 7c.; white extracted, 7 to 7½c., and dark, at 4 to 5c.

BEANS—The market for beans is steady, but sales are slow. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 65 to 90c.

PROVISIONS.

All kinds of provisions, except pork, continue fairly active, and the the tone of the market is steady, with no change in prices to note. We quote as follows: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $16; short cut back, $15.50; selected heavy short cut boneless mess, $16.50, and heavy long cut mess, $15 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 7 to 7¼c.

per lb., and compound refined 5½ to 5¾c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

FLOUR—A fairly active trade was done in flour on local and country account at steady prices. We quote : Winter patents, $3.75 to $4 ; straight rollers, $3.40 to $3.50; in bags, $1.65 to $1.70; Manitoba patents, $4.20 to $4.40; strong bakers', $3.80 to $4.

GRAIN—There was no important change in the local grain market to-day, business generally being quiet. In oats, the feeling was steady and sales of some round lots were made at 34c afloat. The tone of the market for peas was firmer, and 75½c. afloat was the inside figure, and in some cases a trifle more was paid.

MEAL—The demand for meal continues slow and the market is quiet with no change in prices to note. Rolled oats are offering at $3.80 per bbl. and at $1.85 per bag.

FEED—A fair trade was done in feed at steady prices. Ontario bran, in bulk, $15 $15.50, and shorts $16 to $17 per ton; Manitoba bran, $15; shorts, $17, and mouillie, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

HAY —There was an easier feeling in the hay market for the lower grades, and prices for such have been shaded, but choice No. 1 is still scarce and firm. Late cables report the market strong, owing to light arrivals. We quote: Choice No. 1, $7 to $7.50 ; No. 2, $5.50 to $6, and clover, $4.75 to $5.25 per ton, on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE.—This product has developed a much firmer line since last report, and business, both on spot and the country, makes it clear that exporters are short for early June shipment and are buying accordingly. These short sales were referred to in this column some weeks ago, and it was intimated at the same time that they would brighten up the market. The course of business at present and during the past week undoubtedly bears out this assumption. For western makes to-day the range is 8¼ to 8½c., the top price being for fancy lots, while for eastern goods 8⅛ to 8¼c. is the range, according to grade. At the wharf Monday morning 3,500 boxes were offered and sold at a range of 8 to 8⅛c., the outside being the ruling price.

BUTTER—The firm tone of the butter market is more marked, if anything, as local exporters have bid over 17c. at country points during the past day or so, and 17⅜c. was realized on a good-sized line of creamery to-day. Despite these high prices, many exporters still complain that their limits make business impossible, so that the situation is somewhat mixed.

MONTREAL NOTES.

As a result of short sales, the export price of cheese has advanced ⅛ to ¼c. per lb.

There has been another change in the first cost of Barbadoes molasses, which is again quoted at 14c. at the Island.

Very high prices have been paid for creamery butter at country points, figures which mean over 17½c. laid down in Montreal.

Laporte, Martin & Cie., wholesale grocers, Montreal, will close their place of business on June 22, St. Jean Baptiste Day.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., June 15, 1899.

BUSINESS for the past week is reported good, there being a general movement all along the line. Good prices are obtained, the markets continuing largely in sellers' favor. It is a good healthy sign, when after such a fire as we have just had, in which so many stores were burned, in many cases the dealers losing their houses as well, that as yet no financial difficulties have been reported. Rebuilding is being quite largely undertaken, and no doubt the new buildings will be far handsomer than the old ones, and more substantial. The river steamboat people who lost their warehouses are still handling freight at great inconvenience. In the markets, brooms have again been marked higher and are firmly held. Flour continues to advance, but the movement upwards here is slow. Canned goods are in a very strong position. Trade returns for the past month show an increase of nearly $10,000 in duty collected, and over $100,000 in value of imports, while exports are upwards of $300,000 ahead. The increase in the latter item is largely due to lumber, prices of which are much higher than last season.

OIL—There is but little doing at present in burning or lubricating oils, and prices show no change. In paint oil, prices are high. Linseed oil is marked rather higher and is very firmly held, while turpentine holds its high price.

SALT—There have been no arrivals for some time, and stocks of Liverpool coarse are quite light. There is rather an improved sale at firm figures. There is quite a quantity to arrive within a few weeks. There is little change in the quantity sold each season, though it shows rather an increase. Mediterranean salt and Turk's Island salt are quite largely used now in packing fish; though there is a very similar English salt very little sale is found for it. In fine salt a good demand rules. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 43 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS.—Little, if any, business in futures has yet been done. Most of the packers are now quoting, and their prices seem so be the same. Dealers are holding back for some concession, and feel that as chances are promising for a good crop they will buy lower later. As the goods, particularly corn and tomatoes, will come on a bare market, there is every prospect of a stiff market. Corn is very scarce here, and tomatoes are light stock, and prices tend higher. There is considerable inquiry for gallon apples. Stocks are low, and very firm figures are quoted. Salmon, while light stock, are sold low by some holders, who carried stock over last year which cost them low. In fruits there is a steady sale at good figures. Blueberries are out of the market. An increased number of brands of finnan haddies are offered. Canned oysters are rather higher. Shrimps are scarce and difficult to get. In meats prices are firmer, and an advance is looked for.

GREEN FRUITS—A good deal of interest centred in the fruit auction, the first to be held here, but it was not a success, buyers from outside points in the Province taking little or no interest. Californian fruits, including peaches, apricots, plums, and cherries, are to hand. Prices hold quite high, and there is but limited sale. Oranges hold firm, with fair business. Lemons have had a large sale, and have been very low. Rather better prices are now obtained. Bananas are a very large business. Strawberries are rather lower. Rhubarb is very low; quality of receipts good. Pines are easier, but only a fair sale.

DRIED FRUITS—There is some inquiry for seeded raisins. Stock of choice seems light and dealers are not inclined to pay price asked for fancy. There is but a fair sale. Loose muscatels are very dull. There are fair stocks held. Little is being done in prunes. Prices tend easier. In peels, some orders for futures are now being taken. Currants show no change, and there is but little business, and what there is is for cleaned. American cleaned are being imported at low prices. Figs are dull. Dates hold their price. Evaporated apples are about out of the market. Stocks imported during the past season, owing to the price, were small. Onions are a fair stock, and prices show no change. Quite a few Bermudas are held here.

SUGAR—Prices keep quite low, but there is a firm feeling. Sales are good and stocks not large. Little American is now being bought, though there quite a little now here.

MOLASSES—Another cargo of Porto Rico, landing this week, has relieved the position, but prices are very firmly held, as total stock is small, particularly Barbadoes, which is quoted rather higher. If there is any change in prices, a further advance is expected. Our dealers have held their figures quite low, and of the quantity imported, the bulk has gone into consumption.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Butter is dull and low. Still, it is better that the farmer should sell than hold the butter at this season, for, if he held, it would spoil the market later. If he sends good butter, he will get fair returns, but it seems almost impossible to get good. Cheese tend rather easier, with a fair, steady sale. Eggs are scarce and high.

FISH—Fresh fish have chief attention, and salmon are now of chief interest. They are coming in more freely. Local demand is good, but price in Boston is low, because of the very large receipts of mackerel from Nova Scotia. Shad are quite scarce, and and gaspereaux are about out of the market. Dry fish are marked lower, particularly pollock, for which at this season there is little sale. In pickled herring, new are now coming in. There is but fair sale. They came on a bare market, and prices tend lower. There is no improvement in smoked herring. Halibut are still received, but season is about over. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $3.85 to $4; small, $2.50; pickled shad, $3.50 to $5, as to quality haddies, 4½c. per lb.; smoked herring, 5½ to 6½c.; smoked alewives, 90c. per 100; kippered gaspereaux, $1 per box; halibut, 7 to 8c. per lb.; fresh haddock and cod, 2c.; gaspereaux, 75c. per 100; shad, 10c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.80 per 100; salmon, 12 to 14c.

PROVISIONS—There is but light business. In lard and smoked meats, Western packers have somewhat killed trade by selling to the retail trade at the wholesale price. They find little in it for themselves and have very much hurt the jobbers. Prices tend higher.

FLOUR, FEED, AND MEAL—All prices in flour have been advanced, though Manitoba millers show quite a range in their ideas. Local men are slow to advance figures and have not been large buyers. Oatmeal stays about even in spite of bullish reports. Oats are firm. In beans, there is very little business. Prices show no change. Hay is still low, but better prices are looked for. Barley and split peas are rather easier, but blue peas hold their price. Stock is light. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.70 to $4.80; best Ontario, $3.85 to $4.10; medium, $3.60 to $3.75; oatmeal, $4.00

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, June 12, 1899.

THE week shows very few changes, either in prices or situations. Business continues fairly good, and collections are improving considering the backwardness of the spring. Manitoba is having more rain than she needs along the Red River Valley district, but west the crops are looking magnificent. Wholesale houses have been busy with orders for the Indian Department, of which it is understood the Hudson's Bay Company got the lion's share.

CANNED GOODS—It has been learned here that The Eastern Canners' Association have held a meeting and fixed prices for the coming season. Of course, these prices are always subject to change. It is not likely that there will be many purchases of futures for this market on these prices, as jobbers will wait to see how the crop will turn out. As present, prices remain at just what they have been for weeks. There seems to be rather an overstock of last year's pack of strawberries judging from the quantities being offered here at present. Tomatoes are quoted at $2.15 to $2.25, according to pack ; corn, $2.30 to $2.50 ; peas, Marrowfats, $1.90 to $2 ; sifted, $2.25.

CANNED FISH.—New salmon is now offering at a slightly easier price than last year. No. 1 sockeye will probably be $5.50 and Cohoes $4.25 to $4.50. This is as near as can be figured from prices offered.

SUGAR.—Has remained stationary this week. The market is rather dull. Extra standard granulated 5⅛c., German granulated 5c., extra ground 7c., bright yellow 4⅜ to 4½c., maple sugar 11 to 12c. per lb.

EVAPORATED FRUITS. — This market is without change, and sales are small and slow on account of high prices. Apricots, 19½ to 20c. ; peaches (unpeeled), 17 to 18c. ; pears, 12½ to 13c. ; pitted plums, 9 to 9½c ; nectarines, 14 to 14½c. ; prunes, 5¾ to 11c., according to size ; dried apples, 7½ to 8c. ; evaporated, 10½ to 11c. Dried apples are quoted, but there are really none on this market. There is absolutely nothing new to report with regard to raisins, currants, tea, coffee, or spices, the market in all being normal in price and rather dull, as is usual at this season.

GREEN FRUITS—This market is very active, and is well supplied with all lines of fruits in season. New peaches and plums were received yesterday. Peaches are quoted at $2.75, and plums, $3 for 20-lb. cases. These goods arrived by express. There has been rather an overstock of ripe bananas in the city and the price went as law as $1 for some stock. Bananas suitable for shipment are still quoted at $2 to $2.25. Cherries have dropped to $2 per 20-lb. crate. Strawberries were rather scarce towards the last of the week, but a supply was received Friday, of Sparta, Wis., fruit. The price is slightly higher, the quotation to date being $3, as against $2.50, and $2.75 last week. The Hood river berries have not arrived as expected, and it would seem that now they will not be in until about the 15th of the month. The price will be about $3 to $3.25. Oranges have advanced. Of course, navels and medium sweets are about a thing of the past. Valencias and St. Michaels are all that are to be had. The price now is $5 to $5.50 and may be $6 before the next week is out. Lemons—The stock of lemons on this market is all from Montreal, the quality is very good, price $3.50 to $3.75, and this figure will advance with the warm weather. Pineapples—There is a large supply of pines on the market and the quality is very good. Price runs from $2 to $2.50, according to size. Florida tomatoes are worth $3.50 for the 6-basket crate. Cucumbers, $1 per doz.; Californian cabbage, 7c. per lb.; local pie plant, 1c. per lb.; asparagus, 45c.; lettuce, radishes, cress and onions, 30c. per doz.; new potatoes, scarce at $3 per 100 lb.

BUTTER — Market is weaker in sympathy with Eastern points. 15 to 15½c. is the quotation for creamery at the factories. Dairy butter is a drug, really first-class dairy is worth 10c. at country points, but buyers are not keen for it at even that figure.

CHEESE—Very little yet offering. Latest quotation is 8½c. for large and 8¾c. for small.

EGGS—Supply is fair and market brisk, price, 10 to 10½c, country points.

CURED MEATS — The market here is without change, but there is a reported advance of ½c. on American cured hams and ¼c. on long and short clear. This has not affected prices here up to this date. Hams are still quoted at 11c., breakfast bacon at 11½c.; backs, 11c.; shoulders, 8½c.; long clear, 9½c.; dry salt long clear, 8c.

FLOUR—The Lake of the Woods Milling Co. have met the advance of the Ogilvies, and the general price now is : Patent, $2 ; Glenora and bakers', $1.80 ; Manitoba strong bakers' and Algoma, $1.50 ; XXXX, $1.10.

CEREALS--Pot barley has dropped slightly, and is now quoted at $2.25. Rolled oats are also slightly lower, and are quoted at $1.90.

A broom is a small thing but it can do your trade a lot of harm or good, as you elect.

The woman who buys a broom that hasn't this guarantee "your money back if not satisfactory," isn't liable to be wholly satisfied with the broom—or you. We find that every grocer who handles our brooms increases his orders each year. He has to keep the good-will of his customers to do that.

CEYLON TEA IN THE SOUDAN.

The above illustration shows transports leaving Cairo for Berber with supplies for the British troops.

General Kitchener insisted that Ceylon Tea should be used by his men; it was easier prepared and required neither milk nor sugar. It quenches thirst, which coffee does not. No beer or liquor was issued in this campaign---

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

ACCORDING to conservative advices received in New York, the crop of Oregon Italian prunes will not exceed 25 per cent. of an average output this season, and some estimates make it even less.

Receipts of oranges from Mediterranean ports for the month of May amounted to 38,700 boxes, against 2 300 boxes for the same period last year. Of imported lemons, there were received during May, according to statistics compiled by the Fruit Buyers' Union, 272,900 boxes, compared with 178,990 boxes in May, 1898.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

THE U. S. PEA PACK.

A Baltimore packer writes to his agents in New York, under date of June 2: "The outlook for peas is that we shall have a very short pack and a very high-priced one." Another leading packer writes on the same date: "Reports here (with reference to the pea crop) are about as conflicting as those you seem to have had already. We looked into this matter some weeks ago and what we could see then determined us to keep out of it unless some very marked change occurred. Up to this time we see nothing to change this determination and we do not expect to pack any peas this season. It is difficult to form any idea of what the crop will be, but if the present condition is any criterion, then we should say the crop will be short. It is thought Southern peas are done. At any rate, the stock now arriving is nothing but seconds and they are costing as much as good standard stock brought last season."

CANNED SALMON HIGHER IN ENGLAND.

The Liverpool correspondent of a London, Eng., trade paper says: "The associated holders and packers of Fraser river salmon, following on the policy so successfully carried out last season, have met this week, and fixed prices for that portion of the 1898 pack still unsold, as well as for the goods to be packed during the ensuing three months. Last season this declaration of prices was immediately followed by an active business, and a similar degree of confidence seems to have been inspired by this year's action, for already there is a more general inquiry for all kinds. Grocers continue to inquire for low-priced goods, being anxious to postpone advancing their retail prices as long as possible, but the old range of values is quite out of the question, and it has become important to consider whether the standard of quality should not be raised; for an extra halfpenny per tin a much superior article can be given out of all proportion to the difference in price, and, hitherto, strictly fine salmon at a moderate price has always meant an increased sale."

CURRANTS IN ENGLAND.

The demand for currants from the country continues moderate but steady; market transactions are, however, unimportant, and some holders are already beginning to display more anxiety to clear their small remaining stocks than would appear to be necessary under the present statistical conditions. The evident lack of wisdom of such a course with respect to an article like currants appears in no way to act as a deterrent, and no matter what prospects the future may present, the effects of a temporary falling off in demand are almost invariably accentuated by this procedure. Even if the price were lowered to such an extent as to enable a new range of retail prices to be introduced, no good end could be ultimately served, as long experience shows that the difference in the quantity of currants universally consumed under the conditions which have existed since the practical cessation of the demand from France for the article for wine-making hardly varies in the slightest degree with the cost. The only effect of a considerable fall in prices is to induce consumers to anticipate their wants on account of what they think a favorable market. When, however, the reduction in values is only trifling, as at present, even this effect is hardly brought about; the only result being a loss of confidence on the side of buyers, and a consequent abstention from buying until absolutely necessary. The price of Provincial in Greece, after experiencing a temporary relapse, has now partially recovered, and prices are once more rather higher than the parity of the English market. Crop reports from Greece are now almost entirely favorable, the deficiency of rainfall which characterized the early part of the year having been to a great extent made up, and that under conditions which do not appear to have had those unfavorable effects on the vines which often result from unseasonable weather.—Produce Markets' Review.

CANNED SALMON SITUATION.

Speaking of the canned salmon situation, The San Francisco Trade Journal of June 2, says: "The pack on the Sacramento river is about the same as was last year's spring pack. It would have been considerably in excess had not the Black Diamond cannery been destroyed by fire. The pack was contracted by canners before canning. On the Columbia river the total pack is hard to obtain from reliable sources, but the general tenor of advices indicates that it is about up to last year at this time. The high-water season is backward on that river, for, generally, the water in the river is the highest the beginning of June, but it looks now as if it will not be this year before towards the last of June or forepart of July. Canners on that river have practically withdrawn from the market, as they have placed about all they care to for the present. There will not be any steelheads packed, or at least very few comparatively, owing to the big demand for cold storage shipment to Europe. F. M. Warren shipped some by the refrigerator system last year to England, and they took so well that the demand this year has been very heavy, which will cut down the pack of this kind. There are no Columbia river salmon in halves to be had here or up north. It is said that England will be a large customer for Puget Sound sockeyes this season, owing to the pack on Fraser river promising to be light, due to a scarcity of tin. It is stated that a vessel on which tin was shipped was lost, and, consequently, there is only supply enough to pack not over 300,000 cases. In Alaska futures nothing is being done. Of 1898 there are no pinks and comparatively few reds held by the Alaska Packers' Association, not enough to meet requirements before new season pack comes on the market."

SHIPMENTS OF CALIFORNIAN ORANGES.

Advices received by the Fruit Buyers' Union are to the effect that the total shipments of oranges from California to date have amounted to 9,399 cars, against 12,499 cars for the same period last season. Shipments for the past week were 134 cars, against 213 cars for the same week last year. The estimated output of oranges for next season is 18,000 cars. F.o.b. quotations were $3.25 to $3.35 for fancy Valencias and $3 for choice; $2.50 to $2.60 for fancy sweets and $2.25 for choice and $2.25 to $2.30 for fancy seedlings.

TEA IN NEW YORK.

The only feature of the market for the week was the auction sale held on Thursday. The prices realized showed a steady market for country greens and Pingsuey, but low-grade Oolongs and Congous were easier. Low quotations have been received from China for the latter, and this, together with the fact that it is expected that there will be another large sale at the close of the month, had a weakening influence. Business in the private market has been dull, the few orders received being strictly of a hand-to-mouth character.—New York Journal of Commerce, June 10.

FUTURE PULP WOOD COUNTRY.

American Paper Trade, New York, May 27, 1899.

THE common spruce tree of the American forests furnishes the great bulk of the wood pulp that is daily converted into printing paper. The word "common" is chosen advisedly. Time was when, in New England and the northern tier of States, spruce trees were as familiar to the people and almost as plentiful as the grass of the fields.

The inevitable result has been so rapid a contraction of the available spruce area in the United States that many of our paper manufacturers have been forced already to go over into Canada for spruce logs. The situation is not keenly critical, but it would be folly to declare that it is not alarming. American ingenuity may yet discover something to take the place of spruce pulp in the making of paper, but, up to date, it surely has not done so. Upon the best inside authority it has lately been declared that, if the present pace of clearing spruce land is kept up, in five years from now there will not be a stick of the timber standing in the United States.

Forestry and pulp manufacturing data are in some instances difficult of access, but the most reliable sources of information, after the most careful investigation by a Boston newspaper, yield the following facts:

Practically the only large spruce areas available for pulp now left in America—that is, for the supply beyond the immediate future—are in parts of Maine and the British Provinces.

Maine has been a most attractive field for spruce pulp operations. She was a pioneer in the industry, and she now finds most of hew own spruce contiguous to water power cut off. On the Androscoggin river there are numerous pulp mills, which, when worked to their full capacity, require about 250,000,000 feet of spruce logs annually, and it is reported on good authority that the standing spruce in the territory tributary to these mills cannot last over four years at the present rate of consumption. "Why," was the recent remark of a Boston manufacturer, "they are already grinding up bean poles and boughs for pulp down on the Androscoggin—this, to save the larger trees—and God only knows what they will do five years from now."

Contiguous to the Kennebec river the spruce lands have been so nearly stripped that they can no longer supply the pulp and sawmills with logs.

In northern Maine, the waterways that flow into the St. John river above Grand Falls, in Canada, have most of the smaller growth of spruce still standing along their banks, and for many miles inland. This is because there was profit to the lumbermen only in the large logs. The cost of driving and booming to the mills was over $2.50 per 1,000 feet on an average, and it did not pay to cut and drive the small growth.

And here is the only part of Maine where large pulp and paper mills can now find a supply of good timber. Where there is good water-power convenient to these spruce tracts and transportation is sufficiently cheap, these properties are being rapidly developed, or, at least, being bought up by paper capitalists as a safeguard for the future. But, compared with the enormously increasing consumption of white paper, both in this country and in Europe, the spruce pulp product of these remaining forest lands in northern Maine promises to put off an evil day of actual exhaustion only a year or two at the best.

It is to Canada, then, that we must turn for our spruce in the future—the very near future, too. And this condition has already awakened our Provincial neighbors to the opportunity which they possess for developing the pulp and paper industry along our own waterways, so that, if our manufacturers here in the United States would provide early for the inevitable, they have no time to lose in the matter of selection and purchase of Canadian lands. The price is already advancing, and the comparatively few water-powers are becoming scarcer on the market. The cry of the paper manufacturers is: "On to Canada."

CARE OF THE SCALES.

Remembering the experience of a Jersey City grocer with a three-pound weight, which had accidentally engulfed a four-ounce weight, the latter fitting so snugly into an aperture in the larger weight that it was not discovered until weeks had flown and many pounds of overweight goods had been sold—remembering this circumstance, we say we can heartily endorse a contemporary's warning to grocers to watch their scales. Dirt and rust may throw scales out so that they cannot register within an ounce or two of the real weight in even a pound. And if the customers lose the grocer's reputation must suffer, while if the scales give overweight, good-by to the grocer's profit—N.Y. Merchants' Review.

Edwardsburg Silver Gloss

The Edwardsburg Starch Company believes in keeping abreast of the times. It depends upon quality to sell its Starch, but it is not so narrow-minded as to fail to recognize the value of an attractive package to the grocer who sells its goods. And so the Six-pound Enameled Tins, in "horseshoe" shape, that is now put up in, prove our statement that we "keep abreast of the times."

You must not confuse the Edwardsburg Silver Gloss with any other so-called "Gloss" Starch, because that would not be fair to Silver Gloss, which is made from the very best selected corn, by the most skillful starch-workers in the country. Our experience of over forty years makes it "best"—quality counts!

Two Are Better Than One.

Different people have different opinions, and while the articles may be equally valuable, yet one person will prefer the one, and another person will prefer the other.

In order, then, to suit all tastes, to meet all requirements, and to be in a position to supply any demands that may be made upon us, we have made arrangements to operate the works heretofore managed by the North American Chemical Co., at Goderich—manufacturers of the celebrated brand of salt so long and favorably known to the trade as "RICE'S PURE SALT." Thus, we can supply "COLEMAN'S" Salt or "RICE'S" Salt.

These two makes of Dairy and Table salt stand at the head of the list! There are none better!

METHODS NEW.

That boy of mine at Saize,
Has some powerful funny ways,
With ideas highfalutin,
Like most folks now-a-days.

He keeps harpin' now on System,
On Money-Weight and such,
Says scales that I used in startin',
Was costing him too much.

He's gone and got the finest
That them Dayton folks turn out;
Says they're savin' him the nickles,
Without the slightest doubt.

Well, there's some mighty changes,
And it aint for me to say
That John should run his business
In my old fashioned way.

If there's something in a system
That will save him overweight;
And he's sure it saves him money,
I say don't hesitate.

If kickin' out old methods,
And puttin' in the new,
Is going ter help my boy along,
I say amen; dont you?

Cigars and Hot Weather

Hot weather will increase the sale of Cigars even with the grocer who doesn't make the slightest bit of effort to boom trade. In the vacation season, nine-tenths of all men who smoke will double the amount of money they spend for Cigars.

Few men will buy a Cigar of uncertain quality at this time—a man likes to have his friend say, "that was a good Cigar you gave me." Now is the time for you to try my "Pharaoh" 10-cent Cigar and my "Pebble" 5-cent Cigar—they will make good friends better friends. CASH AND CREDITS.*

By T. J. Anderson.

IT has been stated by prominent statesmen and financiers that credit is equally as good as cash. I noticed Mr. Carlisle epeated the statement quite recently. It is a uestion in my mind if this is correct, at east I don't think it should be so considered rom a commercial point of view.

We will look into the matter a little, and ry to ascertain which would benefit, not he money-loaners, not instalment houses, iot farm implement companies, not light-ning-rod swindlers, nor other mortgage harks—but ourselves and our customers; es, in fact, all the honest and industrious eople, the most a strict cash system, or uch as we have to-day. I firmly believe hat a good merchant is a blessing to any ommunity, but he should understand as ell as possible everything pertaining to his life, and it might also be well if he nderstood a little pertaining to the next.

A good merchant, if he wants to, can do great deal to elevate his fellowmen, par-cularly his patrons, with whom he often omes in contact, and a poor merchant can, ven if he don't want to, help just as many own in the mud, and in many cases him-elf in the bargain. I mean by a good erchant, an upright, conscientious and onorable person, not one who will sell red-og for rye flour, brass for gold, cotton for ool, use short weights and measures, harge unreasonable interest, dope his atrons with whiskey to get their trade. No, e should not be called a merchant; his ame is e is a disgrace to civilization, and it would be more honor to himself and better for the public if he went and joined the class to which he belongs, the thieves, thugs and highway robbers.

I don't know how many of you are aware that most of the people of to-day are careless and extravagant, and live beyond their means. This state of affairs would not be, except for the loose credit system. Farmers buy machinery costing hundreds of dollars on two or three years' time, let it stand all over the farm, in rain and sunshine, and in many cases the machine is played out before it is half paid for. Most of the country merchants present here will agree with me that this is true, and I think they will also agree with me that if all farm implements were sold for cash only they would quite likely not cost much more than half of what they do under the credit system. And, if a farmer had to

for a machine, I care not how cheap he might buy it, you can bet he would take care of it and make it last as long as possible, and I dare to assert that the farmers of our State would not pay out more than half as much for farm implements under a cash system as they do now.

Some may ask, what has that to do with the interest of the grocers and general merchants?

I think, if I use the words of Dr. Campbell, who once dispensed medicines and looked after the physical condition of the people of our town, you will understand that it has a good deal to do with our interest. We were talking about the hard collections and poor trade generally, when the doctor remarked as if inspired: "Anderson, do you know that you and I are fools for doing business the way we are?" I said I knew we were not particularly bright, although we were good looking, but, to call us fools seemed rather harsh, but when he added, "I furnish a lot of these people with medicines, you and some of the other merchants furnish them with what they eat and wear all summer, and when fall comes the machine companies and the take the whole crop, and in many cases we don't get a smell." I could easily see that we were fools, and not small ones, either. Thus some of our hard-earned wealth is transferred to those who already have plenty, and the rich grow richer and the poor poorer day by day.

We will look into the matter a little further and see what credit has done for him who has used it liberally. In most cases, it gives him lots of care and worry, and makes a worthless citizen out of a good one, and, in some cases, it makes a criminal out of an honest man, all because they get tangled up in the treacherous network of credit.

I think Lord Bacon was perfectly correct when he said: "The poor man can't afford to pay interest, and the rich man won't pay interest." Then, why not do away with interest?

What is the cause of panics? Some say they are caused by changing from one political party to another. But this is not the cause. A radical political change in our Government may sometimes hasten or delay a panic, but the real and only cause is overdone and

ABUSED CREDIT.

Let a cash system prevail, and such panics as the one we only recently got through with would never occur.

I know a groceryman in Minneapolis who, after ten years' hard work, quit business with $20,000 on his books, and his bookkeeper told me he would never collect to exceed 10 per cent. of it. Did this merchant, if he is entitled to be called so, get any benefit out of the credit system? He perhaps got some experience.

His honest customers made nothing out of his credit business, as they in most cases paid too high a price for what they got, and only got what they paid for. There was, however, one class that profited by the credit system on account of this case. It was the deadbeats and sharpers. They succeeded, on account of this beautiful (?) system, in dividing $16,000 to $18,000 of somebody else's money between themselves. I know scores of others that have failed, and nearly all because they did a credit business.

We have no statistics showing how many have suffered in town site and other booms where

LOOSE CREDIT WAS PREDOMINANT.

Certain it is that their number might properly be called legion.

But they are little like the fellows that lose their money at a gambling table or the fellow that went to Klondyke after gold and found none. They suffer silently and often die without confessing to anyone that they were a lot of suckers.

I claim that a strict cash system, if put into force to-day, while it would work hardships in some instances in the beginning, would in 10 years show the most wonderful results.

With such a system in force the jobber and manufacturer would lose nothing by dishonest or incompetent merchants. Retailers would lose nothing by dishonest customers, everybody would then pay for what he got, and the horde of idlers that exist under the credit system at the expense of someone else without performing much or any honest labor, would have to earn their own bread or not eat any.

I am going to make an assertion that may seem radical, but I honestly can't help but believe that if there was not such a thing as credit the of this country would be 50 per cent. better than it is to-day. It would mean less business for the gambler, the fakir, the rum-seller, and the scarlet woman, and more happiness among the honest hardworkers who deserve it.

Some may ask: Is it possible to do a cash business? This I will answer by relating what I have done myself. About 14 years ago, while at Minneapolis, I got heartily sick of the credit business, and made up my mind to either quit business or sell for cash. I made the change and stuck to it. My cash sales the two years after I made the change were $130,000.

Several years ago, I started a cash grocery at the head of Lake Superior, where all were doing credit business, and those here who are acquainted there know whether it has been a success or not. But, you know, there are —ours not excepted—and, to do a cash business successfully, you must know them. I will just mention a few of the principal ones: Be strictly honest, sell goods as cheaply as possible, buy for cash and get what discount you can, even if this compels you to do less business, but, whatever you do, stick to cash and credit no one. If you make any exceptions and credit a man because he is wealthy, you can bet that the other fellow, whom you would refuse, would find it out, get offended, and, not only leave you himself, but influence others to do the same.

TRICKS IN ALL TRADES

If a customer comes in and wants to get 10c. worth of tobacco till to-morrow, don't you ever make the mistake and accommodate him if you want to do a cash business successfully. No, but if he is worthy of any favors hand him the tobacco, and tell him politely that you have no books and and that he don't need mind paying for it. And do you know what you have accomplished? Instead of getting this man's enmity by refusiug him credit you have succeeded in impressing upon his mind in a way that he will not forget, that you for one are doing what you preach, a strict cash business.

What about the 10 cents for the tobacco? You would naturally suppose they were lost, but you will find that the same person who may ask you for a very little credit to start with, with the sole object often of paving a way to larger game, has pride enough to come and pay it, and promptly at that, to show that your opinion of him was wrong.

I remember once at Minneapolis a quite regular customer whom I knew to be a smooth duck, asked me for a sack of flour till to-morrow, when he said he would get his pay. I knew he had only a small family, and said to him: "I can't charge a cent, but I can help you out some way," so I went and wrapped up 25c. worth of bread and handed him, saying: "This will last until to-morrow." I could see it was not according to his plans, and when he assured me he would drop in and pay for it, I let him know that for it, and had nothing coming. What do you suppose the result was? That fellow paid for the bread, and to my best recollection never asked for credit after that, and I have reason to believe some of his colleagues, you know, birds of a feather flock together, learned from him that Anderson was the best man in South Minneapolis to buy groceries from, but a poor place to get such accommodation as they might wish.

There are many evils which need a remedy in this the grandest of all countries on earth, but we are a great people, you know, and with the aid of all good merchants in one of the grandest States in the Union, Minnesota, justice must and shall conquer.

MEAT CANNING.

OX-TAIL SOUP.

AFTER selecting the tails, wash them well in clear, cold water, and cut up in small pieces, dividing the tails at the joints. Cook the pieces for 20 minutes in boiling water. The scum which forms on the surface while cooking should be carefully skimmed off. After cooking the requisite time, remove the knuckles and separate the meat from the bones. The tails should be cooked sufficiently so that this is easily accomplished.

Make a soup, for filling the can, as follows: To 25 gal. beef essence add 25 gal. jelly, 1½ gal. mushroom catsup and 4 lb. salt. Make 10 lb. flour into a thin batter; put it through a sieve and stir the mixture well while adding this batter slowly to it.

Season the soup with 8 oz. white pepper, 2 oz. ground nutmeg, 2 oz. mace, 1 oz. ground cloves, and 2 lb. sugar. Boil all the ingredients together in a jacketed kettle until the soup is ready to put into cans. In the 2-lb. cans put 4 oz. meat and then fill the cans with the prepared soup to weigh 2 lb. 1 oz.

Wipe the cans well and cap them, leaving the vents open, then place on racks and put into retort. Process the cans for 1 hour and 30 minutes at 3-lb. pressure, with retort exhaust closed. When the time required for this has elapsed, shut off the steam, flow off the pressure slowly and remove the cans. Stop the vents quickly and return cans to retort, where they are boiled off for 1 hour and 45 minutes at 9 lb. pressure. The cans are withdrawn from the retort at the end of the required time, and run to the shower room, where they are showered until cool. They are then sent to the wash-room and finally to the labeling-room.—National Provisioner.

A MOTHER-MADE MAN.

A well-known gentleman was introduced at a great public meeting as a "self-made man."

Instead of appearing gratified by the tribute, it seemed to throw him, for a few moments, into a "brown study." Afterwards they asked him the reason for the way in which he received the announcement.

"Well," said the great man, "it set me to thinking that I was not really a self-made man."

"Why," they replied, "did you not begin to work in a store when you were ten or twelve?"

"Yes," said he; "but it was because my mother thought I ought early to have the educating touch of business."

"But then," they argued, "you were always such a great reader—devouring books when a boy."

"Yes," he replied; "but it was because my mother led me to do it, and at her knee she made me give an account of the book after I had read it. I don't know about being a self-made man. I think my mother had a great deal to do with it."

"But, then," they urged again, "your integrity was your own."

"Well, I don't know about that. One day a barrel of apples came to me to sell out by the peck, and, after the manner of some storekeepers, I put the bad ones at the bottom and the best ones at the top. My mother called me and asked me what I was doing. I told her, and she said: 'Tom, if you do that, you will be a cheat.' And I did not do it. I think my mother had something to do with my integrity. And, on the whole, I doubt whether I am a self-made man. I think my mother had something to do with making me anything I am of any character or usefulness."

"Happy," said Dr. Lorimer, who told the story, "the boy who had such a mother; happy the mother who had such a boy, so appreciative of his mother's formative influence."

SORGHUM SYRUP.

THE United States Department of Agriculture has issued a most interesting pamphlet on "The Manufacture of Sorghum Syrup." The pamphlet explains fully the processes by which all grades of molasses and syrup are manufactured, and contains much valuable information for retail grocers.

"Open-kettle" and "centrifugal" molasses are terms often used, but are terms, at the same time, which few grocers understand the meaning of. The Agricultural Department's circular gives a full and simple explanation of the meaning of the terms as follows:

Molasses is what remains when more or less of the sugar contained in the syrup has been extracted. In many parts of the country, however, sorghum syrup is called molasses. In Louisiana molasses is classed in two kinds: "O.K.," that is, open-kettle or open-pan molasses, and "centrifugal" molasses. Open-kettle molasses is made in the same way as sugar-cane syrup, but the syrup is boiled in open pan to greater density than is usual in sugar-cane syrup. A part of the sugar in the syrup crystallizes and is removed. The remaining molasses is then reboiled until it is sufficiently thick and heavy. As the excess of sugar has been extracted, the remaining molasses can be concentrated to greater density than is usual in sugar-cane syrup, and the final product is less liable to crystallize or to ferment. As it still contains considerable sugar, this open-kettle molasses is in active demand for use as human food. It is often sold at as high a price or at a higher price than sugar-cane syrup from which no sugar has been taken. In the market reports sugar-cane syrup and open-kettle molasses are not infrequently quoted from the close of the season with the addition of the words: "None in first hands." It is said that the manufacture of sugar-cane syrup and of open-kettle molasses is in many cases as profitable as the manufacture of sugar, and requires less capital and skill; also that the quality of sugar-cane syrup and of open-kettle molasses made in small and cheaply-equipped factories is fully equal, and often superior, to that made in costly factories which work on a much larger scale.

Centrifugal molasses is the poorest marketable product of sugar cane. It is what remains when as much sugar as possible has been extracted from the syrup. It is the residue of sugar manufacture. It contains but little sugar, and all the impurities left in the juice by imperfect clarification. Centrifugal molasses has deteriorated in quality in recent years because of the improved method of extracting the sugar. So much sugar is extracted that the remaining molasses is often so impoverished that it has little value. It is sometimes sold at low prices, is fed to stock, fermented, or thrown away. It has been proposed to burn it or to return it to the soil. Sugar cane is grown in seven States. In those sections in which but little sugar is made the molasses has a high average value. The yield of molasses and its value are lowest in the great sugar-producing sections. The reason is that in the former sections the molasses is the principal object of cane manufacture, while in the latter sections the molasses is sacrificed in order to obtain the greatest possible yield of sugar.

In each of these classes there is a wide range in quality and in value. There are as many as ten commercial grades, namely: "Fancy," "Choice," "Strict prime," "Good prime," "Prime," "Good fair," "Fair," "Good common," "Common," and "Inferior." At this writing, sugar-cane syrup, in its home wholesale market, New Orleans, brings 26 to 28c. a gallon; open-kettle molasses, 21 to 32c., and the medium grade, "Good fair," 25c. a gallon. Centrifugal molasses now brings from 8 to 20c., and the medium grade, "Good fair," 12 to 13c. a gallon. In Northern wholesale markets sorghum syrup of average quality brings less than sugar-cane syrup, less than open-kettle sugar-cane molasses, and ranks in the great trade centres about the same as the middle grades of centrifugal molasses.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

CABLE advices were received from Rio reporting unfavorable weather, which, it was thought, would retard the movement of the new crop.

According to late advices, the Pacific Coast crop of prunes, except in Washington and Oregon, will be equal to that of 1898 The European crop, it is stated, will be only about half of that of last year.

A special telegram to The Fruit Buyers' Union, New York, from Kingston, Ja., says that the American fruit interests will now control the fruit interests of Jamaica, the British operators having withdrawn. This, the cable says, will increase the output of bananas, and the United States may look for a more extensive business from the Island in the future.

CANNED GOODS IN BALTIMORE.

The Baltimore packers having very wisely, we might almost say intuitively, sold very few futures on green peas this year, and it has been the interests of the canners to see prices advance as far as possible. For exactly the opposite reason buyers are equally interested in seeing them advance, because they bought very heavily of futures from pea packers in other sections north and west, and as prices advance for new pack in Baltimore it enhances the value of all the futures contracted for through the country. With so short a pack as there is in Baltimore, if the New York State and the western packers get full returns from their acreage of peas, and make complete deliveries of the futures sold, buyers will have an undoubtedly good thing of it this year on green peas, and presumably the packers will not suffer to any great extent. * * * With the exception of peaches and peas, reports of correspondents in different parts of the country speak favorably of canners' crops. Tomatoes are looking well on a somewhat increased acreage over the normal, and the same is measurably true of sugar corn, although farmers in general report a slight deficiency in respect to field corn in the Government reports. As we stated in our last, there is no hope of a peach pack in this section, and the subject, therefore, will receive and require little attention in our columns this summer.—The Trade, Baltimore.

SLACK SALMON RUN.

Advices by mail from Portland, Ore., report an extremely slack run of salmon on the Columbia river. The association was said to be operating but five canneries, and three of these only a half day every other day. The cold storage people were reported to be taking a good share of the fish for their purpose and the outside canneries were no better off than the association as regarded the supply of raw fish. Concluding, the writer says: "So far the fish are very slack. We may get some yet, and we still have plenty of time for packing if we only get the fish."

CALIFORNIAN DRIED FRUITS.

The San Francisco Commercial News, of June 8, says, regarding dried fruits: "Business for the season is about ended, and the few odd lots still offering meet with a jobbing inquiry at nominal prices. Speculators have as yet made no overtures relative to values for the new crop stock, the majority awaiting more definite reports as to the the year's output. New crop apricots from Arizona have been sold in Chicago at 10½c., delivered. The apricot crop of Arizona ripens in advance of the Californian crop, is small in size and the fruit is only medium quality, and 10½c. delivered is considered a good price for this article. The reports from Ventura grow more favorable as the season advances. It is now estimated that the crop of fresh apricots in that county will amount to 8,000 tons. Dryers have made purchases, paying $17.50 to $20 per ton. In prunes, the growing crops look well, the fruit is unusually large in size for the time of the year. The shipments by sea to foreign ports during the week were 44,368 lb. dried fruit and 401 boxes of raisins."

JAPAN TEA SITUATION.

Smith, Baker & Co.'s circular, dated Yokohama, May 25, says of the tea market: "Throughout the interval business in tea has been very active and settlements have fully kept pace with arrivals, which are 3,595 piculs in excess of last year. The buying has been general and confidence is shown by an unchanged range of prices. The leaf of late arrivals has assumed rather a coarse and stubby appearance, lacking the early sniff of first settlements, and prices on sorts ranging from 27 to 29 yen are one or two yen dearer than on the basis at which purchases were made a few days ago. At Hiogo a large business has been done, the general features of the market showing no important variation from ours. Yokohama —Arrivals, 77,607 piculs; settlements, 70,331 piculs; stock, 7,276 piculs. Hiogo—Arrivals, 26,682 piculs; settlements, 21,352 piculs; stock, 5,330 piculs. Arrivals at both ports, 104,289 piculs, against 89,842 piculs same time last year, and 103,393 piculs in 1897. Settlements at both ports, 91,680 piculs, against 79,873 piculs same time last year and 75,100 piculs in 1897. PAYING BILLS PROMPTLY.

IN these days of small profits and close competition it is surprising to note the apparent lack of regard shown by the average retailer for the payment of his obligations as they mature.

It is not unreasonable to presume that the majority of retail merchants have a thorough understanding as to the terms upon which they make their purchases, and yet, with that knowledge, they fail to adopt some simple and systematic method by which they would know each day what payments they would have to make. They seem to prefer to depend upon their general knowledge of what they owe and what is or will be due. A small yearly diary, or tickler could be obtained at a trifling expense, and, when bills are checked in as ready for payment, they could be entered upon proper date for discounting or for payment at maturity.

Notes or other items, such as taxes, interest, rents, etc., could also be entered therein. By this method a merchant would always have before him his maturing obligations and could make his calculations accordingly. Many jobbers and manufacturers would do well, also, to inaugurate and keep up such a system. The disregard of maturing bills and notes payable is not confined altogether to the retailers. There is perhaps some excuse in this respect for the retailer, on account of his lack of help and personal devotion to the other details of his business, and because in many instances he is bookkeeper, collector, manager, and everything else; but for such neglect on the part of a jobber and manufacturer with the necessary help at their command there is no excuse whatever.

Merchants have their own ideas as to how they wish to pay their bills, but they have no right to say when they shall pay them. The terms of sale govern that feature of business.

Very few houses take an arbitrary stand and refuse extensions to a worthy customer, when asked for in a proper manner, but the idea is rapidly growing in the business world that the customer who persistently steals extra time and ignores the creditors' rights is entitled to no very great consideration. AMONG TORONTO RETAILERS.

A Feminine Philosopher.

A local retailer was standing at his doorway the other day when a lady customer approached to examine some strawberries. She chose two boxes which showed some fine, large berries on the top.

"I see you choose the berries that look good and large at the top, Mrs. ——," said the fruiterer.

"Yes, Mr. ——," answered she, "I always do."

"But don't you find that those with big berries at the top often have very small ones underneath?"

"Yes, often," replied the lady, with a smile; then, she added, confidentially: "but I have found that when I see some big ones on the top I am sure of that many anyway."

"I have one wise customer," said the fruiterer, to himself, after his customer had departed.

Campers' Supplies.

Now is the time to make a bid for campers' supply trade. In a few weeks the schools will close, and, in so doing, send forth a great host of scholars and teachers who consider they have well earned a holiday, and who will soon be seeking riverside and lake shore. Some will take possession of their summer cottages, others will be content, and more than content, with a tent of larger or smaller capacity. But all will want supplies. Some will only want to purchase a supply of canned vegetables, pickles, biscuits, etc. Others will ask, in addition to these, for relishes, sauces, potted meats, condensed soups, vegetables, etc., preserved or canned fruits, provisions, and, in some cases, fresh fruits, vegetables, etc. One of the large departmentals last week drew attention to their outfitting facilities by a picture of camp life shown right in their window. The central figures were wax men, dressed in suitable costumes. At one side of the window was the doorway of the tent, with a hammock stretched near it. One of the men was represented as engaged unpacking a barrel of provisions, and the variety of goods he had taken out was indeed tempting. The other fellow was supposed to be looking after the tent fixtures, towels, soap, etc. Such windows always attract attention. A down-town retailer has a window, which, though it may not win as much general attention as the one just mentioned, should have an influence with those looking for their camp supplies. The window is a small one, but its effect is magnified by the use of mirrors. The goods displayed are high-class canned and potted goods, sauces, relishes, pickles, etc., and they are arranged in small, neat piles, which show to advantage not only the variety of campers' goods carried, but also the choice quality of the individual packages. In making a display like the first-mentioned, it would be advisable to include whisks, soaps, and other suitable articles carried by the grocers, but not designed for table use. In a display like the latter, it might be well to insert a card stating that such goods as those mentioned, also, sugar, salt, pepper, etc., are carried in stock, and sold at right prices. If crockery is carried, a model campers' table would be a good thing. Care should be taken with this, however, to give it the free-and-easy appearance so common to camping life.

ENTERPRISE, NOT PAP, NEEDED.

THE Montreal Board of Trade, at a special meeting held this week, gave another utterance to the time-worn wail with which it has treated the public for over a year back, namely, that the Government should build elevators in Montreal.

"God help those who cannot help themselves," is a saying that could be very aptly applied to those who are making this appeal. They want to be spoonfed by the Government into a position where they should depend upon their own enterprise to place themselves.

The Government has no business in the grain elevating trade, which is a fit field for private enterprise, and the men who are now asking for Government elevators at Montreal, even if they had them, would cry for more pap, when they found that grain was still being diverted from the St. Lawrence route.

If the grain traders of Montreal were independent and progressive, they would take steps to induce trade to come their way, and not sit down and cry because it does not.

That the grain trade is important to the St. Lawrence route, none will deny, and it is growing, as the shipment last year of over 29,000,000 bushels contrasted with previous years shows. But that is no argument why there should be Government elevators.

The legitimate duty of the Government ends when it has completed a system of deep waterways to the sea adequate to the requirements of modern commerce. If the Government once started in the elevator business, on the lines asked for, there would be no knowing where it would stop.

If the Government is to save the shippers of grain from private elevators, it is but just that it should save the farmers and growers. Now, it needs no solon to see what this would mean, for there are elevators to gather grain in the interior—many of them—as well as these ones at the seaboard for export purposes.

That any thriving trade can be built up in this way is disproved by the experience of the Government in other lines of commercial effort. It has an annual deficit on the Intercolonial, where it is doing a carrying trade, and all precedent goes to show that the outcome would be an annual loss.

The history of private ownership of elevators at Buffalo and all other American centres shows that there is no ground for the fears entertained by the men who want Government elevators at Montreal.

When the enlarged canals and the deep channel are completed, let private enterprise build elevators, and, in their own defense, their owners, by the competition of other routes, will be compelled to scale their rates at a reasonable level if they want to do business. The moment they try extortion, trade will seek other channels, as it invariably does under such circumstances, and matters will soon be remedied.

CANNED BEEF IS DEARER.

Canned beef of Canadian make has been advanced by the packers. One-pound tins are 10c. per dozen, and two-pound tins 15c. per dozen higher. Other sizes have been advanced in proportion. To the scarcity of beef is ascribed the cause of higher prices.

Wholesalers have not yet made any change in their quotations, although they may possibly do so any day.

THE WAY TO SUCCEED.

While there are doubtless too many people in business, the greatest evils arise from the fact that there are not enough in business who are first-class merchants.

A first-class merchant is one who knows his business from A to Z, and rightfully employs his knowledge.

The less a merchant is master of his business the more difficulty does he experience in competing with those who are rich in that which he is poor.

It is when a merchant discovers this that, like a boy who finds himself losing a race, he begins to elbow his competitor, by cutting prices, publishing false advertisements, and employing other vicious and dishonest methods.

The better a man knows his business, the more likely is he to succeed. Everyone knows it, but it is not everyone who acts as if he knew it. If he did, he would employ his time, particularly when a young clerk, in mastering the details of his business: Learn about the character of the goods in stock, how they are made, where they are made, and what are their constituent elements. A knowledge of bookkeeping should also be acquired, if it has not yet been acquired, while spare time judiciously spent with good books is to be recommended to all.

It is necessary to be up-to-date in order to be successful, and in order to be up-to-date it is necessary to watch the markets closely and to be a student of trade literature and trade methods.

GALLON APPLES SCARCE.

The position of gallon apples at the moment is a strong one. During the last couple of weeks an increased demand has revealed the fact that a scarcity exists.

Some of the wholesale houses in Toronto are actually without stocks, and are compelled to draw upon their fellow wholesalers for the goods with which to fill orders.

In consequence of this state of affairs prices are naturally firmer, and wholesalers are now, as a rule, quoting $2.10 to $2.20 to the retail trade. Packers are asking $2 for the coming season's pack.

CANADA AND THE U. S. TREATY WITH BARBADOES.

PRESS despatches from Washington announce that a treaty has been signed by Great Britain and the United States, whereby reciprocity between the latter country and Barbadoes is secured.

Geographically, Barbadoes is one of the Windward group, but politically it is part of the West India Islands. Its area is 166 square miles, and its population nearly 190,000. Bridgetown is its capital. The imports of the island are about $5,200,000 annually, and the exports about $3,750,000. Sugar and its products are its chief exports.

Upon its sugar industry Barbadoes is largely dependent, and the Royal Commission, which was appointed in 1897 to investigate and report upon the West India sugar conditions, named Barbadoes as one of the West India Islands on which no industry could be found as a substitute for the sugar industry. The commission, therefore, urged the Imperial Government to grant the sum of £120,000 for the establishment of central sugar factories there. This recommendation has since been acted upon by the Colonial Department.

Barbadoes is one of the British colonies named in the Canadian Tariff Act for preferential treatment. But whatever influence the preferential tariff may have is discounted by the fact that the countervailing duties imposed by the United States against European bounty-fed sugars actually give sugar, the product of Barbadoes, and, in fact, all other West India sugars, a greater preference than the Canadian tariff.

But it is worthy of note that the export of sugar from Barbadoes has so far this, as compared with last year, declined on both United States and Canadian account.

With Hawaii Islands, the Philippine Islands and Porto Rico possessions of the United States, and Cuba practically a possession, the prospect for the sugar industry is even more gloomy still. And the movement for reciprocity with the United States has been stimulated by the knowledge of this fact, not only in Barbadoes, but in Jamaica, Guiana and Bermuda as well.

Canada cannot stand uninterested while reciprocity is being consummated in one instance and being negotiated in other instances.

It is, perhaps, not so much the trade we have with those parts of the British Empire which have secured reciprocal arrangements with the United States, or are trying to secure them, as the trade we hope to do through the individual enterprise of our business men, to say nothing of the hope we have of ourselves some day securing reciprocal arrangements with identically the same parts of the British Empire.

With Barbadoes itself the official returns do not reveal what trade Canada does. The trade with the West Indies is all grouped under one heading. The imports from the West Indies last year were $670,622 and the exports thereto $1,511,134. To British Guiana we sent $273,937 worth of goods, and from there we imported $53,648 worth.

The export and import trade for 1897 of Barbadoes, and the principal countries with which it was done, was, according to the official returns of the island itself, as follows:

	Exports.	Imports.
Great Britain.. .....$	165,330	$2,390,826
British Guiana.....	111,855	105,266
" India.....	.....	55,553
" North America...	419,397	529,663
" West Indies.....	597,120	177,915
Dutch Guiana.....	50,175	7,358
Foreign West Indies...	86,874	57,937
Peru.....	.....	35,049
Uuited States.....	2,090,364	1,566,618
Other Countries.....	61,634	63,836
	$3,582,659	$4,909,001

It is evident from the above table that the United States is the chief purchaser of the products of Barbadoes, the exports to that country being valued at $2,090,364, against $1,293,612 to the five different portions of the British Empire enumerated in the tabulated statement.

Taking, however, the aggregate trade—imports and exports — Barbadoes' greatest trade is with the British Empire, the total being $4,471,835, against $3,656,982 for the United States. It will thus be seen that about 50 per cent. of the island's aggregate foreign trade is with the British Empire.

THE VALENCIA RAISIN CROP.

Advices from Denia, Spain, in regard to the Valencia raisin crop, continue to be of a favorable character. The vines, it appears, are developing in a satisfactory manner, due to the favorable weather which prevailed throughout the spring, and particularly during the flowering period, which, at the close of last month, was about ended.

There is a good display of buds, and W. Rogers & Co. are of opinion that if the present desirable weather continues a fair-sized crop of good quality will result. In some districts the vines are backward, notwithstanding this, shipments will begin as usual about the second week in August.

A merchant should not, in considering his own, forget the interests of his clerks. The interests of the two are so closely allied that injury to one means injury to both.

ADVANCE IN CURRANTS.

A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday announced an advance of 6d. per cwt. in the price of currants in the primary market.

In this connection it is interesting to refer to the report of The Produce Markets' Review, of June 10, in regard to the currant situation in Great Britain and Greece.

"The heavy trade," says the report, "which was done up to a few weeks ago, and which practically relieved the original holders of their stocks, has had the effect of inducing considerable shipments from Greece of currants either already sold or on consignment, and the London market is now fairly supplied. If there be added to the existing stocks those parcels of better quality fruit still remaining in Greece, and which, in all human probability, will be shipped here some time during the present season, all fear of any dearth in supply or extravagant increase of price, would appear to be removed. In the opinion of unbiassed and capable judges some 20,000 tons of currants of various qualities, but all probably sufficiently good for English consumption, still exist in Greece, and with conditions entirely favorable to the production of a crop of excellent quality, and considerable volume by the harvest of the present year, it may be expected that Greek holders generally will be averse to carrying over any portion of the existing stock until the new season. On the other hand, the universal demand continues fairly good, and if merchants, as there is every reason to expect, continue to be reasonable in the prices they ask, the stock in Greece ought to be disposed of without the necessity of undue pressure."

CANADA'S EXPORT TEA TRADE.

WHILE the export of tea is not a feature of the foreign trade of Canada in which regularity of quantity can be expected or in which a really large business can be done, measured by the exportation of goods which are the product of the Dominion, yet the experience of the past warrants hoping that a modest and permanent trade in this respect may be established.

Following are the exports, in pounds, of tea from Canada, and the countries to which they were consigned, during the past five years, ending with June 30, 1898:

	1898.	1897.	1896.	1895.	1894.
Great Britain	58,400	1,599	34,980	400	3,031
British Guiana	.....	.....	.....	.....	6
British West Indies	5,064	615	326	231	683
Newfoundland	40,232	41,116	33,903	33,702	36,249
Japan	12	.....	.....	.....	.....
France	.....	.....	.....	.....	5,888
St. Pierre	32,480	12,882	27,190	37,142	36,075
Sandwich Islands	.....	.....	.....	.....	264
United States	1,558,794	3,406,763	223,266	882,057	565,498
Danish West Indies	190	.....	.....	.....	.....
Total	1,695,172	3,462,975	319,665	953,532	647,694

The large increase during 1897 and 1898 was, it will be noticed, on United States account, and the increase on United States account was, in turn, caused by the free buying in Canada in 1897 by importers in the United States, who desired to get in as much tea as possible before the inspection laws went into force, while in 1898, the inducement to the same persons to buy in Canada was to anticipate the duty which Congress proposed to put on tea, and which it eventually did put on for the purpose of war revenue. The exportation of tea in 1897 and 1898 can, therefore, only be accounted abnormal. But the exportation of tea to Great Britain, British West Indies, Newfoundland, and St. Pierre, although small, is gradually increasing. This, together with the more or less quantity that may be expected to go to the United States, warrants believing that the average exportation of tea from Canada may be expected to be larger in the normal years of the future than in the normal years of the past.

No one living to-day may see a large trade of this character, but the geographical situation of the Dominion, with its steamship possibilities on the two oceans and its efficient transcontinental railway service, certainly tend to build up our faith in the possibility of a reexport trade in tea as wel as in other kinds of merchandise.

CANNED TOMATO SITUATION.

A LITTLE more interest in canned tomatoes has developed during the past week, due to the fact that there has been a little more business doing in round lots.

Packers who are members of the association are still firm in their minimum price of 75c. for future delivery, but as far as can be gathered they are doing no business.

The business that has been done during the past week is by the independent packers, and they have been selling at 70c. in round lots to the wholesale trade. At this figure a couple of factories are understood to have sold their anticipated pack. These are, however, small factories, whose goods are not so well known. As previously pointed out, there are one or two factories, not members of the association, that are adhering to the fixed price. A round lot or two of old tomatoes have changed hands during the week at 75c. The wholesale houses are still quoting 80 to 85c. to the retail trade, and prices are firm at those figures.

What the future will bring forth in regard to the canned tomato market, of course, no one can say. At the moment, the conditions are favorable, rather than otherwise, for steady prices, both for old pack and for futures.

Several wholesalers in Toronto and other western Ontario cities are known to have light stocks. The fact that they are repeatedly purchasing 200 and 300-case lots proves it. Of course, the slightly disturbing element is the fact that there are people repeatedly coming forward who have 200 or 300 cases to sell. But, as there are still about three consumptive months to come, these little lots may be expected to be gradually taken care of, so that present prices for 1898 pack are likely to be, at any rate, maintained.

As far as futures are concerned, nearly everything depends on the ability of the packers to maintain their fixed agreement, and the fact that the aggregate pack of those outside the association is not large should not make it difficult for them to maintain it. But, of course, time only will tell.

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Tricky business methods, like mules, are uncertain.

While merchants are fighting profits take to their heels.

Discount saving builds up reputations as well as profits.

Those who jump at conclusions frequently tumble into mistakes.

Kind words may never die, but unkind words will kill trade.

The business is probably taking time to die while the merchant cannot find time to read.

BROOM HANDLES WANTED.

Broom handles not being among The E. B. Eddy Co., Limited's line of manufacture, THE CANADIAN GROCER has been asked to make inquiries through its columns.

ONTARIO MARKETS

TORONTO, June 22, 1899.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS in wholesale groceries is fair, and a little larger in volume than it was a week ago. This increased volume of trade is probably due more to sugars than anything, for it is in that line that business shows the most improvement. In canned goods, business is of a moderate character, at steady prices. An advance by the manufacturers in the price of Canadian canned beef is the only change in prices to be noted. Coffees are still selling fairly well, but teas are, on the whole, quiet. In foreign dried fruits, the most interesting feature is a cabled advance of 6d. per cwt. in Greece. A good trade is being done in Bosnia prunes by some of the houses.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no material change in the canned vegetable situation during the week. Not much business is passing. A few tomatoes are being sold to the retail trade at 80 to 85c., the latter being the ruling figure for well-known brands. Corn is maintaining its strength, the ruling price being 95c. to $1. There have been a few transactions in tomatoes for future delivery, but the sellers, as far as can be learned, are packers who did not subscribe to the agreement, and the price at which they have sold is 70c. for round lots. At least a couple of factories have sold the whole of their anticipated pack at that figure. The minimum fixed price of the packers' association is still 75c. and there does not appear to be any disposition to depart from it. At least one packer will not accept less than 80c. The wholesalers are quoting 75c. and 80c. to the retail trade for future delivery, but little or no business is being done. Corn is being quoted by the wholesale trade at 67½c., 70c., and 80c., according to brand, to arrive. A moderate trade is being done in canned salmon. A little has been done this week for future delivery by the representatives of some of the salmon packers, but there is not much disposition on the part of either sellers or buyers to do business at the moment. The business has been in northern sockeye salmon at about $4.25 per case f.o.b. the Coast. Only limited quantities are being offered, and advices from British Columbia are of a bullish character.

COFFEES.

A good deal of Rio coffee is going out, but mild descriptions are dull. The outside markets are steady, but quiet.

SUGARS.

The demand for sugars has improved a little during the past week, and a fair, seasonable trade is being experienced. The only change in price on the Canadian is an advance of 5c. per 100 lb. by the St. Lawrence Refinery in its yellow sugar. The advance, however, has not affected the wholesale price to the retailer, Montreal granulated still being quoted at $4.60 Toronto, and Acadia granulated at $4.50.

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

Yellows range from $3.80 up. Foreign granulated is still quoted at $4.55 Toronto, and yellows at $3.75 up.

The European beet sugar market has been easier during the past week, having declined 3 to 4½d. per cwt., but cane sugar has ruled steady and unchanged. Raws are fractionally lower in New York in sympathy, while refined sugars there are quiet and unchanged. As stocks of raw sugar in Europe and America are low, it is likely the surplus carried over to the next campaign will be smaller than usual.

SPICES.

The pepper market continues strong and spices generally are quiet and steady.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The syrup market is quiet and featureless. Molasses, both locally and on the markets, is dull and unchanged as to price.

TEAS.

Advices from Japan, this week, state that the market there for teas under 17c. is firmer, but that teas over that figure are procurable at the figures ruling a week ago. A little business has been done during the past week in Japan tea for importation, but local importers have been less inclined to operate on account of some offers that were made by one or two brokers at figures rather below those now ruling. Low-grade Ceylon teas are cabled cheaper this week, while Indian teas, on the other hand, are firm. Quite a little business has been done in Indian teas for importation during the past week.

Wholesalers report that very few Indian and Ceylon teas are moving just now, retailers not being disposed to pay the prices asked. For new season's Japan tea for future delivery orders are being placed freely by the retail trade.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday morning noted an advance of 6d. per cwt. in the price of currants in the primary market. A little business has been done during the week on importation account, and wholesalers are experiencing a fair demand for cleaned currants.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Wholesalers are experiencing a good demand for this time of year, principally for selected, at from 5¾c. per lb. upwards, according to brand. It would cost 6⅝c. per lb. to import the best brands of selected raisins from London. Advices from Denia state that the crop is progressing satisfactorily, and that shipments will begin, as usual, about the second week in August.

FIGS—There is a little doing in mat figs, at 3½ to 3¾c. per lb.

PRUNES—Trade is, on the whole, keeping up well, although it is not as brisk as it was. Some of the wholesale houses have been experiencing quite a good demand for Bosina prunes at about 4½ to 5c. per lb. A good many of the orders for prunes are for shipment north.

GREEN FRUITS.

This is strawberry week. This luscious fruit is at its best as far as quality is concerned, and as on Tuesday it was received in enormous quantities prices fell to as low as 3 to 7c. Receipts have not been as large subsequently so an advance of 1c. has been noted, and the ruling price for the week is 4 to 8c., according to condition and size. Gooseberries are arriving freely. Baskets of small berries are worth 30 to 40c.; large berries, 60 to 75c. Cherries are becoming more plentiful, so prices are down 25c. below last week's figures, the price to day being 75c. to $1. There are hardly any pineapples offering. Cocoanuts are in poor demand. A small quantity of Californian peaches and plums are offering. The peaches are of medium quality, and are offered at $2 per crate. Plums are in excellent condition. They are worth $2.75 to $3.50. Canadian apples in barrels are done. The demand for lemons during the last few days has been moderate on account of comparatively cool weather. The demand for oranges has been unusually brisk all this spring, and still continues good. The high price of bananas has undoubtedly helped to bring this about, as this season bananas have been 20 to 25 per cent. dearer at the seaboard than at any time for five years. At present a good demand is noted for bananas at steady prices. Some nutmeg melons are imported to sell at $4.50 per crate.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Both the demand and receipts show an improvement as compared with a week ago. Prices are steady at 12½ to 13c.

POTATOES — Business is quiet. We quote cars on track, Toronto, at 65 to 67c. per bag, and on the street market 70 to 75c. is paid.

BEANS—There is a fair demand for hand-picked at $1 to $1.10. Medium grades are dull at 75 to 80c.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—There is nothing doing. Prices are nominally: Dried apples, 5¼ to 5½c.; evaporated, 9½c.

VEGETABLES—Green cucumbers are very scarce, as the price has been advanced about 20 to 40c., the ruling price now being 60c. to $1. Green peas are offering at 80c. per bush. New beets and carrots are 10 to 20c. cheaper. We quote as follows: Rhubarb, 15 to 20c.; radishes, 15c. per dozen bunches; spinach, 30 to 40c. per bush.; green onions, 5 to 10c. per doz.; asparagus, 30 to 50c. per doz.; celery, $1.00 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz., $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz. bunches; green cucumbers, 60 to $1 per doz.; new beets, 20 to 30c. per doz. bunches; parsnips, $1 per bag; carrots, 20 to 30c. per doz. bunches; green peas, 80c. per bush. New cabbage are being imported at $1.75 to $2 per crate; cucumbers at $2 per half-bush. hamper.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER — Receipts of dairy tubs are steadily increasing. The general quality is good. The demand is excellent. Large rolls are not coming in, nor are they wanted. Prints are arriving freely and selling steadily at unchanged prices. Creamery prints and squares are plentiful and in good demand at firm prices. Creamery boxes are ½c. dearer, in sympathy with higher prices on export account.

CHEESE—A firmer feeling is manifested, and an advance of ¼c. is well maintained. A good local trade is reported.

PROVISIONS.

A general firmness is manifested. Dry salted long clear is in good demand, and a rush for it is anticipated for lumbering camps before long. Smoked meats and lard are in active demand, both locally and throughout the country. Barrel pork stocks are comparatively light, and a good demand is reported. Plate beef, compound and shortening are moving well.

FISH.

No change is noted. We quote as follows: Fancy mackerel, 15c.; Oregon salmon, 12c.; Restigouche salmon, 17c.; Erie fresh whitefish, 8c.; North Shore whitefish, 7c.; North Shore trout, 7c.; bluefish, 9 to 10c.; speckled trout, 25c.; perch, 4c.; pike, 6c.; frogs' legs, 35c.; eels, 6c.; bullheads, 4c.; herrings, large, 4c.; halibut, 8c.; steak cod, 6c.; salt water fresh haddock, 5c.; Labrador herring, $4 per bbl. and $2 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 9 to 10c. per box; Halifax herring, $1.50 to $1.65 per 100; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; boneless fish, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; boneless fish in 1-lb. blocks, 5½ to 6c.; haddies, 8 to 9c. per lb.; lobsters, 15c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The crop reports throughout the world show improved prospects, so the strong feeling noted a couple of weeks ago has given way somewhat, allowing a decline of 1c. in all wheat but goose, which is 1c. dearer. Holders of Ontario winter wheat are asking 71c., and millers bidding 70c. on cars outside. The local street market is active in deliveries of wheat and oats. We quote as follows: Wheat, white and red, 75 to 76c.; goose, 68 to 69c.; peas, 60 to 67c.; oats, 35 to 36c.; barley, 44 to 45c.; rye, 53 to 55c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat has declinced 1c., and is now selling at 84c., Toronto.

FLOUR—An active demand continues. Prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Manitoba patents, $4.10 to $4.25; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.75 to $3.80; Ontario patents, $3.75 to $3.80; straight roller, $3.45, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—A moderate business is reported. Prices are steady and unchanged. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.75 in bags and $3.85 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $4; pot barley, $4.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 22, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE general grocery market does not exhibit any radical changes, a fair volume of trade being noted for the season. In sugar rather more inquiry is noted for prompt and future delivery, and prices generally seem to be steady. Syrups are as last reported, and though considerable irregularity continues to characterize the market for Barbadoes at primary points, the fact has exerted no influence here. Dried fruits rule steady, and jobbers have placed forward orders for further supplies of canned salmon, and also for staple vegetables for fall delivery. Rice and coffee are quiet and dull, and the same can be said of spices, though all lines of the latter exhibit a remarkably firm feeling. Tea was much the same, and in country produce and provisions speculation in butter and cheese is the sole feature.

SUGAR.

The refined sugar market rules firm, but without any quotable change in price, and refiners here are asking $4.50 for granulated, and $3.70 to $4.25 for yellows, according to grade, at the factory. The outside houses still maintain the stand they took some weeks ago, but the fact does not seem to affect prices. As a matter of fact, inquiry both for prompt and future shipment of refined sugar reflects more activity, and this is likely to continue as the preserving season approaches. The market for raw has not presented many new features lately. Cables from London report that the market for cane is dull, but not quotably lower: Java, 13s., and fair refining, 11s. 9d. Beet, weak and decidedly lower; present month, 2¼d. lower, the quoted price being 10s. 10½d., and next month, 2¼d. lower, quoted at 10s. 1¼d. In New York, raw is reported about steady; fair refining, 4⅛c., centrifugal, 96 test, 4⅝c.; molasses sugar, 4c.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market fails to present any notable change. Demand is slow at 1¾ to 2¼c. at the factory, with an advance in the case of small jobbing lots.

MOLASSES.

There has been further fluctuation in the first cost quotation of Barbadoes molasses at the Islands since last week, but prices in this connection lately have been so irregular that the trade here have given them little attention, more especially as when firm offers are asked for by importers they cannot be had. Demand for spot goods is not active, and prices are unchanged, car lots selling at 35c. and single puncheons 36c. The only business in round lots noted lately was on the basis of 34c.

DRIED FRUITS.

A quiet aspect has pervaded dried fruits lately, as jobbers have apparently filled their wants, for the time being, with Valencia raisins, and all other sorts of fruit have contributed nothing towards the lately-current movement between first and second hands. Recent sales of selected Valencia raisins were at 4¾ to 5c., while fine off-stalk were quoted at 4¼c. and off-stalk at 3¾c.

CANNED GOODS.

Business on forward account in new pack canned salmon continues the chief feature of the canned goods market, further transactions, possibly aggregating five or six carloads being noted at $4 f.o.b. Coast for Lowe Inlet in similar goods. Some inquiry has also been experienced for new pack vegetables and fruits for future delivery. It is reported in this connection that some 10,000 cases were placed before the canners arrived at the recent agreement. The terms are not public, but it is understood that the prices were inside what the goods can be contracted for now. They comprised chiefly corn, tomatoes and peas. Trading on spot has been quiet lately, and there is no cause to alter our jobbing prices for any staple lines.

RICE.

Trading in rice is of a seasonable nature, and values are unchanged.

COFFEE.

The coffee market shows no change, trading being light, while prices show no change. A few Santos at 7½ to 10c., Rio at 7 to 8c., and Maracaibo at 9½ to 14c., are the only descriptions of green bean moving in straight bag lots.

SPICES.

This market continues dull, but extremely firm in its disposition. Business in Singapore in white and black pepper is noted at 13c. and 20c., respectively, these figures being for good-sized lots, while 18c. is asked for Penang, and 14c. for West Coast. Pimento and nutmegs are steady, and the same can be said of cassia, ginger, and all other spices.

TEAS.

Some small lots of new Japan tea came to hand here towards the close of last week, and they are not obtainable under 18 to 27c., as to grade, and the quality is said to be highly satisfactory. Some business in old Japans is noted at 13½c., and Pingsuey gunpowders at 14c. Bids of 18c. were made for Ceylons this week and refused, the holders asking ½ to ¾c. advance. Advices, generally on Japans, Ceylons and China stock, are firm.

GREEN FRUITS.

There has been more business doing in green fruits lately as a result of the warm weather, all kinds of fresh fruit experiencing an increased demand. Oranges are firmer, showing higher prices all round. Prices now range from $3.75 to $4 for 200's and $2 to $2.25 for 300's. Lemons have been exceptionally active at advanced prices, and are now quoted at $2 to $3.50 per box, with few obtainable at the inside price. Few United States strawberries have been received, but receipts of Canadian are increasing, and are selling at 10 to 12½c. Offerings of bananas are much heavier, and prices are lower in consequence, at $1 to $1.60 per bunch. Californian plums are offering at $2.25 to $2.50 per crate, and new Canadian cherries at $1 to $1.50 per basket. The stock of old apples here is almost exhausted, and prices are firm for russets at $6 to $6.50 per bbl.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a better demand for eggs to-day; in consequence a moderately active business was done at steady prices. Choice sold at 11 to 11½c., and No. 2 at 9½ to 10c. per doz.

MAPLE PRODUCT—In maple product there was no change. We quote: Syrup, in wood, 5¾ to 6c. per lb., and at 65 to 70c. per tin. Sugar sold at 8½ to 9c. per lb.

HONEY—Business in honey is dull. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 9c.; dark, 6 to 7c.; white extracted, 7 to 7½c., and dark, at 4 to 5c.

BEANS—The demand for beans was slow at steady prices. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

POTATOES—Receipts of new potatoes are commencing to arrive, with prices quoted at $4.50 to $5 per bbl. Old stock are quoted at 70 to 75c. per bag.

HOPS—Canadian hops sell at 16 to 19c.; imported 40 to 43c., and British Columbian, 21 to 23c.

TALLOW—Rules quiet at 4½ to 4¾c. for refined, and 2½ to 3c. for rough.

PROVISIONS.

There is a fair demand for provisions, and prices generally are steady. We quote: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $16; short cut back, $15.50; selected heavy short cut boneless mess, $16.50, and heavy long cut mess, $15 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 7 to 7¼c. per lb., and compound refined 5½ to 5¾c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

GRAIN—Business in grain on spot was quiet, and the market was without any special feature to note. There was a good demand over the cable from the continent for Manitoba wheat, but the volume of business transacted was small. On spot, oats were quiet, with holders asking 35c. and buyers bidding 34½c. afloat. The demand for peas is good, at 75½ to 76c. afloat. Buckwheat was firm at 60c.

FLOUR—There continues to be a good local and country demand for flour, and the market is fairly active and steady. We quote as follows: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.40 to $3.50; in bags, $1.65 to $1.70; Manitoba patents, $4.20 to $4.40; strong bakers', $3.80 to $4.

MEAL—In meal, business continues quiet, and the market is featureless. Rolled oats are quoted at $3.80 per bbl. and at $1.85 per bag.

FEED—A fair amount of business is passing in feed, and values show no change. Ontario bran, in bulk, $14.50 to $15; shorts, $16 to $17 per ton; Manitoba bran, $15; shorts, $17, and mouillie, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

HAY — There is a steady demand for baled hay, and the market rules fairly active. We quote: Choice No. 1, $7 to $7.50; No. 2, $5.50 to $6, and clover, $4.75 to $5.25 per ton, on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE.—The cheese market is mixed. The current movement is confined, as it has been ever since the month opened, to those who are short of cheese for June shipments, and it does not look as though these short contracts were entirely filled yet. At any rate, traders who cabled offers on the basis of last week's average cost, find it difficult to obtain response; and the only inference is that the goods now going forward show a decided loss. At the wharf Monday morning 7,000 boxes Quebec cheese were offered and sold at a range of 8¼ to 8⅜c. On spot, western cheese were largely nominal Monday, but they could hardly be bought under 8½ to 8¾c., though it is needless to remark that such limits are not generally workable. For eastern makes, 8⅜ to 8⅝c., as to grade is about the range. The public cable stood 42s. 6d. on white, and 42s. on colored, and, as a whole, the market is in an unsatisfactory condition for legitimate trading.

BUTTER—Firmly held. The market does not show much change, and there was sufficient doing to-day to establish the fact that prices were steady. For selections of creamery, 17¾ to 18c. was named, but the outside price was an extreme figure. In this connection, the demand for 70-lb. tubs is a feature, and finest creamery in this description of package is hard to get, though 17¾c. is freely bid for it. From these top figures, prices range down for creamery, according to grade, as low as 16½c. Dairy butter is motionless.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cheese has advanced an ⅛ to ¼c., and butter about ½c. per lb.

The first receipts of new Canadian cherries are now on this market.

Both oranges and lemons are higher as a result of the warm weather.

New potatoes in barrels are commencing to arrive freely, and meet a good inquiry.

A small lot of new crop Japan tea has been received here. The quality is choice.

Laporte, Martin & Cie., Montreal, will close their establishment at 1 o'clock on Saturdays, during the months of July and August, so as to give their employes the benefit of the Saturday half holiday.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 22, 1899.

THERE is a fair summer business doing. Teas are quiet. Stocks are not large, and there is little of interest in London to draw from. Oolongs tend lower. In spice, there is little change. Peppers tend higher again, while in pimento there is a rather easier feeling.

OIL—While there is no large business in burning oil, there is a steady sale at even prices. The trade are patiently waiting for the reduction promised. In lubricating oils, heavy shipments are over, but a fair business is reported. Seal oils are tending easier, and cod oil is low, which is not usual at this season. Local demand is fair. New is not yet to hand.

SALT—While there is but a light stock of Liverpool coarse salt at present, there is quite a large cargo due, and intending buyers would do well to have their orders in, so that shipments can be made direct from the vessel's side, as by so doing they can save a profit. There is also factory filled and rock salt to arrive. There is more competition this season than usual over Canadian salt, but prices are held about even. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 43 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS — So far all canners are quoting the same price on goods for fall delivery. While some orders have been booked, dealers are hoping for lower prices, either from factories not in the association or from some that are, who, finding that the combine on prices works to the advantage of the better known brands, leaving the others unsold, may cut the figure to enable them to keep their goods on the market, as it is a much more serious thing to them than the mere loss of present sales to be shut out. It is said some canners are guaranteeing prices against decline till January. Our market is very bare of some lines, such as corn, peaches, blueberries and lobsters. Salmon and tomatoes are scarce. Prices in all lines are firmly held. Canned oysters and clams are both marked higher. There is a good demand for haddies, bloaters and sardines. Pineapple is quite scarce, but new grated and sliced is duly expected. In canned meats higher prices rule.

GREEN FRUITS — Strawberries arriving incline to be soft, which tends to lower prices, but best qualities are still high. Some very nice Ontario berries have been received. Oranges have a fair sale. Some nice Valencias were received during the week. They are not keepers at this season. In lemons, in spite of firmer prices outside, the local market is low, owing to quite a large stock, some of which is not keeping well. Those consigned here for auction are largely the cause. Bananas are still high, and stocks keep light. Our retail dealers, at least some, charge too high for fruit and so very much curtail sales. Pines are better stock, but sell slowly at even figures. Tomatoes are quite freely received. Rhubarb is plentiful and low. Californian fruits are having fair sale at full figures.

DRIED FRUITS—This is still a very quiet line. Stocks are light, except in one or two cases. Seeded raisins have a fair sale at full figures, but other lines are easy. Californian 3-crown loose have the demand. Currants show no change. Dates hold their price; stock is light and in fair demand. Prunes are easier, but sale for the season is about over. Onions are low; Egyptians are chief sellers. There are quite a few Bermudas held, and they are offered low, well below the usual figure.

SUGAR—Sales are good and prices firm, but no change during the week. Market is such that American cannot now be offered here to advantage.

MOLASSES—There is a steady sale. Prices if anything are lower than the position warrants. The cargo of Porto Rico which landed a few weeks ago was sold at quite a low figure, considering that the stock of Barbadoes is so very light. Higher values are looked for. Little is being done in New Orleans.

PRODUCE—Eggs, while rather easier, are still quite high for the season, and stocks are still light with a fair sale. In butter, owing to large supply, price is low. There is but a fair sale. Quality of that to hand is good. There is no sale for creamery. Cheese has but a local demand; price is rather easier. Market is supplied by local factories.

FISH — Dry fish are quiet and stocks rather larger, the demand being for fresh fish. Dry cod and pollock are both marked lower. Smoked herring are rather higher, with ample supply. The advance is in the New York market. There are a few pickled herring and less demand. Gaspereaux, fresh, smoked, and kippered are out of the market, and the demand for finnan haddie is largely confined to local trade. Halibut are scarce with light demand. Shad are about done. Salmon are rather higher, American demand being better, the large receipts of mackerel on that market having fallen off. Catch of salmon, both here and at the north shore has been light. Fresh cod and haddock also come in slowly. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $3.75 to $4; small, $2.25; pickled shad, $3.50 to $5, as to quality; haddies, 4½c. per lb.; smoked herring, 6½ to 7½c.; halibut, 7 to 8c. per lb.; fresh haddock and cod, 2c.; shad, 8c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.75 per 100; salmon, 14 to 15c.

PROVISIONS—In bulk meats there is a tendency to higher figures, but packers show a wide range in prices, owing somewhat to variety of grades. Smoked meats are dull. Hams have the best sale. Lard is quiet, and fair stocks are held.

FLOUR, FEED, AND MEAL—While flour tends higher, there has been but little change during the week. Local market has not advanced as much as the millers have. There is quite a range in Manitobas. In oatmeal, firmer figures rule. Oats are quiet, and it is difficult to get full figures. Cornmeal keeps low, with very free sale, Feed is quoted easier, the change being chiefly in bran. Barley and split peas are easier, particularly the former. Sale is light. Blue peas hold their price, but move slowly. In beans, sale is very dull at even figures. Seed season is over. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.70 to $4.80; best Ontario, $3.85 to $4.10; medium, $3.60 to $3.75; oatmeal, $4.00 to $4.10; cornmeal, $2.05 to $2.10; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 41 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1.05 to $1.10; prime, 95 to $1.00; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2; split peas, $4.10 to $4.15; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $4.10 to $4.15; hay, $7 to $7.50; timothy seed, American, $1.50 to $1.75; do., Canadian, $1.80 to $2.25; mammoth clover, 7½ to 8c.; alsike, 7½ to 8c.; red, 7¼ to 7¾c.

& Co., brush and broom manufacturers, are out. A cut in wages, or rather, an increase in time, is the cause of the trouble.

The exhibition this year will open September 11 and continue until the 20th.

W. E. Schwartz, of W. H. Schwartz & Son, Halifax, met with a severe accident during the week while out for a bicycle ride.

Salmon are now being freely received. Our harbor fish are of a particularly fine quality. James Patterson receives fish supplies daily.

At this season there is considerable interest in dulse. That from Grand Manan is preferred. Thomas Gorman receives regular shipments.

Californian prunes tend easier. A. L. Goodwin is quoting some low prices. The attention of buyers is particularly drawn to the "Sorosis" brand.

The wholesale grocers now have the Saturday half holiday; also the wholesale and retail hardwaremen, some of the wholesale dry goods houses, and the crockery employes are now agitating with a good chance of success.

It will not be the fault of the underwriters if the buildings to be built in the burned district are not brick, as they publish the following scale of rates: Brick buildings, 1 per cent.; one-storey wooden buildings, 3 per cent., and, if two storeys, 4 per cent.

Owing to the excessive duty charged on tobacco, very many of the smaller retail dealers cannot buy full packages, particularly where they run as large as 20-lb., So the wholesaler has in the past opened the package and sold such quantities as were required. Now the Government intend to take steps to prevent this.

EDDY'S O.K. FIBRE BRUSHES.

The E. B. Eddy Co., Limited, Hull, Que., are placing on the market an assortment of scrub, stove and horse brushes. They are made by a new process on patented machinery. The backs being made from hardwood, and in one piece, and each tuft of fibre being fastened separately in this solid wood by a hard staple, it is impossible for them to warp or come apart.

A catalogue has just been issued, showing the various styles of brushes. There are 14 styles of scrub brushes, ranging in price from $8.40 to $24 per gross. The horse brushes are listed at $30 to $36 per gross; the stove brushes at $24 per gross.

A more complete catalogue, including creamery, brewers' and whitewash brushes, will be issued in a few weeks, but dealers should write now for the catalogue already issued.

DATING AHEAD.

An interesting paper on the subject of dating ahead was presented to the National Association of Credit Men at Buffalo, by a Mr. Hugo Kanzler, who said, in part:

"It has been said by some that the liberal dating of to-day causes overstocking in a number of cases, and it is frequently the source of embarrassment to the merchant and consequent financial stringency in his business. I do not believe, however, that everyone here present will give his unqualified assent to this proposition, although it is quite probable it may have led to these results years ago in some particular instances.

"The merchant to-day is far more practical in the management of his business affairs, and now more than ever keeps close watch over his stock and the purchasing of it, with the idea of realizing the largest possible percentage of profit on his invested capital in the various departments. Consistent with this purpose, 'shut-down' orders on all buying whenever the department carries what is deemed sufficient stock to meet the estimated demand has become an established rule in all properly-conducted retail stores. Under these circumstances the moneyed man needs no 'time' to arrange his financial affairs to meet his merchandise obligations. The advantage of anticipating his purchase and making a further profit of 1 or 2 per cent. at the expense of the importer and wholesaler being his foremost consideration.

"Is the remedy within our reach to abolish or curtail dating? The answer must be—Yes, if we act concertedly, and do no overbidding.

"Can the trade carry out any uniform agreement as to dating ahead? Again the answer is—Yes. Honest and truthful compliance with the conditions and terms of the compact must be the moral duty of the subscribers; no dodging; no getting behind the true intent; no quibbling or hair-splitting over plain Anglo-Saxon terms; and no trade discounts as a mere subterfuge. Agreements of this character should be couched in plain, unmistakable business phraseology—in simple and comprehensive terms free from all legal verbiage. Only firms of unquestionable reputation and honor, whose signatures in themselves are a guarantee of good faith, should become parties to the contract. The offering of the incentive of a certain percentage as 'trade discount' must be absolutely prohibited, and special concessions to induce a sale be made on the marked price of the goods and not allowed in any other manner.

"Importers, wholesalers and jobbers should stand firmly together in whatever they do as to the agreement or arrangement that they may enter into, and any violation should be laid before a committee of arbitration appointed for that purpose. If that body after a hearing 'find' the party blameworthy, the name of the offender should be dropped from the agreement for 'unbusiness-like conduct' towards their fellow merchants. From a moral point of view this will certainly prove a salutary warning to others, and will receive the commendation from every business community, for 'What is left when honor is lost?'"

COSTLY ANCIENT DINNERS.

Lucullus was very fond of fine dinners—more so than was good for him, in his later years. In early life he was one of the greatest of Roman generals, and at middle age he had kingdoms at his feet. But, like many public men of that period, he was pursued by envious enemies, and instead of making a stand against them, he gave up all his glory, and devoted himself to idle luxury. Although he was enormously rich, he amazed his friends by the amount of money he spent in feasting them. No matter at what hour a visitor called a costly banquet was always ready to be served. People who were intimate with him often tried to catch him unprepared, but no one ever succeeded. The most artful trap of all was set by Pompey and Cicero; but Lucullus was too sharp, even for the able men.—St. Nicholas.

A CASH NOTICE CIRCULAR.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is sometimes asked for copies of circulars which have been issued to customers by merchants announcing the discontinuance of the credit and the adoption of the cash system. The following, issued by a Quincy merchant, may, therefore, be of interest to the readers of this paper :

On and after June 1, 1899, we shall discontinue our credit system and conduct our business only on a strictly cash basis. We make this change only after much careful thought. We will this year complete our 21st year of business in Quincy. During that time we have done a large credit business, and from the experience of those years we are firmly convinced that the credit system is an expensive way of doing business both for the dealer and the customer. We have also learned by experience that it is often those in whom we have reason to place the most confidence who prove unfaithful to their financial obligations to us, and therefore we can see no half-way method of giving credit.

Explain it away as much as we please, the fact remains that the credit grocer is handicapped by some longwinded and poor accounts, so, by selling for cash and cash only, lower prices can be made than when credit is given, because business can be done at very much less expense, and the loss by bad bills entirely eliminated. We shall prove to you, by prices quoted on and after June 1, that the little effort required to pay cash on delivery of goods will be more than made up to you in the saving of money by the change.

While we wish to collect in our outstanding accounts as soon as possible, we do not mean by this change to express any dissatisfaction over unsettled accounts due us, and shall exercise a reasonable amount of patience until you become accustomed to the change and can see your way clear to meet your obligations.

We take this opportunity to thank you for your generous patronage in the past, and shall make every effort possible, not alone by reduced prices, but by courteous treatment and prompt attention, to merit a continuance and increase of the same.

Believing the cash system to be the more honest and equitable way of doing business, and hoping this may be accepted in the spirit in which it is given, we are, etc.

GERMAN BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY.

A report of interest to beet sugar growers has been received by the State Department at Washington, from Consul Henry Diederich, at Magdeburg. It is a collection of the most reliable statistics obtainable since 1877. It is almost entirely composed of tables showing the development of the industry in Germany, but of particular interest only to those engaged in the business. In closing, Consul Diederich says :

"As the future of the German export trade in sugar has of late been engaging many minds, the export figures very clearly show that Germany must find an outside market for two-thirds of her production, and that most of this surplus for the past five years has been sold to England and the United States. It is also shown that in 1897 more than double the usual quantity was rushed to our country in anticipation of the enactment of the Dingley law, but that the following year showed again a fair average of export. The first three months of the present calendar year seem to furnish no reason for complaint to the German exporter of sugar. From January 1 to March 31, 1899, the values of sugar declared at the United States Consulates at Magdeburg, Hamburg, Danzig and Stettin for export to the United States amounted to $3,739,934, an increase of $3,455,695, over those reported during the first quarter of last year."

MONTREAL GROCERS' CLERKS.

The feast of St. Antoine de Padoue was celebrated by the Grocers Clerks' Association, at a high mass in St. Bridget's Church, Maisonneuve street, on Sunday. A splendid musical programme was rendered under the able direction of Prof. Penault. The blessing of 400 loaves of bread, contributed by the association to the poor of St. Bridget's parish, was included among the ceremonies. The Ville Marie Guards' band and a bugle corps; the Union Musicale and the Royal Foresters, in uniform, and the following gentlemen, who were guests of honor: Mr. Thompson, St. Joseph Society; Mr. Lambert, St. Jean Baptiste Society; Mr. V. Roy, Grocers' Society; Mr. A. Roy, Dry Goods Clerks' Association, and Dr. Plouffe, accompanied the Grocers Clerks' Association to the church, making, in all, a very imposing parade.

A banquet was subsequently held in St. Joseph's hall, St. Catherine street, last evening, at which Mr. E. Bigneron occupied the chair. The committee in charge of the the celebration was composed of Messrs. A. L. Desaulniers, J. B. Poirier, O. Langlois, and O. Bergeron. Over 200 guests partook of the feast.

COMBINATION ON FILBERTS.

Regarding the situation in filberts The Hill Bros Co. report: "Some few sales have been made to the United States by the combination of speculators in Messina at gradually advancing prices, until they have forced the market to the parity of 8¾c. As they absolutely control the situation they can put prices where they will, and may be justified in view of the reports, now confirmed, of a shortage of about one-third in the coming crop." Concerning the shelled almond market the same house say: "The present crop of Sicily shelled is reported as practically exhausted, and only 300 tons remain in Bari, certainly a small quantity when it is considered that it is three months before the new crop is available."

BRITISH COLUMBIA FISHING NEWS

THE NEWS - ADVERTISER, Vancouver, June 14, had the following: The cannerymen at Rivers Inlet, Naas River and the Skeena are preparing for a busy season. The Princess Louise has just brought down 400 cases of canned spring salmon, the first of this year's pack from Northern British Columbia. Officers of the steamer state that the northern canneries have all their tins made and are prepared to commence business about the middle of the month. It is expected that the sockeye run will begin on the 15th on the Skeena, and on the 20th on the Naas. All the canneries will be running this season, and the packs, should the season be at all favorable, will be very large.

Wallace Brothers, of Vancouver, are doing a big business at the Brunswick Cannery salting fish. When the Louise sailed they had four carloads ready for shipment to New York, this being the second consignment which they have forwarded east since entering into the industry a few months ago.

A very fine quality of mackerel has been found in the Skeena, which, although not quite the same in appearance as that obtained in the east, is said to be quite its equal in flavor. The officers of the Louise, many of whom are familiar with all the different kinds of eastern fish, sampled some of the Skeena mackerel and pronounced it as very fine. The fish is uncommon to this coast, and for this reason the northern catch created a little excitement.

WANT TRADE PROTECTED.

At a meeting of fruit-growers held in Grimsby, Ont., a resolution was passed, stating that 85 per cent. of the apples exported from Ontario are purchased, graded, packed and shipped by dealers, and that it is to their interest, as well as the interest of all concerned, that a reliable brand should be established, and asking that certain marks or numbers be adopted to indicate the grades and size of apples packed, and that an inspector be appointed with power to open any packages, and in case any package is found to contain apples inferior to the grade marks, to have the packer punished.

This resolution has been forwarded to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, with the suggestion that the terms used for grading be "No. 1" and "A No. 1." No. 1 to include sound apples reasonably free from worm holes, scabs or other blemishes, and to be not less than 2¼ inches in diameter, and grade A No. 1 the same, with apples not less than 2¾ inches in diameter.

UNITED STATES TRADE WITH CANADA.

A SPECIAL despatch from Washington to The Montreal Herald says: Exports from the United States to Canada continue to increase. The official publication of the Treasury Bureau of Statistics just issued shows the exports in detail during the 10 months ending with April, indicating in many cases the countries to which the goods were sent, and it is practicable, therefore, to compare the exports to British North America in certain of the more important articles with those of earlier years. An examination of these tables shows that in nearly all articles our exports to Canada have steadily increased during the two years in which the new Canadian tariff law has been in operation.

In the finer grades of manufactures, such as cotton cloths, manufactures of iron and steel, etc., goods from the United States also continue to gain, although it was in these lines that the new tariff law was looked upon as most likely to be disadvantageous to American industries.

Exports of cotton cloths from the United States to Canada in the ten months just ended are 50 per cent. in excess of those of last year, and other manufactures of cotton also show an appreciable gain, the increase being from $1,351,124 in the ten months of 1898 to $1,573,078 in the ten months of 1899.

Instruments for scientific purposes, including telegraph and telephone, increased from $256,935 in ten months of 1898 to $341,859 in the ten months of the present fiscal year.

Builders' hardware increased from $438,556 in the 10 months of 1897 to $581,345 in the 10 months of 1898, and $730,539 in the 10 months of 1899.

Typewriters increased from $142,591 in 1897 to $198,993 in 1898 and $294,579 in the 10 months of 1899.

Manufactures of leather, comprising boots and shoes, increased from $200,450 in 1897 to $234,446 in 1898 and $338,216 in the corresponding months of 1899.

Even in canned beef, which has been the subject of so much discussion of late, the exports to Canada increased from 415,084 lb. in 1898 to 1,525,020 lb. in the 10 months just ended, while in the single month of April, 1899, our exports to that country were 22,341 lb., against 8,684 lb. in the corresponding month of 1898.

Our total exportation to Canada in the 10 months just ended amounts in value to $73,052,819, against $66,330,872 in the corresponding months of 1898, and $52,831,784 in those of 1897. Thus, importations into Canada show a steady gain during the year in question.

On the other hand, the imports into the United States from Canada show a steady reduction, the total imports into the United States from Canada during the periods under review having been $30,966,674 in 1897, $26,099,200 in 1898, and $25,550,538 in the 10 months of 1899.

The following table shows the principal exports from the United States to Canada in 10 months of 1897, 1898 and 1899, respectively:

Exports to Canada from the United States during 10 months ending—

MR. LARKIN BACK FROM EUROPE.

Mr. P. C. Larkin, of The "Salada" Tea Co., has just returned from a ten weeks' trip to Europe. He originally intended to "loaf about England," as he put it, but the weather was so cold in London that he decided to take a run over to Paris. Cold weather was there, too, and so he hied away to Marseilles, where he found the kind of weather he desired. He subsequently visited Cannes, Nice, Florence, Rome, Naples and Pompeii. On his way back to England he stopped at the principal points of interest in Switzerland. Mr. Larkin, who was accompanied by Mrs. Larkin and his eldest son, had a most delightful trip, and charmingly entertains his friends with incidents and experiences gathered during his visit to so many interesting points in Europe.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wethey, of St. Catharines, were in Toronto this week.

Dr. Fielding, who is physician to the employes of J. & J. Colman's mustard works, Norwich, Eng., is in Toronto, on a visit to his brother, Mr. E. Fielding, the grocery broker.

Mr. W. H. Seyler, of W. H. Seyler & Co., Toronto, has returned from a week's fishing at Lake Tamiscaming. He had a pleasant time, and is loud in his praises of trade possibilities in that part of Ontario.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, June 19, 1899.

THE week has not been a particularly eventful one, although some things of interest may be noted. Perhaps, chief among these is the meeting called for Monday night to consider the question of a produce exchange. The circular calling this meeting has been issued by C. C. Macdonald, dairy superintendent of the Province, and has been sent to fruitmen and produce dealers in all lines. The commissioner is very anxious to see this exchange started, as, at the present time, there are no means of grading either butter or cheese, and in the case of the latter produce, particularly, inferior fetches as much as good, and there is, therefore, a lack of incentive for making the best possible grade. Your correspondent will attend the meeting, and will, no doubt, be able to report progress next week.

While on the matter of cheese, it is well to note that Mr. Clough, dairy produce buyer for J. Y. Griffin & Co., has just returned from a trip through the Province with the dairy commissioner. He is an old and experienced cheesemaker from Ontario. Your correspondent called upon him, when he kindly ran over the various factories visited, making comments on each. He is very much pleased with the factories and the system of cheesemaking, and states that the make of cheese this year is likely to be very fine, as more attention has been paid to the curing-rooms, and the cheese is being cured longer before going on the market. The market for butter is well supplied. The pasturage now is luxuriant all over the Province, and full grass butter is now the order of the day.

As the camping season gets nearer, retail grocers are preparing to supply parties for Rat Portage, Killarney, Oak Lake, Shoal Lake, and also numerous prospecting parties.

TEA—Cable despatch from China indicates that the market is very firm and has every appearance of remaining so for all first crop teas. Nothing special has yet been received from Yokohama in regard to the Japanese crop.

CANNED GOODS—Nearly all the associated factories have issued their price lists, but, up to date, there have been very few purchasers of futures in this market, notwithstanding the intimation that factories will cover any decline. It would appear from the lists that prices are going to be higher than is usual at the opening. It remains to be seen, however, if these quotations will be maintained. There is a rumor afloat here that factories intend selling to retailers at a slightly advanced figure on jobbing prices. If this is done, it is quite certain wholesale houses in this city will not patronize the associated factories to the same extent as formerly. Peaches and pears, 3-lb. tins, first quality, are rather scarce in this market. Strawberries are offering very freely, of course, these are last year's pack. It is somewhat difficult to distinguish one pack from another, and there is a growing feeling among buyers here that factories should date their goods on the cans. Prices of the new pack of vegetables, as near as can be learned, will be about as follows : Tomatoes, $2.20 ; corn, $1.90 ; peas, (Marrowfats) $1.90; sifted, $1.95 ; beans, $1.85 to $1.90; strawberries, $3.25.

EVAPORATED FRUITS — Apples still continue high and very firm, but with the increase of Southern green apples the demand will lessen. Evaporated are quoted at 10c. and dried at 7½c. In Californian fruits the market is still too high for much movement. The only reasonable article is prunes, which can be had at from 5½c. up.

MEATS — Cured meats are higher and firmer, though home cured is not yet advanced to the American prices. We quote American meats: Hams, 14 to 16c.; breakbellies, 12c.; ditto, backs, 11½c.; shoulders, 9c.; spiced rolls,9c. Winnipeg curing houses quote hams, 11½c.; breakfast bellies, ditto backs, 11c. ; shoulders, 8½c. Canned meats are very firm, and a slight advance is reported on corned and roast beef. It looks as if American packers had agreed on a price, at anyrate if one house makes a price the others meet him.

SALMON — The present indications seem that there is likely to be a fairly good pack at fairly reasonable prices.

BUTTER — Creamery butter is plentiful, and 15c. is the highest price being paid at factories. There is a fairly good demand for full grass dairy butter, but nothing else is wanted. Full grass dairy, well packed in tubs, is worth 13 to 14c. Winnipeg, but any other line of dairy is a drug.

CHEESE—Cheese is beginning to come in and some sales have been effected for 8 and 8½c., but the price is likely to be lower this week.

EGGS—The price has improved, and 13c. net Winnipeg is now offered by jobbers for strictly fresh stock.

GREEN FRUITS—The market is well supplied in all lines and trade is good. Oranges and lemons are without change in price or situation. Peaches are arriving freely and are quoted at $1.50 per case ; plums, $2.50 ; apricots (new in this week), $3 ; cherries, $2.75 ; Hood River strawberries, $4 to $4.25 for 24's; Wisconsin do., $2 for 16's. Bananas arriving plentifully, quoted at $2.25 to $2.75 per bunch, according to size. Cabbage, 6c.; tomatoes, $3.50 per crate ; Cucumbers, $1 per doz.; new potatoes, $3 per cwt.

It will contain 40 pages, half of which will be full-page illustrations, in half-tone, of some of their best patterns for the coming season. The management of the company requested us to advise the dealers in wall papers that, if, after the present month has expired, they have not received a copy, they can be cheerfully supplied with one on application, as it is quite possible some may be inadvertently overlooked in the rush of mailing.

LIMBURGER CHEESE IN CHURCH.

MA sent me to pay a bill at the grocer's last Saturday. The boss behind the counter made me a present of something wrapped in a piece of silver paper, which he told me was a piece of limburger cheese. When I got outside the shop I opened the paper, and when I smelled what was inside I felt tired. I took it home and put it in the coal shed. In the morning I went to it again. It was still there. Nobody had taken it. I wondered what I could do with it. Father and mother were getting ready to go to church. I put a piece in the back pocket of father's pants, and another piece in the lining of ma's muff. I walked behind when we started for church. It was beginning to get warm. When we got in church father looked anxious, and mother looked as if something had happened.

After the first hymn mother told father not to sing again, but to keep his mouth shut and breathe through his nose. After the prayer perspiration stood on father's face, and the people in the next pew to ours got up and went out. After the next hymn father whispered to mother that he thought she had better go out and get some fresh air. After the second lesson some of the churchwardens came round to see if there were any stray rats in the church.

Some more people near our pew got up and went out, putting their handkerchiefs to their noses as they went. The parson said they had better close the service and hold a meeting outside to discuss the sanitary condition of the church. Father told mother they had better go home one at a time. Mother told father to go the nearest way home and disinfect himself before she came.

When they got home they both went into the front room, but did not speak for some time. Mother spoke first, and told father to put the cat out of the room, as she thought it was going to be sick. It was sick before father could get it out. Mother then turned round, and noticed that the canary was dead. Mother told father not to sit so near the fire, as it made matters worse. Father told mother to go and smother herself. Mother said she thought she was smothered already. Just then the servant came in, and asked if she should open the windows, as the room felt very close.

Father went upstairs and changed his clothes, and had a hot bath. Mother took father's clothes and offered them to a tramp, who said, "Thanks, kind lady, they are a bit too high for me." Mother threw them over the back fence into the canal. Father was summoned afterwards for poisoning the fish. Mother went to bed. Father asked her if she had been fumigated.

Just then father had a note sent him. Father came to wish me good-night at 10 o'clock in the evening, with a note in one hrnd, a razor-strap in the other. I got under the bed. The people next door thought we were beating carpets in the house. I cannot sit down comfortably yet. I have given my little sister what I had left of that limburger cheese. I thought it a pity to waste it.—Grocery World.

WOMEN DRUMMERS.

"Have women drummers proven a success?" said a wholesaler who employs a large corps of travelers, and has had no little personal experience on the road. "Yes and no. In certain lines they have done remarkably well, and in others they have failed. The thing seems to simmer itself down to this: A woman drummer generally succeeds best in light varieties of trade that bring her into contact with men who are accustomed to meeting lady customers. Otherwise she is out of her element. Men of affairs who handle large interests and place large orders do not like to talk business with a woman. They feel under a certain restraint, and if they speak their minds plainly in regard to the quality of goods or their prices, or the representations made to them, the woman drummer is liable to construe it as a personal affront. The fact is that the majority of business men dislike to see a strange woman in their offices, and the result is that a woman solicitor is tremendously handicapped, no matter how earnest and able she may be. As I remarked before, women drummers are all right in certain lines, but I only know of three or four in the entire country who have made a really pronounced success. The road is apparently one field that must be left to the men."—N.E. Grocer.

FRESHENING DUSTY PACKAGES.

The Chicago Grocer says that a very sensible plan for freshening up cartons and other packages containing food products was suggested by the applied energies of a grocer and a clerk who were found going over their shelf goods the other day. In the hand of each was a piece of plastic composition used to clean wall paper. It is cheap and effective as an agency for the removal of dirt, dust, smoke, etc., from wood, paper, tin or glass.

A STRIKING ILLUSTRATION.

That was rather a good story told by Bailie Anderson on Tuesday evening at the early closing meeting. The Bailie had furnished a weirdly grim depiction of the hardships of the grocer and the assistant, and capped it with the following: A grocer and his family lived somewhere in the city. One Sunday morning while his wife was getting ready for the kirk a scream reached her from the kitchen, and immediately thereafter one of the youngest of the boys entered the room. "Wha's touching ye, Johnnie?" the mother said in sympathetic voice to her son. "Yon man." "What man, dearie?" queried the mother. "The man that comes to the hoose on Sundays." "Why, son, that's yer faither," said the mother. "I didna ken," the boy said, wiping the tears from his face with the sleeve of his jacket and sidling out of the room. That, said the Bailie, was the most striking illustration he could offer them of the excessively long hours the modern grocer had to work.—Scottish Trader.

GREY BLIGHT ON TEA.

Whether it is a result of the recent severe drought all over the island, or is due to some more permanent cause, there is no doubt that this tea pest is unusually prevalent in some districts of the island at present. It is heard of in Dimbula, as well as in the low-country districts of the Kelani Valley and Kalutara, and in some quarters has caused alarm as to its ultimate effect on the tea. If it is only the result of the prolonged dry weather we have been suffering from, following, as this did, the drought of last year, much importance need not be attached to it, and we think this is the opinion of of a good many planters.

One visiting agent, who has seen a good deal of it lately, says that he noticed it three or four years ago in Dimbula, but that it never did much harm, and that it has been only intensified by reason of the recent abnormal seasons. We think it very probable that, with the advent of the southwest monsoon, and the return to our ordinary rainfall, the pest will disappear in most places; but, in the meantime, there is no doubt that, wherever it is prevalent, the bushes should be cut down and the prunings carried away and burned, so as to prevent its spread.

It was, perhaps, inevitable that, as in the case of coffee, the covering of large portions of the island with unbroken stretches of one cultivation should encourage the appearance of blights and pests of different kinds, and the total immunity from these that Ceylon tea was at first favored with, in contradistinction to its Indian rival, could not last for ever. But, as in India, where red spider, grey blight, and other tea pests have been known for a long time past, but have never seriously damaged the industry, we do not think there is at present any cause for alarm in this direction to the Ceylon tea industry. —Times, Colombo, Ceylon.

SUGAR-GROWING IN QUEENSLAND

A COMMUNICATION from The North Queensland Herald states: The cane sugar industry in Queensland has made enormous strides of late years. Unlike the West Indies, in many of which Islands the methods of growing and making are old-fashioned, in Queensland the most skilled and economical systems are employed—in fact, unless this were so, the colony would lose her Australasian market, for beet sugar from Germany is exported to Melbourne and Sydney in some quantities as it is. The coast plateaus of North Queensland for hundred of miles are eminently suited for cane cultivation, and the limit of sugar production is the market for the manufactured article. The industry has had its ups and downs in the colony, laborers from the Pacific Islands, indentured under the most stringent conditions to the planters, are used for field work, but are not allowed to attend to any other branch. The sudden restriction of the importation of these Kanakas—for political reasons—some twelve years ago gave the industry a terrible blow. The same Minister who stopped the introduction of the South Sea Islanders, seeing the impending ruin of the sugar trade, removed the interdict some years later, and from the beginning of this decade sugar has waxed marvelously. A cablegram just to hand reports that the production of sugar for the 1898-99 season, just over, amounts to 164,000 tons, from 82,000 acres, an increase of 66,000 tons on the year. This production of sugar is more than equal to the export of the two most important sugar-producing districts of the West Indies —British Guiana and Trinidad. In the old days of sugar planting, growing cane and making sugar were one industry, but within the last few years a system of central mills has sprung up, under which cane cultivation, and the crushing and making into sugar, are distinct processes. Many of the large plantations have been cut up, and the industry has passed into the hands of farmers, who only want protection from bounties to find in it a most profitable employment. The working account of one of these central mills to last December gives the following particulars: Average quantity of cane to 1 ton sugar manufactured, 8 tons 10 cwts.; average value of sugar sold per ton, £8 9s. 5d.; average cost of cane per ton, 14s. 5d.

A NEW PLUG TOBACCO FACTORY.

Among the many industries which have been recently launched, none start under brighter auspices than The Dominion Tobacco Company at Montreal. Capable, experienced men are at the helm, who will make a strong bid to secure a share of the plug tobacco market of Canada.

Although their brands have only been offered within a short time, the trade have received them with approval, and state they are meeting with pronounced success. New styles have been introduced, following on the lines of the best productions of the United States, particularly in their high-grade chewing tobaccos, which are most attractively packed in small-sized packages, a feature fully appreciated by the trade.

The Dominion Tobacco Company operate two licensed factories, which are located at Papineau avenue, and have large storage and curing-houses in connection, the whole occupying an entire block. The latest up-to-date machinery and appliances are in operation, no expense having been spared to produce the finished article in the highest state of perfection.

They carry a large stock of imported Virginia tobacco, which is used in their smoking and bright chewing brands, as well as a heavy supply of the choicest domestic leaf produced in the west.

"Pommery" and "Black Bass," the former a high-grade chewing, and the latter a navy chewing, are taking well, while their "Monarch" and "Clover" smokings are in demand. The company manufacture a full range of the popular shapes, both in smoking and chewing plug.

Their price list has been arranged to net the retailer from 25 to 45 per cent., naturally a matter worth being considered by the retailer.

A "BLUE" BUSINESS ISSUE.

Another big industrial issue is, we learn, on the stocks. The well-known blue and starch business carried on for so many years by Messrs. Reckitt & Sons, Limited, will shortly be offered to the public. The name, of course, is a household word, and the flotation should awaken much attention. The capital is to be £1,700,000 in £10 shares, of which 50,000 will be 4½ per cent. cumulative preference shares. All the members of the firm will retain an interest in the new business, and five of the name occupy seats on the board, at a remuneration of £1,000 each per annum.—Grocers' Journal.

41 Years.

41 years is a long time to maintain one position in the Starch business in Canada, namely—at the head. During that time competition has invited a lowering of prices at the expense of quality, but we believed then, and believe now, that "quality" in Starch, as in everything else, is the corner-stone of a successful business.

We have kept abreast of the times. We have always tried to improve even on our best efforts of the past.

"Edwardsburg"

and "Benson" are so closely identified with the Starch business of Canada that the names have become household words. It is your privilege of course to experiment with "new things," but it costs money and loses trade for you. The housekeepers of Canada have confidence in the names "Edwardsburg" and "Benson"—41 years have proved it with

CANNED GOODS IN TORONTO.

I VISITED a number of the larger retailers in Toronto the other day with a view of ascertaining the comparative consumption of canned goods in the city during the past year. The general verdict seems to be that the consumption has been larger this season than last, but this is attributed by many to special causes, the scarcity of fresh vegetables and the high prices of many fruits. Stocks are generally lighter than was the case a year ago.

Robt Barron, 726 Yonge street, had found an increased demand for all canned goods, not only for vegetables, but for fruits and fish. He was not prepared to state how his stocks compared with a year ago.

D. Bell, 702 Yonge street, thought tomatoes and corn had shown the greatest increase, but all vegetables in the past year than in previous ones. His stock, he thought, was lighter than this time last year.

Henry Swan, of Swan, Bros. said: "The past year has been a most satisfactory one. As we bought at a moderate figure, and the market advanced, the profit to us was unusually good. We stocked up heavily, but the demand has been fully as large as usual, so we have less on hand now than we generally do at this season, though."

W. J. Coutts, 461 Sackville street, answered: "I found a general increase in the demand. Not only tomatoes, peas and corn were affected, but has been noted in some other lines. The sales of string beans, for instance, have grown in the last two years to a respectable figure. Canned salmon and canned fruits also were in better demand. I have enough stock to last through this season."

F. W. Johnson, president of the Retail Grocers' Association, 82 Davenport road, has done considerable jobbing in tomatoes this season, and was quite satisfied with returns. "As far as my own store trade is concerned," said he, "business in canned goods has been more than satisfactory. More than ever have been sold, and the profit, you know, has been all right. Of course,

ONE CAUSE OF THE BIG INCREASE in the demand with us has been that the population in the north of the city is increasing. There are no empty houses here now. My stocks are all getting light. But I have enough to last me till the new goods are in."

Clancy Bros., Harbord and Major streets, who also do a jobbing trade, were of the opinion that the consumption this year had been larger than usual. "This," said a member of the firm, "is accounted for, to some extent, by the fact that most fruits have been either dear or scarce, and that fresh vegetables have not been as plentiful as customary. The demand, though, is sure to increase to some extent in a growing city like this. I could not give an exact estimate of our stocks, but I should judge them to be about the same as last year."

Another retailer who has a good jobbing patronage is W. J. Sykes, 346 College street. He told me that he had found the demand for canned vegetables larger this year than usual. This, with the advance in prices, had made the past season a most satisfactory one. His as a year ago. "Though there has been an increased consumption in the past season," concluded Mr. Sykes, "there is no good reason for an opening price of 75c. at factories. The production will be almost doubled this year, I believe. Last year, at this time, when prices were considerably lower, the production expected was nothing like that looked for this year.

STOCKS ARE ABOUT THE SAME

THE FACTORYMEN

speak of one-third of their output having been already contracted for, but it should be known that they have contracted for it largely among themselves. It will take a good deal more than this to convince me that conditions warrant 75c. at the factories to-day."

A. White, 438 College street, considered that his sales of canned goods had been about the same, and possibly somewhat larger than in the previous season, but, as he did not buy in as large quantities this year as he did last, he could not make a comparison of his present stocks.

Wm. Moore & Sons, 402 Spadina avenue, estimated that the consumption of all canned vegetables this year has been considerably above that of last. "This is," said Mr. Moore, sr., "largely because our customers have been from the butchers. Then, all through the season, the ruling price has been 3 for 25c., which seems to be the popular price. My experience has always been that when the price gets above these figures, say to 10c. straight, the consumption is affected fully 20 to 25 per cent. Therefore, I am of the opinion that packers would make a mistake to force prices above the 3 for 25c. basis."

J. W. Sanderson, 601 Dundas street, has found the demand for all canned vegetables much larger than last year. His stocks of tomatoes are larger; those of peas and corn are lighter than this time last year. "I have especially noted," said he, "the increase in the

DEMAND FOR CORN

in the last two seasons. Last season, corn, you know, sold at 5c. for many months. This increased the consumption, and introduced the goods to so many people that, even when the price this season advanced to 8c., the consumption continued to grow. There is no doubt that the consumption will still increase, but a year or two of low prices, while the quality is as good as it has been for the past few years, would help wonderfully to develop it."

H. W. Marmion, 1178 Queen street west, said: "There has been a good, all-round increase in the consumption of canned goods. This is partly due to the scarcity of fresh vegetables, but, apart from this, there is no doubt the past year shows that canned goods are growing in popularity. I now have more tomatoes and less peas and corn than I had in stock a year ago."

Thomas Holmes, 994 Bathurst street, had also found the increase in sales to be of a general nature. "But," reasoned he,

"ALL TRADE HAS BEEN GROWING with us. Besides, it was often impossible to get fresh vegetables, and when they are scarce the demand for canned goods is always large. I don't believe the past season has given us much reason for believing that the consumption of canned goods is increasing with great rapidity."

J. D. Kelly, of Kelly Bros., 90 Queen street east, said: "As we DID SOME SPECULATIVE JOBBING

in canned goods this year it would be hard to make a comparison with last year. But I think our sales over the counter have been considerably larger than a year ago. In peas, especially, this season we have done a good business. We have got hold of a brand of Canadian peas, which I believe equal to, and, in some respects, superior to the French article. We push it, and find it gives satisfaction. As long as the packers put up their goods in such quality as this line shows, there will be an increased demand for canned goods."

TEA CULTURE IN SOUTH AFRICA.

The tea industry in Natal is, according to an exchange, becoming an important factor in South African agriculture. The output of the tea estates in Natal for the year 1898 was from 300,000 to 400,000 lb., and estimates place the crop for next year at 1,250,000 lb. The chief centre of the industry is the Clifton Tea Estate, comprising about 3,000 acres on the Nonoyoi River, about 55 miles from the city of Durban. In a recent report Consul-General Stowe, of Cape Town, who recently visited the district, gives an account of the methods of tea culture employed.

The picking season in Natal commences generally early in September and goes on until about the end of the following May. The months of June, July and August are taken up with digging and manuring the land and pruning the plants.

The tea is picked by the coolies, mule cars in different gangs collecting the leaf. Men and women are employed in the picking process. The tea leaf is taken down to the factory, where it is "weighed in." When that is done, it is spread out thinly on frames covered with hessian, for the purpose of "withering," in a temperature of 85 to 90 deg. In the course of twelve hours the leaf has become perfectly soft, and produces the same sensation to the touch as a silk handkerchief. The leaf is then passed through shoots into the machine-room, where it is "rolled," the object of this process being to break up the juice cells in the leaf and to give the leaf that peculiar twist characteristic of the tea seen in ordinary commerce. When the rolling is finished the sappy, juicy mass is sent down into the cooling chamber, where it is spread out and submitted to the action of the air at a temperature of from 60 to 70 deg. This is the critical stage in the manufacture of tea. The eye of the experienced manager is required to see that the fermentation is arrested at the exact time, or the tea would lose quality and would acquire an undesirable flavor. The rolled leaf is then passed to drying trays, in which it is spread out thinly and submitted to a temperature of about 250 deg., the excessive heat staying fermentation and taking all moisture out of the leaf. The now manufactured article is sent on to the sorting department, where the different grades of golden pekoe, flowery pekoe, pekoe souchong, souchong, and dust are separated by machinery, which consists of a huge revolving cylinder, the meshes gradually getting larger towards the outer end, so that the "dust" falls from the separating machine first and the coarsest leaf, the "souchong," last. It should be pointed out that the smallest leaves on the twig, when picked, make the finest tea.

The tea is then put into air-tight bins, where it is allowed to remain for from two to three months to mature. After this it goes to the packing department, where it is put into packets or boxes for the trade. At the Clifton estate all boxes and chests used in packing the finished product are made by coolies who are employed specially for this purpose.

If the industry develops at the rate now promised, Mr. Stowe is of the opinion that ships carrying goods to South Africa will soon be able to secure regularly a return cargo of tea, instead of being compelled to go in ballast to the Far East for return cargo, as is now the case. If this become possible, freight rates to that part of the world should be considerably reduced.

THE BEAUTIFYING OF STORES.

ART GLASS IMPROVED.

MANY progressive business concerns in the cities and large towns obtain from decorative glass panels an artistic finish to their premises which is not without its telling effect upon the public. That this impression upon customers is of value to business is a point on which there is nothing but strong opinion.

The new style of art glass, known as electro-glazing—a specialty marketed by The Luxfer Prism Co., Limited, Toronto—has decided merits. The toughness of electrically deposited copper is resorted to in order to afford a panel which needs no disfiguring strengthening bars, and which has no cement to work loose with jarring. There is no bagging to the glass—a matter of much consideration. In cost, the improved glazing is practically the same as leaded work, and, therefore, in the end should be much cheaper, repairs being a remote contingency.

The Luxfer Prism electro-glazing lends itself to any class of design ; it may be said, in fact, that the more intricate the pattern the better this system is adapted for it. The glazing lines are much neater and finer than in any other, even the most expensive class of copper or German silver bar.

The Luxfer Prism Co.'s field in art glass is rapidly expanding, as it deserves—the latest installaion being in the new palatial steamer, Toronto, for The Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co.

WHAT LED HIM TO THE WEST.

Mr. Goodfellow, one of the oldest merchants in Prince Albert, recently told a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER what led him to go West. While at his home in Peterboro', Ont., a missionary who was supposed to have just returned from the West, but in reality never was there, went through the county preaching about the good country, where there was very little to do, and a free and easy life. He said : "In Prince Albert you will find a mission where all are welcome. You need not knock on the door, but walk in. No one ever knocks on doors in that country. Once inside you will find people with open arms to receive you."

"We found the mission all right," said Mr. Goodfellow, "but it looked as if no one had ever lived there. Prince Albert hadn't much more than a Hudson's Bay post then. Now it is one of the towns of the West."

IT COULDN'T BE DONE.

An individual with considerably more lung power than was agreeable to his hearers was hawking fish recently in a northern town, says Tit-Bits.

"Fine fresh herring'—fower a penny," he roared, in a fashion that made the windows rattle.

A woman approached the barrow and eyed the fish with a certain amount of suspicion, which, considering the circumstances, was not unnatural.

"Are they fresh ?" she demanded, with a suspicious sniff.

"They're fower a penny, mum," was the guarded reply.

"Yes," responded the other, with a touch of sarcasm, "I think I 'eard yer say so. But are they fresh ?"

"For aught I know, mum, they is."

"Where wor they cotched ?"

This was too much, and, adopting the sarcastic style of his questioner, the hawker replied :

"Can't say for sartin, mum. I applied for the birth an' death stificate of every fish on the barrer, but, at fower a penny, it simply couldn't be done ! "

"'Ere y'are ! Fower a penny, herrin'."

"HOT-WEATHER WISDOM."

Those are the words that a progressive grocer used to a representative of this paper last week. This particular grocer stood behind a handsome showcase full of cigars, and the force he put into the remark that he made was undoubtedly emphasized an hundred fold from the fact that he was then counting over his day's receipts from his cigar trade. "Money talks," he continued; and he added, "to-day has given me the most convincing proof of my wisdom in carrying a side line of cigars that I could ask for."

It was a hot day—one of those days when business usually seems to be at a standstill, especially in a grocery store. Seventy-six dollars and twenty-five cents were the total receipts to the grocer for that day's sale of cigars. True, his store was a very popular one, and was situated on a direct line of electric cars running into the country, and probably his cigar trade had been stimulated by the demand which would naturally come from smokers who patronize the open cars so liberally in hot weather. Nevertheless, the representative of THE GROCER was assured that, even before the electric car line was put in at all, the demand in hot weather from his regular customers always increased four fold.

It seems as though a profitable lesson could be learned from the experience of this one grocer in question, and, for the benefit of our readers, we cite this as an example of "hot-weather wisdom."

Remember the old saying, "never put off for to-morrow what you can do to-day." The grocer who hesitates about writing to some well-known cigar manufacturer for prices loses the most profitable part of the cigar-selling season. It will pay any grocer to write to-day.

A TRIBUTE TO SMOKING.

Apropos of tobacco, Dr. Geo. F. Shrady, the physician who ministered to General Grant during his last illness, says: "Smoking even the finest Havanas will not cure neuralgia. It may, however, make a man so contented that he forgets about the pain. No one can deny who has tried it that there's a lot of solid comfort in a good cigar. It is only when we forget the law of moderation that smoking becomes injurious. Then, when the appetite fails and the nerves are unstrung, it is time to stop. A man when he reaches that stage, be he President or the humblest citizen, must learn self-denial, It is impossible to estimate the amount of mischief caused by cigarette smoking. I have no word of apology to offer for cigarettes. I'm afraid there is nothing that can be said in their favor. There are no vital functions that these pernicious little things are not liable to injure. But a good cigar—that is another thing. A good cigar has inspired many a great poem, brought to the musician's brain the melody that would make him famous, wooed for the artist a glimpse of the ideal he sought, and stimulated many a heroic deed."

T. H. Smith, who recently sold out his retail grocery business at the corner of Ontario and Wellesley streets, Toronto, has started in business as commission produce dealer, under the style of T. H. Smith & Co., 70 Colborne street, Toronto.

Having cold storage in its own building, cartage to, and charges for storage in, the large public storage warehouses will be saved, while produce can be seen by buyers at any time. MONTREAL WHOLESALERS BUYING CANNED GOODS.

THE conviction that the agreement between the packers of canned goods will be of some duration is evidently widespread among the Montreal jobbers, if recent contracts that they have been placing with the canneries are a fair indication.

The demand has chiefly been for tomatoes, corn, peas, and beans, contracts for upwards of 3,000 cases of these having been booked by sales agents in Montreal during the past ten days. These were closed at 75c. for tomatoes, 65c. for corn and peas, and 65 to 70c. for beans, according to quality.

One result of these large sales is that the market has been firmed up, agents having had old prices withdrawn.

Corn seems to be an article of great interest in this respect, and packers who have not already contracted are asking 70c., and there seems to be a good prospect of prices going higher.

So far, Montreal jobbers have done very little in canned fruits, except in raspberries and strawberries, of which some round lots have been placed at $1.35 for preserved strawberries, and $1.15 for the same in syrup, and $1.40 for preserved raspberries, and $1.15 for the same in the syrup. In peaches, pears, and apples, nothing has yet been done. Agents state that their principals refuse to quote peaches on account of the uncertainty as to the crop this season, some estimates stating that fully half the nominal peach yield has been destroyed by the frosts of the early spring.

In canned salmon, jobbers are steadily accumulating supplies on the basis of $4 f.o.b. Coast for Lowe Inlet and similar brands.

STILL AGITATING AGAINST SUGAR BOUNTIES.

AGITATION against bounty-fed sugar is not yet by any means dead in Great Britain. Only a few weeks ago, the London Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution, with only three dissentients, asking the Government to seek an agreement with Germany, Austria, and other countries that have expressed a willingness to abolish bounties, providing for the absolute exclusion from their territories of all bounty-fed sugar.

Coming from such an influential body as the London Chamber of Commerce, the resolution should have some weight with the British Government. Whether it will or not remains to be seen. Personally, our faith is not very large.

France and Russia were obdurate at the congress held a year or two ago, and they have not yet exhibited any change of heart.

As long as these stumbling-blocks are in the way, it is improbable, especially in view of the indisposition of the Imperial Government to employ radical remedial measures, that Germany, Austria or Belgium will abolish the objectionable bounties.

While waiting for Germany, Belgium, Austria, and other countries to untie the gordian knot, Great Britain could, by employing countervailing duties, easily cut it, but the Imperial authorities, while willing to assist in the untying, are unwilling to independently cut it, remedy and all as it might be.

And in the meantime, the sugar industry of the Empire is compelled to sit in sackcloth and ashes.

SALMON CANNING IN B.C.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is in receipt of another letter from Malcolm & Windsor, Limited, Steveston. B.C., in which it is stated that the canned salmon situation has become even more serious than when the firm last wrote this paper.

The scarcity of fishermen is, they say, phenomenal. Steveston, the headquarters of the salmon industry of the Fraser river, which, at this season of the year is usually hustling with activity, is, to all intents and purposes, deserted. "No fishermen seem to be coming around, and some of the canneries have not a dozen men they can count on. Unless things take a decided turn for the better it is likely to go hard with the smaller factories along the river this season. Up to date, only some 900 licenses have been issued, an exceedingly small number for this season of the year."

It would appear as though the predictions made regarding the effect on the canned salmon industry of the new regulations issued by the Government were being fulfilled.

In Toronto, during the past week, a few orders have been taken for sockeye salmon for future delivery at open prices. The representatives of some canneries have, however, received no quotations whatever. Some northern river spring canned salmon has been offered in Toronto at $3.75 f.o.b. the Coast, but no business has transpired as far as can be ascertained.

WILL TORONTO WHOLESALERS AMALGAMATE ?

More than once, lately, people have suggested to THE CANADIAN GROCER that it would be a good thing were the wholesale grocers in Toronto to amalgamate and form a syndicate.

At the moment, a movement is actually on foot, having for its object the consummation of the idea.

It has only, so far, reached an initiatory stage. The wholesalers with whom THE CANADIAN GROCER has conversed in regard to the matter are generally of opinion that it would be a good thing, and, while they are not hopeful of its consummation in the near future, are of the opinion that a consolidation will eventually take place.

THE CANNED GOODS SITUATION.

A MORE interesting condition of affairs has developed in canned vegetables for future delivery during the past week.

When the packers' agreement went into effect on June 10, it will be remembered that the minimum selling price at which tomatoes were to be sold for future delivery was 75c. per dozen, and for peas and corn, 65c.

During the past week or ten days some of the jobbers in Toronto and elsewhere have been rather anxious to buy corn. As a result of this there has been an advance of 5c. per dozen in canned goods for this commodity; but even at 70c. packers will not sell corn unless tomatoes at 75c. are taken with it. As the jobbers had, before the fixed prices went into effect, already contracted for a good quantity of canned tomatoes, they are indisposed at this stage of the campaign to place fresh orders for this particular vegetable. Hence, there is not, at the moment, much buying by the wholesale houses.

Within the last week or ten days corn for future delivery has been sold to retailers at 65c., but the wholesale house which sold at that figure would not to-day accept less than 70c., which is the ruling figure. The range is from 70 to 75c. per dozen.

With regard to tomatoes, the most interesting feature in connection with these is the withdrawal of quotations on futures by at least one of the independent factories. It has booked a good many orders, and states it will not book any more until something definite is known in regard to the pack. The fixed association price is unchanged at 75c.

There have been a few transactions in 1898 pack tomatoes at 72½ to 75c. per dozen, and in one instance there was a sale at a still lower figure, but it was a forced sale and cannot be taken as a criterion of the markets. These were all odd hundred case lots.

The wholesale houses are quoting 75c. to the retailer for tomatoes for future delivery, and 80 to 85c. for 1898 pack goods.

As to the size of the coming pack no one can, of course, yet measure it; but should the crop conditions be favorable it will undoubtedly be large, if one can gather anything from the professed intention of the packers, several of them purposing to double their output as compared with that of 1898. But drought or early frosts may put their calculations awry.

At present, rain is certainly wanted, and this fact is already exercising its influence on the pea and strawberry pack, both of which are likely to be small. On account of the condition of the pea pack, there are people who are strongly of the opinion that it will prove the leading commodity for speculation during the ensuing canned goods season. The price of peas for future delivery has been advanced by the wholesale houses, and 70c., instead of 65c., is now the lowest figure, while some houses are quoting as high as 75c.

In the orders that are being booked for canned goods by the members of the association is a clause guaranteeing prices against a decline until the goods are shipped.

Until then, and that is until the fall, it is questionable whether there will be at any rate a decline. Should the pack, particularly of tomatoes, turn out to be large, there are not wanting those who are ready to predict a decline after the goods have been delivered. Such a thing may happen, but it is safe to say the association would do its best to prevent such a thing, for it would mean death to the fixed price and to any it may devise hereafter.

Unless something unforeseen happens, there does not appear to be any likelihood of any reduction taking place in the price of canned vegetables for future delivery for some months at any rate, whatever cause there may be for it in the size of the pack.

The independent factories, as far as can be learned, appear to have pretty well sold their anticipated output, particularly of tomatoes. This certainly strengthens the hands of the association. Then, with the market cleaned up of old corn and the new pack of peas short, the outlook for these two lines is for steady to firm prices.

One feature of the situation this week is the freer purchase of canned goods for future delivery by the retail trade and the increased willingness to sell futures of the members of the wholesale trade, who had hitherto been passive in this respect. Several thousand cases have been sold on this account during the week.

CHEESE TOP-HEAVY.

AN undertone of anxiety pervades the cheese market regarding the immediate future of values, and, while it cannot be said that actual reaction has occurred this week, it is felt that a decline in Great Britain might lead to a sharp break in values on this side, because the price will be made there, and not in Canada, during the next few weeks or so.

Up to the present, the price was made in Canada, entirely irrespective of what the British market warranted.

Towards the end of May, speculative operators commenced to cable cheese for June shipment to England as low as 8c., and these short sales, which were very heavy, possibly from 60,000 to 85,000 boxes, were made at prices ranging from 8 to 8¼c. spot Montreal.

Now, as the first cost in the country, except in a few isolated instances, has never got below 8c., it will be easily recognized that the shorts for June shipment have been steadily losing money. They contracted to ship cheese at 8 to 8¼c. Montreal, and the goods have cost them more than that in the country.

It has been these speculative short sales that have put the market up to where it is, and now it is inclined to be top-heavy, as it naturally should be, under the circumstances.

With a make largely in excess of that of last season, it is hardly to be expected that prices throughout will rule from 1 to 1½c. per lb. above those of last year.

The statistical position in this connection is interesting, inasmuch as it is bearish. To date, the receipts at Montreal have exceeded those for the same period last year by 65,000 boxes. The exports also show an increase of over 10,000 boxes, compared with the same period in 1898. Not only, therefore, must the stock in store be much greater than it was last year, but more cheese has already been sent forward for consumption. Neither of these circumstances are bullish in their construction.

VEXATIOUS CUSTOMS REGULATIONS.

ONE might almost think it was the special office of some one under all Governments in Canada to devise and draw up Customs regulations vexatious as it is possible to make them.

There have, of course, been occasions when the Customs Department has obviously been persuaded to create a regulation which, although in a covert manner, increases the duty on a certain article, and, consequently, increases the protection which a certain industry enjoys. But, as a rule, the vexation which a regulation causes is the result of a desire to make it as efficient as possible. Good intentions do not, however, always produce good results.

A man who does not know the bowsprit from the topmast, may, with the very best intentions, undertake to pilot a vessel along a dangerous shore or into an intricate harbor, but that does not condone for the loss of the vessel. The man might say that his intentions were of the best; but the court of inquiry would, none the less, ascribe the loss to criminal negligence.

Time and again it has been demonstrated that it was, indeed, "a novice in the trade" who drew up many of the regulations governing the importation of goods into Canada.

There can be no other conclusion, unless we accept the other alternative and ascribe it to ulterior design.

A regulation, like everything else, can only be judged correctly by its results. The vexations which have followed in the wake of some of the regulations now in force clearly reveal their character. We are reminded of this by a letter which lies before us. It is from a house in France, and here is what it says in regard to certain tariff regulations :

> Invoicing to your country will soon become a work of art, and will require a special staff to get through the work. We shall never, in the busy season, be able to make out all the documents required by a lot of small shipments. If we had 15 or 20 invoices to make out we should never have time to fill up Form "J" in every one * * * Form 6 is sufficient to scare us from making any consignments, especially as it must be written, printed or stamped on the invoice. Such a lot of red tape is not likely to increase business with your country.

The regulations referred to are instructions to exporters in foreign countries for invoicing goods to Canada. And we wish we only had the space at our disposal for their reproduction. The prolixness, to say nothing of the abtruseness of some of them is enough to make an exporter hold his breath, not "for a time," but for all time.

If an exporter in France, for instance, sells goods to Canada which come within the purview of the French treaty, he must use two forms described respectively as "F" and "J." Form "F" consists of 143 words, without taking into consideration the signature, etc., of exporter and the form describing the number, character, etc., of the goods. Form "J" is the form for entry under the general tariff of Canada, and, without signature, etc., consists of 65 words. The latter must be written on the face or back of the invoice. It must not be attached or pasted thereon. The former may be on a sheet and separately attached.

Form 6, which the writer of the letter from which the above extract was taken says is sufficient to scare him, is the declaration to be made by the foreign owner or exporter of any goods shipped to Canada on consignment, and contains 460 words, minus the signature of the exporter, the name of his place of business and the declaration of the notary or consul before whom the declaration was taken, or equal to about one column and a quarter of THE CANADIAN GROCER. If the consignment comes under the French treaty, Form "F," already described, must be attached to, or written or printed upon, the invoice.

Both Forms "J" and "No. 6" must be written, printed or stamped on the face or back of the invoice. Is it any wonder foreign exporters are scared?

Form "P," which is the certificate prescribed to be written, printed, or stamped on invoices of all articles, except sugar, for entry under the British preferential tariff of Canada contains 178 words minus the "fill ins," which would materially increase the number.

It seems to THE CANADIAN GROCER that if business commonsense were applied to the drafting of Customs regulations one form might be employed where four or five are now made to do duty, and that imperfectly.

Hon. W. Paterson, Minister of Customs, who has always exhibited a desire to make Customs regulations as reasonable as possible, will, it is to be hoped, give this matter his consideration.

TRASHY TEA AT 80c.

Th lowest-priced tea retailed in Russia is 80c. per lb., and it is not of as good quality as the 25c. tea retailed in Canada.

THE CANADIAN GROCER'S authority for this statement is a Russian gentleman who has arrived in Canada within the last month. Eighty-cent tea in Russia he termed trash.

The chief cause of the high price of tea is, of course, the high import duty imposed for the purpose of protecting the home tea-growing industry, which is about as low in its possibilities as the tariff is high in its exactions.

The gentleman in question, who lived not far from the tea gardens in the Caucasus, corroborated what Mr. R. V. Webster, of The Cooperative Tea Gardens Association, Colombo, Ceylon, told THE CANADIAN GROCER some weeks ago in regard to the stunted character of the tea plants in that part of the country.

DEAR TARRAGONA ALMONDS.

Tarragona almonds promise to be a dear commodity next season. The 1898 crop sold at figures about 25 per cent. above those of the previous year. Now, advices come to hand to the affect that the 1899 crop will be dearer by 25 per cent. than that of 1898.

An advance of 50 per cent. in two years is likely to materially affect the importation of Tarragona almonds into Canada.

A GROCER FROM ST. CATHARINES.

Mr. James Lee, a grocer of St. Catharines, was in Toronto on Wednesday. "The strawberry crop," he said in reply to a query, "is light and the quality of the berry poor owing to the want of rain. The peach crop, in my opinion, promises fair. Corn came up well, but the drought has prevented the plants from making good headway."

FILBERTS 1c. PER LB. DEARER.

Filberts have advanced 7s. 6d. per sack in the primary market. This is equal to 1c. per lb.

The cause of the advance is the shortness of the crop and the speculative buying by people in the producing districts.

ONTARIO MARKETS

TORONTO, June 29, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE feature of the wholesale grocery trade this week is the increased interest which is being taken in canned goods for future delivery, retailers being freer operators than at time of last review. Canned corn and peas are both firmer for future delivery. In canned vegetables of last year's pack a fair sorting-up trade is being done. Sugars are rather quieter than a week ago, but prices are steady and unchanged. Very little is being done in teas. Green Rio coffees are in fair request. Rice and tapioca are selling fairly well. In foreign dried fruits the situation is much as before. Both filberts and Tarrragona almonds are quoted higher in the primary markets.

CANNED GOODS.

Increased interest has developed in futures during the past week, particularly on the part of retailers, who have been buying rather freely. The price for future delivery to the retailer for tomatoes is still 75c., but peas and corn are higher, by both packers and wholesalers. The minimum figure with the packers is now 70c. for peas and corn, while wholesalers are quoting 70 to 75c. to the retail trade. At present packers' prices, the wholesale houses are still indisposed to buy freely of tomatoes. Corn, however, they would be more inclined to take, but the packers will not in many instances accept an order for corn unless tomatoes are also purchased. The pea pack is a light one, and the outlook is the same for strawberries. In regard to old pack canned vegetables there is still a fair sorting-up trade being done at 80 to 85c. for tomatoes; 70c. up for peas, and 95c. to $1 for corn. Canned salmon is in fair demand, although very little is being done for future delivery. Spring salmon is being offered at $3.75 per case to arrive f.o.b. the Coast.

COFFEES.

The primary markets are a little steadier. Locally, the demand for green Rio coffee is steady, with prices unchanged at 7½c. upwards. Very little is being done in the milder grades of coffee.

SUGARS.

Business is scarcely as good as it was a week ago, although quite a little sugar is still going out. The sugar trade has been rather disappointing this month, caused, possibly, by the light crop of strawberries. Prices, locally, are steady and unchanged. In New York, last week, raws declined 1-16c. per lb. and on Tuesday, of this week, there was a similar decline. In the European markets there has been a reaction from the recent decline, this week's cables quoting fractional advances in beet-root sugar.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The price of tapioca rules strong, and 4¼ to 4¾c. per lb. now represents the range of quotation to retailers. In consequence of the high price of tapioca more attention is being paid to rice which rules steady and unchanged as to price.

See pages 27 and 28 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business is quiet and prices unchanged in regard to both syrups and molasses.

TEAS.

Indian teas on spot at 15c., and Ceylons at 16½ to 17c., are in fair demand, but stocks are light. Good values are being shown in Ceylon teas at 20 to 22c. "They are the best values I have seen for some time," remarked a well-known broker. Mail advices from London, England, under date of June 16, state, in regard to Indian teas, that the sales passed without material change in prices. "The new teas, which were mostly disappointing in quality, did not prove of much interest to the trade, prices for all except the lower grades being unusually low, with a somewhat weak market." In regard to Ceylon teas, the advices say: "Buyers discriminated in this week's sales more than they have done for some time past, giving considerable attention to teas with good character, prices for which showed an occasional slight advance, while lower and medium grades were inclined to be less animated and prices occasionally fell ¼d. per lb."

Advices from Japan state that the natives are keeping teas back in expectation of higher prices. The quantity of tea received at Kobe is 20 per cent. in excess of that of last year. The market for teas below 18c. is firmer. In values, Japan teas are much ahead of last year.

NUTS.

Advices just to hand note an advance of 7s. 6d. per sack, equal to ½c. per lb., in the price of filberts. The cause is the extremely short crop and speculative buying. It is reported that the price of Tarragona almonds will be 25 per cent. higher than last year. Prices last year were 25 per cent. higher than the preceding year.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—The wholesale trade is still fairly good, but very little has been done during the past week for importation.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Selected raisins on the spot are still very scarce, but there is a quantity of fine off-stalk in first hands, which will probably supply the demand until the new crop arrives.

FIGS—Are progressing very satisfactorily, but the trees have not entirely recovered from the disastrous consequences of last winter's frosts. The production is presently estimated at between 40,000 and 50,000 loads.

GREEN FRUITS.

The indications at present are that the strawberry crop this year is going to be a short one. Everything went well until the last ten days or so, during which time the weather has continued so hot and dry that berry fields in nearly every section are dried up. The Oakville, Bronte, and Clarkson districts seem to have suffered least, but the aggregate amount coming in from all sources is so small that prices have advanced 2c. per quart, according to quality. As high as 10c. has been paid for a few lots, and some dealers are talking of 12½c. berries for Saturday next. The crop of cherries is above the average, and as receipts have increased prices have decreased, so that sour or cooking cherries are selling freely at 65 to 75c., and sweet or table cherries at 75 to $1.25 per basket. Red currants are commencing to arrive, and are moving well at 65 to 75c. per basket. Gooseberries are plentiful at 30 to 50c., according to quality. Californian peaches and plums are arriving in larger quantities, and in better condition. Peaches are selling at $1.50 to $1.60, and plums, according to variety, at $2 to $3 per crate. Pineapples are very scarce, the reason being that they are arriving in New York in such poor condition that they cannot be sent on from there in large quantities. On account of the scarcity the price of best qualities has advanced 5c. Extra fine black Spanish watermelons are arriving in good quantities, and are selling freely at 25 to 30c. each. There are no Florida tomatoes arriving, but the market is amply supplied with Texas fruit at $1.75 to $2 per crate. There is a good demand for lemons and bananas, and a fair movement of oranges at unchanged prices.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—An active movement is reported. Prices are unchanged at 12½ to 15c., but the feeling is rather stronger than a week ago.

POTATOES—A few old potatoes are offering. Prices have advanced to $1 to $1.20 out of store and on the street market. There is nothing doing in car lots, however, as new potatoes are starting to come in at $1.25 per bushel.

BEANS—A moderate demand is noted. Prices are unchanged at $1 to $1.10 for hand-picked, and 75 to 80c. for medium grades.

VEGETABLES—Green peas are ariving in larger quantities, and are selling at 75 to 90c per bag. New cabbage are also arriving more freely, and are 10c. cheaper. We quote as follows: Rhubarb, 15 to 20c.; radishes, 15c. per dozen bunches; spinach, 30 to 40c. per bush.; green onions, 5 to 10c. per doz.; asparagus, 30 to 50c. per doz.; celery, $1.00 per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz., $1 to $1.25; parsley, 20 to 25c. per doz. bunches; green cucumbers, 60 to $1 per doz.; new beets, 20 to 30c. per doz. bunches; parsnips, $1 per bag; carrots, 20 to 30c. per doz. bunches; green peas, 75 to 90c. per bag. New cabbage are being imported at $1.65 to $1.90 per crate; cucumbers at $2 per half-bush. hamper.

PROVISIONS.

The firmness which has been noted for some weeks has resulted in an advance of ½c. in breakfast bacon, hams and backs. Canadian heavy mess pork is 50c. per cwt. dearer. The demand, both for Ontario and British Columbia consumption, at the advanced prices, is so brisk that packers are five or six days behind their orders.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER — There is a good demand for dairy tubs and pound prints, both for local and export trade. Receipts are liberal. There is also a large delivery of packages of creamery. The demand is active and prices unchanged at 16½ to 17c. for tubs and boxes and 17 to 17½c. for prints and squares.

CHEESE — The feeling locally has strengthened somewhat, and dealers maintain 8¾ to 9c. as a jobbing price more strictly than in the last week or so. The price at country boards is 8¼ to 8½c., which is above the export basis, and the English price to-day is equivalent to 8⅛c. Toronto.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The feeling is somewhat easier, and a decline of 2c. for both red and white wheat is noted. Holders of Ontario winter wheat are asking 69c., and a moderate business is reported. There is considerable activity in wheat on the Toronto street market. Wheat prices are 2 to 3c. lower, but coarser grains are unchanged. We quote as follows: Wheat, white and red, 73c.; goose, 66c.; peas, 60 to 68c.; oats, 35 to 36c.; barley, 44 to 45c.; rye, 53 to 55c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat has declinced 2c., and is selling at 82c., Toronto.

FLOUR—A good demand is noted, with prices 10c. lower than last week. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.10; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.70; Ontario patents, $3.70; straight roller, $3.35, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Business is dull. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.75 in bags and $3.85 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $4; pot barley, $4.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES Deliveries continue large. Prices are steady. We quote cowhides: No. 1, 8¼c.; No. 2, 7¼c.; No. 3, 6¼c. Steer hides are worth ½c. more. Cured hides are worth 9c.

SKINS—There is no change. We quote as follows: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 9c. per lb.; No. 2, 7c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c. Sheepskins are worth 90c. to $1, and lambskins, 25c.

WOOL—A stronger feeling is noted, causing an advance of 1c. Receipts are larger. We quote fleece at 13 to 14c., and unwashed at 8 to 9c.

SALT.

A good business is reported. We quote at Toronto: Canadian salt, carload lots, $1 per bbl., and 65c. per sack of 200 lb.; less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl, and 70c. per sack. At the wells, we quote F.O.B., barrels, 70c.; sacks of 200 lb., 45c. English coarse salt is

MARKET NOTES.

All grades of flour have declined 10c.

Canned corn and peas for future delivery are quoted 5c. higher.

Filberts and Tarragona almonds are dearer in the primary markets.

All provisions are stiffening in price. Breakfast bacon, hams and backs are ½c. dearer.

Old potatoes are scarce in Toronto, and are selling at $1 to $1.10 per bag on the street market. New potatoes are starting to come in at $1 to $1.25 per bush.

On account of drought, strawberries are very scarce. They are now selling at 6 to 9c. per box. Gooseberries, cherries and red currants are coming in freely this week. A few raspberries have been received, but are not looked for in quantities before July 10.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 29, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THERE was a fair volume of business in wholesale groceries during the past week, an improved demand being noted for several leading staples. This was notably the case in connection with refined sugar which rules steady. Prices on molasses have again recovered at the Islands, but, as noted last week, these frequent fluctuations are attracting slight attention. On spot the price of Barbadoes is firmly held. Open orders for early shipments of new crop Valencia raisins are recorded coming from the West. Other dried fruits are featureless. Canned goods generally are steady, and some large contracts have been closed for forward shipment of new crop vegetables, etc. Rice, coffee, spices and tea are generally quiet.

SUGAR.

There is a steady feeling in sugar in this market with an improved inquiry from city and country customers on the same basis, $4.50 for granulated, and $3.75 to $4.25 for yellows, according to grade. Cables in regard to raw show that the position rules steadier than it did at the close of last week. Cane, in London, is quiet and unchanged, Java, 12s. 9d., and fair refining, 11s. 9d. Beet was firmer in tone on Tuesday, but not quotably higher, present month, 10s. 9d., and next month, 10s. 9¾d. In New York raw was steadier in tone this week, fair refining, 4⅛c.; centrifugal, 96 test, 4⅝c., and molasses sugar, 4c.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups continues exceedingly quiet, and prices are nominally unchanged at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb., as to quantity and quality at the factory.

MOLASSES.

The latest cables from the Islands on Barbadoes molasses are firmer again, once more quoting first cost at 15c., as against 14c. last week. As pointed out last week, however, these frequent fluctuations at the Islands lately have attracted no attention on spot or caused any alteration in prices. The recent advices also seem to indicate that the stock on the Islands is pretty well absorbed, and steady prices are now looked for. Business on spot is quiet, sales of car lots being quoted at 35c., and single puncheons 36c., the range which we quoted last week.

DRIED FRUITS.

During the week open orders have been received here from the West for several small lots of the early shipments of the new crop Valencia raisins, amounting to about 2,000 boxes. No definite figures have yet been specified in this connection. On spot no further business has been noted, as jobbers are now supplied for the time being. Cables in regard to the growing crop indicate an average yield this season. Reports with regard to currants are firm, and there is nothing to relate in regard either to prunes, figs or other fruits.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a good fair trade on spot in canned goods from stock. Beans are scarce here and the supply of peas also is light, with sales of the latter at 67½c. Tomatoes have sold at 75 to 77½c., and corn at 70c. In other lines business in a regular jobbing way is quiet.

RICE.

There is a good demand for rice, and the market is steady in tone. We quote: B standard, $3.40 to $3.50; Patnas, $4.12½ to $4.75; Japans, $4.50 to $5, and Caroline, $6 to $7.

COFFEE.

Business in green coffee in bags has ruled dull. Some sales of Maracaibo are quoted at 12c., and low-grade Santos at 8c. Jamaica and Rio stock has also changed hands at 8 to 9c., as to grade.

SPICES.

There is no change in spices, the firm feeling being fully retained. We quote: Singapore black pepper, 12½ to 13c., and Singapore white, 19½ to 20c. Penang pepper, 17½ to 18c., and West Coast, 12 to 13c. Pimento, 11 to 12c. Nutmegs, 28 to 44c., as to quality. Cassia, 9 to 10c.; Jamaica ginger, 19½ to 20c.; Cochin tips ginger, 6 to 6½c.; Zanzibar cloves, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 40 to 55c., and mace, 45 to 50c.

TEAS.

The market has not reflected anything striking during the week. Sales of the new crop Japan, to which reference was made last week, are noted at 19 to 19½c., and the quality is said to be remarkably fine. Business in old Japans has transpired at 13c. for low-grade stock. Pingsuey gunpowders are firm, with business reported at 13c., and Ceylons have been placed at 17c. for fine stock.

GREEN FRUITS.

There is a good business in all lines of green fruits, both with local and country buyers. Oranges maintain the advance noted last week, and lemons also continue in good demand at the rise. Pineapples are almost off the market, and bananas also have been scarce, and prices are higher at $1.25 to $1.75. There have been heavy receipts of strawberries, and prices have dropped 5 to 7c. per box. There is a good demand for Florida tomatoes at $3.50 per crate, and Mississippi at $1.20 to $1.30. Cherries are commanding $1.25 to $1.50 per basket for red, and 75c. to $1 for white. Offerings of Californian fruits are light, and demand is active at $2.25 to $3 for plums, $1.40 to $1.75 for peaches, and $2.25 to $2.50 for apricots.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a little more activity in the egg market to-day, there being a better demand for small lots at firm prices. Choice candled stock sold at 13 to 13½c.; ordinary, at 11½ to 12c., and culls at 9 to 10c. per dozen.

MAPLE PRODUCT—There was nothing new in maple product. The supply is small and business quiet. We quote: Syrup, in wood, 5¾ to 6c. per lb., and at 65 to 70c. per tin. Sugar sold at 8½ to 9c. per lb.

HONEY—For honey there is little inquiry at present, and the market is dull. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 9c.; dark, 6 to 7c.; white extracted, 7 to 7½c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

BEANS—In beans, trade continues quiet, and prices rule steady. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

POTATOES—The tone of the market for potatoes is strong, and prices are steadily working up. Receipts are light, and sales of car lots to arrive have taken place at 85 to 90c., and in a jobbing way as high as $1.10 is being asked.

ASHES—Receipts of ashes are small, and the market is quiet, but steady. We quote: First pots, $4, and seconds, $3.80 per 100 lb.

HOPS—Are quiet at 16 to 19c. for Canadian.

DRIED APPLES—Steady, at 5½ to 6c. for dried and 8½ to 9c. for evaporated.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

FLOUR — In sympathy with the wheat markets an easier feeling prevailed in flour, and holders in some cases showed a disposition to shade prices, but no actual decline was recorded. Business was only fair, the demand being chiefly for small lots. We quote as follows: Winter patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.40 to $3.50; in bags, $1.65 to $1.70; Manitoba patents, $4.20 to $4.40; strong bakers', $3.80 to $4.

WHEAT — The continued weakness at American grain centres and lower cables checked business on spot, and the market was quiet, but the tone was about steady. No. 2 white oats were offered at 34½c. afloat. Peas sold at 76c. afloat, and buckwheat was quoted at 60½ to 61c.

MEAL—There is only a moderate demand for meal and the market is quiet. Rolled oats are offering at $3.80 per bbl. and at $1.85 per bag.

FEED—The demand for all kinds of feed continues fair for the season, and the tone of the market is steady. We quote: Ontario bran, in bulk, $14.50 to $15; shorts, $16 to $17 per ton; Manitoba bran, $15; shorts, $17, and mouillie, $18 to $25 per ton, including bags.

HAY—At country points an active trade continues to be done in baled hay for shipment to the United States, in consequence prices are firmly held. For choice No. 1 buyers are paying $7 to $7.50, and for No. 2, $5, f.o.b., cars. On spot the demand is good, and, as supplies are not large, prices are firming up. We quote:

CHAS. GYDE,
20 St. Francois Xavier Street, MONTREAL.

Choice No. 1, $7.50 to $8; No. 2, $5.50 to $6, and clover, $4.75 to $5.25 per ton, on track.

PROVISIONS.

A fair trade was transacted in smoked meats, but the demand for lard was somewhat limited and pork is dull. The tone is steady and prices are unchanged. We quote: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $16; short cut back, $15.50; selected heavy short cut boneless mess, $16.50, and heavy long cut mess, $15 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 7 to 7¼c. per lb., and compound refined 5½ to 5¾c. per lb. Hams, 10 to 12c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—The cheese market rules steady, and there was little doing on spot to-day aside from what was done at the wharf, where 5,000 to 6,000 boxes of cheese sold at 8⅜ to 8½c. The cable was unchanged at 42s. 6d. for white, and 42s. for colored. On spot holders were asking 8⅝c. for Ontario, and 8⅝c. for Quebec stock.

BUTTER—Business in butter is rather quieter, and offers have been made at lower prices, and, though 18c. is named, 17¾c. is near the top for business on spot, while prices run down to 17½c. In the country, however, full bids are still reported, and it is undersood that 17⅝c. was paid in the Townships to-day for pet factories.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The first cost of Barbadoes molasses at the Islands has advanced 1c. to 15c.

Western buyers are placing open orders here for early shipments of new crop Valencia raisins.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., June 29, 1899.

THE half year is about gone. It has been one of fairly successful business. While the amount of trade done has not been extra, markets have favored wholesale grocers, and in some lines much better profits have been made than usual. This has been particularly the case with canned goods. Molasses and fish, and to some extent flour, have shown good margins, but, when all has been taken into consideration, profits have not run into big money. One feature of business during this half year has been the fairly large imports of American sugars. It has given the consumer every satisfaction, and is much preferred to other foreign sugars. But no large quantity of the latter has been brought here. The week has shown no particular changes in prices. Future business begins to occupy much attention.

OIL—Lubricating oil has a fair movement at even prices.—The season's business has been large. Low prices ruling have, no doubt, led to more free buying than usual. As far as other lines are concerned, there is a growing tendency to buy as needed. The high price of turpentine continues to surprise the trade, as earlier signs seemed to favor even figures. Market is very firm. Linseed oils are high and stocks are not large. Cod oil begins to have more attention; prices are low. No large quantity has as yet been received, and it is too early to say if the low prices will hold through the season. Burning oils show a fair sale, but no change in price.

SALT—The arrival of a cargo of Liverpool coarse salt has caused a busy week in this line. It came upon a lightly stocked market, and found quite a ready sale. In factory-filled, some in particularly good condition is now on the market. Canadian has good sale, but only in fine salt, cheese salt being the coarsest that is brought here. Sale in small bags is limited. Twenty and fifty-pound sizes have never been popular. Box salt is largely used, tens and twenties chiefly. For table salt, American in small packages is quite freely used; also English bottled. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 43 to 45c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—Some quite large orders in corn, peas, and tomatoes have been placed, largely with one or two canners, for the trade prefer to buy the best-known brands when all prices are the same and they are guaranteed against decline. Dealers are not giving complete orders, preferring to see how things will look later. They seem to feel at least tomatoes should be bought below present figures. Little interest is, as yet, taken in other lines. Californian fruits have little sale here. The market for futures here seems uncertain, and, at present, prices have been withdrawn. American pineapple is quite largely used here. The pack is said to, so far, be a very small one, and some packers have refused to book further orders for the present. Oysters are higher, and the outlook is a very firm one. Salmon is firmly held; stock light. Vegetables are a very light supply, and particularly in corn. It looks as if everything would be cleaned up before new arrives. Gallon apples have a steady sale at full figures; stocks light.

GREEN FRUITS — Prices depend very largely on the condition of the goods. Dealers do their best to keep stocks down, as our market is not large enough to move large quantities quickly, so that an overstock means very low prices and often direct loss owing to decay. Bananas continue to hold a place of first interest. Values are quite high. Oranges have but a fair sale. Prices show no change. Lemons are still low, but stocks could not be replaced at the ruling figures. A fair business is being done in Californian fruit, but demand is limited. The cherries arriving have been very fine. Strawberries are lower. The Ontario berry is taking the place of the American. Rhubarb is very low; in fact, there is an oversupply. Tomatoes have a more general sale.

DRIED FRUITS—There has been some interest in evaporated apples. The market was almost bare, but a car consigned has supplied present demands, sales at this season being very light. Prices seem rather easier. There is no sale for dried. In all lines prices are easy, owing to limited business, but when dealers want to replace stock from outside points they have to pay full figures, and in some lines advanced figures, low-priced goods being well cleaned up. Prunes are dull and price easier. Onions are low, particularly Bermudas. In nuts there is light business. Peanuts are very firm, being somewhat higher.

SUGAR—There is no change in the local market. There is good business reported, and rather an increasing demand for granulated. While the position of sugar would seem to be a strong one there has been, if anything, an easier tendency during the week.

MOLASSES — This line gives promise of firmer figures, but present prices are lower than expected. Local market is lower than most outside points. There is a fair sale. The receipt of a number of small consignments from the West India Islands tend to an easy market even with Barbadoes a very light stock, and Porto Rico quite high.

PRODUCE—Eggs are beginning to ease off in price owing to more free receipts. P.E. Island eggs have kept too high for this market, but some are now being received. In butter, business is dull. There is an overstock. Quality is quite fair, but price is low. There is no sale for creamery except in a retail way. Cheese is a fair sale at even figures, small being prepared for local market. The consumption is, however, not large. Small are also used for the West Indian trade, but only large for the English market.

FISH—The supply of fresh fish is quite limited, both in quantity and variety, being chiefly confined to salmon, and even here the catch is light. Rather firmer figures are looked for the more as this is a time for an active American demand. A few halibut are still being received, but the sale is light and prices easy. After the season for any one fish is over there seems to be little sale at any price. In dry fish, rather lower values rule; they move off more slowly and are more freely received. The market is quite bare of pickled fish, but not many are needed. In smoked herring, the firmer figures of last week continue to hold. Nothing would be more welcome than increased life just here. Supplies are ample, and a good price would mean a great deal to the fishermen. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $3.75 to $4; small, $2.25; pickled shad, $3.50 to $5, as to quality; haddies, 4½c. per lb.; smoked herring, 6½ to 7½c.; halibut, 7 to 8c. per lb.; fresh haddock and cod, 2c.; shad, 8c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.75 per 100; salmon, 14 to 15c.

PROVISIONS—This is another dull line, though there is a fair sale for hams, medium preferred, owing to the picnic season. Prices hold firm. In barreled meats there is a wide range in figures, there being many sources of supply. There is a rather firmer feeling. Lard is a fair stock and moves slowly.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—There does not seem to be any particular interest in spite of higher prices ruling. Demand is just fair. Manitobas continue to show a range in prices. Ontarios are firm. Oatmeal is but a small business at this season. Prices are firmly held. Oats are quiet. Beans show little movement. Prices are steady and firm, there being little change for some time. Feed is high, though bran is rather easier. Cornmeal is low. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.70 to $4.80; best Ontario, $3.85 to $4.10; medium, $3.60 to $3.75; oatmeal, $4.00 to $4.10; cornmeal, $2.05 to $2.10; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 41 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1.05 to $1.10; prime, 95 to $1.00; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2; split peas, $4.10 to $4.15; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $4.10 to $4.15; hay, $7 to $7.50; timothy seed, American, $1.50 to $1.75; do., Canadian, $1.80 to $2.25; mammoth clover, 7½ to 8c.; alsike, 7½ to 8c.; red, 7¼ to 7¾c.

AN ANGLING SUPPLIES BOOKLET.

A unique little booklet has just been issued by R. & W. Kerr, fishing supplies, 2230 St. Catherine street, Montreal. It consists of 12 pages, counting the cover, and is printed in red and gold. The eight inside pages are a good deal smaller than the cover, and are of very thin white paper, while the cover is a light pale green and of thick paper. The object of the booklet is to advertise the fishing rods, salmon, trout bass and other flies which are included in the firm's list of angling supplies. But, what gives the booklet its particular uniqueness is a fly-hook with gut attachment neatly fastened to the front cover.

CHAT WITH A CARBERRY MAN.

Mr. W. A. Fairley, of Carberry, Man., was in Toronto for a few days this week. He is a son of Mr. J. Fairley, with whom he and two other brothers are associated in carrying on a general business in Carberry.

The business was started about six years ago, and is gradually expanding. The firm has a grocery, crockery, and dry goods branch, and a bake shop, and each member of the firm has charge of one of these branches.

The firm is at present experimenting with a view to doing a trade with British Columbia, both in the mining districts and the Coast cities, in pickled eggs. With this end in view, it is now putting large quantities of eggs into pickle.

"Poultry is becoming an important industry in our part of the Province," replied Mr. Fairley to a question. "Some of the farmers have most elaborate places for their poultry."

Mr. Fairley also informed me that his firm was also experimenting with a system for keeping apples over the winter till the spring. "We kept a few barrels over last winter, and they did all right," he explained.

When Mr. Fairley came East, he was alone; but he will not so return. On the 21st inst. he was married in Owen Sound to a young lady of that place, and the happy couple are now spending their honeymoon visiting points in Eastern Ontario. Mr. and Mrs. Fairley return home by way of Chicago, St. Paul, etc.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. C Ryan, formerly traveler for Badgerow & Scott, has taken a situation with The Wilson-Lytle-Badgerow Co., and will cover the ground north and west of Toronto.

Mr. Marc. A. Guggenheimer, of Buffalo, representing the Van Camp Packing Co., Indianapolis, Ind., is in Toronto this week in the interest of his company. It is about a year since The Van Camp Packing Co. introduced its canned soups, pork and beans, etc. to the Canadian market, and Mr. Guggenheimer reports that there has been a steady improvement in trade.

GROCERY GUILD MATTERS.

A few weeks ago, it will be remembered, H. P. Eckardt & Co. withdrew from the sugar agreement. On Friday last they withdrew from membership in the guild. There was a rumor to the effect that another Toronto firm had withdrawn, but the firm in question denies it has withdrawn. THE CANADIAN GROCER has been informed that the Montreal Guild is likely to be strengthened by the admission of a couple of houses to membership. One is said to have already applied for membership.

VISIT FROM A COGNAC MERCHANT.

Mr. D. Richard, a son of the senior partner of the firm of Ph. Richard & Co., the well-known cognac firm of St. Jean-d' Angely, France, was in Toronto a few days last week in the interests of his firm. He was accompanied by Mr. Eedy, the western representative of Laporte, Martin & Cie., Montreal.

It was Mr. Richard's first visit to Western Canada, although he has made two journeys to Montreal.

He said his firm's trade with Canada was gradually increasing, and hoped that with the inauguration of the direct steamship service between Canada and France, the increase would be still more marked, lower freight rates being expected.

WILL VISIT THE BRITISH MARKET.

W. J. Marshall, of Rutherford, Marshall & Co., commission produce dealers, Toronto, left on Wednesday for New York, from whence he will sail for Great Britain on the steamer Lucania, on Saturday. The export business of this firm has developed very largely in the last couple of years, and Mr. Marshall will visit London, Liverpool, Glasgow, Bristol and Manchester in the interest of this trade. He will also visit several points on the continent. The whole trip is expected to accupy six weeks' time.

CANADIAN PRODUCTS WANTED.

The following were among the inquiries relating to trade matters which have lately been received at the High Commissioner's Office in London.

A Scotch house desirous of extending their trade in jute yarns in Canada, ask for names of Canadian rope and twine makers and carpeting and mat manufacturers.

An inquiry has been received for a good manufacturer of dining-tables made from birch, spruce, and basswood, in quantities, and shipped in the white.

Inquiry is made for shippers of hickory suitable for golf sticks, in lengths of 44 inches by ⅞ inches square. The goods are required immediately for wholesale trade.

A London firm inquire for the names of shippers of fresh Canadian salmon (frozen), as they are in a position to take considerable quantities. They also ask for the name of a reliable shipper of fruit pulps.

An inquiry has been received through the medium of the Consul-General for Spain for the names of the principal fruit brokers in the larger Canadian cities.

Agents in the large centres are required for the sale of real Irish frieze ulster coats made by a firm in Ireland.

[Information in regard to any of the above items sent to the office of THE CANADIAN GROCER will be forwarded to destination.—THE EDITOR.]

FRUIT IN WELLINGTON COUNTY.

The indications are that the apple crop in the county of Wellington this year will be light, but there is likely to be an abundance of small fruits, such as gooseberries, raspberries, currants, etc. The raspberries have developed wonderfully this season, and will be ready for picking in the course of a couple of weeks, if the weather continues favorable. Only a fair crop of plums and pears is promised.—Herald, Guelph.

MONSOON

INDO-CEYLON TEA

We own and control thousands of acres of the best tea-producing land in India and Ceylon, and most people know that the best teas in the world come from these countries.

Monsoon is not best merely because it looks best—tea isn't grown for looks. The soil of Ceylon and India is peculiarly adapted for the growing of tea, it gives a flavor and lusciousness to the leaves which is got from no other soil in the world.

Drop a post card for an assorted case of Monsoon, you will never regret it.

J. L. PRESCOTT & CO., New York.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

ARRIVALS of Havana pineapples in New York from the beginning of the shipments in April to and including June 24 were, according to statistics posted by the Fruit Buyers' Union, 59,000 barrels, while of Bahamas, during the same period, the receipts were 42,000 dozen.

Gallon apples are very closely cleaned up on the spot, the few remaining being in the hands of two or three holders. The market is advancing, and up to $3 has been paid for lots of 500 cases.

Cable advices from W. P. Leacock & Co., Barbadoes, to John Farr reported the following: Molasses, 14c., and $4 for puncheons first cost, but not including charges. Holders demand 1c. more; present unsold stock very small.

PUGET SOUND SOCKEYE TALLS.

It is reported that prices on the basis of $1.10 for talls have been made on Puget Sound sockeye salmon by the representatives of one of the largest concerns on the Coast.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

THE SOUTHERN PEA PACK.

The chief feature of interest is the uncertainty as regards delivery of new pack Southern peas owing to the light output. Southern pea-packing seems to be done, but it is understood that some of the packers will try to fill out their contracts by buying unlabeled stock in New York State. It is even intimated that they may go West to secure the goods. The pack of marrow fats has been very light. At the prices now demanded for Southern peas little or no business seems possible, New York packers are busy putting up stock and they look for a good output as a result of the recent rains, but the possibility of damage by insects is great, and it is held in some quarters that the output may be considerably shorter than estimated. Western crops at present promise well, but they, too, it is held, may be attacked by the insect pest which did such great damage in the South, as, according to the latest advices, it is making its way rapidly to the West and North.

The condition of the pea-packing industry in Baltimore has made an opening for Wisconsin goods, which is being taken advantage of by packers who have never before put goods into this market.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

OUTLOOK FOR CALIFORNIAN AND FRENCH PRUNES.

Regarding the situation in prunes in California The California Fruit Grower of June 17 says: "We are able to report a little better feeling in the prune market, but still no wholesale demand or movement. Prices remain about the same, as the bulk of the prunes are in the hands of three large holders. Quotations are nominally 3c. for outside and 3¼c. for Santa Clara prunes, basis price, f.o.b. in bags. The growing crops look very promising. The rains of two weeks ago made a decided change for the better. Our latest advices from Bordeaux, France, report prunes dropping badly, with the outlook for about one-third of an average crop, or, say, 33,000,000 lb. of cured fruit for season of 1899."

RULES FOR COMPUTING INTEREST.

The following, from an exchange, will be excellent rules for finding the interest on any principal for any number of days. When the principal contains cents, point off four places from the right of the result to express the interest in dollars and cents. When the principal contains dollars only, point off two places:

Four per cent.—Multiply the principal by the number of days to run, and divide by 90.

Five per cent.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 72.

Six per cent.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 60.

Seven per cent.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 52.

Eight per cent.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 45.

Nine per cent.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 40.

Ten per cent.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 36.

Twelve per cent.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 30.

Fifteen per cent.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 24.

Eighteen per cent.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 20.

Twenty per cent.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 18.

Twenty-four per cent.—Multiply by number of days, and divide by 15.

41 Years.

41 years is a long time to maintain one position in the Starch business in Canada, namely—at the head. During that time competition has invited a lowering of prices at the expense of quality, but we believed then, and believe now, that "quality" in Starch, as in everything else, is the corner-stone of a successful business.

We have kept abreast of the times. We have always tried to improve even on our best efforts of the past.

"Edwardsburg"

and "Benson" are so closely identified with the Starch business of Canada that the names have become household words. It is your privilege of course to experiment with "new things," but it costs money and loses trade for you. The housekeepers of Canada have confidence in the names "Edwardsburg" and "Benson"—41 years have proved it with

Helps to Good-Will

A broom is a small thing but it can do your trade a lot of harm or good, as you elect.

The woman who buys a broom that hasn't this guarantee "your money back if not satisfactory," isn't liable to be wholly satisfied with the broom—or you. We find that every grocer who handles our brooms increases his orders each year. He has to keep the good-will of his customers to do that.

There's only one conclusion we can draw—Boeckhs' Brooms satisfy.
